China Said to Have Ended Relation With Soviet as Result of Raid Protest

BERLIN, June 4. (AP) — Advices published here today from Nanking state that the Chinese diplomatic representative and Chinese consular officials at Moscow have been recalled.

NANKING (China) June 2. (Sunday)—The Foreign Ministry today denied all knowledge of the raid on the soviet consulate in Harbin recently and said it had taken no action for the recall of representatives in Moscow, as reported in Berlin yesterday.

It was said no action of any kind would be taken until the ministry was officially advised of happenings in Manchuria.

(Reports were published in Japan that the Chinese Nationalist government had ordered the raids on soviet consulates in Harbin and three other Manchurian cities. Russia on Friday handed a strong note of protest to the Chinese Charge d'Affaires in Moscow warning that its patience must not be further strained and protesting that the raids were unwarranted and in violation of international laws.)

EUGENISM'S HOPE CITED

Expert Acclaims "Best People"

Clergymen and Missionaries Held of Greatest Value to Future of Race

Large Family Endowment Advocated, Along With Tax on Bachelors

NEW YORK, June 1. (Exclusive) To the apostles of eugenics the best people are clergymen and missionaries, and church and State should tax the bachelors and endow these best people and encourage them to have large families.

So declared Dr. Clarence G. Campbell, president of the Eugenics Research Association, opening the seventeenth annual meeting of the association today at the American Museum of Natural History.

For proof of his contention that the clergy and missionaries are the best people he called attention to the records in Who's Who in America.

"In view of the evidence before us," insisted Dr. Campbell, "if a member of the clergy is worth supporting as a spiritual leader he is worth supporting and encouraging as a producer of leaders. It might be hoped that the churches would pre-empt the honor of showing and leading the way in this valuable eugenic and racial desideratum.

MISSIONARIES PRAISED

"Some missionary organizations now make a certain addition to the missionaries' stipend on the advent of children, and this would seem to be the fitting place for family endowment to begin, as in no class of humanity do we find qualities of moral courage, fortitude, zeal and devotion to the common good more constant than in the missionary calling. Nor do we find more valuable social and racial service rendered than by the offspring of missionaries who have entered other pursuits."

Speaking in terms of approval of measures for taxing the unmarried and childless, as promulgated by Mussolini, Mustapha Kemal and the Argentine, Mr. Campbell said that unless something is done to improve the human race, it may join the sabre-toothed tiger among the fossils.

"Some day," he asserted, "it may be deemed a reproach to what moderns are pleased to regard as a high state of civilization, that those

RAIN FALLS OVER NORTH; SNOWS TOO

Light Frosts Reported from Sacramento Valley; Crops Not Affected

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1. (Exclusive)—The influence of a low pressure area centering over the Rocky Mountain plateau and lying between two highs caused snow to fall in the Sierras and Siskiyous today and rain in variable quantities as far south as the lower San Joaquin Valley. Southeastward movement of all three prompted Forecaster Reed to the prediction tonight that fair weather is in sight for Sunday and Monday.

Snow to the depth of two inches at Summit was accompanied by a light frost in the Sacramento Valley. Although not to be generally expected at this time of the year, the Weather Bureau reported it not such a rarity as to cause undue comment. Likewise it is said not to have any bad effect.

Rainfall in inches reported by northern stations to 5 p.m.:

Light Frosts in Northern Valley Area

SACRAMENTO, June 1. (Exclusive)—Light frosts formed over the lower Sacramento Valley early today as the mercury descended to the lowest level on record here for June. The official temperature in Sacramento was 43 deg., 1 deg. under the record which has stood here since 1890.

The record low temperature followed violent hailstorms yesterday afternoon. At Placerville the temperature dropped to freezing. No damage is expected to occur to crops.

ENGINE LEAVES TRACK

AUBURN (Neb.) June 1. (AP)—The locomotive and baggage car of Missouri Pacific passenger train No. 106, left the rails four miles south of here today, but no one was hurt. The engine is mired deep in the mud of a creek bed, where it left the tracks at the approach of a bridge presumably due to a washout.

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) June 1. (AP)—John W. Moore, Democrat, former Representative, appeared winner in the special congressional election in the Third Kentucky District tonight. With six of the ten counties complete and only thirty-five precincts in all missing, the vote was:

Police Chief at Media, Pa., Reports Lindbergh and Bride Flew Away in Blue Plane

NEW YORK, June 1. (Exclusive)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh climbed into a blue airplane near Media, Pa., today and flew away, it was reported from that town by Chief of Police Doak. He saw a couple whom he believes to have been the elusive honeymooners drive to an air field near Media in a sedan bearing a New Jersey license plate.

The chief tried hard to spy on the fleeing couple, following their speeding car to the field, but he lost them when they took wings and a chauffeur took over the automobile and drove away.

CAMP NEAR HOME

Despite this report, the weary newspaper representatives camped near the Dwight Morrow estate at Englewood, N. J., believe Anne and Lindy still are in the vicinity, occupying the house or apartment of some friend who is temporarily away.

They stick to their theory tenaciously because within the last couple of days Anne is known to have called again on Dr. Harold Ward, the Englewood nose and throat specialist, whom the couple visited just before their marriage.

MORROW IN DARK

Ambassador Morrow, father of the bride, has stated he is entirely in the dark as to the newlyweds' hideout.

Today there were several elderly callers on the Morrow estate. Anne's sisters, Constance and Elizabeth, dashed in and out repeatedly during the day, but refused to divulge news of their sister. The Morrow vigilance relaxed today when police were removed from the main entrance. Only two patrolmen remained, stationed at the house itself.

GRID GIANT BRAIN CURED BY SURGERY

Blood Clot Removed With Success for New York University Captain

NEW YORK, June 1. (Exclusive) Alfred E. Lassman, the injured captain of the New York University football team, who was hurt on November 24, 1928, in the New York University-Carnegie Tech game in Pittsburgh, was operated on today at the Neurological Institute for the removal of a blood clot from his brain.

The university announced late today that the operation is a success and that the patient is doing well.

"The football player had disturbances in the circulation of the brain," the university statement read, "due to his injury, and ought to recover satisfactorily from the operation, which consisted of the exposure of the brain in the region where he was injured, and the evacuation of considerable fluid which had collected."

The giant of the N.Y.U. team was kicked in the head during the Carnegie Tech game and suffered a severe concussion and a fracture of the skull.

GUARDS PUT ON HOOVER'S HOME PLACE

Roses and Shrubs Taken by Souvenir Hunters at Palo Alto Residence

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP)—The zealousness of souvenir hunters has necessitated placing plain-clothes police around the home of President Hoover in Palo Alto, Cal., to save it from depredations.

Word was received at the White House recently that rosebushes and shrubbery as well as parts of the house were being taken away by visitors. As a result private detectives were employed to guard the grounds.

The home, located on the campus of Stanford University, has become a popular showplace since Mr. Hoover's elevation to the Presidency.

STRIKE TIES UP MILLIONS

Chicago Building at Standstill

Union Workers Walk Out as Wage Contracts Expire; 3400 Now Idle

Move Held Attempt to Force Increased Pay Scale; Spread Threatens

CHICAGO, June 1. (Exclusive) With construction work on $237,000,000 worth of Chicago building projects stopped wholly or in part today when 2200 union structural ironworkers went on strike and 1200 architectural ironworkers walked off the job individually, efforts to effect a settlement will be made Monday through arbitration.

The ironworkers — both unions have the same scale—now are receiving approximately $12 a day, under the wage agreement which expired last night. In opening negotiations for a new agreement the workers asked for $14 a day. The employers flatly refused this and the union offered to compromise at $13 a day. The employers countered by offering them $12.50 a day and the proposed negotiations now hang on the 50 cents a day difference.

REAL EXCUSE

The real nub of the situation is said to be that the employers wanted to differentiate in the wage scale between the ironworkers who erect the framework of skyscrapers and the workers within the same union who place the tie rods for concrete floors. Both are now receiving the same pay. The employers point to the hazards of the structural men as opposed to the rod men and say that they are willing to pay the structural man a high scale, but not the rod men, whose duties are not hazardous and who are classed as laborers in some cities.

The executive board of the structural ironworkers' organization ordered the strike at a meeting in a Loop hotel at midnight Friday. Wage-scale contracts of the structural and architectural iron workers expired today.

Edward M. Craig, secretary of the Building Construction Employers' Association, said that both strikes were called in violation of agreement.

Representatives of the building contractors have called a meeting of the arbitration board for Monday morning. The board is composed of labor union officials and employers.

Court action is planned in connection with the individual walkout of the architectural ironworkers, according to Craig. On May 23, last, Superior Judge Denis Sullivan issued an injunction which restrained the officers of the architectural ironworkers' union from calling strikes as a result of a decision in a dispute between the iron workers and the sheet-metal workers.

STRIKERS IRONIC

Edward Ryan, president of the architectural local, said the injunction terms contained no mention of a price dispute and therefore did not apply in the wage strike. As they walked out on the job today none of the architectural workers claimed that they were striking in sympathy with their fellow-ironworkers or over the failure of the union officers to negotiate a new wage agreement. Some said they were ill and unable to work.

"To insure a constructive building program in Chicago all building trades officials affixed their signatures to a standard form of agreement," said Mr. Craig.

"This pertains to working conditions and methods of adjusting wage-scale matters. It expires in 1932. Mike Artery and J. Arthur Evensen, the two officers of the structural ironworkers' organization, who called the walkout of that union, are signatories to that pact."

CHARGES BAD FAITH

A. C. Prebble, secretary of the Iron League of Chicago, issued a brief statement in which he charged the union with breaking its contracts and said the strike now in effect is entirely unwarranted. Should the strike of ironworkers be protracted it was intimated that the American Bridge and Steel Company will enter the Chicago construction field with its large force of nonunion iron workers.

Builders estimate there are approximately 112,000 building trades mechanics and laborers in Chicago. They point out that should the strikes of ironworkers last until the middle of the week more than 30,000 of them will be forced out of employment.

GARDEN CITY (N. Y.) June 1. (AP)—Fire which swept three warehouses near Roosevelt Flying Field today caused damage estimated at $200,000 before being brought under control. The flames were checked before destroying a number of huge gasoline tanks nearby.

ARMS GAUGE IN MAKING

Navy Busy on New Formula

Action on 'Yard Stick' Points to Hoover Determination of Early Show-down

Admiral Jones Heads Work and Gibson May Receive Summons for Aid

WASHINGTON, June 1. (Exclusive)—Another indication that President Hoover plans to force an early show-down on the question of world reduction of naval armaments came today when it was disclosed the Navy Department has been directed to develop a new formula for evaluating the strength of fighting ships.

Secretary of the Navy Adams today conferred at length with the President and later declared the experts in his department are working out a new measuring stick for determining the comparative value of the world's navies.

Such a formula, it was revealed, would take into consideration the speed, caliber of guns, age and other characteristics in determining the comparative value of ships in each class.

If successful, this new formula would be substituted for the old system of basing comparisons of the fighting strength of ships largely on tonnage alone.

JONES HEADS EXPERTS

Rear-Admiral Hilary P. Jones, chief naval expert on the American delegation at the preparatory arms conference in Geneva this spring, was summoned from Europe to Washington to head the group of technical experts now working out the new formula, White House attaches declared.

President Hoover may summon Ambassador Gibson, chief of the American preparatory arms delegation, to Washington to aid in the preparation of the next step to be taken by the administration in its campaign to effect naval reduction immediately.

At the direction of President Hoover, Ambassador Gibson advanced the idea of developing a new yardstick for measuring naval units of the major sea powers at the Geneva meeting.

MEMORIAL DAY SPEECH

The subject was broached again by the President in his Memorial Day speech when he went so far as to assert that the hope of future naval reduction lies in the development of a national yardstick "with which to make reasonable comparisons of their naval units with ours and thus maintain an agreed relativity."

At the conclusion of the Geneva conference the major sea powers, including all the Washington treaty signatories, agreed to study the new American proposal and assign their naval experts to the task of working out a new formula.

All reports reaching the White House are that little progress has been made by Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy in developing such new formulas and all signs point to the fact that this situation has irritated the President.

HOOVER'S PURPOSES

In asking his naval experts to work out the formula, President Hoover is considered to have had two purposes in mind. One is to expedite the approach to an early meeting of the powers interested in naval limitation or reduction; the other is to determine in advance the effect such a formula would have on the American fleet.

Whether the State Department has been directed to co-operate with the Navy in working out a new naval reduction proposal for submission to the other powers could not be verified today.

Secretary Adams said the Navy Department contemplates no reduction in its prospective building program unless an agreement to reduce navies can be reached within the near future.

The Navy budget, he said, will supply funds for beginning the last five of the fifteen cruisers included in the cruiser bill approved last winter. Funds for beginning three fleet submarines and one aircraft carrier also are included. During the year 1931, if no changes are made, the United States will be working on eighteen 10,000-ton eight-inch-gun cruisers.

Mexico Water Board to Stay

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP)—President Hoover has informed Elwood Mead, commissioner of reclamation, he desires the personnel of the American section of the international water commission of the United States and Mexico to remain intact.

Mead is its chairman. Other members are Gen. Lansing H. Beach of California and W. E. Anderson of Texas.

Joint meetings are planned in August or early September with the Mexican members.

KING'S ILLNESS LESS ALARMING

Medical Bulletin Brings Relief to Britain

Monarch Able to Attend to State Affairs

Must Pass Sixty-fourth Birthday in Bed

WINDSOR, June 1. (AP)—A definite feeling of relief characterized the news and comment on the illness of King George tonight following issuance of a medical bulletin. His Majesty must spend his sixty-fourth birthday tomorrow in bed at Windsor Castle instead of being the central figure in the ceremony of trooping the colors.

The sovereign is cheerful despite his renewed affliction after his long winter of illness. His bed is mounted on rubber wheels and can easily be moved from corner to corner of his big bedroom in Victoria Tower to catch the sunshine. A military band in the castle grounds plays his favorite airs.

It was stated officially tonight that he had passed a good day and that his condition continues satisfactory. His physicians visited him for half an hour and one of them explained that the abscess in his chest had developed and broken as an ordinary gum boil might do and that it continues to drain naturally.

Thanksgiving services for the recovery of the King scheduled for the 16th inst. have been indefinitely postponed because, although no complications were looked for, recovery of His Majesty probably will require some time. It was stated, however, that the monarch is fully able to attend to such important state duties as may result from the complicated political situation.

The Duke and Duchess of York, after lunching with Queen Mary today, visited and chatted with the King. Little Princess Elizabeth, his favorite grandchild, will spend the week-end at Windsor Castle.

PRINCE HENRY PAYS FIRST VISIT TO CANADA

VICTORIA (B. C.) June 1. (AP)—Stepping on Canadian soil for the first time, Prince Henry, Duke of Gloucester today expressed concern for his father, King George, who on Thursday suffered a relapse which forced him to take to his bed at Windsor Castle.

Britain's military Prince is returning from Japan, where he conferred upon Emperor Hirohito the Order of the Garter, insignia of Britain's highest order of knighthood.

The Prince has canceled all his engagements in Canada and will leave for England on June 9, sailing on the Empress of Scotland from Quebec.

ENGLAND LACKS MAJORITY RULE

Labor Needs Twenty-one to Insure Stability

Post-Election Battle for Control Begins

MacDonald Declares Against Early Dissolution

LONDON, June 1. (AP)—All three major political parties went into the trenches tonight for a post-election campaign for power.

After the costliest election in the history of England, with expenditures running into millions of dollars, Great Britain found itself today with a new House of Commons but no majority government capable of directing it.

Ramsay MacDonald supplied Labor's answer to the question of the hour in England, which is "coalition government or new general election?" The Labor leader declared he will use every ounce of influence he possesses to prevent another election for two years.

"If I can prevent it there shall be no disturbance of the country by an election within the next two years," he said.

BATTLE OF WITS

The Labor party, which in thirty years has increased its seats from two to 287, is the strongest in the new House, but must find, with nine outlying divisions yet unreported, twenty-one supporters among other elements of the House in order to govern with stability.

Conservatives, Liberals, Laborites and Independents alike thus enter upon a political battle of wits, and all the party strategists are busy studying the contours of the new House and maneuvering for position.

Upon the action of the defeated Conservative Ministry depends the manner in which the struggle will begin, but the Liberal party is the fulcrum for the governmental lever whether the Conservatives or the Laborites wield it.

BALANCE OF POWER

David Lloyd George, with a net gain of only fourteen Liberal seats, finds himself in the position of holding the balance of power.

Liberal party chiefs, with one important exception, keep silence on their plans until they can meet to discuss the best way to utilize their advantages.

"The Liberal party," significantly remarked Sir Herbert Samuel, chief Liberal organizer, "is likely to exercise considerable influence in the councils of the nation.

"Almost all our members—all but one—are 100 per cent Liberals and we are not likely to have difficulties from the cross-voting which weakened our power in the Parliament just dissolved. We shall probably hear little more of the policy of safeguarding."

PRICE OF CO-OPERATION

Mr. Lloyd George, it is thought, will ask either the Conservatives or the Laborites, as the price of his co-operation, the following:

(1) Reform of the electoral laws to obtain better relationship between the seats held and the vote cast;

(2) Acceptance, in part at any rate, of the Liberal unemployment policy.

But the ability to swing the balance lies in the ability to maintain an undivided group.

Labor leaders have all along maintained that if Labor were called to form a government without an absolute majority it could count on the support of some of the more advanced Liberals.

With thirteen constituencies out of 615 still unreported, the line-up that now confronts the leaders is as follows: Labor, 287; Conservatives, 253; Liberals, 57; others, 8.

Two Girls From West to Receive Smith Degree

NORTHAMPTON (Mass.) June 1. (Exclusive)—Miss Eleanor O. Barnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Barnes of the Thacher School, Ojai, Cal., will receive her A. B. degree at Smith College on 17th inst. Webb Questions California Law on Sterilization

SACRAMENTO, June 1. (AP)—The right of California courts to order sterilized criminals convicted of certain statutory offenses is questioned in an opinion rendered by Atty.-Gen. Webb today.

The point was raised by the State Board of Prison Directors in the case of a man sent to San Quentin Penitentiary and ordered sterilized by Superior Judge Fletcher Bowman of Los Angeles.

Webb contends there is an ambiguity in the statute and that as worded it is likely in violation of a constitutional provision against "cruel and unusual punishment."

MATE BRANDED HER, SAYS WOMAN IN SUIT

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1. (Exclusive)—In a suit for separate maintenance filed today by Mrs. Carmella Mirabella of this city, she charges her husband with branding her with a hot iron. Custody of one child is at stake.

IRENE TO WEAR POLICE STAR

Former Famous Dancer Gets Commission to Protect Dumb Animals

CHICAGO, June 1. (AP)—Officer McLaughlin!

That's just another name now for Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin, former darling of terpsichore.

Mrs. McLaughlin walked into a police station today and demanded she be made a special officer.

"What for?" asked a puzzled sergeant.

"So I can protect dogs and other dumb animals and see that the law is enforced regarding their treatment," answered the former dancer. The request was granted and Mrs. McLaughlin was given the policeman's oath. She is a leader in the Anti-Cruelty Society.

WILBUR HAS SMALL HOPE OF AMERICA

Holds Superstition and Savagery Race Qualities in Talk to Students

PHILADELPHIA, June 1. (AP)—Superstition and savagery, inherent in the American people, are great enough to involve them in another war Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior, said today in an address at Beaver College.

"We are a great expanding country," he said. "We have a great civilization but we have shown, through ages, little improvement in mental quality. You can search through the Senate without finding a Solomon; we have no athlete today as great as Goliath; no marksman as accurate as David.

"What has produced the change in our present civilization? The change has been in our environment. There has been no actual improvement in the make-up of man.

"There is coming into being a new conception of internationalism. Our control of universal laws has given greater power and reign to races and to individuals, but we still find vestige of savagery in our civilization. One may think that astrologers have gone out long ago but horoscope readers today are making fortunes. . . . We have built up our civilization by the authority of the people and through subjugation of popular authority to superstition and savagery we can wreck the whole mechanism."

Assailant of Butcher Still Raving Wildly

Mrs. Mary Dallas, who, since shooting and seriously wounding Herman Pfirrman, butcher shop proprietor, has maintained that she was under a "hypnotic spell" at the time, yesterday was formally charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill in a complaint filed by Detective Lieutenant Fountain of the Seventy-seventh-street station.

A charge of insanity was lodged against her in another complaint filed by Detective Lieutenant Stillwell, also of the Seventy-seventh-street force.

Since her arrest Wednesday night Mrs. Dallas has been under observation in the psychopathic ward of the General Hospital, where except at infrequent intervals she has been in a hysterical condition.

Liquor Hidden in Lifeboats

NEW YORK, June 1. (Exclusive) The 722 bottles of champagne and Rhine wine found on the President Harding of the United States Lines, Inc., yesterday, on the ship's arrival in port, were concealed in the airtight compartment tanks of the thirty lifeboats, it was learned today.

After this revelation officials of the local steamboat inspection service declared that had the passengers of the liner been compelled to take to the life boats during the westward trip, the boats would have proved unseaworthy and loss of life might have resulted.

DR. SHIELDS DISAPPEARS

Head of Des Moines University Board Said to Have Been Intimidated by Klan Letter

DES MOINES (Iowa) June 1. (Exclusive)—Three weeks to the day after he had been driven from Des Moines by rioting students and rotten eggs, Dr. T. T. Shields of Toronto, chairman of the board of Des Moines University, disappeared here today supposedly intimidated by an unfriendly letter from the "Knights of the Ku Klux Klan."

The letter which announced the Klan's support of the deposed president, H. C. Wayman, and the dismissed members of the faculty at the fundamentalist institution, warned Dr. Shields that the Klan had its "all-seeing eye" on him.

With Dr. Shields went Miss Edith M. Rebman, his secretary, three other members of the board of trustees, and Mr. "X," mysterious companion of Dr. Shields, whose identity has been kept secret. A bellboy delivered the letter to Dr. Shields's room in a hotel where the party was stopping. Telephone calls from unidentified persons before and after its delivery vouched for its authenticity. Shortly afterward Dr. Shields and his entourage of fundamentalists had checked out of the hotel and could not be found, although the register of every hotel here was searched.

The letter was typed on stationery bearing the insignia of the invisible empire. It hinted of anti-Canadian motive in the opposition to Dr. Shields and Miss Rebman, who came to Des Moines from Toronto, where she had been associated with Dr. Shields in the Baptist Union of North America. The organization controls a school there.

"We, the members of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan of Polk county," the letter said, "wish for you to know personally that we are standing behind the principles and teaching of Americanism and patriotism that is being set forth by President Wayman and the faculty.

"We also want you to know that every Klansman and Klanswoman in Des Moines and Polk county are watching every move that you make."

Women Oppose School Measure

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1. (Exclusive)—Although the Parent-Teacher Association at its recent State convention in Sacramento passed a resolution urging Gov. Young to sign the so-called twenty-four-hour adjustment school bill, women attending the annual convention here today of the city and county Federation of Women's Clubs passed a resolution asking the Governor to veto the measure.

The split in women's sentiment was obvious in the addresses of today, in which the measure was termed pernicious, an intrusion on the rights of parents, equivalent of a provision for a "baby jail," and a measure harking back to the dark ages.

Fishermen in North Strike

FORT BRAGG (Cal.) June 1. (AP) Five large packing-houses were closed down at Noyo, a fishing center one mile south of here today, as the result of a fishermen's strike, which went into effect at midnight as the off-shore salmon season opened.

Approximately 400 fishing boats were tied up while crews remained idle demanding an increase of 2 cents per pound for salmon over last year's prices. Representatives of the fishermen conferred with owners of the packing-plants today, and it is expected an agreement will be reached early next week.

Yaqui Chief of Arizona Killed

TUCSON, June 1. (AP)—Francisco Matuz, 54 years of age, chief of the Yaqui Indians of Southern Arizona, died in a hospital here this afternoon, victim of an auto accident.

Matuz, who was riding a bicycle, collided with a car driven by James W. McDonald, Jr., son of Sheriff McDonald of Pima county. An inquest has been ordered by the Coroner.

Chief Matuz was a native of Belen, Son., and came to this State when he was 13 years of age.

He was one of the few Yaquis of the area known to have ever achieved the status of a property holder and taxpayer.

Miss Booth on Recovery Road

HARTSDALE (N. Y.) June 1. (AP) Commander Evangeline Booth of the Salvation Army did not suffer a fractured skull in the automobile accident in which she was injured a week ago, a final study of X-ray photographs revealed today.

Miss Booth's secretary announced that the commander's condition is rapidly improving.

CRAIL SEEKS REDRESS

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP)—Authority for the Secretary of the Interior to investigate losses suffered by landowners when embankments of a Federal-constructed reservoir in Picacho and No-Name washes, in the Bard unit of the Yuma reclamation project, gave way in 1926, was asked in a bill introduced in the House of Representatives today by Representative Crail of California. The measure would authorize an appropriation of $50,000 to cover the losses.

Bankhead Will Get Into Race to Beat Heflin

BIRMINGHAM (Ala.) June 1. (AP) John H. Bankhead, attorney of Jasper and Birmingham, announced here today that he will oppose United States Senator Heflin in next year's Democratic primary. Senator Heflin announced several months ago that he will seek re-election.

Mr. Bankhead is a descendant of one of Alabama's most distinguished families. His father, John H. Bankhead, died while a member of the Senate, Senator Heflin being elected to the vacancy in the 1920 campaign. A brother, William B. Bankhead of Jasper, represents the Tenth Alabama District in Congress.

Chinese Treat Captive Well

SHANGHAI, June 1. (Exclusive) A Chinese newspaper today carries a report from Amoy saying that an American doctor, Clarence Holleman, connected with the Reformed Church of American Missions, who was kidnaped by communist troops on May 4, last, in the province of Fukien, is still alive and being well treated.

The message also says that communist troops led by Gen. Chu-teh and Gen. Mao Tse-tung have retreated to the mountainous Yungting section of Fukien province.

The communists have compelled Dr. Holleman to write to his wife in Amoy for $25,000 for his release.

United Presbyterians to Stay in Federated Council

Assembly Rejects Proposal to Sever Relations

Pasadena Pastor Supporter of Defeated Move

PITTSBURGH, June 1. (AP)—The General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church today rejected a proposal that it sever its relations with the Federal Council of Churches. The assembly was urged to withdraw from the council in a memorial presented by the Argyle Presbytery.

The Argyle memorial charges the council has exceeded its chartered authority in matters of doctrine and has accepted contributions from "improper" sources. It also avers that council members have preached over the radio a brand of "pacificism to which United States Presbyterians do not subscribe."

Dr. E. S. McKittrick, Pasadena, Cal., in supporting the memorial, said, "United Presbyterians are not pacificists. War very often is justified."

An attack on Dr. S. Parks Cadman and Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, prominent members of the council, was made by Dr. W. M. Nichols of Brooklyn. He said the admitted modernism of Drs. Cadman and Fosdick "seems to represent the spirit of the Federal Council of Churches. We had better have no Protestantism at all than that brand."

After the Argyle memorial had been rejected a resolution to withdraw financial support to the Council was defeated. Subsequently a resolution in favor of cutting the contribution to $750, or half the amount heretofore provided yearly, was adopted.

While voting down the proposal to withdraw from the council the assembly decided to cut in half its yearly financial contribution to it.

Fontana
June 6-7-8

FONTANA will put on long pants Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week—June 6, 7 and 8—in celebration of its sixteenth birthday. It will be a gala time, with a grand three-days' fiesta and community circus. Hitherto, the celebrations have been strictly for the home folks. But, this year Fontana invites the world, his wife, and kids—and of course the Shriners. You'll see clowns and acrobats in the big circus tent; hear the music of the Spanish troubadours; see the Queen of Fontana and her court; and have plenty of fun—all for ten cents, one dime, two nickels.

THURSDAY, JUNE 6—will be American Legion Day
Opening day, with plenty of fun from dark 'til midnight
FRIDAY, JUNE 7—will be Fontana Day
Crowning of Queen and features from noon 'til midnight
SATURDAY, JUNE 8—will be Everybody's Day
Baseball, Bathing Beauties, Surprises noon 'til midnight

—Sixteen years ago Fontana came out of its shell. Before that it had been incubating for seven years while millions were spent on the water system, the roads, on the planting of a million trees. On June 7, 1913, the community celebrated the completion of the citrus packing house and of the first school with a fiesta that has become an annual affair, a community holiday when all the 6,000 residents and their friends turn out to have a good time.

New Community Plunge
—The three-days' fiesta is being given for the benefit of the new community plunge, sponsored by the Fontana Chamber of Commerce, now being financed to the amount of $20,000 by community effort.

Our Community Spirit
—This is one of the fine things about Fontana—its community spirit. Resident and non-resident owners pitch in enthusiastically to put a community enterprise over the top. Fontana's community spirit built and paid for a $30,000 Woman's Clubhouse, built a home for the Boy Scouts, is building three district-society club houses, put over a fire department with a new home and a shiny new engine, created a splendid school system, made a successful egg-and-feed cooperative association with more than 500 members and a business of nearly a million a year.

You Can See Progress
—These achievements—you can see them, not just hear about them—are the best evidence of the solidity, and the strong, permanent foundation upon which Fontana has been built during the last twenty years. But they don't give you any idea of the beauty of Fontana, of the charm of its tree-lined avenues, the attractiveness of its 1600 homes nestling among Fontana's million trees.

You Must See Fontana
—If you have never seen Fontana—and you can't see it merely by driving through on the Foothill, the Arrow or the Valley Boulevards—you have no conception of its attractiveness. Remember, the 7,000 acres of groves and orchards were there first; the poultry and rabbit production were added; hence the remarkable contrast between Fontana's beauty and the sordidness of the typical "chicken community."

Just Compare Fontana
—Despite its outstanding advantages in co-operative, organized buying and selling, despite the free guidance and advice by a staff of five technically trained men, despite ten-year term and liberal building loans to qualified families. Fontana still offers young walnut groves at $700 an acre, young grapefruit groves at $840 an acre, the lowest prices for quality acreage in Southern California.

See Fontana In Action
—Visit Fontana on Thursday, Friday or Saturday during this fiesta. Plan to eat and sleep among the flowers at the Fontana Farms Inn. Bring your swimming suit. Telephone TRinity 3064 for reservations at the Inn. And, if you would like to have detailed information about Fontana beforehand, if you would like to know whether a good income can be made in 5 or 2½ orchard acres combined with egg-production or rabbit-raising, if you would like to know how much can be made, how much capital it takes to start and what assistance you may expect, fill out and send in the coupon NOW.

HOW TO GET TO FONTANA—Drive out 50 miles from Los Angeles City Hall over Foothill, Arrow or Valley Boulevards. Pacific Electric trains leave Sixth and Main Streets at 9:15, 10:40, 1:30, 3:25, 4:35, 5:50 and 7:30. Stop at building with tower for information.

DAM FINANCING HELD ASSURED

Southland Offers to Contract Power Output

Proposal Officially Made to Secretary Wilbur

Hailed as Guarantee of Project Stability

WASHINGTON, June 1. (Exclusive)—Los Angeles and Southern California stand ready between them to take all power and water from Boulder dam at rates sufficient to amortize the project within fifty years, Secretary of the Interior Wilbur was informed today.

William B. Matthews of Los Angeles, one of the California Colorado River commissioners, and W. P. Whitsett, Los Angeles City Water Commissioner, and chairman of the Metropolitan Water District, comprised of Los Angeles and other Southern California cities, called on Secretary Wilbur to discuss the power and water situation and lay before him resolutions adopted last month by the Los Angeles City Council and the directors of the water district.

The Los Angeles resolution expressed a desire on the part of the city to contract for all power generated at Boulder dam, provided this is made possible by government construction of the power plant. The city would build its own transmission lines, according to the resolution.

STABILITY ASSURED

The resolution by the water district directors set forth the hope of Southern California coastal communities that they may obtain drinking water from the Colorado River project, and their willingness to pay a sum which, together with the amount paid by Los Angeles for power, would adequately finance the entire Federal development.

Friends of Boulder dam here attending the "lower basin" conference between California, Arizona and Nevada, hailed the resolutions as insuring the financial stability of the Boulder dam project, about which grave doubts exist in some official and unofficial quarters in Washington.

The water district, according to its resolution, would pay the Federal government a fixed charge for storage of water, and would construct its own aqueduct or aqueducts to serve the cities within its boundaries. Spokesmen for the water district in Washington assert that by the time Boulder dam is built there probably will be twenty cities asking for membership in the district so they may obtain an adequate future water supply.

APPREHENSION EXPRESSED

There has been considerable apprehension among government officials charged with administering the Boulder dam development over the matter of obtaining the power contracts necessary to finance the enterprise. Gov. Dern of Utah, chairman of the Colorado River conference, stated after a visit to the White House two weeks ago that President Hoover personally feared private companies would not be attracted to the power to a sufficient extent to guarantee the cost of the project, as is required under the Swing-Johnson Act. At the same time, the President was said to doubt that Los Angeles could swing the financial end of the project without violating the California statute prohibiting subdivisions from bonding themselves beyond a certain percentage of their bonded indebtedness.

It has been reported many times, and upon apparently reliable authority, that preliminary testing of the financial set-up under the Swing-Johnson Act has indicated it to be infeasible, and that the government would acknowledge this with a statement sometime after the 21st inst., which is the date the project becomes operative, under the six-State compact. These reports, however, have lacked official confirmation and in the haze of speculation and rumors always present about Boulder dam, it is extremely difficult to obtain the real facts of the situation.

CONFERENCE TO RESUME

After a week-end recess, the lower-basin conference, representing the latest effort to settle the dispute between California and Arizona over the division of water, will resume tomorrow morning, at which time the Reclamation Service is expected to be on hand with answers to a series of technical questions submitted last week, and dealing with the flow of the Colorado at various lower-basin points.

MEAD ANNOUNCES PLANS TO PROCEED

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP)—Today's action in the tense and tangled Boulder dam situation was taken by Dr. Elwood Mead, Commissioner of Reclamation.

While the tri-State commissioners marked time, waiting for indisputable water flow facts on which to talk on the lower-basin compact, Commissioner Mead announced, the 22nd inst., the day after the Swing-Johnson bill goes into effect, will find him on the site of Boulder dam, preparing for actual construction.

He will be accompanied by the chief engineer of the bureau, R. F. Walter, and on the site will meet Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior.

"Mr. Walter and I have not been on the site of Boulder dam together since legislation was passed," said Commissioner Mead. "We want to select the location of camp sites and find a water supply. We will look into railroad facilities—a branch line of Union Pacific goes to the dam site. We are having a topographical map made, and the Land Office is completing a land survey."

WARNER'S ENDURANCE TEST PLANE GETS NAME

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1. BOOTLEGGER CAR SALES RISKY

Federal Judge Refuses to Give Unpaid-for-Auto Back to Company

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1. (Exclusive)—The principle that automobile dealers who sell their cars to bootleggers without investigating their records are aiding and abetting crime and must suffer for it was laid down here today by Federal Judge Kerrigan.

He refused to allow repossession sought by a finance and sales company of a car sold to Hobart E. Brown but not fully paid for, after Brown had been found guilty of a Wright Act violation.

PAGEANT TO MARK BIRTH OF MISSION

Bay Region to Observe Anniversary Date of San Juan Bautista

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1. (Exclusive)—The 132nd anniversary of the founding of Mission San Juan Bautista will be celebrated Sunday, the 23rd inst., the feast of St. John the Baptist at San Juan, by the Maryknoll fathers, the citizens of San Juan, Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West and Catholic societies of the bay region.

A pageant depicting Father Tapis the Franciscan who lies buried beneath the altar of the old church, and his work among the Spaniards and Indians of the period, in which some of the descendants of the old families of the mission district will take part, will be a feature of day's ceremonies.

San Juan is the largest link in the chain of California missions, and the richest storehouse of the mission treasures. It was here two priests lived among 4000 Indians and converted them from savagry to Christianity at the time the colonies on the Atlantic coast were in revolt against England.

Gen. Fremont first raised the American flag in California in the San Juan mission plaza, March 4, 1846. Besides the mission, now occupied by the Maryknoll fathers, the old Castro adobe mission, home and headquarters of Gen. Castro under Mexican rule, is instact and will be opened to the public for the first time in a century.

The concession renews the company's previous rights under the terms of the concession. All America Cables also is granted the right to establish submarine cables for international telephone transmissions as well as to continue to use its submarine cables for transmission and reception of telegraph messages as it does at present. It is specifically stated that all or part of the lines that exist today or which may be laid in the future may be used for telegraph and telephone communications or simultaneously for both.

Leader of Cult Hurt in Crash

OSNABRUECK (Germany) June 1. (AP)—Mrs. Katherine Westcott Tingley, theosophist leader, was in the hospital here today with serious leg injuries received in an automobile accident yesterday.

Her right thigh bone and left ankle were broken when the car in which she was riding, driven by Prof. Larseck of California, escaped control and swerved into a main highway where it was flung against a concrete bridge. The supports of the bridge prevented it plunging into the water below

Blast Ignites Twelve Wells

BUCHAREST, June 1. (Exclusive)—An explosion in the Moreni oil field has fired twelve wells which are now burning so fiercely that it is impossible to approach to within a third of a mile. They were passed before a brief court-martial, sentenced to death and immediately executed at a place called El Zapote.

In the explosion only an armored car carrying military escort was damaged. There were no casualties.

A Test Every Man Past 40 Should Make

Medical authorities agree that 65 per cent of all men past middle age (many much younger) are afflicted with a disorder of the prostrate gland. Aches in feet, legs and back, frequent nightly risings, sciatic pains are some of the signs—and now a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science has written a remarkably interesting Free book that tells of other symptoms and just what they mean. No longer should a man approaching or past the prime of life be content to regard these pains and conditions as inevitable signs of approaching age. Already more than 50,000 men have used the amazing method described in this book to restore their health and vigor—and to restore the prostrate gland to its proper functioning. Arrange immediately for this book. Call in person if possible, other wise mail your request to the Electro Thermal Company, Dept. B-149, 303 Van Nuys Bldg., Los Angeles—the concern that is distributing this book for the author—it will be sent to you absolutely free, without obligation. Simply send name and address. But don't delay, for the edition of this book is limited.—[Advertisement.

DURANT LISTED AS "TRIMMED"

Market Operator Rumored Caught in Slump

Losses Estimated in Excess of $10,000,000

Reported Called for Margin Like Small Fry

NEW YORK, June 1. (Exclusive) W. C. Durant, spectacular stock market operator, who has been a mainstay of the big bull market, was reported in Wall street today to have lost from $10,000,000 to $20,000,000 in the decline of the last few weeks. The story going the rounds in the street is that Mr. Durant was heavily long on several stocks, including Chrysler, General Motors, International Combustion Engineering, Montgomery Ward, United States Cast Iron Pipe and Warner Brothers.

These stocks have suffered severely in the decline and rumor says Mr. Durant, who is in Europe, was called for margin like any small speculator. He is reported to have let some of his holdings be sold out rather than put up additional funds.

Brokers who are known to handle some of Mr. Durant's business were heavy sellers in the market yesterday and this lends color to the rumors. The brokers, however, laughed at the idea that Mr. Durant had been sold out.

Nevertheless, it was insistently reported that one of the brokerage houses which had handled a huge Durant account has been congratulated by officials of the stock exchange for the skill with which it handled a difficult situation.

The reported liquidation of Mr. Durant's holdings was believed today to have been completed and most of the stocks in which he has been interested showed an upward trend. It was said that that none of the concerns handling Durant accounts had suffered in the slightest, all having acted in time to avoid difficulty.

Mr. Durant, when asked about the rumor in Paris, is reported to have said:

"You have heard these rumors before."

ALL DAYS SAME TO PEDESTRIAN

Tuesday Called Lucky Day For Motorist; No Mention Made of Walker

SACRAMENTO, June 1. (AP) Tuesday is the best and safest day of the week to go motoring, Frank G. Snook, chief of the State Division of Motor Vehicles, declares in making a summary of 1984 automobile accidents that occurred during March this year. Fewer accidents happened on Tuesday, there having been only 196 crashes in the State on that day, and the most accidents occurred on Saturdays, there being a total of 421 on the five Saturdays in March, according to Snook.

Trust Fortune Center of Suit

SACRAMENTO, June 1. (Exclusive)—W. M. Craig, former business man of San Francisco, now a resident of Los Angeles, is made defendant in a suit filed here today by his wife, Mrs. Cornelia Craig of Sacramento, in which disposition of a trust fund of $282,300 is involved.

The complaint charges that in August, 1922, Craig deposited the trust funds, all consisting of government bonds, in banks with the understanding that his wife should receive an income the rest of her life.

She asserts further that Craig then induced her to release the funds to him for business reasons and that immediately thereafter his attitude toward her became cruel and caused her to leave him in Los Angeles, to come to Sacramento.

PACT ON DEBTS UP TO BELGIUM

Reparations Amity Hinges on Marks Settlement

Experts Shy at Problem and Call it Side Issue

Figures Proposed by Young on German Payments

PARIS, June 1. (AP)—With the grave problem of the redemption of German marks imposed on Belgium during the war still to be settled, the experts at the reparations conference today reached a full tentative agreement on all other details of the long troublesome reparation problem.

Unless the question of reimbursement for Belgium upsets the general agreement, Owen D. Young, American financial expert, for the second time will have been instrumental in extricating the European powers from the after-the-war complications.

The German and creditor experts, who have accepted the annuities proposed in the Young plan for settlement, today reached a compromise on the conditions to which Germany subordinates her acceptance of those annuities.

FIGURES PROPOSED

The figures proposed by Mr. Young, call for the payment of 2,050,000,000 marks (approximately $492,000,000) for thirty-seven years, 1,700,000,000 marks (approximately $408,000,000) for twenty-one years and 900,000,000 marks (about $216,000,000) for one year. This represented a present value of $9,000,000,000.

This compromise gives the Germans satisfaction on all points excepting on their demand that the last twenty-two annuities be paid by the states successors to the Austro-Hungarian Empire from the part that they are supposed to owe on Austria's national debt. The Germans will get an eventual moratorium for two years on part of the lien on the railroads which guarantee payments of interest on the Dawes loan and the unconditional share of annuities is fixed as they desired at 660,000,000 marks a year.

In the question of the redemption of German marks which the Belgians found in their banks when they regained possession in 1918, the experts took no decision. They endeavored to get the problem settled outside of the Dawes committee on the theory that it is a side issue, although admitting that it is closely connected with reparations. Finally both the Belgians and Germans agreed to negotiate outside, but thus far no contact was had between the parties.

MAY NOT SIGN

The chief Belgian delegate declared in picturesque language that he was quite willing "to eat in the kitchen providing he had the same fare as the other creditors and was able to sit down at the table at the same time." Which was taken to mean that the mark problem must be settled now or the Belgians will not sign the report of the committee.

The French experts are understood to stand with the Belgians on this question. All the other experts admit it is a grave problem which may possibly wreck the tentative agreement reached on all other details of reparations. Unless the committee report is unanimous it is considered that the agreement regarding the figures and the German conditions will fall, necessitating a new conference.

Social Workers to Hear Methods at Bay City Meet

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1. (Exclusive)—Methods of meeting the rising tide of relief which social work agencies are facing because of new problems rising out of unemployment will be discussed before the National Conference of Social Work when it meets in San Francisco, the 26th inst. to July 3. It is expected that more than 5000 persons engaged in family casework, health, recreation, work with criminals, industry, mental hygiene, and other professional fields of social work and public welfare, will attend the meetings.

A study of 8000 dependent families, made recently by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, will be presented by Lee K. Frankel of New York, second vice-president of the company.

Meeting at the same period as the conference will be forty other groups, many of which are particularly interested in combating poverty through rehabilitation of the family, rather than by the giving of food and clothing. The American Red Cross, the Mothers' Aid Group and the Association of Community Chests and Councils are to consider the "rising tide of relief."

Lutheran Group Studies Youth

DULUTH (Minn.) June 1. (AP)—Church leaders seeking to chart and forecast tomorrow's religious trends may be given helpful signs at the Young People's Lutheran League of America which opened here today to discuss youth's reaction to present-day religious and social problems.

There will be 2000 official delegates from the United States and Canada, mission workers from South Africa, Madagascar and China, and thousands of layman.

Dr. Martin Hegeland of St. Olaf's College, Northfield, Minn., is president. Gov. Christianson of Minnesota will address the society, and a concert will be given by the Lutheran choral union of 1600 voices.

WALSKA'S ART DUBIOUS YET

Erstwhile Singer Opens in Own Paris Theater; Audience Pleased and Bored by Turns

PARIS, June 1. (AP)—Mme. Ganna Walska, wife of Harold F. McCormick, in a blaze of jewelry tonight made her first appearance as an actress in her own theater, Comedie Des Champs Elysees. She played the title role of "Countess Castiglione" and her acting created a diversity of opinion. Moments of enthusiastic and spontaneous applause alternated with periods of oppressive silence.

Paris society packed the little theater but began drifting out at the seventh of the nine short acts. Each act brought a dazzling change of costume and the eighth act provided opportunity for display of Mme. Walska's famous emeralds.

Some of the audience were said to have paid $1000 a seat, as the proceeds went to a charity patronized by the Duchess of Vendome. The Duchess was represented by Princess Blanche of Orleans and others in the audience were Conductor Satkovsky of the Philadelphia Orchestra and his wife; Anita Loos and her husband, John Emerson, the Maharaja of Indore and the Maharanee, the former Nancy Miller of Seattle.

Bay City Faces Higher Tax Rate

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1. (Exclusive)—Finance Committee recommendations to the Board of Supervisors on San Francisco's prospective municipal budget, made with the view to keeping the tax rate at $3.96, where it was on the last budget, are excellent as far as they go but do not go far enough. Such is the gist of an opinion set forth by the Bureau of Governmental Research in an analysis of the budget just printed and distributed.

The bureau's analysis indicates excellent prospects for an increase of not less than 12 cents in the tax rate.

Sichoffsky Fails in Latest Effort to Win Release

SACRAMENTO, June 1. (Exclusive)—Albert Sichoffsky of Los Angeles, self-styled Polish count and noted as California's "wealthiest prison inmate," lost another round in his battle for release from Folsom Prison when the Sacramento County Superior Court today denied his petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

Sichoffsky, who is serving a term for grand theft, will be released from prison on the 17th inst., but he is fighting for an earlier discharge as a matter of principle, claiming his sentence, which began in 1923, was finished last August.

When Sichoffsky arrived at Folsom, he delivered thirty-five crisp $1000 bills to the warden. Legal attempts to win his freedom have shrunk his fortune to $13,000.

RETURN OF PRISONER REFUSED TO JUDGE

SACRAMENTO, June 1. (AP)—The right of a Superior Court judge to order an inmate of a State penitentiary returned to him for review of an application for probation was denied by Atty.-Gen. Webb in an opinion received here today. The opinion is based on the case of Fred S. Nash, sentenced by Superior Judge S. M. Marsh of San Diego county in 1927 on conviction of first-degree burglary.

ARMORY BILL SIGNED

SACRAMENTO, June 1. (AP)—Gov Young today signed Senator Merriam's bill appropriating $75,000 for construction and equipment of a State armory in Long Beach.

FLOODED AREAS GROW IN TEXAS

River Crests Continue Their Advance Gulfward

Additional Thousands of Acres Inundated

Waters at Houston Receding; Millions in Losses

HOUSTON (Tex.) June 1. (AP)—While the waters of Houston's most disastrous flood in the last quarter of a century continue to recede tonight, crests of about a half-dozen streams in South Texas move gulfward, inundating additional thousands of acres.

Buffalo Bayou is fast draining all the watershed above Houston and is expected to be back within its banks here before dawn.

As water rolled back from homes, business houses, streets and bridges Houston residents began counting the losses which were estimated to run into the millions.

FIRE DANGER

Danger in case of fire here persists tonight, water pressure is increasing but it is still far below normal and it is expected to be several days before the inundated central pumping plant can be [illegible] again.

Most of the transportation facilities, paralyzed by the raging waters, are back in use, and traffic is moving over many of the streets which had been covered with water.

Traffic in the ship channel came to a standstill today as the swirling waters reached that point. No ship has gone up the waterway since yesterday. Great sections of the east bank of the channel are sloughing off.

CRESTS ADVANCING

With Beaumont isolated, the swollen Neches River threatens to break all previous high marks near that city. Precautions against the caving in of the eastern ramp at the Neches River bridge there are being taken with 30,000 sand bags ready as reinforcements.

The Brazos, Neches, Sabine and Trinity rivers are not expected to reach their crests in the counties along the coast until Monday or Tuesday.

Three State prison-farm properties near Huntsville were flooded today.

"When Glands Are No Longer Able To Neutralize Poisons, All Functions Deteriorate and Disease Follows" States Famous California Surgeon

Clayton E. Wheeler, M.D. Former Stanford ... Surgeon, San Francisco Hospital, Clinical Instructor Stanford University, ... Gynecologist, San Francisco Hospital.

"If it were possible to flush the complicated network which nourishes the body and acts as a channel to carry waste matter out of the body, the individual, barring accidents and diseases of germ origin, would enjoy robust, vigorous health far beyond three score and ten," states the famous California gland surgeon, Dr. Clayton E. Wheeler.

"The complexity of our physical organization makes it impossible to equalize the income and the outgo of the human body. Sooner or later, the organs of respiration, the arteries, which carry the blood, the lymphatic vessels, in fact, all vital organs are filled with waste matter, debris of the process of life, and all functions deteriorate. In time, the organs cease to function at all. Premature 'old age' and death are the logical sequence."

"PRACTICALLY LIFTED FROM THE GRAVE"

463 S. Lorena St.
Los Angeles, Cal.

Dear Dr. Wheeler:

It is with a great deal of joy and satisfaction that I let you know how grateful I am for the results I have received following your simple, bloodless and painless gland transplantation operation several months ago.

People who are well cannot understand the marvelous change that comes over a patient who has been practically lifted from the grave and brought once more to a condition of health, happiness and efficiency. I was a broken down, palsied permaturely old man at sixty, suffering from asthma of years standing, which had responded to no other method of treatment. My attacks of asthma were so severe that I was compelled to be almost constantly under the care of a physician. Years of suffering from this dreaded illness had caused me to change physically and mentally to a human only moving in the direction of least resistance.

The results I received following your operation were more than marvelous. My respiratory tract is now in as good a condition as before I had the asthma. The transplant has produced a wonderful mental improvement, giving me a feeling of well-being and vivaciousness and the ability to return to my work like I would when I was forty years of age. My friends marvel at my spectacular recovery and my ability to return to my work once more.

I feel that I have been saved from undergoing a serious operation, by your wonderful treatment. This letter is sent in gratitude to you and I sincerely hope that it will be the means of bringing renewed health and strength to many others who are affected in the same way. I will be only too glad to talk personally or to communicate with an one who would like to know more about my condition and your method of treatment.

Gratefully yours,
S. D. TURNER.

NATIONAL DEBT CLEAR BY 1948

Rapid Retirement of All Obligations is Aim

Country Owes Less Than $17,000,000,000

Cut to be Made Despite Added Expense

WASHINGTON, June 1. (Exclusive)—Rapid retirement of the public debt will continue to be an administration policy under President Hoover and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

Despite a program for increased expenditures for public works and a possibility of another tax cut within a year or two it is estimated that the outstanding public debt can be substantially wiped out within less than eighteen years.

Retirements through the sinking fund together with amounts to be received from European governments under present debt-funding agreements will pay off the entire debt, now standing at a little less than $17,000,000,000, by 1947. By adding to these debt retirements surplus revenues the debt can be paid off in a somewhat shorter period.

Unless present debt-funding agreements are modified there will come into the Treasury about $15,000,000,000 from foreign nations during a period of forty years following the date when our debt will have been liquidated.

REDUCTION DUE SOON

During the present fiscal year ending June 30, next, it is anticipated that about $540,000,000 of the principal of the public debt will be retired, not including whatever margin there is during the fiscal year between ordinary receipts and expenditures. The surplus for the year seems certain to amount to at least $100,000,000 and possibly to $150,000,000 or more.

This will mean a total debt retirement for the year of at least $640,000,000 and possibly as much as $700,000,000 or more.

Securities maturing during the remainder of the calendar year 1929 total about $1,800,000,000.

In the calendar year 1930 securities totaling about $620,000,000 mature. In addition to this amount there are Treasury notes which are redeemable at the option of the Treasury aggregating about $2,300,000,000, or a total of nearly $3,000,000,000, which may be refinanced if the Treasury desires.

MAY INCREASE PAYMENT

Securities amounting to only a little more than $150,000,000 come due in 1931, but in 1932 maturities total about $2,500,000,000 and nearly $2,000,000,000 additional may be redeemed if the Treasury desires. In 1933 only about $170,000,000 is due with about $6,200,000,000 additional redeemable.

The biggest refinancing problem will come nine years hence in 1938 when the fourth Liberty loan bonds now amounting to $6,300,000,000 become due. Also due in that year are some of the Panama Canal bonds, making a total due of $6,310,000,000. It is expected that sinking fund and other debt retirements during the years immediately preceding 1938 will be devoted chiefly to a reduction of the fourth Liberties, thus making the refinancing operation more manageable. Of the other outstanding securities about $360,000,000 comes due in 1943, about $2,500,000,000 in 1947, about $800,000,000 in 1952, about $1,000,000,000 in 1954, about $500,000,000 in 1956 and about $50,000,000 in 1961.

The war debt reached its peak in August, 1919, ten years ago this summer when the net debt amounted to about $25,500,000,000. Since that time approximately $8,500,000,000 has been retired. Foreign repayments accounted for about 15 per cent of the average annual reduction of $875,000,000 in the public debt during the nine fiscal years ending June 30, last. The foreign debtors of the United States have paid a total in principal and interest of about $1,250,000,000, all of this amount, interest as well as principal, being applied on retirement of the principal of the public debt.

The present outstanding debt includes a little more than $12,000,000,000 in Treasury bonds which mature at various periods between 1940 and 1956; more than $8,000,000,000 in war-time Liberty loan bonds maturing between 1938 and 1947; about $3,000,000,000 in Treasury notes maturing between 1932 and 1934; less than $2,000,000,000 of Treasury certificates all payable in 1929 and about $750,000,000 in pre-war bonds, including Panama Canal bonds, maturing between 1930 and 1961. Secretary Mellon accomplished the refinancing of several billions of dollars of government securities during the past two or three years.

OTHER DIFFICULTIES

We are confronted with further refinancing operations which are made somewhat more difficult by the higher interest rates now prevailing. The last issue of certificates of indebtedness on March 15 carried an interest rate of 4 3-4 per cent. Interest rates on most of the issues in 1928 were either 4 1-4 per cent or 4½ per cent, with long-term bonds issued at rates as low as 3 3-8 per cent. Most of the financing in 1926 and 1927 was possible at rates ranging from 3½ to 4 per cent. The Treasury is now making plans for a large financing operation on June 15. At that time $545,810,700 in Treasury certificates become due.

The Treasury will receive on June 15 the second installment of income and corporation taxes on profits of 1928, expected to exceed $530,000,000. Also the government will receive more than $90,000,000 from foreign governments on the war debts.

The experiments, the War Department announced today, cover all types of equipment from tent pegs to trench coats. To assist in the study of the materials now under observation, assignments of the proposed equipment are made to officers and enlisted men in the field for every-day use.

PACIFIC GAS PLANS NEW PIPE LINES

Move Taken to Show That Southland's Surplus Will Not Go to Bay District

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1. (Exclusive)—Indication that the Pacific Gas and Electric Company is not to be allowed to pipe the surplus gas supply of Southern California into the Bay District, and the San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys without opposition, and that the P.G. & E. is aware of it, were given here when two new applications for pipe lines were filed with the State Railroad Commision.

The P.G. & E. filed an amended application to that filed with the commission on May 7. The new application was filed by Max Thelen, attorney, on behalf of the Western Natural Gas Company, a California corporation said to be backed by Texas principals.

The Western Natural Gas Company, in its petition, proposed to build a pipe line of 200 approximate miles into the San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys, with specific mention also of Modesto and Stockton, at an estimated cost of between $8,000,000 and $9,000,000.

The company cites as its source of supply the Kettleman Hills field in Kern county, chief source of supply for the P.G. & E.

NEW YORK, June 1. (AP)—Franklin Chase Hoyt, presiding justice of the New York City Children's Court, today was announced the winner of the $25,000 prize contest for the best temperance plan, sponsored by the Hearst newspapers.

The plan, in brief, suggested a repeal of the Volstead Act, and a new congressional definition of intoxicating liquors, which would make possible light wines and beers under State control.

Other prize winners were:

Second, $5000—Brig.-Gen. Albert Clayton Dalton, U.S.A., retired, Washington.

Third, $2000—Capt. Thomas W. Therkildsen, executive secretary of the Moderation League, New York.

Fourth, $1000—James B. Quinlan, Jr., 1504 West Ramona Boulevard, Alhambra, Cal.

O'Brien Seeking Divorce From Miss Taliaferro

RENO, June 2. (Exclusive)—Joseph P. O'Brien filed suit here today in the District Court against Mabel O'Brien, asking a divorce on grounds of desertion.

Mabel O'Brien is known professionally as Mabel Taliaferro, actress of stage and screen.

She left the stage in 1915. Recently she returned to pictures and soon will appear in a talking film.

The complaint in the case is very brief. It sets forth that the couple married at Darien, Ct., January 11, 1920, and that Mrs. O'Brien deserted O'Brien on or about July 11, 1927.

O'Brien in addition to having distinguished himself during the World War, was at one time a film director in Hollywood. He has been doing some mining work here since he became a Nevada resident. Mrs. O'Brien is now in Hollywood.

Judge Lindsey Charge Amended

DENVER, June 1. (AP)—An amended complaint in disbarment proceedings against Ben B. Lindsey, former juvenile judge, has been offered by Robert E. Winburn, Attorney-General, in a motion to the Colorado Supreme Court. It duplicates the original complaint, filed last September, except that it sets forth other irregular practices charged against Lindsey constituted violation of certain statutes.

The motion is expected to come before the court some time next week.

MUSICIANS' LEADER ON HAND FOR FIGHT

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1. (Exclusive)—Further nationalizing of the local row between musicians and sound motion-picture theaters, now before the courts in the form of an injunction application to prevent "talking film houses" from dismissing orchestras, was supplied today with the arrival of Joseph N. Weber, president of the American Federation of Musicians.

COALITION ON TARIFF LIKELY

Democrats Demand Hearings be Kept Open

Independents Expected to Join in Move

Unanimous Minority Vote Reveals Status

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP)—The first sign of a possible coalition between Senate Democrats and Republican independents over the tariff was seen today in the unanimous vote of the Finance Committee minority for open committee hearings on the bill passed by the House.

Senator La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin, has introduced a resolution calling for public hearings on the bill which the committee plans to start the 11th inst., and the action of the Democratic committeemen was regarded as strengthening the chances of approval of this proposal by the Senate itself later.

REPUBLICANS OPPOSE

Republicans of the committee are opposed to open sessions, but are willing that ample opportunity to testify be given witnesses who did not present evidence at the House Ways and Means Committee hearings and any individuals presented by members of Congress. They said they were willing that a vote be taken at not later than a certain date and that ample time be allowed for settlement of differences in conference. Speaking for his colleagues, Senator Simmons of North Carolina, ranking Democrat on the committee, said they were opposed to fixing a definite date for a vote.

MEETING CALLED

Senator Shortridge of California, a Republican member of the committee, has called a meeting of the California Congressional delegation for Monday to determine what pleas for changes in the agricultural schedule will be presented by that State before the Finance Committee hearings.

The schedule relating to farm products will be the first considered by the committee.

JAPANESE DEDICATE LARGE NEW HOSPITAL

TOKIO, June 1. (AP)—The Fraternity Memorial Hospital, built with the residue of the American people's contributions to the Red Cross at the time of the 1923 earthquake, was dedicated today. The hospital, one of the largest and finest in the Orient, is on the bank of the Sumida River near a former army clothing depot where 34,000 persons perished in the quake and fire. The building cost nearly $15,000,000, which remained after the immediate relief needs of 1923.

WAR SHOES FOR SALE

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP)—The War Department today advertised for bids for 150,496 pairs of surplus service shoes stored in quartermaster depots at several posts in different parts of the country. The stocks were accumulated during the World War.

FROM one end of the country to the other—in thousands of American Homes—in the studios of eminent musicians—in the music rooms of luxurious mansions—in the drawing rooms of just ordinary folk—the admiration which is felt for this great instrument finds its expression in that intimate and possessive expression "my Knabe."

Not merely a great piano capable of bringing to you every mood, every shading of your feelings. Not just a gloriously rich and graceful harmony of choice woods, masterfully fashioned and finished . . .

A prized personal possession which has won its place in the innermost heart of its owner, to be replaced by no other single thing so long as there shall be music.

And music lives forever . . .

You, too, may join the select group of keenly perceptive purchasers who find in this piano so much more than just a piano—a Knabe. In grands from $1475.

[illegible] Proper Publicity for Doctors

[illegible] Silence as Detriment to Public Health

[illegible] People Should Be Told of Discoveries

[illegible] of a series of interviews Henry [illegible] exclusively to The Times and [illegible] American Newspaper Alliance. He [illegible] publicity for medical prog[illegible] "the fetish of professional [illegible] Mr. Ford has in mind the contro[illegible] Chicago, which has resulted in prom[illegible] leaving the Chicago Medical [illegible] of their connection with the [illegible] Institute, which advertises. Dr. [illegible] distinguished physician and [illegible] expelled from the society, and [illegible] and Dr. Rachel Yarrows in[illegible] in sympathy.]

[illegible] 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

[illegible]T, June 1. (Exclusive)—[illegible] to the health of the people is a direct result of the "ethics [illegible] medical profession" as ap[illegible] publicity, in the opinion [illegible] Ford.

[illegible] all right for scientifically [illegible] men to avoid quack adver[illegible] there is a vast difference [illegible] that kind of advertising [illegible] legitimate publicity due the [illegible] Mr. Ford said.

[illegible] depend on good doctors [illegible] progress of medical science [illegible] correction of a thousand ills [illegible]. The public has the [illegible] know who can help in a [illegible] and what doctors, if [illegible] made real progress in the [illegible] of specific ailments. Who [illegible] the public?

[illegible] of the regular school [illegible] a fetish of professional [illegible] the purpose, of course, be[illegible] prevention of personal ex[illegible]. The reason for this [illegible] was good, and remains so. [illegible] was to prevent sensa[illegible] quackery misleading the peo[illegible] to avoid deception of the [illegible] by premature or unproved [illegible] new discoveries.

[illegible] as 'professional ethics' [illegible] the people they are good. [illegible] they are used to prevent [illegible] from getting proved and tested information, 'professional ethics' do not look so good.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS

"Nearly every day sees some new method of surgery or medical treatment which is an improvement on the old. But the general public hears nothing of it unless a controversy is stirred up about it.

"It is true that marked progress in medical science is promptly reported by regular doctors to their technical journals, and the profession is to be commended for this free offering to the medical world of any advance in methods. But the public does not read the medical journals. In fact, a lot of doctors don't read them either. A good many physicians are so busy using their old, accustomed methods of treatment that they haven't time to become informed about new and better methods.

"How shall the public be informed promptly of improved methods of attack on disease, or of better methods of prevention of disease? Whose is the responsibility for getting the information across to the public?

"It seems to me that one of the first duties of the profession is to see that every step of progress in medical science is given to the public, promptly and fully, and in terms the average man can understand, for the average reader could not understand the technical language of the medical journals even if he had access to them.

LET EVERYONE KNOW

"If the 'ethics of the profession' closes the mouth of any doctor who has proved a new method of treatment, then let some brother physician tell the good news. Let everybody know that when a certain ill befalls there is one man—at least one—who can do the very best for it, or can direct where it can be done. Often such knowledge, given through the newspapers, has been of great practical help in times of emergency.

"What would happen if the producers of the world's goods assumed the same attitude toward the public?—'Let the public find out what we have to offer, if the public can?'

"Such an attitude would result in a serious throw-back in the progress of the world, and, of course, it would kill at once a large percentage of the world's commercial business. I don't see that the doctor and the business men have any different relations to the public. Both have things and services to offer which the public wants and needs, and which would improve the comfort, convenience, health and happiness of the people in the business of living.

"Why is it unethical for the doctor to tell the world what he can do? Why should not the medical societies have some regular system of informing the public of new and proved methods of treating human ailments?

WORLD SHOULD KNOW

"Suppose some doctor of good standing among his fellows was to discover a certain cure for leprosy, and was to report this to his medical society and have the treatment described in medical journals. In the case of this terrible disease, which for many centuries has been considered incurable, it is likely the newspapers would get hold of the item and make a spread of it.

"But even so, the name of the doctor unknown to the millions of readers of the papers would not guarantee the truth of the announcement. Some responsible medical society would have to stand back of it and see to it that the news got to the public promptly and in accurate statements that could be understood.

"But in the case of many lesser though serious ills, news of medical progress never gets to the public except by the slow process of gossip, people telling about their own experience, or how they heard there was a doctor said to have done some wonderful work, but they don't remember his name or just what the treatment was.

"It was by this gossip method of propaganda that I heard a few days ago of a remarkable science in the treatment of a certain disease generally considered incurable. I knew a person who had been a long sufferer from this disease. I took the name and address of the doctor at once.

CASE IS CITED

"I contend that the fact that he had made this discovery should have been given to the public immediately. It would have saved much suffering and probably many lives, for I learned that this doctor was of the highest standing in his profession, and had described the new method of treatment months before, in the medical journals.

"There are no secrets from the public or from competitors in the industrial and business world, except those secrets which are protected by patents and represent the life of a concern. The same company that holds the patents, however, makes no secret of the product, where to get it, how much it will cost, what it will do, etc. The public and the producer both rely on this publicity as the avenue by which they can come together.

"In what respect do doctors stand in a different relation to the public? I see none whatever."

HONOLULU CALLS HULAS

Best Dancers of Island to Participate in Festival of Pacific Races

HONOLULU (T. H.) June 1. (Exclusive)—Hawaii's prettiest and best hula dancers will be brought together from all corners of the island group to participate in the Festival of Pacific Races to be held in Honolulu, November 7-11. In addition to the dancers, there will be choruses of singers from all the islands, and a massed orchestra of Hawaiian instruments for the two main night programs of Hawaiian hula and music.

Parades, novel sport contests, and demonstrations by the various races represented in America's mid-Pacific melting pot will all be a part of the great November program being inaugurated this year as an annual fall festival of entertainment.

Sports events scheduled include a special game of the new Waikiki sport of surfboard polo, a championship football clash, and a boxing program.

Three major parades and exhibitions will take place during the festival period. The most novel of these will be an illuminated parade of Pacific races, depicting native customs and holiday practices of the races in Hawaii. Among the races that will participate are Hawaiians, Chinese, Japanese, Filipinos, Samoans and Koreans.

A "moving flower garden," several miles long, will be presented in a motorists' floral parade, and on Armistice Day the many army and navy units stationed at Uncle Sam's greatest military outpost will stage a spectacular parade and demonstration.

Review Asked in WGY Decision by Radio Board

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP)—The Radio Commission today filed with the Supreme Court a petition requesting review of the Court of Appeals judgment which set aside the commission's decision denying the application of the General Electric Company for full time use of the 790 kilocycles channel for station WGY.

At the time of the commission's decision denying the application for renewal on a full-time basis the position was taken that the General Electric Company was not entitled to a hearing unless it applied for a cleared channel assigned to the first zone.

The 790 channel had been assigned as the cleared channel to the far western States of the fifth zone.

The Court of Appeals held, however, that public interest warranted renewal on a full-time basis and directed the commission to issue such a license.

Chicago Slayer Meets Death Beneath Train

CHICAGO, June 1. (AP)—Ferdinand Preuss, who shot three men dead, and wounded four others while in a drunken fury yesterday, was decapitated today by a Chicago and Northwestern Railroad train. A body found on the right of way was identified positively by a fishing license issued to Preuss.

Police believe the man, sobered overnight, realized the tragedy of yesterday and ended his life.

The condition of the body indicated he had lain on the track and waited for the train to run over him, police say.

Preuss, a war veteran and expert marksman, killed two policemen and a civilian and wounded two policemen and two civilians with a pump shotgun. The police were members of a squad sent to arrest him after neighbors had heard him threaten to kill his wife.

Hawaii Airship Line Hits Snag

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP)—The proposed airship line from Los Angeles to Honolulu, to be subsidized by the government for $5,000,000 a year for five years, has not been approved, Postmaster - General Brown said today. Brown said he told Paul W. Litchfield of Akron, O., president of the Goodyear-Zeppelin Company, now building two superdirigibles for the Navy, that he will not make such a recommendation to Congress.

He said there is no demand for faster mail service between the mainland and the Hawaiian Islands.

Radio License for Hoover Son

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP)—Herbert Hoover, Jr., was one of twenty-six applicants for experimental radio licenses whose requests were granted today by the Radio Commission.

He was given permission for a station at Stanford University, California, with the call letters W6XH.

Forty applications for experimental stations or modification of license were set for future hearings.

'MURDER FARM' YIELDS CLEWS

Woman's Clothing and Bones Unearthed by Sheriff

Girl's "Nightmare Tree" May Hold Tragic Secret

Suspect's Nude Dance Around Willow Described

DUCOR, June 1. (AP)—Four fragments of bone and a tattered piece of a woman's kitchen apron were dug from beneath a distorted willow tree on the Sears ranch east of here today. The discovery was made by deputies working under direction of Sheriff Hill of Tulare county, seeking traces of Mrs. Pearl Franklin and her mute son, Dell, who disappeared from this lonely ranch six years ago.

G. F. Franklin, the woman's husband, was arrested in Sacramento on a statutory charge preferred by three of his daughters. An investigation of his past and of the disappearance of his wife and son followed.

TEST TO BE MADE

The bone fragments will be submitted to the County Physician tomorrow, who will examine them to see if they are of human origin. Sheriff Hill said digging would continue.

Today's discovery, the Sheriff asserted, resulted from his search for a "nightmare tree" described to him by Ruth Franklin, one of Franklin's daughters. Sheriff Hill said the girl described a grotesque tree near which she saw her father on the day her mother and brother disappeared. The tree often appeared in her dreams, she said, and it became fixed in her mind as the "nightmare tree."

GIVES UP SEARCH

Ruth and her brother Russell, who have been aiding in the search of the ranch, returned to Sacramento today. Ruth was unable to find the tree she described yesterday, but Sheriff Hill continued the search today, and found the deformed willow.

Franklin sometimes went into a frenzy and, stripping his clothing from himself, would dance around the tree, yelling and brandishing a hatchet, Ruth asserted. Her statement was corroborated by Robert Hockett, a neighbor, the Sheriff said.

JURY VOTES ACQUITTAL OF BIESCAR

Verdict in Third Trial on Girl Attack Case Deliberated at Length

Louis Biescar, member of a prominent La Crescenta family, yesterday was acquitted by a jury in Judge Aggeler's court of a charge of attacking Yarmille Dushek, 18-year-old Los Angeles girl.

The jury deliberated approximately twenty-three hours in reaching its decision. It was Biescar's third trial, the first case having resulted in a disagreement of the jury, while the Appellate Court reversed the conviction obtained in the second trial.

The State charged Biescar lured the girl to his mountain cabin and there forced his attentions on her after first plying her with a narcotic.

Biescar, who took the stand in his own defense, denied the girl's charges.

Rabbi Appeals for Jewish Aid in Fund Building

Urging the Jewish community to respond to the United Jewish Welfare Fund campaign for the relief and reconstruction of numerous national and international Jewish institutions, Rabbi Edgar F. Magnin outlined some of the important work being done by the institutions participating in the appeal.

Making a special appeal for national educational work, Rabbi Magnin said:

"Through this fund, fellow-American Jews in distress, will be afforded relief and rehabilitation. Hospitals, tubercular and ex-patients' sanitaria will receive aid from this fund.

"The training of the Jewish youth is a precious trust of American Jewry, best able of all our people to take up the Torah and hold it aloft. The United Jewish Welfare Fund will aid the accomplishment of this task through the maintenace of religious schools, Talmud Torahs, and training schools, where all may hear the teachings of our fathers."

Schooner Driven on White Point Rocks by Winds

The strong northwester yesterday drove Lynden Bowring's noted schooner yacht Hawaii on the rocky shore of White Point and last night the little windjammer was thought to be almost a total loss, as succeeding breakers drove her farther ashore. Mr. Bowring and a party of fellow Los Angeles Yacht Club members were fishing in the kelp beds above Point Fermin when the yacht's anchor dragged and she was grounded before the auxiliary motor could be started. All aboard reached shore safely. The Hawaii, sixty feet long, was built at Honolulu in 1908 by popular subscription among the people of Hawaii as an entrant in the Los Angeles-Honolulu ocean yacht race of that year. She is constructed of native woods, and is said to be the only yacht in existence so built.

WARRANT IN LIBEL CASE FOR EDITOR

Councilman Hall Signs Complaint Naming Attack in "Coast Reporter"

A warrant for the arrest of Fred H. Girnau, editor of the Coast Reporter, a political paper, was issued yesterday by Municipal Judge Bogue after Peirson M. Hall, City Councilman and candidate for City Attorney, had signed a libel complaint against him. The complaint was issued by City Prosecutor Nix and filed at once in Judge Bogue's court.

Councilman Hall accused Girnau of criminally libeling him in a two-column article in the current issue of his paper by accusing him of beating his wife. The article declares that "he used the pretty face of his wife as a punching bag" in an asserted quotation from Mrs. Hall's divorce proceedings, according to Assistant City Prosecutor Krowl, who issued the complaint. Mrs. Hall appeared at the City Prosecutor's office with a copy of her divorce complaint and of the proceedings of the hearing, in neither of which, according to Krowl, is there any mention of the asserted beating.

The warrant for Girnau's arrest was given to Detective Ray Sherwood of the Prosecutor's office. Girnau is expected to be brought before Judge Bogue tomorrow for arraignment on the charge.

RITES FOR LAKE CONDUCTED

Last rites for Colborne John Lake, real estate dealer, were conducted yesterday afternoon at the family home, 2005 South Arlington avenue. Burial followed at Forest Lawn Memorial Park. Mr. Lake was 52 years of age. He came to Los Angeles nine years ago from Vancouver. He leaves his widow and two daughters, Dorothy and Katherine.

Film Director's Family Named in Suit for $95,445

Three defendants, including the wife and mother of Frank Borzage, film director, must face a $95,445 damage suit in Superior Court, it developed yesterday when demurrers were overruled, and answers were filed to the petition of Ernest C. Matlock, law student, who complains that he was falsely arrested.

Matlock says that Mrs. Rena Borzage, her mother-in-law, Mrs. Helen Rogers, and Charles Murstein, their attorney, caused his arrest on a charge of taking $800 belonging to Mrs. Rogers.

All the plaintiffs entered denials that they were actuated by malice, and asserted there was probable cause to suspect Matlock.

Co-ed Debaters Elect Captain

In a recent election, members of the University of Southern California co-ed debate team selected Miss Lucille Reed as the captain of the squad for the ensuing college year. She succeeds Miss Betty Henninger.

LUCILE REED

Miss Reed enrolled last September after graduating from Citrus Junior College. At the opening of school next fall she will begin her senior year in the school of speech.

Miss Reed was chosen by Debate Coach Alan Nichols to represent the university in many intercollegiate debates and was adjudged the winner in a majority of them.

PEARSON TO BE HEAD OF CITY CLUB

Edison Company Official Succeeds Goudge as New Organization President

Benjamin F. Pearson has been elected president of the Los Angeles City Club to succeed the late Herbert J. Goudge. Jess E. Stevens, City Attorney, and Arthur E. Briggs, attorney, were elected first vice-president and second vice-president, respectively.

BEN F. PEARSON

Mr. Pearson, who has been a member of the Southern California Edison Company organization for thirty-four years and is now manager of industrial relations for the company, has been identified for many years with Southern California welfare and service organizations. He is chairman of the board of directors of the Whittier State School and chairman of the juvenile welfare section, University of Southern California. As a member of the board of governors of the Optimist Club he is active in the welfare work among boys being done by the club. He is president of the Optimist-Strickland Boys' Lodge.

Other organizations in which "Uncle Ben" Pearson takes an active interest are the Los Angeles Y.M.C.A., the Y.W.C.A., and the Los Angeles chapter of the American Red Cross, of which he is treasurer.

'Times' Aviation Pupils Receive Wings of Honor

Yesterday morning was a gala occasion for the students of the Los Angeles Times National Aviation School when nearly 600 boys received their wings, emblematic of nine weeks' aeronautical study.

The boys were lined up in military style and those eligible for the honor wings had them pinned on by H. A. Rosencrans, president of the National Automotive and Electrical School, and Capt. Threader, who has piloted the boys through the instructions of simple gliders.

The latter part of this month the school will hold its graduation exercises, at which time three beautiful cups valued at $500, scholastic medals and other trophies will be distributed. Maj. C. C. Moseley and others prominent in aeronautics will judge the planes.

From present indications the number of scale model planes will exceed that of the January class.

United Church Brotherhood to Hold Election

Hundreds of leading churchmen of Los Angeles are expected to attend the annual meeting of the United Church Brotherhood on the evening of the 11th inst., at Immanuel Presbyterian Church. More than 500 delegates from various brotherhoods in Los Angeles will participate in the program at which John A. Ford will preside.

Features of the meeting will be election of officers and an address on "Citizenship and Law Observance," by Gurney Newlin.

"It has the quiet charm of the very well-bred"

A WOMAN of decided social prominence is credited with the above comment on a special exhibit at the Pierce-Arrow permanent Salon in the Hotel Plaza, New York.

Pierce-Arrow warms to the soft impeachment of being "very well-bred". That is the Pierce-Arrow tradition—the quality which particularly distinguishes America's finest motor car.

The new Straight Eight by Pierce-Arrow is called beautiful, ultra-modern, slender, graceful, powerful, fleet—and it is all these. More important, it is Pierce-Arrow in its truest expression.

This is the car which arrived at the psychological moment, to meet a waiting demand that is unique in fine car history.

LATINS RENEW ATTACK ON MONROE DOCTRINE

League Council Would Solidify European South American Alliance

BY EUGENE J. YOUNG

NEW YORK, June 1. (Exclusive)—With ample justification, Americans who are interested in our progress in South America and in the preservation of the principles of the Monroe Doctrine have been celebrating the conclusion of a great diplomatic campaign. Through our good offices Chile and Peru have settled their quarrel of forty-five years over the provinces of Tacna and Arica and we have vindicated our principle that differences between American nations should be settled by them without any European or other intervention.

In particular, we prevented this issue from being taken to the League of Nations, although the League had several times invited such a course and there have been times when it seemed that one of these nations, or Bolivia—which has wanted to enter the dispute—would do so. It has been no simple matter to accomplish this result, for South American nations are jealous of "the overlordship of the Colossus of the North" and disinclined to do anything which might seem to recognize our leading position in American affairs. Yet, in the end, our good faith was recognized and the deal was put through.

But right on the morrow of this real triumph we are going to find that we have still a lot to do to establish our principles fully and to uphold the Monroe Doctrine. Latin nations in Europe are beginning a new drive against our leadership, they are trying to line up the League for a fresh effort to intervene, and they are receiving strong support from South America and from non-Latin European powers.

SPAIN SEEKS PRESTIGE

There are two significant signs of this movement. Firstly, the Council of the League of Nations is to hold a meeting in Madrid and Count Quinones de Leon, delegate of that nation in the Council, is to have his time of triumph. Secondly, as this meeting approaches the League executive in Geneva has suddenly taken a new and active interest in the dispute between Bolivia and Paraguay, while from various sources in Latin América are coming renewed demands that the League shall make its own interpretation of the doctrine.

These things fit together. Quinones de Leon, backed by his country and by French and Italian influences, was the prime mover in the Latin combination which has so long been the biggest factor in the League. He was the intermediary who drew together the South American nations so they caucus on elections to the Council of the League and on other matters; and so are able to hold an effective balance of power.

COMBINE SUFFERS

This combination suffered heavily when Spain withdrew from the League for a time because it refused to recognize her as a first-class power and give her a permanent seat on the Council. The South Americans felt the loss of De Leon's leadership and fell to quarreling at vital moments. It was a serious question whether many of them would not follow the example of Spain, Argentina and Brasil and withdraw.

But the European powers have induced Spain to return, by pledges that her representative will be reelected to the Council on a practically permanent basis; and the meeting in Madrid is intended to restore the prestige of the country and of De Leon.

INTENSE PROPAGANDA

In the background of the Council meeting will be the elaborate Iberian-American Exposition at Seville, which the King of Spain has recently opened with great pomp. Latin-American nations have built expensive structures which are to be used in the future as centers of Latin culture, colleges, libraries and institutions which will form a gathering place for students and thinkers of the Spanish-speaking world.

It was to stir up interest in this exposition and in Latin union that the airplane Jesus of the Great Power made its flight across the Southern Atlantic and its tour of the southern republics. Trade, diplomatic and cultural missions have been carrying on an intense propaganda of union, also heading up to the exposition and the League of Nations meeting.

SUPPORT GIVEN

All of these things have the support of France and Italy. Quinones de Leon has always worked in close harmony with the Paris Foreign Office, and Rome and Madrid still work together under the agreement for Latin solidarity made at the time King Alfonso and Primo de Rivera made their visit to King Victor Emmanuel and Mussolini. These other nations have been conducting just as intensive a drive in South America as has Spain.

Britain also, as will be explained later, has her interest in forwarding any movement which will restrain American penetration in the south.

LEAGUE WANTS ADVANTAGE

Behind all of them is the natural desire of the League of Nations organization to assert its right to supervision of American affairs in the same way it supervises affairs in other parts of the world. And this desire is backed up by the Latin republics, which are quite content to have America guard them against European aggression but at the same time are anxious to have Europe—through the League—in position to guard them against any American intervention in their affairs which they might not like.

The League headquarters is using the Bolivian-Paraguayan row as the means of keeping alive its claims to supervision. Although a commission of conciliation, chosen by American nations under their arbitration system, is meeting in Washington to settle the controversy over the boundary of these countries, the League executive has encouraged Paraguay to lay before it a complaint that Bolivia is again threatening war. And this complaint has been laid before all the members of the League, while intimations have been given that the Council will undobutedly have to pass upon it at the meeting in Spain.

There is little reason to believe that the Council will attempt to interfere in any way with the Washington proceedings, but it doubtless will place on record some sort of proceeding whereby it will defer to our effort but at the same time will assert its right to be consulted in any affair which may threaten peace, even if that affair is in South America. All of which is perfectly sound and proper under the provisions of theh covenant of the League, but nevertheless will be in conflict with our policy that American questions should be settled by Americans.

DEFINITION OF LEAGUE

There are also intimations from various Latin sources that this occasion will be seized upon for renewal of the demand that the League, which has a reference to the Monroe Doctrine in its covenant, shall define just what the Doctrine, spoken of as a "regional understanding," means to that organization.

Such a demand was seriously put forward at the last meeting of the League Assembly but was sidetracked. It is hardly likely to be more than a talking point at the Council meeting in Spain, but there is every likelihood that it will figure sufficiently to make it a live issue at the meeting of the Assembly in September. At any rate the matter will be kept alive.

Latin-America has long been insisting that we should define the doctrine, so that its application in future should be limited to certain specific cases. What these Latins want is a definition which would pledge us to protect them from European aggression, but would keep us from interfering with their affairs. We have avoided any such definition because it can easily be seen that we might bind ourselves to let southern nations have the freedom to pursue a policy that would bring on a conflict with Europe which would involve us. If we are to protect them, it is our view that we should have the right to advise on means to avert trouble; and it would be impossible to define the emergencies under which this right should be exercised. Hence we want no rigid definition.

BRITAIN WATCHES

Britain has no desire to see a close Latin union, although her royal family is now linked with that of Spain and her foreign policy is now based largely on friendship with France and Italy. But she does want to see American expansion in the south checked before we get a position so dominant that we can take the cream of the trade of that region and guide its political policies. There is a genuine fear that we are on the way toward such dominance unless Europe can halt us and dig in.

For the last two years we have been steadily invading the British position on the Plata River, buying up utility and other concerns on which the British depended for their trade and their prestige. There has been a rising note of alarm in British papers over this process and it has become a loud cry over the prospect that we would buy the important Buenos Aires and Pacific Railroad, built and controlled by the British. The process of absorption has been under way and is to be stopped by disfranchising foreign stockholders.

WOULD BREAK HOLD

So now the London government is to send a first-class diplomatic and trade commission to try to break our hold on the situation in Brazil, Argentine and neighboring countries. It is headed by the astute Viscount d'Abernon, formerly Ambassador at Berlin, and is to include some of the ablest British trade, financial and other experts.

We can reckon that Lord d'Abernon will have something to say to southern statesmen about the Bolivian-Paraguayan row. Some large British concessions are affected by this controversy and there are British plans for railroad building to tap interior points which will depend on the settlement. So his activities will be well-worth watching.

LEGISLATORS' PAY EXEMPT

Attorney-General Rules They Cannot be Garnisheed by Creditors

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1. (Exclusive)—Salaries of members of the State Legislature, because they are regulated by the constitution, are not subject to garnishment by creditors, according to an opinion of the Attorney-General's office sent today to State Controller Riley.

Public officials whose salaries are not so fixed are subject to garnishment, the opinion said.

NEW CANYON BRIDGE BECOMING POPULAR

FLAGSTAFF, June 1. (Exclusive) About forty autos a day now are passing over the Grand Canyon Bridge, traveling between Utah and Arizona points. There is denial of reports that the route is a hard one, though the Arizona authorities have not finished their work of improvement. Water is declared plaintiful along the whole way, while gasoline is to be obtained at a number of points, at not over 50 cents a gallon. There is to be completion of a hotel at the bridge well in advance of the needs of the throng expected to come to the bridge dedication this month.

Donativo de un Bostonés a la Oficina International del Trabajo

GINEBRA, Junio 1.—Hoy ha decidio la Oficina International del Trabajo aceptar un donativo de $25,000, que le ha hecho E. A. Filene, de Boston, a nombre del Fondo Bostonés del Siglo Veinte.

Parece ser que esa cantidad será destinada a cubrir los gastos de una investigación completa que se proyecta hacer sobre el costo de la vida en distintos países, a fin de determinar los jornales equitativos universales que deben ganar todos los empleados, incluso aquellos que trabajan por sueldo.

Italia Ha Prohibido las Faltas de Respeto al Papa

ROMA, Junio 7.—La conversación y el canto en sitios públicos, que han venido estando sujetos a censura en Italia, lo están ahora más desde el reconocimiento del Vaticano como poder soberano.

Las burletas a expensas del rey Victor Manuel y de Benito Mussolini se han castigado con energía desde que los fascistas dominaron la situación. Ahora se han prohibido las que pudieran dirigirse al papa y sus funcionarios.

Ya no podrán los jóvenes y alegres petimetres romanos disfrazarse de cardenales en los días de carnaval. Los visitantes o residentes franceses tendrán que abstenerse de entonar algunas de las canciones tradicionales de su país en las que salen a relucir frailes o monjes.

Un venerable prelado francés, conocido por su devoción, y cuyo buen humor parra juzgar todo lo terreno no se ha embotado a pesar de su residencia de veinte años en la austera Roma, fue severamente amonestado hace poco por haber mencionado, sin mala intención, "la fina mano italiano del anciano caballero de allende el Tiber." Hizo ver que no se refería al Sumo Pontífice, sino al más mundano secretario de Estado del mismo, al cardenal Gasparri.

"Es enteramente igual", le manifestó el personaje político que lo había oído. "Desde la firma de los tratados de Letrán, han sufrido algun cambio las cosas de Italia. Hasta vos, monseñor, debéis de advertirlo."

Se Descubren Nuevos Tesoros en Tierra de Mayas

WASHINGTON, Junio 1.—En una cripta recién descubierta bajo un observatorio astronómico en ruinas que hay en Chichén Itza (Yucatan, Méjico), se han hallado tesoros que iluminarán quizá de manera más completa la antigua civilización maya.

Escondido en una celda, a trece pies bajo el centro del edificio, los arqueólogos del Instituto Carnegie de Washington descubrieron un cuenco de barro en perfecto estado. Contenía un disco de arenisca, seis cráneos de pájaros y un pedazo de concha labrada.

El disco, hecho tal vez hace más de dieciséis siglos, había sido cubierto de un mosaico cuyo material está destruido. Créese que esos objetos hayan constituido una oferta ceremonial al comenzar a construir el edificio.

El descubrimiento de la cámara en cuestión es la primera confirmación de la esperanza que vienen alimentando los que trabajan bajo la dirección del doctor Sylvanus G. Morley, de que existan varios cuartos sellados bajo el referido edificio, en los que tal vez se encuentren otros testimonios del arte y de las costumbres de los mayas.

El edificio arruinado, al que dieron los españoles el nombre de "caracol", a causa de su escalera en espiral, está siendo explorado mediante contrato celebrado con el gobierno mejicano.

Cree el doctor Morley que el laberíntico interior de la misteriosa estructura haya sido un rudimentario observatorio. Sus descubrimientos han revelado que los túneles que perforan la parte superior de la torre proporcionaban líneas visuales, con las que los sacerdotes mayas podían determinar, observando el sol poniente, la fecha del equinoccio, y fijar por tal modo el principio de su año.

El edificio se alza sobre alta plataforma de mampostería, bajo l cual había cámaras ocultas. Para buscarlas, se comenzó un túnel a principios de este año, y la que acaba de hallarse es el primer premio que han tenido los excavadores.

MEXICAN LIQUOR MOVE WATCHED

Soviet Russia Eyes Crusade of Portes Gil

Similar Problem Confronts Red Authorities

Sale of Vodka Restrictions Recently in Effect

MOSCOW, June 1. (AP)—Finding a close parallel between the temperance crusade of President Portes Gil in Mexico and the fight of the soviet union against alcoholism, leaders in this country are watching the development in the North American republic with interest.

One outstanding difference in the two programs up to date is the fact that the government here exercises a monopoly in the manufacture of vodka, having taken over the industry when it found that bootlegging stills were turning out the national drink at as fiery a strength as prevailed under the czarist regime. The government vodka is a weaker brand.

GIN, WHISKY BANNED

Thus far Mexico has not officially banned pulque, its national fire water, although the administration has denounced brandies, gins and whiskies.

In other respects the programs are closely similiar. The soviet government put new laws into effect a few weeks ago which were intended to decrease the number of occasions and places of drinking. Under them no alcoholic beverages may be sold on holidays, the days immediately preceding holidays nor on pay days. Hours for open drinking places were reduced on all other days.

NEW SALOONS TABOO

In the industrial towns and workers' communes, no new places for the sale of spirits will be permitted to open. This, it is expected, will gradually decrease the number of drink establishments. In addition workmen's clubs, cafes, buffets of theaters, communal houses, bath-houses and parks which have hitherto supplied their patrons with spirits, must discontinue that practice. Minors are forbidden even to enter beer shops or restaurants which sell spirits. All of these regulations have almost exact counterparts in the legislative program of President Portes Gil.

CLOSE RESEMBLANCE

Another close resemblance is found in the measures for promoting temperance among the people. Outdoor sports are encouraged and children are instructed in the evil effects of drinking, with the idea that they will spread the temperance gospel among their parents.

One of the militant temperance influences which is making use of children, is the Anti-Alcohol Society. That organization recently held demonstrations in thirty-five cities in which 25,000 children took part. The youngsters paraded with banners depicting the evils of drink and appealing to their parents to give it up for the sake of the coming generations.

ONE YEAR OLD

The society has been operating only about one year, but has been credited with several notable items of progress. Its statistics showed that in 1928 Russia spent $750,000,000 on drink, but in the first three months of this year the alcohol bill of Moscow alone was reduced $2,000,000 as compared with the same period in 1928.

The society has also declared that it was responsible for a government decision to reduce vodka production this year by about 22 per cent and beer by 10 per cent. Yet the economic and humanitarian waste caused by drink is tremendous, despite these measures. One authority has estimated that alcohol is responsible for 30,000 psychopathic cases in Russia each year.

RARE GAS MADE COMMON

Scientists Find Method of Extracting Fluorine in Large Quantities

TORONTO, June 1. (AP)—From a substance that looks like common table salt, two Cornell University scientists have found a way to extract in large quantity a rare and slightly poisonous gas called fluorine.

They announced to the American Electro-Chemical Society meeting here that they have found possibilities of a wide field of usefulness for the gas. Hitherto fluorine has been a laboratory curiosity, so rare that its possibilities were unknown. The method of getting it in large quantity was perfected by Prof. Wilder D. Bancroft and Newton C. Jones, research associate.

They said fluorine shows properties of combining readily with all sorts of substances, except minerals, and that its use opens a new field for synthesis.

Medicines, dyes and products of widely different uses, all different in some properties than those heretofore made, appear possible through treatment with fluorine. They describe it as a key likely to unlock the secrets of some chemical reactions, the exact nature of which has been only partly known.

These include some of the things made by passing electricity through liquids and some kinds of synthesis of carbons with hydrogen and oxygen.

The fluorine combines so readily with benzole as to explode, a result quite unexpected by some chemical authorities. Experiments are under way now at Cornell to slow down the explosive speed to a rate of combination that chemists may use in manufacture.

Dr. Colin G. Fink, secretary of the society and professor of electrochemistry at Columbia University, described the work of the two scientists as a "startling research."

The salt-like substance from which flourine is extracted is fused potassium hydrogen fluoride. The gas is released by application of an electric current.

Fluorine occurs in considerable quantities in the earth, but not as a gas. It is combined with other elements, including calcium and fluorspar.

Von Hindenburg is Gay Cavalier

BERLIN, June 1. (AP)—Playing the butterfly is the favorite game of President Von Hindenburg. He himself says so.

The octogenarian President, every inch of his commanding height a cavalier, chats with each guest after his formal dinners. He begins with the ladies but before doing so has his secretary post him on names and faces.

Then, as he starts the rounds, he remarks in a tone audible to all near him, "Now I am going to play butterfly — I will flit from flower to flower."

The venerable President bows to each lady, kisses her hand and says a few nice things to her.

SCIENCE TO FIGHT FOR OLD MOUNDS

Wants Ancient Heaps Preserved for Study of Old Customs

ST. LOUIS, June 1. (AP)—Steps to preserve for scientific study the mounds erected in the Middle West by prehistoric peoples were taken here at a conference called by the National Research Council of Washington.

Earthen monuments, built by an ancient civilization and from which scientists are unrolling a picture of the past, are being exploited by tourists, dealers in relics and by farmers who raze the sites to till the land, it is said.

In one county of Illinois, it is pointed out, there are 655 mounds, of which all but 50 have been looted. Contents have been scattered and valuable historical material lost.

Relics become mere junk when removed unscientifically, according to the council, and efforts will be made to acquaint the public with the necessity of leaving the material for expert interpretation.

The council is interested not only in preserving the sites for scientific study, but in making the material available for instruction in the States in which it lies.

The mounds are abundant throughout the Mississippi Valley. Effigies representing snakes, bears and other animals are found in Ohio, Wisconsin and elsewhere. Extensive earthworks, like Fort Ancient, Ohio, were constructed.

Burial mounds contain the dead of the ancient builders, together with the articles they used in life. Tell-tale evidences of prehistoric housekeeping are covered in the earth, awaiting scientific interpretation.

HOOVER TO ASK WHEAT SUPPORT

Will Request $100,000,000 from Congress

New Farm Board to Set Up Stabilization Unit

Approval of Bill Expected During Present Week

WASHINGTON, June 1. (Exclusive)—Enactment of farm-relief legislation will be followed by an attempt to deal with the present acute wheat situation.

Before Congress recesses, the administration will ask that as much as $100,000,000 be appropriated immediately from the authorized $500,000,000 loan fund, with a view to having it available for use in handling the wheat-surplus problem.

It is proposed to set up a wheat-stabilization corporation at the earliest possible date. This corporation, financed by loans from the government fund administered by the proposed new farm board, will be prepared to buy a sufficient quantity of wheat to check the downward trend of prices and start the movement upward.

Sponsors of the administration farm relief plan believe that without actually buying a great deal of wheat the corporation's activities will boost the price almost at once by as much as 25 cents per bushel.

ACREAGE CURTAILMENT

As a permanent solution of the price problem it is expected that the farm board will center its attention on methods of inducing farmers to reduce their wheat acreage. A curtailment of 30 per cent in acreage, it is estimated, will increase the domestic price of wheat by as much as $1 a bushel, insuring a price of upward of $2 as against the present market price of less than $1, the lowest level in sixteen years.

President Hoover and Secretary of Agriculture Hyde already are giving consideration to the personnel of the new farm board. Senate and House conferees on the farm bill today agreed that the board shall be composed of the Secretary of Agriculture and eight members appointed by the President.

All of the appointive members will receive salaries of $12,000. A clause will be inserted requesting the President in selecting members of the board to give due consideration to localities where major agricultural crops are produced. This is designated to insure representation on the board from the wheat, cotton and other major crop areas.

AGREEMENT NEAR

The agreement of the conferees was a compromise, the House bill having provided for six appointive members and the Senate bill for twelve, the latter requiring that one should come from each of the twelve, Federal Land Bank districts. The President will not be able to fix the salary of the chairman of the board, as was intended in the House bill, but must find a man who will serve for the same salary as the other appointive members.

The conferees on adjournment today were in the midst of a discussion of the provisions of the two bills relating to stabilization corporations. There was a difference of opinion as to the respective merits of the House provisions which provide for stabilization corporations to acquire and dispose of surplus crops and those of the Senate bill, which in addition make it possible for the corporations to act as marketing agencies for the co-operatives which own and control them.

Senator McNary, Republican, Oregon, head of the Senate conferees, is of the opinion that a final agreement would be reached not later than Wednesday with action on the conference report in the House and Senate immediately thereafter. Approval of the conference report, which will be minus the export debenture provision of the Senate bill, is assured in both houses, several Democrats who supported the debenture plan in the Senate having made known their readiness to change their position.

EXPERTS BUSY

With final enactment of the farm bill within the next ten days apparently assured, the administration has its experts busy on the wheat problem as the first matter of major importance which will confront the farm board.

As the administration views the situation, the whole trouble can be attributed to overproduction of wheat for a period of years.

The adoption of a plan for control of production in future years will be one of the big tasks for the farm board. To provide temporary relief, however, the board must consider methods of controlling this season's surplus through a stabilization corporation.

The farmers will be urged to provide greater storage facilities and to avoid so far as possible throwing their wheat on the market at present low prices. In the meantime the farm board will attempt to work out a plan for controlling the surplus through the stabilization corporations in a way which will enable the farmers to get more money for their product. While prices are low the farmers will be advised to feed their wheat to the chickens, cattle and hogs, all of which are now bringing fairly satisfactory prices.

Plane Used to Get New Pupils

NEW ORLEANS, June 1. (AP)—If an airplane lands in the back yard of a Mississippi, Louisiana or Alabama home during the coming summer there is no need for alarm—the chances are it will only be a professor from Tulane University looking for new students.

Prof. Donald Halley, aviator and instructor in the Tulane school of commerce, recently toured towns in neighboring States by airplane, rapidly covering his itinerary and scheduled for high school lectures on the advantages to be found in the commerce department of the New Orleans university.

Authorities state that it is the first time an airplane has been used on such a tour and has proved so successful that the schedule may be repeated shortly.

MAYAN FINDS RAISE HOPE

Newly Discovered Treasures May Reveal More Complete Pictures of Early Civilization

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP)—Treasures that may reveal more complete pictures of an ancient Mayan civilization have been found in a newly-discovered crypt beneath a crumbling astronomical observatory in Chichen Itza, Yucatan.

Sealed in a cell thirteen feet below the center of the building, archeologists of the Carnegie Institute of Washington uncovered a pottery bowl in perfect condition. It contained a sandstone disk, six bird skulls and a piece of worked shell.

The disk, probably made more than sixteen centuries ago, had been covered with a mosaic of some material which has decayed. The objects are believed to have formed a ceremonial offering at the beginning of the erection of the building.

Discovery of the chamber is the first confirmation of an early hope of the workers, under leadership of Dr. Sylvanus G. Morley, that there are a number of sealed rooms under the structure which may contain other evidences of Mayan art and customs.

The ruined building, called Caracol, or "snail shell," by the Spaniards because of its spiral staircase, is being worked under contract with the Mexican government.

The labyrinthian interior of the mysterious structure is believed by Dr. Morley to have formed a crude observatory. His findings revealed that the tunnels which pierce the upper part of the tower provided lines of sight by which the Maya priests could determine from the setting sun when the equinox occurred, and thus fix the beginning of their year.

The building is mounted on a high masonry platform, which concealed hidden chambers. A tunnel to search for them was begun early in the year and the recent discovery is the first reward for the extensive excavation.

EDITORS TO SELECT NEW CHIEF SOON

Lemuel Hall Slated to Head National Editorial Group

CHEYENNE (Wyo.) June 1. (AP)—Lemuel C. Hall, publisher of the Wareham (Mass.) Courier, will become president of the National Editorial Association when the organization of newspapermen has its annual convention in Cheyenne in July.

Mr. Hall will succeed Erwin Funk, editor of the Rogers Democrat, Rogers, Ark., who will officiate at all meetings and functions of the association until the close of the meeting and tour of Wyoming, to be made after the convention.

Mr. Hall's newspaper, a weekly, is published at Wareham, fifty miles southeast of Boston. Mr. Hall now is vice-president of the association and, in accordance with custom, becomes the new president.

H. C. Hotaling of St. Paul, executive secretary of the organization, has held that office many years and is expected to retain the position. He has direct charge of all arrangements for the convention, and already has made one trip to Wyoming preparatory to the gathering.

L. L. Newton of Lander, Wyo., secretary of the Wyoming Press Association, and executive manager of the Wyoming State Department of Commerce and Industry, in charge of State arrangements, is assisting Mr. Hotaling.

The principal task confronting officials now is arranging the itinerary for the tour of Wyoming and Yellowstone by 400 of the delegates after the close of the convention.

American Legion to Mobilize Men for Emergency

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1. (Exclusive)—As a part of their program of peace-time service, 50,000 American Legion members, veterans of the World War, are to be mobilized by special orders during the week of the 16th inst. in a test which will be carried on by the State Emergency Commission of the organization, simulating conditions which might arise in case of a State-wide emergency.

The great army of World War veterans will be mobilized by communities which in turn will report to district commanders and then in turn to the five area headquarters. Area headquarters will then report their divisions "ready for emergency duty" to the State American Legion Headquarters at San Francisco.

A national mobilization of the American Legion Posts is to be conducted during the summer, and California will stage a test to demonstrate the feasibility of the program. Secrecy is being maintained as to the form in which the summons will take, whether by telegraph, telephone, radio or otherwise.

"We are approaching the season in California in which most of our major disasters, such as forest fires have occurred, so the State Emergency Commission is perfecting its mibilization plans for a test of real service in the event of emergency or disaster," R. P. Garner, Jr., of San Bernardino, chairman of the commission, declares.

Foreign Cutters Work Gems Mine on British Soil

LONDON, June 1. (AP)—Ninety per cent of the world's natural jewels are mined in British soil, but the low cost of continental work draws all but 2 per cent of these precious stones to France and Germany for cutting and polishing.

London lapidaries, who long have bewailed this condition, have begun to hope that much of this profitable industry will be recaptured for them by the invention of an Australian sapphire-mine owner who has devised a gem-cutting machine which "can't go wrong." The machine has been demonstrated in London and operated by unskilled boys.

M. H. Heiser, whose New South Wales mines produced $250,000 worth of sapphires last year, is the inventor of the machine.

In Germany jewel cutting costs one-quarter of what it costs in England. To train an expert craftsman requires many years of apprenticeship, and even then only one workman in four proves to be an efficient cutter.

GLENDALE MAN DIES IN PLUNGE

Wealthy Realty Broker Falls from Window of Second Story of Home

GLENDALE, June 1. (Exclusive) In a death plunge today W. F. McPherson, wealthy real-estate broker and clubman, was killed instantly in the yard of his home at North Columbus avenue and Kenneth Road. McPherson had been leaning from a second-story window giving orders to a gardener, C. L. Bullard, who was in the yard below, when he lost his balance and fell. Due to the slope of the yard, he fell thirty feet, striking on his head and breaking his neck. After a police investigation the death was pronounced as accidental and the body was sent to the Jewel undertaking establishment.

Mr. McPherson was 45 years of age, and leaves a wife and two children, Will, 16, and Marjorie, 11. He was associated with the Clifford F. Reid Company, and prior to that with the Edwards & Wildey Company's Glendale office for twenty years. He held memberships in the Oakmont Country Club and the Surf and Sand Club.

JUGO-SLAVIA CHILD DEATH RATE HIGH

BELGRADE, June 1. (AP)—In a lecture broadcast from the new Belgrade radio station, Prof. Konstantinovitch of Belgrade University bemoaned the high infant mortality in Jugo-Slavia, which he attributed to ignorance in the feeding and clothing of infants.

The infant mortality varies in different provinces from 11 to 26 per hundred births, which means that in some places every fourth child dies in infancy. Of every 100 deaths in the whole kingdom more than forty occur among children under 15 years of age.

And so this new model Chickering based upon sketches by Sheraton marks a decided step ahead in piano beauty. SHEEPSKINS OVER RADIO AWARDED BY COLLEGES

London Institution Gives Degree for Listeners-In and American Schools May Do Likewise

BY DR. RALPH L. POWER

With June as the month for college graduations, to say nothing of June brides, colleges and universities everywhere are holding commencement exercises.

Just whether in time the various "colleges of the air" will hold formal exercises remains somewhat problematical. Already some have held regular ceremonies to award certificates. Some have granted college degrees to radio students who have been [illegible] years in residence.

The time may come, however, when it is possible for students to do all their college work via radio and receive their degree. Of course, this type of educational activity will never displace the resident in[illegible].

But there are thousands of persons who cannot attend college and who could take courses for six, eight or ten years via radio. This would include a good many housewives, a great many people in isolated districts, and those who are invalids and shut-ins.

SOUTH DAKOTA SERIES

The University of London, a degree-granting corporation, makes it possible for students in various parts of the British domain to take all their classes without attendance. And I do not recall that the honors from the London University have been at all belittled by this procedure.

[illegible], the Dunwoody Industrial Institute at Minneapolis, gives various radio courses and supplements them with written lessons. At the present time most of its courses are in English and literature, yet technical courses will be added, says its director, if a suitable wave length is given the station.

The South Dakota State College, [illegible], has one radio correspondence course, plus several short agricultural courses. These consist of series of lectures on health, child care, home decorations, and so forth. No college credit is given, but a diploma is issued to those who complete the course.

CREDIT AT IOWA

The University of Kansas, KFKU, quotes its broadcast director: "It is probable that we shall be able to handle accredited extension work by radio in the future."

[illegible] the University of Florida, [illegible] courses in education for academic credit, with the addition of correspondence work. The [illegible] is increasing and the [illegible] seems to be on a firm footing.

The State University of Iowa, [illegible] radio, with supervised examinations, course outlines and required [illegible], a number of courses [illegible] laboratory work is not [illegible].

In this way approximately two years of college work may be taken for credit toward a degree. [illegible] includes English, economics, languages, education and [illegible].

[illegible] Wesleyan University, [illegible] has one course for which [illegible] credit. Credit is also allowed toward teacher training certificates by Sunday-school boards.

U.S.C. RADIO DIVISION

[illegible] and a half ago, says its director, the institution was ready to give a few college credit courses via broadcast, but when the Radio Commission confined the work of the station to daylight hours only it was not feasible, since the station would not reach those who work by day.

The University of Arkansas, KUOA, carries several radio courses which it supplements by thorough work in the correspondence division, but no academic credit is granted.

The University of Southern California, through its radio education division, and KEJK, Beverly Hills, broadcasts a number of courses for which full academic credit may be earned.

This requires regular registration, procuring of texts and course outlines, stipulated conferences at the campus with the instructor, research work and supervised examinations.

LOCAL PROBLEM

Just what percentage of the total credits necessary for graduation may be earned through radio has not yet been determined, as the radio activity at U.S.C. was started only a few months ago.

There is under way at the present time a movement for an educational course through a chain system. Undoubtedly it will bring to the homes of the land a group of distinguished men and women through the medium of lectures.

Yet it will not, I think, displace the various college radio courses in different parts of the country.

One evident reason is because chain broadcast of university courses with credits involves inter-State questions—which university or which State will grant the award, who is to get the registration fees, and so forth.

As a generality, I believe that while the chain methods may be good for informational talks, it will never function as a degree-granting plan, for each college can best serve its own community.

TWO EXTREMES

The University of Illinois, WAM, has no radio credit courses. Says its secretary: "No credit is allowed for any type of work which is not taken by resident students. The only way to obtain credit is by attending classes in person."

So we have on one side a State institution which does no correspondence, radio or other type of extension instruction; and on the other hand, a world-famous school, London University, which grants academic honors for work done entirely by correspondence.

Perhaps some place along the line of education's march and progress there is a half-way point. This might include a plan by which those who cannot attend all four years may do two in residence and two, spread over four years, by radio.

Another idea might be to invent another degree which would be distinctly a broadcast one and earned only by radio. Of course, there are already far too many varieties of college degrees, but, still, one or two more wouldn't matter.

"TIMES" ELECTION SERVICE

In accordance with its custom, The Times will make known the returns from Tuesday's municipal election by radio, from Station KHJ, the Don Lee station, by special street editions and by telephone to all who call Tuesday night. First returns will be available probably about 7:30 and will be broadcast at frequent intervals as long as the results remain in doubt.

TELEVISION DISCUSSED BY EXPERTS

New Book Traces History, Rapid Development and Future of Radiophoto

"Television—Present Methods of Picture Transmission," by H. Horton Sheldon and Edgar N. Grisewood, has just been published by D. Van Nostrand Company, Inc., of New York. The book has 194 pages and is well illustrated.

The authors have written in the foreword that television development is marching at such a terrific pace that even before the volume gets to press it might be partially out of date.

This is one of the pioneer works on television. The language is not essentially so scientific that it cannot appeal to the layman.

Credit is given to the groundwork laid by many scientists including Jenkins, Baird, Alexanderson, Bell and others. There are chapters on synchronization, electromagnetic waves, glow lamps, photoelectric cell, oscillographs and telephotography.

A useful chapter sums up something about the historical background of the subject. There is a section devoted to an introduction of television and picture transmission, and a conclusion which sums up the probable trend.

Sheldon and Grisewood, of New York University's Washington Square college, have contributed a genuinely useful tome, the practical every-day value of which is readily apparent and the later historical place of which can easily be visioned.

Air Programs of Summer Called Best

That broadcast programs now scheduled through the early summer months assure radio owners the longest and best season that listeners yet have enjoyed is revealed by inquiry of leading radio stations made by Walter M. Fagan, president of Pacific Wholesale, Inc., distributors of Sparton Equasonne radio.

"Radio's richest months" was the term used last year by Fagan to describe the early summer season. During these months broadcasters exerted themselves to provide the best in entertainment, and this year they are going still further.

"Listeners now are enjoying fine reception long after the radio was forgotten in previous years. This tendency is being made stronger by improvements in radio instruments themselves, making reception during the warmer months still more satisfactory. Authorities freely express the opinion that all-year broadcasting of 'big-time' programs, with very little curtailment during the summer, has arrived," he says.

Radio Dealer Sends Force to Chicago Show

The preview of the new Brandes radio receiver, distributed locally by Western Radio, Inc., ended last Wednesday night with 350 people having attended. Les Taufenbach, president of Western Radio, Inc., was so encouraged by the dealer reaction and the outlook for the next season that he made arrangements to send his entire sales force to the Chicago Radio Show. Taufenbach left immediately after the preview and will visit the Brandes factory in Newark, N. J., before attending the show. Van Metre, Lawson, Dyna and McMahon left Friday noon and will arrive at Chicago tomorrow morning.

Mr. Taufenbach said, "I believe that the plan to take our entire sales force to the Chicago show will so broaden their experience that when they return they will be able to give the radio dealer merchandising helps that will be invaluable."

Bareheaded Men on Taboo List

ST. LOUIS, June 1. (Exclusive)—An ambitious man, not necessarily handsome but "superior to me," who doesn't wear galoshes or go without a hat, who can keep several long strides ahead of the financial wolf, who loves his home and children, who is respected by men as well as women, and has a sense of humor—that is the rough outline of the composite husband demanded by 6000 girls in Catholic high schools and colleges.

Radio Lauded for Help in Crime Fight

Radio as a crime deterrent by reason of its aid to the police in expediting the speedy apprehension of criminals was emphasized recently by W. J. Zucker, vice-president of Stewart-Warner Corporation, Chicago radio manufacturers. He cited the fact that the police of Chicago, Detroit and other large cities have resorted successfully to the use of wireless communication in combating the activities of hold-up men, burglars and perpetrators of other major crimes.

Zucker, who has made a study of the commercial and social potentialities of radio, told a group of Stewart-Warner dealers that since the Chicago police have been experimenting with radio there are not only fewer crimes reported, but a greater number of arrests made in cases where crimes are committed.

"The best way of fighting crime and discouraging the tendencies of those about to launch upon a criminal career is to make an example of those who commit crimes," said Zucker. "This can be accomplished only by certain and swift punishment."

Indicative of the growing interest in aviation, announcement was made by the Continental Air Express aviation school this week that its students now number thirty men and women, ranging in age from eighteen years upward.

Merchants Use Alarm Clocks to Beat Law's Aim

APPLETON (Wis.) June 1. (Exclusive)—Ingenuity, although it be a rather old-fashioned means, is solving the parking ban for local business men who like to leave their automobiles before their downtown establishments, but who were seemingly prevented from doing so by the adoption recently of a ninety-minute parking limit in the business district. The scheme is this:

An alarm clock is set when the business men parks his car. When ninety minutes have elapsed, the clock sounds its warning, the automobile owner rushes out of his place of business and moves his machine to the next parking stall and returning resets the alarm clock. He is safe again for ninety minutes, when he repeats the performance, moving his car back to the first stall if he is lucky enough to find it vacant.

Speakers are to include Dr. Aurelia Reinhart, president of Mills College; Dr. Henry Russell Spencer of Ohio State University; Dr. Gertrude Laws, associate chief of the State Bureau of Parent Education, and, possibly, Dr. G. A. Jaederholm of the University of Gothenburg, Sweden.

ONCE PARADISE, NOW JUNK YARD

Town's Pleasure at Having Autos Dismantled Publicly Turns to Grief

SPRING VALLEY (N. Y.) June 1. (Exclusive)—Spring Valley is up in arms. For years the village fathers maintain, outsiders have been in the habit of junking their cars on any street in the hamlet. At first it was considered an excellent idea, because motorists in the village could retrieve spare parts from the abandoned automobiles but of late there have been so many cars left that the whole town has taken on the appearance of a junk yard. So an antijunking ordinance has been passed.

WOULD MAKE SHOPS SCIENTIFIC SCHOOLS

ROCHESTER (N. Y.) June 1. (AP) Recruiting more of the nation's higher technical personnel from among workers in industry is urged in a report to the American Society of Mechanical Engineers by W. E. Wickenden of New York.

He says the American system of technical education has developed in a one-sided manner. There should be schools parallel to the university system, to which students are admitted primarily on evidence of their capacity and interest, rather than formal scholastic credentials. The teaching should be based on direct instruction and experience.

FRANKLIN FIELD, PHILADELPHIA, June 1. (AP)—Four record-smashing performances, including a sensational half-mile in 1:52 1-5 by Phil Edwards of New York University, brought the fifty-third intercollegiate A.A.A.A. track and field championships to a climax today as Stanford University won the team title for the third year in a row.

The Cardinals from Palo Alto, coached by "Dink" Templeton, not only gave the Far West its eighth triumph over a span of nine years, but did it by the most overwhelming margin in thirty years. Not since 1899 when Pennsylvania's great team won with a record total of 57 points, beating its nearest rival by twenty-nine points, has any team captured the historic meet by so one-sided a margin as Stanford.

Stanford scored exactly 45 3-8 points, tallying in nine of the fifteen events. This more than doubled the count of the nearest Cardinal rival, Southern California, which tallied 21 points and thereby added to the rout of the East. Pennsylvania finished third with 18 3-8 points, New York University fourth with 14, and Yale fifth with 12 3-8. California, the third contender from the Pacific Coast, finished in a tie with Pittsburgh for sixth place with 11 points.

MANY THRILLS

Except that its proportions exceeded even the rosiest expectations, there was nothing startling or unexpected in the team victory for Stanford. But there were plenty of record-breaking thrills in one of the greatest competitive carnivals in the half-century history of the East's blue-ribbon meet.

To Phil Edwards, the dusky N. Y. U. flyer and Canadian Olympic star, went the main honors as he spread-eagled his field in the half-mile run. In defending his title successfully, Edwards not only shattered the fourteen-year-old meet record of the famous Ted Meredith, set at 1m 53s., but also equaled Meredith's American outdoor record of 1m. 52 1-5s., made in 1916, and was only three-fifths of a second behind the world's record of 1m. 51 3-5s., made by Dr Otto Peltzer of Germany at London in 1926.

Edwards was primed for the greatest race of his career and

Vane Baker of Huntington Park and Jerry Deal of Anderson Memorial Playground, San Pedro, champion and runner-up in the junior division of the Southern California junior Olympic Games finals.

Fernando Ramos of Ross Snyder Playground and Robert San Jose of the same field that produced Deal, champion and runner-up in the senior division.

These are the results of yesterday's meet at Moore Field, a meet which saw the pick of 34,000 Southern California youngsters battling for fame and glory. It was a day of surprises and heartaches, a day of sensations and jubilant triumphs.

WIN FREE TRIP

As a result of their thrilling victories the four boys named above will receive a free trip to the Hawaiian Islands. Some of them will, in addition, go to Atlantic City for the national finals in July, although there is a chance that third-place winners in the divisions may supplant the runners-up on this journey. This matter will be ironed out in the near future.

Baker's total was 758 points, the largest score ever recorded anywhere by a junior. Deal came next with a handsome 682. The three other leading juniors finished as follows: Ed Wileman, Fillmore Junior High School of Ventura county, 638; Paul Lee, Arroyo Seco Playground, 622; Billy Edwards, Fremont High School, 619.

Ramos ran second to San Jose in the Los Angeles county finals last week but came to the front with a bang yesterday, scoring 692 points, which breaks the national record of 671 established last year by Johnny Falcon of Azusa. San Jose's total was 677, exactly the same as he made last week.

Walter Waers of Arroyo Seco Playground was third with 655, Robert Haskell of South Pasadena Junior High School fourth with 644, and Leo Bessara of Robert Louis Stevenson Junior High fifth with 597.

NOTABLES ON DECK

The meet was attended by a flock of notables, including Douglas Fairbanks, who officially opened the program; Lady Heath, famous English aviatrix and sportswoman who recently flew the Atlantic Ocean; Charley Paddock, internationally known sprinter, and three great local athletes who competed in exhibitions, Frank Wykoff, Bud Houser and Herman Brix.

Brix broke the world's record for the twelve-pound shot when

JACK NEVILLE.

DEL MONTE (Cal.) June 1. (AP) In a great golfing battle over picturesque Pebble Beach links, that changed from a disastrous rout to a thrillingly close end-up, Jack Neville of the Monterey Peninsula Country Club met and matched the challenge of 19-year-old Francis Stevens, Jr., to capture the amateur championship of California today, 3 and 1. Nine up at the end of this morning's eighteen, Neville donned the regal robes of the champion for the fifth time in his career, but only after the young unknown trudging the fairways with him had won back seven holes in a nerve-tingling finish.

The first round was a walkaway for the 40-year-old veteran and his fine all-around game from tee to green brought him the first seven holes. The eighth was halved and Neville won the ninth to become eight up. On the incoming stretch the Monterey Peninsula star won the tenth, halved the eleventh, lost the next three and picked off the fifteenth, sixteenth and seventeenth. The eighteenth was halved.

STAGES COMEBACK

When they came back for the afternoon wind-up very few, if any, in the gallery of more than 1000 conceded the Los Angeles boy the slimmest chance to make even a creditable showing.

A thumbnail account of how Stevens came back follows:

He won the first, second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth to make the match but three up in Neville's favor. The seventh and eighth were halved. Neville won the ninth, they halved the tenth and Stevens won the eleventh. After they had halved the twelfth, Stevens won the thirteenth to become two down. They halved the fourteenth. Stevens won the fifteenth and Neville won the sixteenth. Neville clinched the match with a win on the seventeenth.

When Stevens won the thirteenth with a 4 against Neville's 5, he put himself in line to come through for a spectacular victory. He was 2 down and 5 to go. He sliced into a trap on the next hole, however, and with the ball in a heel print was forced to waste a stroke. Neville also had trouble, but reached the green in 4, while his opponent was in long grass with the same number of strokes. Stevens made a weak chip shot, while Neville was down in 6 to win.

The fifteenth was halved in 5's, making Stevens dormie 2. The youngster kept in the running by taking a 4 to Neville's 6 on the sixteenth. Neville conceded the hole after getting into a barranca on his second shot. His third started out cleanly,

IOWA EVIDENCE BARED

Alumni Charged With Raising Fund and Sending Out Agents to Find Athletes

[Copyright, 1929, by the Chicago Tribune.]

CHICAGO, June 1. (Exclusive)—Leaders in the Big Ten's fight to purge the Western Conference of proselyting and professionalizing athletes, climaxed by the ouster of the University of Iowa, emphasized in interviews tonight that they are not gunning for individuals whose way is being paid through school, but are fighting an organized effort to recruit and hire athletes.

Iowa's expulsion came largely as the result of the conviction of the conference chiefs, that Iowa alumni had organized, raised a fund and sent agents out to find athletes. After the athletes had enrolled, this same alumni group were ready to finance them.

As "exhibit A" in the bill of

SUGGESTS ARMY USE STARS ONLY ONE YEAR ON TEAMS

WASHINGTON, June 1. (AP)—The suggestions that West Point athletic authorities adopt a four-year rule permitting athletes who have played three years at other colleges to play only one year on Army teams has been advanced by Representative Fish, Republican, New York, as a means of bringing the Army and Navy academies together on the gridiron again. In a letter to Secretary Good of the War Department, Mr. Fish pointed out that by using players for three years after they had already participated in varsity sport for a similar period at other institutions, the Army not only placed a handicap on its opponents but left slight opportunity for inexperienced men at West Point to make the teams.

Riviera Country Club Plans Four-Million Dollar Sports Center for Southland

POLO AND GOLF TO BE FEATURED

Frank A. Garbutt Agrees to Handle Venture

Three Regulation Fields for Olympics Planned

Work on Sports Center Will Get Under Way Soon

BY FRANK ROCHE

Plans for the creation of the greatest sports center this side of the Mississippi River, which will rival anything in the nation, were announced yesterday by Snowy Baker, former Australian all-round athletic champion, who for the past ten years has been a resident of Southern California. The sports center will be located at the Riviera Country Club and it will involve a venture which will run into about $4,000,000 in honest-to-goodness money.

FRANK A. GARBUTT.

In making the announcement Baker stated that the Riviera Country Club, which was the scene of the 1929 Los Angeles $10,000 open golf championship, will immediately start work on the building of three regulation polo fields that are expected to be the equal of any in the world. Polo and golf will be major sports, around which other activities will revolve at Riviera, Baker stated. Tennis, swimming and hunt club activities, such as steeplechase racing, bridle path sports and other equestrian events, will also be included on the Riviera program.

GARBUTT IN CHARGE

Frank A. Garbutt, vice-president of the Los Angeles Athletic Club and one of the leading business figures on the west coast, has agreed to take charge of the construction of the entire venture. Besides the polo fields stables will be erected which will be artistically designed and entirely fire proof. The stables will be in keeping with the rest of the beautiful layout and will be large enough to accommodate ponies for as many as three tournaments at one time.

Riviera anticipates holding the 1932 Olympic polo championships on their fields. Both Baker and Garbutt pointed out that the Riviera district would be the largest polo center in the West, for besides the proposed fields there are three other regulation polo plants within a stone's throw. Will Rogers has two polo fields and the Uplifters have one regulation field, which will all be available to the Olympic contestants. No other section of the country with the exception of Long Island has the same facilities, Baker stated.

In connection with their plans the Riviera Club has determined to co-operate with the various organizations that have been instrumental in securing much-needed bridle paths and trails for Southern California. Paths will be constructed on Riviera proper and on the property of adjoining landowners who wish to co-operate and make this one of the attractive features of the sports center.

The stables at Riviera will also take care of the saddle club and riding activities. Frank A. Garbutt declares he is going to erect stables that will make the ponies homesick for Riviera when they are taken elsewhere. The conditions and furnishings will give the animals all the care and comfort that are due them from their masters.

The Riviera golf courses are already recognized among the leading layouts on the west coast.

ROGERS BEHIND PLAN

Will Rogers, one of the pioneers in polo in the section, has been an indefatigable worker in his efforts to induce the club to appropriate money for the building of the fields and the stables.

Baker will act as general manager of the venture. Plans for the preliminary buildings will be filed within a week or ten days.

Baker, Will Rogers, Carleton Burke, Hal Roach, Eric Pedley, Charles Wrightsman, Howland Paddock, Dr. H. H. Wilson, James Spalding, Carl Beal, James Colt and other well-known Southland sportsmen and polo players were responsible for winning over of Riviera to the idea of creating the sports center.

SOUTH DAKOTA STATE TAKES TRACK TITLE

STEVE ANDERSON LEADS HUSKIES TO TRACK WIN

BY FRANK G. GORRIE.
Associated Press Sports Writer

EUGENE (Or.) June 1. (AP)—Splashing through a driving rain, Steve Anderson, America's premier hurdler, led a small but mighty band of athletes to an overwhelming triumph for the University of Washington in the annual northern division Pacific Coast Conference track meet on Hayward Field here today.

Anderson pointed the way to victory in the fourth event of the classic when he flashed over the high hurdles in 14.4s. to tie the world's record for the second time in his life. This also equaled his own conference mark established last year.

Three other conference records were shattered in the discus, low hurdles and mile run.

The University of Oregon and Washington State College battled it tooth and nail for second place with the Oregon Webfooters getting the call by one point on the result of the next to the last event. Oregon State College showed brilliancy in spots to cop fourth place. Idaho finished fifth and Montana sixth.

The scores were:

Washington, 53; Oregon, 37; Washington State, 36; Oregon State, 20½; Idaho, 5, and Montana, 1½.

RABBIT PUNCHES

RIVERS AND WELSH

"A SOUL IN PAIN." This is the Sabbath subject for the old-timers today.

A "Soul in Pain" deals with the story of two veterans of the prize ring. One was Freddie Welsh, once a lightweight champion of the world. The other was Joe Rivers, a contender.

Welsh died two years ago in a New York hotel, a victim of heart disease at the age of 41. Rivers is alive and a preliminary referee in this city.

The "Soul in Pain" goes back seventeen years. It is a caption which appeared over a picture published in this paper after a bout between Welsh and Rivers at old Vernon.

Mr. Hal Roach, quite a figure in the movie world as a producer, also produced the picture in question, digging it up out of the relics of his prize-fight collection.

Mr. Roach was inspired to this move because of an argument that ensued on a return trip from the Tunney-Dempsey fight at Chicago nearly two years ago.

Mr. Roach swore a Welsh-Rivers fight had taken place, and he had seen it. The conductor of this column and Mr. Robert Cronin, another scribe, were not positive about the matter, and there was nothing in Tom Andrews's "Ring Battles of the Century" to corroborate Mr. Roach.

MR. ROACH spent no little time and effort in discovering irrefutable evidence to bear out his contention.

The same is contained in "A Soul in Pain."

The remainder of the caption runs as follows:

"Joe Rivers' Horrified Face—As the camera registered it in one of the last rounds of the fight. Distressed, bewildered and ashamed, Joe's expression shows how terrible was his realization that his fortunes were collapsing through inability to hit Freddie Welsh."

Welsh was one of the best of the lightweight champions, but a boxer pure and simple. He won the title from Willie Ritchie in a twenty-round battle in London, July 7, 1914.

He lost it to Benny Leonard in New York May 28, 1917, being stopped in the ninth round.

Welsh, whose real name was Fred Hall Thomas, was born in Pontypridd, Wales, in 1886. During the war he was a boxing instructor and after the war did reconstruction work.

At the time of his death he was reported to have passed away penniless and to have died of a broken heart because Jack Dempsey refused an appeal to come and visit him.

However, on the day of the funeral Welsh's brother said Freddie owned property in California for which he had just refused $83,000 and a substantial equity in a $45,000 eastern property.

Harry Pollok, now associated with the Agua Caliente Hotel and Amusement Corporation, managed Welsh when he was champion.

BLOCKS ARE UNFAIR

THE next subject of the day is Dink Templeton's celebrated starting blocks. George W. Jordan, who signs himself field captain of the Olympic Club of San Francisco in 1889-90 and a resident of this city for the past thirty-five years, says such devices are most unfair to the old-timers, and predicts 9 2-5s. in the 100-yard dash ere long if they are ruled legal.

Speaking of the Templeton blocks he writes as follows:

"It seems to me if they are permitted in future meets, it won't be long before the 100 yards will be run in 9 2-5s. Almost forty years ago when John Owen and Luther Carey broke the record of 10s. to 9 4-5s. they both did it standing up on the mark at the start.

"Some years later the bracing start with hands on the ground (first introduced by Sherrill of Yale, a 10s. man) was permitted and finally sanctioned at all track meets. This method of starting proved an advantage of 1-5s. over the old way of starting.

"Go back to the old method of standing up on the mark and there is no man up to date who could beat 9 4-5s. for 100 yards. Dan Kelly, credited with 9 3-5s. in 1906, made his record against the watch (no competition.) Records should not be allowed except in competition.

"Paddock has been the most consistent sprinter to run 100 yards in 9 3-5s. in competition, but I believe he is no better than Owen or Carey, 9 4-5s. men with a standing start.

"The 1-10th split second watches will be a helpful factor in reducing the 100 yards and other records, as has been shown recently.

"However, with all these advantages the sprinters of today are no speedier than the boys of forty years ago. They have better training facilities, better tracks and coaches today."

A BICYCLE PLEA

COMES a plaint by an old-timer who wants something done about reviving interest in bicycle racing. Bud Thorpe, 621 North Orange Drive, points out that the Los Angeles Velodrome near Culver City is the only board bike track this side of St. Louis but is thinly patronized.

Bud wants something done about it, but the only suggestion of the conductor is for Bud to get together with Charley Keppen and Dean Cromwell about the situation.

Charley and Dean were both champions in their time—over a quarter of a century ago—and they may be able to help Bud in his dilemma. At least they know something about bike racing, and the conductor doesn't—nothing except that Bill Pickens tried to revive it with his famous Parisian Gardens here several years ago and went broke on somebody else's money.

UPSETS MARK PLAY IN JUNIOR TENNIS EVENT

Local tennis fans will be privileged to witness exhibitions of high order today on the courts of the Midwick Country Club when the final matches in the various junior divisions for the Southern California championships will be staged. Sensational upsets, long matches, and extraordinary tennis supplied the thrills yesterday, and with all of the players in some form, more sensational struggles are looked for today.

Ellsworth Vines, the clever Pasadena youngster, and Jack Tidball, Hollywood High School star, provided yesterday's sensations when Vines eliminated Hugh McArthur, San Diego flash, and Tidball won over Les Stoefen, municipal court champion, in a battle that lasted all afternoon.

Vines was in impressive form, the same he showed when he won the Southern California open doubles title, paired with Keith Gledhill, and he was forced to the limit to win over the young San Diegan, who has been scoring regularly over all opposition. Vines won by scores of 11-9, 5-7, 6-4.

The Tidball-Stoefen match was just as spectacular, and resulted in a straight-set victory for Tidball, although the second set went thirty-four games. The scores were 6-3, 18-16.

Carolyn Babcock reversed a set-back sustained in the Southern California open tournament, when she won over Helen Marlow in three fast sets, 6-3, 1-6, 6-4. Dorothy Workman entered the finals for girls 18 and under, when she defeated Violet Doeg in three hard sets, 6-3, 5-7, 7-2.

The schedule for today, arranged by Walter Wesbrook, professional at the Midwick Country Club, calls for a semifinal match in the men's doubles, and the final matches for boys and girls 13 and under in the morning, with all other final matches scheduled for the afternoon. The results of all yesterday's semifinal matches follow:

Boys 18 and under—Ellsworth Vines defeated Hugh McArthur, 11-9, 5-7, 6-4; Jack Tidball defeated Lester Stoefen, 6-3, 18-16.

Girls 18 and under—Carolyn Babcock defeated Helen Marlow, 6-3, 1-6, 6-4; Dorothy Workman defeated Violet Doeg, 6-3, 5-7, 7-2.

Boys 15 and under—Jay Coen defeated B. Levy, 6-3, 6-2; Sammy Gorham defeated Charles Trask, 9-7, 6-4.

Girls 15 and under—Mercedes Marlow defeated Ethel Johnson, 6-2, 9-7; G. Wheeler defeated Peggy Wilson, 6-3, 6-2.

Boys 13 and under—Jack Creamer defeated Howard Clark, 6-1, 6-4; C. Mako defeated R. Underwood, 6-0, 6-1.

Girls 13 and under—Priscilla Merwin defeated Mollie Alzer, 6-1, 6-0; May Doeg defeated M. Lacey, 6-0, 6-1.

Stanford Takes Title for Third Straight Year

did it, as a crowd of 15,000 spectators cheered him on, running the first 440 yards in less then 55s., Edwards was thirty yards in front of his team-mate, Fred Veit, going into the last lap, it appeared the slim, but beautifully striding negro had set off at too fast a pace, he seemed to slow down rounding the last turn, but had enough left to finish fast, breaking the tape twenty-five yards in front of his nearest rival, Chapman of Bates, with Veit third.

The Far West took its share of the record-busting honors when Jesse Hill of Southern California, broad jumped to a new meet mark of 25ft. 7-8in., while Harlow Rothert of Stanford clinched the shot-put title with a toss of 50ft. 3in., which he made in the trials yesterday and which was good enough to beat his team-mate, Eric Krenz, the 1928 champion. Krenz made a gallant effort to overcome his rival, but his toss of 50ft. 5-8in., was good only for second place.

Another long-standing record was toppled when Jimmy Reid, Harvard captain, came from behind to beat Bill Cox of Penn State and win the two-mile title for the second straight year in 9m. 22s. This barely displaced the record of 9m. 22 2-5s., made by Ivan Dresser of Cornell in 1919.

A fifth record was bettered when Sid Kieselhorst of Yale, retaining his title, won the 220-yard low hurdles in 23 3-10s., 3-10s. better than the mark set in 1898 by A. C. Kraenzlein of Pennsylvania. Because of the stiff wind at his back, however, Kieselhorst's mark was ruled out.

THREE TIED

Several other records were threatened. Eric Krenz, retaining one of the two crowns he wore last year, came close to his own mark in the discus when he hurled the winning throw of 153ft. 4in. Three pole vaulters attacked the world's record of 14ft. made by Sabin Carr of Yale two years ago, but all failed and finished in a first-place tie at 13ft. 9in. The trio consisted of Ward Edmonds of Stanford, Jack Williams of Southern California and Fred Sturdy of Yale. Leo Kirby of Stanford was just short of the javelin record when he won with 204ft. 7in.

Stanford captured three first places and tied for a fourth through the individual efforts of Rothert, Krenz, Edmonds and Kirby. This quartet alone collected twenty-five points, enough to win the meet, altogether nine of Stanford's starting squad of fourteen athletes figured in the scoring.

"Hec" Dyer, the rangy Stanford sophomore sprinter, was twice only a few steps short of the fame that goes to sprint champions. He contributed eight of the Cardinal points by finishing second to Karl Wildermuth in the 100-yard dash and runner-up to Ricyrd Kent, the new 220-yard champion.

Southern California, the hard-luck team of the meet, saw mishaps wreck its chances of ringing up a bigger point total. The elimination yesterday of two injured Trojans, Charley Borah, in the 220, and Vic Williams in the 440, was followed by the breakdown of Jimmy Payne this afternoon in the low-hurdle semifinals. In the final of the 220 hurdles, however, Ernest Payne, no relation to Jimmy — came through to extend the champion, Kieselhorst, and finish a close second.

Pennsylvania, aided by the fine work of Barney Berlinger in the shotput and high jump, led the eastern teams, but New York University furnished two of the most sensational winners in Edwards and Joe Hickey, red-headed mile champion, who uncorked a terrific spurt to cut down the favorite, George Offenhauser of Penn State, in the stretch. N. Y. U.'s total of 14 points was twice as many as the Violets ever previously scored in the I.C.4-A. outdoor championships, although the New Yorkers won the indoor title meet last winter.

Pittsburgh's spectacular speed merchant, "Pete" Bowen, failed in his attempt to register a double victory, but came off with the 440-yard championship when he withstood the challenge of Charley Engle of Yale to win in 48 4-10s., this sapped so much of Bowen's stamina, however that in the final of the 100 he was sixth and last.

BRUINS SHOW PROMISE

Vermont-Avenue Athletes Exhibit Fine Prospects for Future Sports Greatness

Promise of future greatness, but not much present exhibition of athletic prowess sums up the past year of intercollegiate sports competition for teams representing the University of California at Los Angeles. Minor sports were the only things the Bruin athletes excelled in this past school year, but in the other sports, a wealth of material was discovered that should mature into real stuff next year when U.C.L.A. moves to its new campus at Westwood.

Coach Bill Spaulding has excellent prospects for his gridiron aggregation next fall at Westwood. Last year, the Bruins finished in the bottom of the Pacific Coast Conference in their baby year there, but furnished enough fight to give a good account of themselves. Lack of experienced and "natural" football players shoved the locals down, forcing them to take defeats from Stanford, Washington State, Idaho and Oregon. However, the Bruins took the measure of two of their old Southern Conference rivals, Caltech and Pomona, by a wide margin.

Despite the loss of Capt. Joe Fleming, Bert La Brucherie and Earl Fields from the backfield of the U.C.L.A. eleven, Coach Spaulding will have a better team next fall than last, according to present indications. Buddy Forster, quarterback flash; Jerry Russom, Cliff Simpson, Reuben Thoe and Lillyquist are the veteran backs returning, and in addition the Bruin football mentor has uncovered Chet Smith, a promising back; Roberts, a man who has been averaging sixty-five to seventy yards on his punts during spring practice, and Norman Duncan, the iron man and captain of the 1928 frosh football outfit. Duncan, who is a sure shot for fullback on the Bruin varsity this year, looks to be the best prospect for U.C.L.A. in years.

Capt. Carl Brown, stellar tackle, will lead the Bruins this year from his line position. Other veterans returning for the forward wall are Bob Rasmus and Bishop, ends; Jacobson and Ed Tandy, tackles; Marion French, center, and Gene Noble, guard. The only one missing from last year's line will be Stan Gould, who graduates next week.

In basketball this past year, Coach Caddy Works had one of the best fives he has ever developed, and one that functioned almost to perfection in preseason practice encounters, but when the Pacific Coast Conference season opened, it immediately took a grand flop. The Bruin cagers won but one game out of nine during the season, defeating the University of Southern California five in the third game of their series.

Next court season will show the Bruins to be as formidable a casaba outfit as at any other time in their history, however, for but few men will graduate. Men who played their last year in basketball for U.C.L.A. this past season are Capt. Sammy Balter, guard; Milo Young and Bill Woodroof, centers, and Bob Baker, guard, and Al Sunsart, substitute guard. They number quite a lot, but most of those regulars were forced to sit on the bench the latter half of the season by the Bruin sophomore subs. Capt.-elect Larry Wilde, star forward, will lead the U.C.L.A. cagers next season and will have as his running mates the following: Dick Linthicum, sophomore star forward; Erwin Piper, forward; Carl Knowles, another sophomore who made good as a pivot man; Lubin, giant guard, and Len Wellendorf, a member of this last year's frosh cage team.

CONSTRUCTION STARTS ON BRUINS' NEW FIELD

Construction work on the new athletic field of the University of California at Los Angeles at its Westwood campus will start tomorrow, it was announced yesterday by Bruin athletic authorities. The field will be leveled and put into condition for use by next fall when U.C.L.A. moves to its new campus.

The field is located just west of the main quad, around which the major buildings are grouped, and down the slope. Eventually, it is planned to erect a large athletic stadium there on the large field between that hill and the one to the west, but for this year, bleachers only will be constructed, to serve for the lone gridiron encounter the Bruins will play on that field, with the Fresno State Teachers' College team.

Construction is also expected to start soon on the men's and women's gymnasiums at Westwood. They are to be located just east of the proposed athletic field, at the foot of the stairs leading to the main quad. Money for the construction of the two gymnasiums was provided by the recent consummation of a $1,000,000 loan on the old campus on Vermont avenue by the board of regents of the University of California.

particulars which the Big Ten athletic directors have drawn against Iowa is the following report of an agent sent out by the finance committee of the alumni group: The letter, dated July 15, 1927, read as follows:

"Dear—

"Just a line, think I have lined up two good boys from Omaha, Nelson, Omaha Tech, and Mullen, Omaha South. Both real boys and stand over six feet. Nelson talked Illinois, but said he would stop off and see me. If he does, it's good-by Illinois.

"Am trying to gather some funds, and it's coming slowly, but anything will help. This will help out another year.

[Signed]—"

HOLD COACHING JOB

The conference leaders were intrigued to learn that the writer of the above is an alumnus of Iowa and holds a coaching job in a prominent high school.

In proof that the alumni weren't working at odds with the coaching staff of Iowa a letter purporting to have been written by a member of the athletic administration is listed as "exhibit B."

"Dear—

"I am sorry to be so late in answering your letter but my mail comes to a private box and I have been away for several days.

"If Weldon will come to Iowa I can guarantee his tuition and also his living expenses, which will be about $250, as well as his books.

"I think, ——, if he talks business I can arrange his transportation and perhaps also his hotel and meals, but the transportation certain. Do what you can and wire collect, or call me at 777 and reverse the charges. Thanks a lot, old man, for helping me on this case with Weldon. I'll show you my hospitality when you come up.

[Signed] "————"

"Coach."

"The second list of notes totaling $934 for previous semesters include such men as Kutch ——, and ——, and no one wants to pay their tuitions even though we were assured they registered that they would be taken care of.

"These notes are all on our books and in case of any investigation is apparent to be embarrassing to the athletic situation.

[Signed "————"]

Reports said to have been turned over to the Big Ten indicate that the alumni who believed that Iowa was not resting in its proper place in the athletic sun, held numerous conferences in 1926 and 1927 for the purpose of finding a lever to shove Paul Belting out of his position as director of athletics.

This seems strange as many of the irregularities in the Iowa athletic situation took place during Belting's regime and the natural question is why weren't the alumni satisfied? The answer is that Belting all along was filing these conditions and they existed only because he couldn't eradicate them.

So the alumni wanted Belting ousted.

It is reliably reported to the conference that after Iowa's victory over Minnesota last fall a meeting of several score alumni was held in Iowa City at which the following platform was adopted:

"We can do nothing under the present director. We must have a man with different ideals. The man has been found, his name will be announced in due time from the administration's office. This man is an Iowa man who will serve as a decoy for the other crowd and make things appear to be on the up and up. He is entirely satisfactory because he is harmless and his ideals need not interfere with his business."

BRESNAHAN'S FATE HANGS IN BALANCE

CHAMPAIGN (Ill.) June 1.—When the University of Iowa appears before the faculty committee of the Big Ten Conference in session in Chicago next week to appeal from the order of expulsion issued one week ago, Iowa will be invited, as one important condition of reinstatement, either to get rid of George Bresnahan, the director of intercollegiate athletics at the defendant university or relieve him of the authority in athletic affairs which he now holds.

Of course, the eventual reinstatement of Iowa will depend on whether the authorities of the school appear to be actively aroused against the conditions set forth in the indictment, or still complacent toward them, but the retention of Bresnahan in his present power would be regarded as an expression of complacency.

For the first time since the two events have been rivals in money value, the Kentucky Derby, worth $53,950 to the winner, this year exceeded the Preakness by $1625.

TWO AMERICANS LOSE ON COURT

Tilden, Hunter Eliminated in French Tourney

French Final Assured as Borotra, LaCoste Win

Helen Wills is Victorious in Woman's Event

BY THOMAS T. TOPPING
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, June 1. (AP)—In two great tennis contests at the Roland Garros Stadium this afternoon Bill Tilden and Frank Hunter stormed the ramparts of French supremacy and failed.

BILL TILDEN

Big Bill was beaten by his old foe, Rene LaCoste, 6-1, 6-0, 5-7, 6-3, in the semifinals of the French championship in a match which would have been a rout but for a great stand by the veteran American in the third set.

Shortly before, Jean Borotra, the bounding Basque, came from behind to trim Hunter in the quarter-finals, 6-8, 10-8, 4-6, 8-6, 6-4.

With the downfall of America's first and second ranking stars the last chance of capturing the only important men's singles title which has never been won by a player from the United States vanished for this year at least. The renowned three musketeers of France are in sole possession of the field with LaCoste already in the final and Henri Cochet scheduled to dispute the remaining semifinal with Borotra tomorrow.

HELEN BEST

Only the capable figure of Miss Helen Wills, who reached the final in defense of her women's singles crown by defeating England's Miss Eileen Bennett, 6-2, 7-5, remained to represent the United States. Everywhere else France had a monopoly, having placed its leading woman player, Mme. Renee Mathieu, in the final against Miss Wills by a victory over Fraulein Cecilie Aussem of Germany, 8-6, 2-6, 6-2.

Against LaCoste and Borotra, Tilden and Hunter underwent their first real test of 1929 and by comparison were found wanting, although their tennis probably would have been good enough to conquer anyone except the superstars of France.

The impertubable Rene played today with the same mechanical steadiness which earned him recognition as the world's greatest player in 1927. Except for a few moments in the third set when Big Bill provided the high spot of the match by winning four straight games and the set after trailing at three games to five, LaCoste was in the driver's seat throughout. Committing a minimum of errors, Rene forced Tilden to gain nearly all of his points by placements.

Hunter's defeat at the hands of the oldest member of the French triumvirate came as something of a surprise as he was leading Jean by two sets to one when play was called on account of darkness the previous day. When the match was resumed Hunter spent himself in an unusuccessful effort to win the long deuced set which would have given him the match and could offer little resistance in the closing set.

BOROTRA BALKS

The winner was to have taken on Cochet later in the da yin the semifinals so that the final might be played tomorrow, but Borotra balked at the double assignment and both matches were postponed a day. Cochet and LaCoste are favored about equally to win the title now held by the former and Borotra is conceded an outside chance. The result probably will go far toward deciding which of the French will earn the world's No. 1 rank for this season.

Although Miss Wills is a prohibitive favorite to win the women's coronet for the second straight year, French fans are hopeful that Mme. Mathieu will be able to perform the rare feat of winning a set from the American.

Perhaps partly because of a howl from the gallery at what the fans thought was an unfair decision in her favor, Miss Wills faltered momentarily in the second set of her match with Miss Bennett.

After Helen had deliberately thrown away a point to make up for the injustice if any, the English girl managed to carry the set to deuce.

Stroke analysis of LaCoste-Tilden match:

	Placements	Nets	Outs	Aces	Double Faults
First set:
La Coste	0	3	4	0	0
Tilden	8	16	7	2	2
Second set:
La Coste	4	2	3	0	0
Tilden	2	12	9	0	0
Third set:
La Coste	8	13	20	0	0
Tilden	14	20	15	8	0
Fourth set:
Tilden	1	9	11	1	0

SCHAEFER WINNER IN HOREMANS TILT

PARIS, June 1. (AP)—Young Jake Schaefer, world's professional 18.2 billiards champion from Chicago, today defeated Eduoard Horemans of Belgium in a 2400-point match played in six blocks.

Starting the day's play 152 points behind, the American cue star finished 41 points ahead. Schaefer made his 2400 points in sixty-one runs, the highest of which was 153, while Horemans scored 2359 points in sixty runs, of which the highest was 279.

PYLE HARRIERS SMASH RECORDS

Plodding Pilgrims Shatter All Existing Marks

Exciting Finish Looms as Runners Reach Safford

Pete Gavuzzi and Salo Set Pace for Field

SAFFORD (Ariz.) June 1. (AP)—C. C. Pyle's plodding pilgrims, nearing their goal in the dash afoot across the United States in search of gold at the end of the transcontinental rainbow, have broken all existing records for long-distance running. They are in a fair way of providing the most exciting finish in the history of foot racing.

PETER GAVUZZI

The bunioneers have covered 2821 miles of the trek to the Pacific Coast, and are expected to end that jaunt at Wrigley Field, Los Angeles, on Sunday night, the 16th inst., two weeks from tomorrow. They have been pounding pavements and dirt roads for sixty-three days, having left Columbus Circle, New York, March 31.

Pete Gavuzzi, bewhiskered Italian of England, and Johnny Salo, the flying cop, Passaic, N. J., battling for supremacy since the corn carnival moved into Ohio, have enabled the patient plodders to dwarf by comparison the records made in last year's cross-country run.

WICKED PACE

The pace set by the leaders is almost seventy hours faster, at this stage, than it was last year. Only forty-seven seconds separate Gavuzzi and Salo and they have been averaging close to eight miles an hour under all sorts of conditions. They have been forced to contend with rain and hail and intense heat, alternately poor roads, high hills and generally poor running conditions.

The lead has changed hands several times and today in a forty-three-mile jaunt from Duncan, Ariz., to Safford, Salo sliced Gavuzzi's lead of 21m. 10s. to the bone, reducing it to 47s.

Nineteen of the eighty-one hopefuls who started from New York survived tonight and with the Yuma Desert looming in the distance the field is expected to be diminished by several more before the ascent of California's mountain barrier is started.

In addition to Gavuzzi and Salo, the following runners remain, in the order of their standing:

Giusto Umek, Italy; Sam Richman, New York; Paul Simpson, Burlington, N. C.; Phillip Granville, Hamilton, Ont.; M. B. McNamara, Australia; Herbert Hedeman, New York; Harry Abramowitz, New York; Mike Joyce, Cleveland; Guy Shields, Picher, Okla.; Elwin Harbin, Santa Rosa, Cal.; George Rehayn, Germany; Elmer Cowley, Clifton, N. J.; Joe Spangler, New York; Pat Harrison, Sullivan, Mo.; Charles Hokins, Elyria, O.; Morris Richman, New York; George Juschik, Poland.

While the race from a sporting standpoint is probably the most bitterly fought in history, from a money-making angle it has been a headache for Pyle. Pursued by attachments since the second day out of New York, the sports impresario has been battling a jinx. From all appearances fate never intended to make the derby a monetary success.

PYLE'S HEADACHE

His cross-country follies alone created $2,800 overhead weekly; in addition he had to provide transportation, patrolmen, checkers and numerous incidentals. Pyle refuses to say how much he has lost to date and declares, with a smile, that he is not undertaking the project to make money.

"I am not concerned with making money," he stated. "If the race is brought to a successful conclusion then I will believe that I have succeeded. The runners will be paid and every one connected with the organization will be paid, regardless of how much I lose or make."

The runners are to leave Safford tomorrow morning for Bylas, Ariz., on an Indian reservation. From there they will go to Miami and to Superior to Phoenix. From there on the course of the route has not been determined. Pyle expects the caravan to reach Los Angeles Sunday, June 16.

HUFFT IN FRONT

Irwin (Fuzzy) Hufft, Mission outfielder, was the first Coast League player of the present season to reach the 100 mark in safe hits. Hufft made his 100th and 101st safe hits in Friday's contest. Other players hitting safely more than ninety times have been Finn, Mission, ninety-eight; Suhr, San Francisco, ninety-four; Berger, Los Angeles, ninety-one; Arlett, Oakland, ninety-one.

Indian Athletes Train Diligently for "The Times" Pre-Olympic Marathon Run

CINDER COACH DRAWS PRAISE

Jamieson Expects Athletes to Threaten DeMar

Redskinned Leather-Lungs Prepare for Grind

Former Haskell Grid Hero Hoping for Upsets

With the leading long-distance runners of the institution entered in The Times pre-Olympic marathon, which is to be run here June 15, "Chief" Jamieson, former Haskell Indian football hero, and professional big-league baseball player, is coming in for a lot of credit for the wonderful development of distance runners at the Sherman Indian School at Riverside. Jamieson has been connected with the Sherman Institute, as the school is known, for many years, and his pupils have long been the leading distance runners of Southern California.

CLARENCE DE MAR

The Sherman runners, who are all boys scarcely of more than high-school age, have been cleaning up in distance races and marathon events for many years as members of the Los Angeles Athletic Club track and field team.

Harry Chauca, a 20-year-old Hopi Indian, astounded track critics at the Coliseum in the A.A.U. meet May 4, when he stepped the six-mile event in the announced time of 29m. 44s. That time was called a new world's record, but has since been disputed and will not be taken up for approval by local A.A.U. authorities.

Jamieson, however, feels certain that Chauca did run in that sensational time. "When these boys are right, they are absolutely unbeatable," said Jamieson the other day. "Chauca was right on May 4, and when you consider that he finished a full lap ahead of my other runners, he must have run under 30 minutes. I have been checking up on Chauca as well as my other stars, Tyameiewa, Begay and others in recent workouts have run six miles around 30m. flat. The world record is 29m. 59 2-5s. and has been held by Shrubb of England for over twenty years.

"In one race Chauca ran six and six-tenths miles in 31m. 47s. That time was never disputed as it was in a City Terrace marathon, here in Los Angeles."

F. M. Conser, superintendent of the government school near Riverside, is strongly in favor of athletics for the Indian boys and like Jamieson feels sure that the Sherman runners can defeat any distance men in the world when they are "right."

Jamieson played football at Haskell Institute and was the hero of a game in 1913 when the Indians trimmed Notre Dame at Cartier Field. Knute Rockne played end for the Irish in that game and Jamieson did a lot of yard gaining around the now famous coach.

Many local track critics expect that the Sherman runners will give Clarence De Mar his strongest competition in The Times event. De Mar, America's greatest long-distance star, has forwarded his signed entry blank to Charley Keppen, director of the race, and is a heavy favorite to finish in front, and take the beautiful trophy which will be awarded to the winner. The first ten men to cross the finish line will receive gold medals, and every other finisher will be awarded a "survivor's medal."

PRE-VIEWING THE START OF THE MARATHON

Here is a picture of the start of the recent Boston A. A. marathon, showing how the field looks as it sets out on its jaunt of twenty-six miles, 385 yards. Local track fans will have a very similar sight here June 15, when The Times Pre-Olympic Marathon is staged over the regulation route. Clarence DeMar, who has won the Boston event on six different occasions, is a likely entrant in The Times classic.

OUTBOARDS IN BOW TODAY

New Venice Speedway Will be Inaugurated With Program of Spectacular Races

Aquatic thrills of a new order, outboard motorboat racing will make its local bow this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the new Venice Motorboat Speedway, on Washington Boulevard, a half mile inland from the ocean, when the foremost outboard pilots of the Southland, driving the fastest outboard craft in the West, will meet in the speedway's inaugural motorboat racing program.

Although the outboard sport is comparatively new, interest stimulated in the sport through the recent Elsinore and Salton Sea competitions is expected to result in a capacity crowd for the inaugural events this afternoon. Close proximity of the new course to Los Angeles also is expected to turn out many outboard fans who have found the Elsinore and Salton Sea waterways required too long a drive to reach with ease.

The program today, although not sponsored by the Southern California Outboard Association, has the thorough approval of that body, which through its president, O. K. Hunsaker, has heartily indorsed the new speedway's program and urged all of its drivers to compete in the opening races. This support from the Outboard Association has resulted in the inaugural competition drawing an unusually fast field.

One of the outstanding features of today's events will be the appearance of Loretta Turnbull, attractive feminine outboard star, who has finished well up in all of the recent Southland outboard races. She will pilot her Sunkist Kid, which is recognized as one of the fastest of western outboard craft.

Al Thompson, piloting his famous Black Maria, M. C. Martin, piloting his Marti; H. G. Ferguson, in his Blue Streak; Charles Holt, in the Fire Fly, and Floyd Pierce, in his Flying Scotchman, are among other well-known starters.

Water speeds of thirty to forty miles an hour are expected to furnish thrills galore today as the trim little craft are whizzed down the straightaway past the grandstand end of the five-eighth of a mile oval end of the five-eighths of mile oval course. Daylight fireworks will entertain the crowd between the outboard races.

The new speedway, which is laid out on a large artificial lake, fed by canals from the ocean, is reached by motoring straight out Washington Boulevard. The course is just off this boulevard to the left near Venice.

The detailed program and entry list follow:

10 a.m. to 2 p.m.—Qualifying trials.

SECOND PRACTICE MEET CARDED

Local Athletes Will Try for Thirty-five Places on Team to Represent L.A.A.C. in Title Meet; Wykoff, Houser Will Perform

The second of a series of pre-national track and field meets, being staged by L.A.A.C. officials who are selecting team members for the A.A.U. championships, will be held at Bovard field, U. S. C., next Saturday, June 8. The first of these informal meets was held at Bovard Field May 25, last, and found more than sixty Southern California stars on hand. Many boys dropped from the running as a result of that tryout meet and several more will be eliminated next Saturday.

CLARENCE HOUSER

The national championships this year will be held at Denver July 3, 4, 5, and the Mercury Club will be represented by another powerful team for both the junior and senior meets.

Leslie A. Henry, chairman of the board of athletic governors, has announced that a team of thirty-five men will be taken to Denver. A team of approximately twenty-three will compete in the senior championships on July 4, when the Mercuries will defend the title won at Boston last year. At least twelve stars will compete in the junior meet on July 3. The junior affair is open to any athlete who has never won a first place in a national A.A.U., C.A.A.A.A., N.C.A.A., Western Conference or Pacific Coast Conference meet.

Such stars as Jed Walsh and Bill Stokes, hurdlers; Bill McGeagh, half-miler; Henry Lasalette, high jumper; Dick Barber, broad jumper, and others, will be eligible for the junior meet.

Tommy Davis, who is preparing the L.A.A.C. junior team for the nationals, will be in charge of Saturday's meet. Dean Cromwell, head Mercury coach for the nationals, will not return to Los Angeles until June 11. At that time he will assume full control of the clubmen.

According to present plans the Mercury team will leave Los Angeles June 29, arriving at Denver two days later. Leslie A. Henry of the L.A.A.C., national track-and-field chairman of the A.A.U., will make the trip to Denver and will be in charge of the meet.

Among the stars who will compete at Bovard Field next Saturday are Frank Wykoff, national 100-meter champion; Bud Houser, discus champion and Mercury team captain; Herman Brix, national shot put champion, and fifty more.

JACKSON TO MEET McKNIGHT AT HARBOR

Sammy Jackson, aggressive Ocean Park negro welterweight, returns to Wilmington Wednesday night to test the main-event capabilities of Kayo Jack McKnight, Tom Jones's promising youngster. McKnight and Jackson are to meet at 147 pounds over the ten-round distance.

Tony Portillo and Battling Al Neal Nelson, 140-pounders, mix in the six-round semifinal. The Navy Pilipino bantam, "Poison" Pisons, makes his pro debut in the special event against Leonard Rahning. Kinny LaSalle vs. Bobby Gray and Mickey Colleto vs. Billy Cain are in the four-rounders.

RADIO BANNED

Seeking to increase attendance, the Southern Association has barred microphones from the ball parks to stamp out the broadcasting of games over the radio.

SAN CLEMENTE MERMAIDS WIN

Frank Holborow's Team Walks Off With First Place in Southern California Women's Meet; Florence Chambers Club Second

SAN CLEMENTE, June 1. (Exclusive)—Frank Holborow's San Clemente Beach Club women's swimming team walked off with with most of the honors here today in the Southern California women's indoor swimming meet. The San Clemente girls ran up the grand total of 23½ points to win first place in the affair, while the Florence Chambers Club of San Diego copped second honors with 19. The Los Angeles Athletic Club took third with 10 points, while the San Diego A.C. trailed in fourth position with 6 points.

NORENE FORBES

One of the features of the day was the victory of Olive Hatch, of the L.A.A.C. team in the 100-yard backstroke. The four other new champions are as follows: Marjorie Lowe of the San Clemente Beach Club in the 100-yard free style; Noreene Forbes of the Florence Chambers Club of San Diego in the 50-yard free style; Genevieve Stully also of the Florence Chambers Club in the 100-yard breast stroke; and the San Clemente relay team. Adeline Whaling of the San Clemente Club defeated a fast field to take the Junior National 220-yard free style title.

WINDS HAMPER SAILING RACE

Four-Day Squadron Entries Battered by Elements

Westward Wins Event Held Off Santa Monica

Thirty-Mile Blow and Lumpy Sea Causes Wrecks

KELLER'S SHELTER (Santa Monica) June 1. (Exclusive)—A thirty-mile blow and a lumpy sea has played havoc with most of the contestants in the four-day squadron cruise which is being sponsored by the Southern California Forty-five Foot Sailing Association. Of the twelve boats that started in the race Memorial Day at Los Angeles Harbor only eight will answer the call tomorrow for the last leg of the watery journey which will take them from this point to the Los Angeles Harbor light.

TOMMY LEE

The latest victims of the wind and sea today were the Amorilla, a 110-foot schooner skippered by A. N. Kemp, which had her topsail carried away here today, and the yawl Alberdine, which had her foresail carried into the ocean.

The accident to the Amorilla almost brought tragedy to the small fleet of racing yachts. One of the crew of the big schooner was in the foremast and was hurled into the drink. He was rescued in a spectacular manner by his shipmates on the Amorilla.

Tommy Lee's Harpoon was the first boat to feel the fury of the elements. The little six-meter boat, which was competing with the bigger craft, had her masts carried away outside the isthmus on Thursday and she had to be towed in by Don Lee's Invader.

The log of the first day shows that the boats were many hours overdue at the Isthmus because of calm spots which they struck off Catalina.

Owen Churchill's Babe was first to shove her nose into port at the Isthmus. The Westward won the race from the Isthmus to this point yesterday, with the Babe second.

Today the entire fleet competed in a special event, which was sailed over a ten-mile course from this point to markers located off the Santa Monica and Ocean Park beaches.

Syl Spaulding's Westward won the first prize. Skippered by A. G. Salisbury, she covered the distance in 1h. 37m. 5s. Ted Conant skippered the Babe into second place. Her time was 1h. 51m. 15s. The Barbara Jean was third. Don Douglas sent her over the distance in 1h. 55m. 40s. William Watson's Willete was next in line, finishing in 1h. 56m. The Wanderlure II was fifth, two seconds later. The Jublio brought up the rear in 2h. 3m. 30s.

Sea Breezes Aid to Lutze

VENICE, June 1. (Exclusive)—The salt air, the ocean breezes, the warm sands and the happy seagulls all exert a fine influence on the athlete, in the opinion of Nick Lutze, the ex-collegian from Notre Dame, who would pull a Gus Sonnenberg and prove once again that professional brain should have the world's championship of the wrestling mat and not merely pugnacious brawn.

Lutze is to be found next to the seashore practically every day. He has established living quarters within a stone's throw of the ocean. One of his favorite pastimes is wrestling with Seward Holley, the 290-pound patrolman, when the latter is off duty. Holley is quite fast for a man of his heft, but, of course, he does not put the speedy Lutze through a too strenuous workout.

Another reason for Lutze's clinging to the seashore is his opportunity of effecting a rescue on occasion. Whenever the life bell is rung, Lutze is the first to jump into the life guard patrol and ride pell-mell down the beach to the near drowning victim. If the life guards beat Lutze in swimming to the side of the sea victim they have to do some fast paddling. The beach colony is a rabid gallery of boosters for Lutze when he wrestles at the Olympic Club.

Barefoot Meet Proves Success

The Los Angeles Playground and Recreation Board staged its first barefoot trackfest and swimming meet yesterday afternoon at Venice. A large turnout of local athletes answered the first call of the committee in charge. The swimming events were conducted in the surf and the foot races on the sands at Venice.

The results:

SWIMMING

75-yard swim—Won by Philip Dubenspeck. Art Lindgreen second, Richard Dubenspeck third.

880-yard swim—Won by Alfred Hedberg, only entry to finish.

440-yard swim—Won by Dave Foster, Wallace O'Connor second.

220-yard swim—Won by Wallace O'Connor, Dave Foster second.

100-yard dash and swim in surf—Won by Percy De Cremer, Richard Dubenspeck second.

75-yard swim for juniors—Won by Ed Prentiss, Paul Blackman second, Paul Wolf third.

TRACK EVENTS

POLOISTS BATTLE TODAY

Freebooters Tangle With Uplifters in Special Match Game at Rustic Canyon

Freebooter poloists with Howland Paddock, Midwick low goal star, leading the way will attempt to lower the colors of the Uplifters four today when the two teams clash on the Rustic Canyon field.

The Uplifters to date have not lost a game on the summer schedule, although they have had several close calls in overtime battles. Hal Roach, young movie magnate and left-handed mallet star, will lead the Uplifters into action today.

SNOWY BAKER

The Freebooters enlisted Paddock's aid last week and he has been working out with the team for several days. Paddock has won quite a name for himself as back, both at Midwick and Colorado Springs. He is one of the best-balanced low players in the country, some polo experts contend.

Paddock is the player who will captain the Midwick twelve-goal team in the circuit cup play at Chicago next month. The Purple four, composed of Teddy Miller, Neil McCarthy, Dr. Wilson and Paddock, won the Coast play-off at San Mateo a short time back.

On the Freebooters today will be besides Paddock, Snowy Baker, Australian star; Georges Musaphia and Charles Crawford. This team has been clicking together in practice and their followers expect them to take the Uplifters down the line. Paddock will skipper the team.

The Uplifters will have Roach, young Will Rogers, Lyel Puckett and Scott Hackley in the saddle. Roach is a three-goal man who polo followers claim will be in the high-goal class before many moons if he keeps up his present stride.

Young Will Rogers is another player that Uplifters' followers believe will be a shining star in a few years. Young Rogers is only in his second year of polo, but he already holds his own in stiff competition.

Snowy Baker, Australian athletic marvel, may cop a good deal of the spotlight today. Baker is noted for his hard riding, and if he gets going right, the opposition will know they have been in a game.

A series of whippet races will be staged between halves of the polo contest.

The line-ups:

Uplifters.		Freebooters.
Will Rogers, Jr.	No. 1	Georges Musaphia
Scott Hackley	No. 2	Charles Crawford
Hal Roach	No. 3	Snowy Baker
Lyel Puckett	Back	Howland Paddock

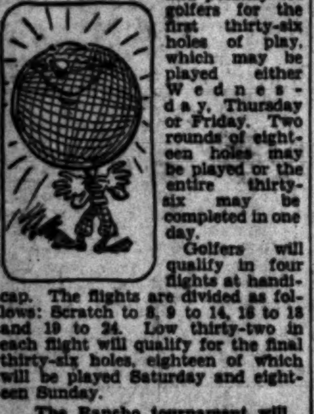
Rancho Expects Record Entry for Invitational Tournament This Week

SEVENTY-TWO HOLE MEDAL EVENT BEGINS WEDNESDAY

Low Thirty-two in Four Divisions Qualify for Final Thirty-six Holes Saturday and Sunday

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

Rancho's seventy-two-hole medal play invitation tournament which starts Wednesday will establish a new record for entries. That is the consensus of Rancho officials, who are sparing no pains to start the summer golfing season off with the proverbial "bang."



Paul R. Jones, chairman of the Rancho tournament committee, expects an entry of more than 300 and possibly 400 golfers for the first thirty-six holes of play, which may be played either Wednesday, Thursday or Friday. Two rounds of eighteen holes may be played or the entire thirty-six may be completed in one day.

Golfers will qualify in four flights at handicap. The flights are divided as follows: Scratch to 8, 9 to 14, 16 to 18 and 19 to 24. Low thirty-two in each flight will qualify for the final thirty-six holes, eighteen of which will be played Saturday and eighteen Sunday.

The Rancho tournament will vie with the annual California Country Club invitation tournament, which will be played from the 17th to 23rd inst. California holds national records for number of entries and has seldom drawn less than 400 golfers. W. O. (Bill) Pryor, California president, doesn't expect a new record this year. As he puts it, "We simply can't handle many more."

California is being groomed for the tournament. The new greens, which were recently thrown open for play are now in excellent condition. Rancho is also in the "pink" with both greens and fairways in excellent condition.

ANNANDALE GETS NEW GREENS

Construction is now under way on nine new greens for the Annandale Country Club, according to word from Jack Malley, club professional. While work is going on at Annandale, the Flintridge Country Club has opened its course to Annandale members.

PALOS VERDES STAGES TOURNAMENT TODAY

Jimmy Fiske yesterday announced a regular semi-monthly tournament for the Palos Verdes Golf Club today. Play will be medal with two prizes offered for two low net scores. Handicaps up to 22 will be permitted. Fiske also stated that Sunset cards entitle the holder to bring a foursome.

PUTTING EXPERTS TO MEET

Fox Hills Country Club Schedules Championship Event for Sunday

Golfers throughout the district are busy shining up their putters in preparation for the first annual championship putting tournament next Sunday at the Fox Hills Country Club. Entrants may tee off as early as 9 o'clock, and since there will be numerous prizes and a record entry for this event as well as the mixed foursomes starting times should be reserved by calling Manager Jess Puryear at YOrk 1106.

AL A. COMEY

The mixed foursome competition will find trophies awarded for the four leading teams, making eight prizes in all. Entrants may tee off as early as 11 o'clock over the new championship east course, which has been put in fine shape for this tournament.

Some of the leading golfers of the district, both men and women, will play at Fox Hills in the putting tourney and also in the mixed foursome.

Fox Hills has seven practice putting greens in all, but only two will be used for the competition Sunday, eighteen cups being placed in each and tee markers installed to insure all entrants shooting from the same place toward each cup. The other practice-putting greens will be reserved for club members and others who wish to try out their putters before entering the tourney or prior to teeing off in the mixed event.

Two low-gross and two low-net teams will be rewarded in the mixed play, with numerous prizes for the leading men and leading women putters.

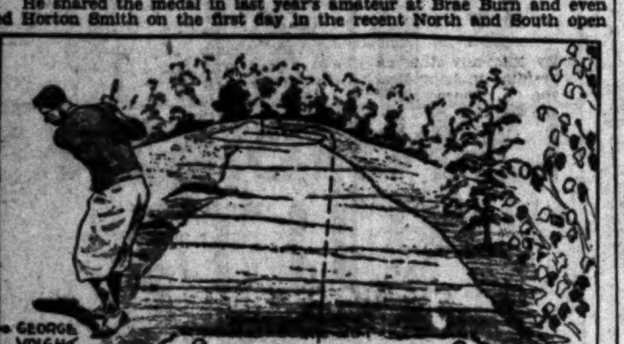
VOIGHT GOOD BET IN OPEN

Marvelous Accuracy of Noted Amateur Makes Him Favorite in Championship at Winged Foot, Says Metzger; Seldom Slices or Hooks, But Needs More Stamina

BY SOL METZGER

By no means overlook George Voight when the United States open golf championship is played at Winged Foot late this month. In medal play it can never be said of him on the sixteenth tee that if he shoots the last three holes in even 2's he'll qualify. George is an amateur who has been coming by leaps and bounds, or pokes and pitches, if you prefer, these past few years.

He snared the medal in last year's amateur at Brae Burn and even led Horton Smith on the first day in the recent North and South open at Pinehurst. Voight knows the Winged Foot course even as he knows his woods and irons. That is all one may ask of golf.



GEORGE VOIGHT
299 YARD NINTH HOLE
BRAE BURN—A STEEP UPGRADE
GEORGE VOIGHT DROVE GREEN HIGH
TO WIN MEDAL IN 1928 U.S. AMATEUR

His method of playing both cannot be improved upon. George stands on the tee, sights the far-off fluttering flag and pokes his drive on a ruled line for it. When he reaches his ball he takes one more look at the flag and immediately thereafter spanks a long or short iron, depending upon the distance, on another ruled line for the bunting.

If you want to see what swinging "in the groove" means, follow Voight at Winged Foot. "Watch this tee shot," said Johnny Dawson to me as Voight prepared to spank one at Brae Burn last fall. Just as his clubhead meets the ball his right hip presses into the blow. Clubhead and right hip, they work together like two electric lights on the same switch.

Rumor has it that Voight lacks length, that this is the flaw in his otherwise flawless game. It may be so. But we doubt it. Take him in the qualifying round at Brae Burn last September. That last, long, testing upgrade hole, the one that all but caused the downfall of Jones and gave more heartaches to the stars that missed third putts, returned George a birdie 3.

But a better proof of his driving is offered by the 299-yard ninth in this same round, a hole with a tee atop one hill and a green atop another, 299 yards isn't a world's record for driving. But when you choose a wet day and a steep upgrade to spank the ball against, 299 yards is a bit more than the Rays, Mitchells, Halls, Guilfords and Jones figure on spanning with their woods.

At this hole George sighted the flutter flag in the distance and then ripped his clubhead into the ball just as his right hip pushed forward. But the result was terrible (for George). Instead of his ball taking a ruled-line course for the flag, it took one just to the right of the green. When found it was hole high. A chip dead to the hole and a little putt gave him a birdie 3 and enabled him to come through as the medallist by one stroke.

No, George has length and to spare. Follow him and you'll see. If he has a fault it's the lack of a robust constitution. The wear and tear of a week of straining play throws him off kilter. He's not the player on Friday and Saturday he was from Monday to Thursday. At that he is no exception. Few of them, lacking the robust constitution of a Jones, differ from Voight in this respect.

LEWIS WINS SWEEPSTAKES

George M. Lewis won the match play against par sweepstakes at the Los Angeles Country Club played yesterday over the North course. He was 3 down, 2 handicap, 1 down to par. Jack Hyland won over the south course, 6 down, 7 handicap, 1 up.

Mixed foursomes will feature the Beverly Hills' club program today.

The "Kumback" Twins—One Did, One Didn't

Two Wise Men of California Golf

Jack Neville, who yesterday won his fifth California State championship, and Dr. Paul Hunter, one of California's greatest golfers. Both Hunter and Neville, veterans of many championships, staged comebacks at Pebble Beach in the championship which wound up yesterday. Dr. Hunter was defeated early, but Neville came through brilliantly, and won his greatest triumph in the semifinals when he defeated Johnny J. McHugh of San Francisco, the defending champion, 2 and 1.

but struck a tree and bounded back. Stevens was on in 2.

STEVENS IN TROUBLE

Figuring wind, Neville used his iron from the seventeenth tee, and lifted a perfect shot to the green. Stevens fouled into the rough and his chip shot was weak, leaving him off the green. Neville took two putts, and accepted congratulations as the winner of the nineteenth annual State championship.

While conceded putts made medal scores unavailable, Neville had an approximate 79 for his morning round. Par for Pebble Beach is 72. Stevens took approximately 89 in the morning, and 36 for the first nine of the afternoon round. Neville's third nine was made in about 45.

Stevens, 19 years of age, and never before a participant in a tournament of this importance, turned in the most surprising play of the week. Although not figured in the same class as Fay Coleman he eliminated that Los Angeles entrant 2 and 1 in the thirty-six-hole semifinals.

Neville advanced to the finals with a 2 and 1 win over John McHugh of San Francisco, defending champion, who was the pretournament favorite.

In the earlier rounds Stevens defeated A. G. Sato, San Francisco, 1 up; E. J. Hadden, Oakland, 7 and 6, and Claire Goodwin, Oakland, 3 and 2. Neville moved up with wins over Claire Griswold, San Francisco, 3 and 2; J. M. Arneill, Los Angeles, 6 and 5, and Lawson Little, San Francisco, 1 up.

Neville's return to his form of earlier years was an outstanding feature. He won the State title in 1912 and 1913 and 1919 and 1921. In the past few years he has ranked as an in-and-outer.

ED DUDLEY

LONDON, June 1. (Exclusive)—Ed Dudley of Hollywood, member of the United States Ryder Cup team, turned in a sloppy 80 this morning and a sparkling 66 this afternoon to take second place in the thirty-six-hole model competition opening the new Selsdon Park golf course. The tournament was won by Abe Mitchell with a thirty-six-hole score of 145. Johnny Farrell, United States open champion, was third with a score of 147. Dudley's 66 was a new record for the Selsdon course. The former record of 68 was set recently by J. Lacey. Dudley almost caught the veteran Mitchell, who played steady, consistent golf throughout.

MRS. PRESSLER REACHES FINALS AT DEL MONTE

MRS. GREGG LIFUR.

The Del Monte women's event has been dominated by Southland stars for a number of years, so today's outcome was not entirely unexpected. The championship was won last year by Miss Marjorie Kirkham, also of the San Gabriel Country Club, and was formerly held by Miss Helen Lawson of Wilshire and Miss Kathleen Wright of Flintridge.

COMPSTON BOWS BEFORE HAGEN IN FINAL MATCH

BLACKWELL PARK (Birmingham, Eng.) June 1. (AP)—A fighting finish gave Walter Hagen, American Ryder Cup team captain, a victory over Archie Compston, one up, in their thirty-six-hole match here today and some measure of revenge for two previous defeats by the famous British golfing star.

ARCHIE COMPSTON.

Hagen was forced to come from behind twice to win at the home hole twenty-four hours after he had lost, 8 and 7, to Compston at Moor Park. Last year, before Hagen won his third British open title, Compston had trounced him 18 and 17 in a seventy-two-hole match.

The match gave a large gallery all the thrills they have come to expect from Hagen although none of his friends expected him to make a good showing. He had had only a few hours of sleep last night, caught an early train north and actually arrived at the first tee ahead of the scheduled starting time, a feat Britons believed the American couldn't accomplish.

Hagen started badly, however, and was four down at the end of the first nine holes. Here he electrified the gallery by pecking away until he had squared the match at the eighteenth. At the twentieth Hagen was one up, the first time in two days that he had led the big Britisher. Compston, however, soon squared the match and then went one up by the time the twenty-seventh was reached. At the thirty-first, Hagen got down in four to square the match.

The next hole was halved but the American's 3 on the thirty-third gave him the hole and a lead of one up. Compston, however, squared the match on the next hole. The thirty-fifth was halved in fives, leaving them all square going to the home hole. Here a pond lies between the tee and the green. Compston's tee shot found marshy ground on the edge of the pond. Hagen sent his approach putt dead and holed for a par 3, hole and match.

KIRKBRIDE COPS TOURNEY AT MONTECITO CLUB

W. H. Kirkbride won the match play against par sweepstakes at the Montecito Country Club played on Decoration Day, 2 up on par. He shot an 81. Second place went to Cecil Smith, who was even with par.

PUBLIC LINKS GOLFERS MEET

Qualifying Round Scheduled at Sunset Fields

The national public links championship this year will be played over the sporty Forest Park course at St. Louis, August 6-10, and indications are that Southern California public golf will be well represented in the title play.

Each of the public courses in Southern California will hold an elimination tournament. The four leading players from each public course will then meet in a qualifying round to be played at Sunset Fields. The low players will then be selected to represent Southern California in the national event.

H. N. H. Woodcock is the local representative of the United States Golf Association. Within the next few days he will announce dates for the holding of elimination tournaments and the final qualifying round at Sunset Fields.

All entries for the national public links must be in the hands of the United States Golf Association, 110 East Forty-second street, New York, on or before July 22. The entry fee is $5, and it must accompany the entry application.

The public links championship is open to players who are not members of country clubs. Clubs which play over municipal or public courses do not fall within this group and members of such organizations are eligible to enter the title play. The winner of the championship is awarded the Harding trophy for one year. The championship starts with a 36-hole qualifying round. Match play will continue, two rounds of eighteen holes a day, until the thirty-six-hole finals, which will be played August 10.

Jimmy Fiske Back on Job After Injury

Stevens, Jr., is Just $10,000 Richer Today

DEL MONTE, June 1. (Exclusive) . . . "Son, get into the finals and there'll be $10,000 deposited in the bank in your name." So said Francis Stevens, Sr., to Francis Stevens, Jr., yesterday just before he eliminated Fay Coleman, 2 and 1, in the semifinals of the California State championship at Pebble Beach. Stevens reached the finals, but lost to Jack Neville, 3 and 1, in the finals here today. Just how much his dad offered for a State championship has not yet been announced.

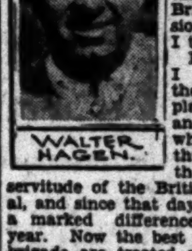
HAGEN TALKS IT OVER

BY WALTER HAGEN

British Open Golf Champion and Captain United States Ryder Cup Team

(By cable exclusively to The Times and the North American Newspaper Alliance)

BERLIN, May 25. (Exclusive)—I was bold enough, following the United States Ryder Cup matches in Great Britain, to tell a number of British journalists that I considered "the American influence" had taken hold of British professional golf, and I think it has.



WALTER HAGEN.

In 1922, when I first visited the old country, played at Deal and finished nowhere, I was thunderstruck by the position of servitude of the British professional, and since that day I have noted a marked difference, year after year. Now the best of the British brigade are treated as well as the best of American professionals.

CUBAN IS BUSY FIGHTER

Kid Chocolate Meets Vidal Gregorio, the Spaniard, Two Weeks After La Barba Bout

BY TOMMY LOUGHRAN

Light-Heavyweight Champion of the World

[Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 1. (Exclusive)—Kid Chocolate will risk his reputation again when he squares off in Philadelphia this week against Vidal Gregorio. Vidal is a fiery little Spaniard with a wonderfully developed left hook and the constitution of a Battling Nelson. Both men bring undefeated records to the contest.

Gregorio probably will be the underdog in the betting. Chocolate has been a favorite against everyone, and with victories over Bushy Graham and Fidel La Barba to his credit, he should be on top again in the wagering.

KID CHOCOLATE

Vidal had his American start in Philadelphia. Since taking up his home in New York he has continued his victories, the most spectacular being a two-round knockout of Joe Scalfaro. The punch that stowed the little Italian away didn't travel more than a few inches, but no man was ever more completely knocked out than Scalfaro.

In figuring this Chocolate-Gregorio bout you have to consider that the Cuban has never fought a man of Gregorio's type. Vidal is one of those crowders. He doesn't bob and weave as Graham did, but is always coming in, shoulder hunched high, hands going. Like Paulino, he looks easy to hit, but isn't.

Of course, Chocolate is a clever boy, and a hitter. The thing I like about both lads is their willingness. Neither has ever sidestepped an opponent. Here is the kid going into a tough match only a couple of weeks after meeting La Barba, and Gregorio is to take on Al Brown ten days after mixing with Chocolate. That's the proper spirit—a fine spirit for any boxer. It should be developed in all classes.

Paulino Uzcudun is taking wing for his camp at Hoosick Falls, N. Y. to prepare for Schmeling. It looks as though the boxing writers would do a lot of traveling this summer. Schmeling is at Lakewood, N. J. Braddock will train for me at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., and I may go to Harvey's Lake, Pa.

Then there is sure to be a big match in the fall—possibly with Dempsey playing a part—and there is a chance it will be put on in the West. Yes, the boxing writers will have to travel.

The Cincinnati Reds are a team of comparative midgets—and it is believed that short men are faster than tall ones.

H.A.C. Team Seeks Record

A medley relay team favored to shatter the Pacific Coast record and three swimmers in the individual events will represent the Hollywood Athletic Club in the Southern Pacific Association A. A. U. indoor championships at the Pacific Coast Club, Long Beach, Thursday night.

Weston Kimball and McGowan Miller in the 500-yard free-style, George Harris in the 300-yard medley and Kimball, Tommy Blankenburg and Fred Tebbetts in the 300-yard medley relay will make up the team, ranking as the strongest in the meet.

The relay team is expected to beat the Coast record time of 3:15 2-5, set recently by an H.A.C. team, with Kimball swimming free-style, Tebbetts backstroke and Blankenburg, Olympic star, breaststroke.

Hollywood, leading in the race for the A.A.U. team title, is expected to add materially to its season's total in this meet.

KID CHOCOLATE OUTFOXES FOES

Tricks Fidel La Barba With Grease on Hair

Even George Blake Misses New Ring Wrinkle

Ebony Fighter Likened to Famous Old-timers

NEW YORK, June 1. (Exclusive) There is really something new under the sun, and occasionally one sees a brand-new trick in the boxing game. The latest one is the slicking down of Kid Chocolate's hair. It is plastered with enough heavy oil for a swimming meet and it runs down his face before he works up a sweat. Grease can be rubbed off a fighter's face and out of his eyebrows, but a referee has yet to stop and give the Patent Leather Kid a shampoo.

It's a new racket and it slipped by such a keen old observer as George Blake, handler of Fidel La Barba, in the Bronx during their fight some nights ago.

Chocolate is a great little fighter. He shuffles in like Joe Gans, Jack Britton and Jack Johnson. The "in-and-outers and poppers," as Dumb Dan Morgan calls them, have to stop to catch their wind occasionally, and it is then that the gliders nail them.

Al Singer is the latest in-and-outer and popper to be knocked off. The fellow never lived, in the opinion of the experts, who could continue going in and out and popping one of his own class. Jack Dempsey posed on his toes until poked on the nose a time or two, and then he started punching flat on his feet. Benny Leonard was an in-and-outer and popper until stiffened a couple of times. That was what put him on his feet.

Prep Mermen Show Promise

VENICE, June 1. (Exclusive)—An early revival of the days that were is looked forward to with considerable anticipation by students of the Venice High School who forsee future greatness in their present crop of paddlers.

Coach Elvin Nogel sees promise in the water polo and sprint combinations. There are a number of youngsters who appear to be distinctly "on the make," as they say. There is Nick Foster, 15 years of age, who already has done 1:14 in the 100-yard backstroke. This is good enough to win many college races, let alone high school competition.

Jim Prentiss, another 15-year-old, is doing great work in the fifty and 100-yard sprints, his lanky frame flying out of the water at every stroke. Bink Hedburg and Dave Foster, now out of high school, but competing for the Venice Plunge Swimming Association, are cutting the water at about 2:35 for the 220-yard swim. This is speedy traveling.

Wallace O'Connor, the two-time Olympics swimmer, is doing the hundred in 55s. flat for Coach Rivas of the Venice plunge team. Ed Solomon, another all-around ex-athlete at Venice High, is doing the fifty in 28s. flat and the hundred in about 67s.

HARMON'S CHICAGO BILL ALMOST READY

CHICAGO, June 1. (AP)—Except for signing an opponent for Otto Von Porat, Norwegian heavyweight, Promoter Paddy Harmon's line-up of ten-round bouts for the 7th inst., today was complete.

Harmon yesterday signed Von Porat and is seeking Jack Renault or Ernie Schaaf as his opponent. Two other ten-rounders already have been arranged, Earl Mastro, Chicago featherweight, meeting Midget Mike O'Dowd of Columbus, O., and Luis Vicentini, Chilean lightweight, taking on Tommy Grogan, Omaha puncher.

CAULIFLOWER ALLEY NOTES

Col. Jack Doyle has decided to give the little fellows an inning at the Olympic Auditorium next Tuesday night, and, with that idea in view, has projected a double-header main event, "Speedy" Dado pairing against Jimmy Lucas, and Sid Torres against Tommy Hughes. Dado is one of Frank Churchill's Filipino stable, and is a cracking good little battler, having displayed his wares successfully three or four times to the local customers. He has a big following among the head-hunters who will be on hand next Tuesday night to a man to give him a big hand. Lucas is the pride of the United States Navy—the regular, bona fide flyweight champion, and carries havoc and destruction in each mauler. He shapes up indeed as a formidable adversary for the cocky Dado.

Many of the wrestling bugs are up in the air over the reputed move of some Chicago promoters to horn in on the local game. Of their success in this line there is hardly any likelihood. It is authoritatively stated that Commissioner James Woods will turn a deaf ear to any person or persons seeking a grappling license. Some of the tanchest supporters of the local sport believe it would be ruinous were competition to creep into the Olympic mat entertainment. For a number of years Lou Daro has worked hard in Los Angeles to biuld up what is now undoubtedly the best and most successful wrestling entertainment the game has ever known. The semimonthly bouts are a fixture in Los Angeles, boasting a clientele that runs up into thousands. The facts speak for themselves. Competition in this particular case would be fatal. Why not let good enough alone?

Among some of the real sports that turned out to see "Mushy" Callahan defend his title against "Dummy" Mahan were Leo Forbstein, Bill Dooley, Bill Flynn, Mervin Leroy; Frank Teasdale, one of Los Angeles' leading plaster contractors; Aubrey Blair, the "big boy" of the Hollywood Filmograph; Sol Bolinger, Alan Hale, Tom Kennedy, Billy Loller, Monte Brice, Billy Uvick, Snowy Baker, Frank Roche; David Butler (greatest fan of all;) Charley McDonald, Tom Doyle, Chuck Reisner, Joe Barry and Max Winkler, the picture man.

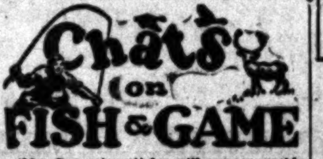
A peculiar looking specimen of the human species, about 60 years of age, dressed in boy's clothes, a comic-opera straw hat and sporting light green gloves, wandered around the Pacific Electric station last Tuesday in a sort of bewildered manner. Finally Bill Flynn happened along and nailed him. It was Francis Patrick Shanley from the shell-shocked precincts of San Diego. "Bill, please show me the way to the Continental," rumbled the wanderer. "I haven't been in Los Angeles for so long that I've lost my bearings, and, please, tell me who won the Emanuel-Hudkins fight."

"Philadelphia Kid" Broad, who can crack the thickest mirror ever made by looking into it, worked his third week in a year under Director Willett of the First National, filming the "Island of Lost Ships." The "Kid" was to double for an octopus, but his "Dick Dead-Eye" lamp spoiled the illusion, so he was cast as a beach comber, a sort of a wild, screwy guy. "How shall I act the part," snorted Broad. "Ah, just be yourself," countered Willett, and the "Kid" stole the picture.

"Battling" Schultz, the new sensation among the featherweights, is getting to be the pride of Ocean Park, where he has won his last three bouts. Manager George Hussey is holding the kid down to four-round bouts and nursing him along carefully. He regards Schultz as the best prospect he has seen hereabout in months.

Carlo Curtis is always there at the call of charity. He turned over his Main-street Athletic Club last Monday night to the promoters of the Jimmy Rothwell benefit, almost $1000 being realized for the ailing brother of "Young Corbett" of Denver. Among those that volunteered their services were Ace Hudkins, Bert Colima, Jimmy McLarnin, Bud Taylor and Hymie Miller. Jimmy will be sent up into the mountains for a while as he is a very sick lad.

Johnny Conde, the moving-picture camp pest, has opened up a far and near (beer) joint down near the Plaza. On the opening night he made "Philadelphia Kid" Broad master of ceremonies and all the big shots from Winchester were there, locks, blocks and barrels. Among the members of the fancy present with their trainers, rubbers and yesmen were "Weasel Face" Phil Kessler (curb broadcaster at the Roosevelt;) Jake, the Plumber; "Carbarn Liz" (she brought her own;) "Chow Face" Larry (the Globe Dairy cutup;) "Dime You Don't" Dempsey (former Koffee King;) "Bail You Out" Johnny Schiff; "Alderman" Jackie Lauder; One-Eyed Connolly," better known as the "Grape Crusher;" "Scrambled Ears" Society Mutt; "Sadie, the Dip" (showed up with only four pokes and two pints of gay and frisky;) "The Gland Doctor" Paul Mullen; "Mulligan Stew" George Hussey; "Jack the Goof" Clark, otherwise known as "Jelly Heels;" "Alibi" Spike Robison; "Joey the Loafer" (Luggsville's gift to Barney Dempsey's camp;) "The Needle and Thread Man from So So," George Burns; "Flat Feet" Barney Meyers; "Be Careful" Dutch Meyers; "Human Broadcaster" Fred Winsor; "Gone Hollywood" King Tut; "Listerine Liz," queen of the barbers; "Pain in the Neck" Duke Horn; "Grip Grabber" Greaseball Bologney; "Kimberly," Wirt Ross, and "Mike the Squawk." In serving a bottle of listerine to one of the gang, "Kid Broad" got his good lamp on a twist and twirl. Suddenly the cork popped out and blew his glass eye out of the window. Jimmy Burns soothed the "Kid" by getting him a tuna's eye at a near-by fish stand, and as he inserted it into the vacant socket, piped, "Use that out at the movies and I'll guarantee it will find you a better job than the phony you've been using."



Chats on FISH & GAME

(Mr. Greene's articles will appear weekly in this paper. He will answer questions on any fish and game topic. Address him care of Sports Editor, this paper. The reply will be either direct or in this column.)

I am afraid that we are in for trouble on the deer tag law owing to the amendment to Sec.8, which was adopted at this last session of the Legislature.

If you remember the deer tag law as it existed when originally enacted, it provided that a person legally killing a deer in an open district could transport his deer into a closed district if, before transporting it, the tag attached to the horns was countersigned by a regularly salaried deputy of the Fish and Game Commission or by an officer authorized to administer oaths. If by the latter, and he had an official seal, the tag must bear the imprint of such seal.

The deer tag law has proven to be of great value in the protection of deer. It has provided additional revenue which makes an increased patrol force possible and the tags have made the bag limit more enforceable. The duplicate tags have furnished definite information as to the annual kill of deer, which is useful in framing laws for open seasons and bag limits.

THE LAW'S BULWARK

The element of possession has been found to be the foundation of game law enforcement. Previous to the enactment of the deer tag law in 1927 it was illegal to ship or transport a deer or deer meat from an open district into a closed district, or to possess deer meat in a closed district. The deer tag law, however, dropped the bars and permitted the transportation or shipment of legally killed deer from an open district into a closed district, provided the deer tag attached to the horns of the deer had been countersigned by a regularly salaried deputy of the Fish and Game Commission or by an officer authorized to administer oaths.

This section of the law was drafted after a great deal of consideration and checking up on similar laws of other States. While this provision may have been an inconvenience in some cases, yet most sportsmen realized the necessity of the measure and were willing to accept the situation because of the protection that it afforded.

The new amendment authorizes the tag to be signed by any deputy of the commission, whether fully salaried or not, by a justice of the peace, notary public, postmaster, peace officer or by any officer authorized to administer oaths and does not provide for the imprint of a seal.

TRANSPORT TAG

When a tag is countersigned by any one of these persons, it is authority to transport or ship the deer into a closed district; and, further, it is authority to "possess" the deer in a closed district. The amendment does not require the person countersigning a tag to keep any records and thus there is no official record of the act. Deputies of the commission can be familiar with but a very few of the signatures of the persons authorized to countersign tags. For these reasons it will be virtually impossible to check up on violations and secure proper evidence or competent testimony for use in prosecutions.

When you realize that there are almost 1000 volunteer wardens in the State, that there are countless deputy sheriffs, constables, deputy constables, and other peace officers, and hundreds of postmasters, one can visualize the possibility of a serious breakdown of the whole deer tag system if the willful violator wishes to take advantage of the loopholes now placed in the law. The average sportsman would be very much surprised if he knew of some of the violations of the fish and game laws that are committed by persons who know better and who would little be suspected of such acts.

I am interested in seeing how the innovation works out. It would be a shame to tear down the splendid protection which we have given the deer under the deer-tag system. I have enumerated only a few of the particulars in which the tags might now be misused. However, I trust that the sportsmanship of the hunters will overcome the leniency which has now been extended by the amendment.

The amendment was an attempt to help the sportsman because he could not always find available a deputy or notary public, but to my way of thinking it has gone entirely too far in the other direction.

The following are some of the questions asked last week.

Question: What is the law regarding fishing in streams in district 23?

Answer: The season for trout fishing opened in the Truckee River on May 15. Elsewhere in district 23 the trout season opens on May 30, except that it is unlawful to take trout in that portion of any stream flowing into any lake within two miles from its mouth, measured upstream, until August 1 or after. The foregoing is the provision of the general law which is subject to the closing of streams by the Fish and Game Commission under plenary powers.

As it might be of general interest, I would state that district 23 consists of and includes the waters of Lake Tahoe and Truckee River, and all streams flowing into said lake and river, and all land within the drainage basin of said lake and river.

Q.: Is it illegal to fish for trout at night in Lake Almanor? In what district is Lake Almanor? If it is in district 25 does the trout season open on May 1? The game cards say the trout season opens in district 25 on May 30. Please explain.

A.: It is illegal to fish for trout in Lake Almanor between one hour after sunset and one hour before sunrise. The lake is in district 25 and the trout season opens in the lake on May 1. It is true that the general open season for trout begins on May 30 in district 25, but there is a special provision in the law that provides that the trout season shall be open on May 1 in any lake in district 25 exceeding twenty-five square miles in area.

Q.: Is there any closed season on crawfish?

A.: There will not be one until sometime in August. If the Governor signs a bill which is placed before him, it will close the season on these crustaceans in Southern California and will take effect about August 14. There are very few of this species in California and those in Southern California are being rapidly depleted by the Japanese—hence the law.

Q.: Can a right of way for fishing purposes be condemned along a stream which is in private ownership?

A.: Yes. If the stream does not lie within or run through cultivated land and if it has been stocked with fish by the State, the Board of Supervisors may declare it to be a public highway for the purpose of fishing. In case the owner does not consent to such use together with a right of way along the banks for the purpose of fishing, the Board of Supervisors is authorized to condemn it.

Q.: Is the steelhead a salmon or a trout?

A.: The steelhead is a trout. As a matter of fact, authorities are generally agreed that the steelhead is in reality a Rainbow which has access to the sea and has followed its natural inclination to run to salt water.

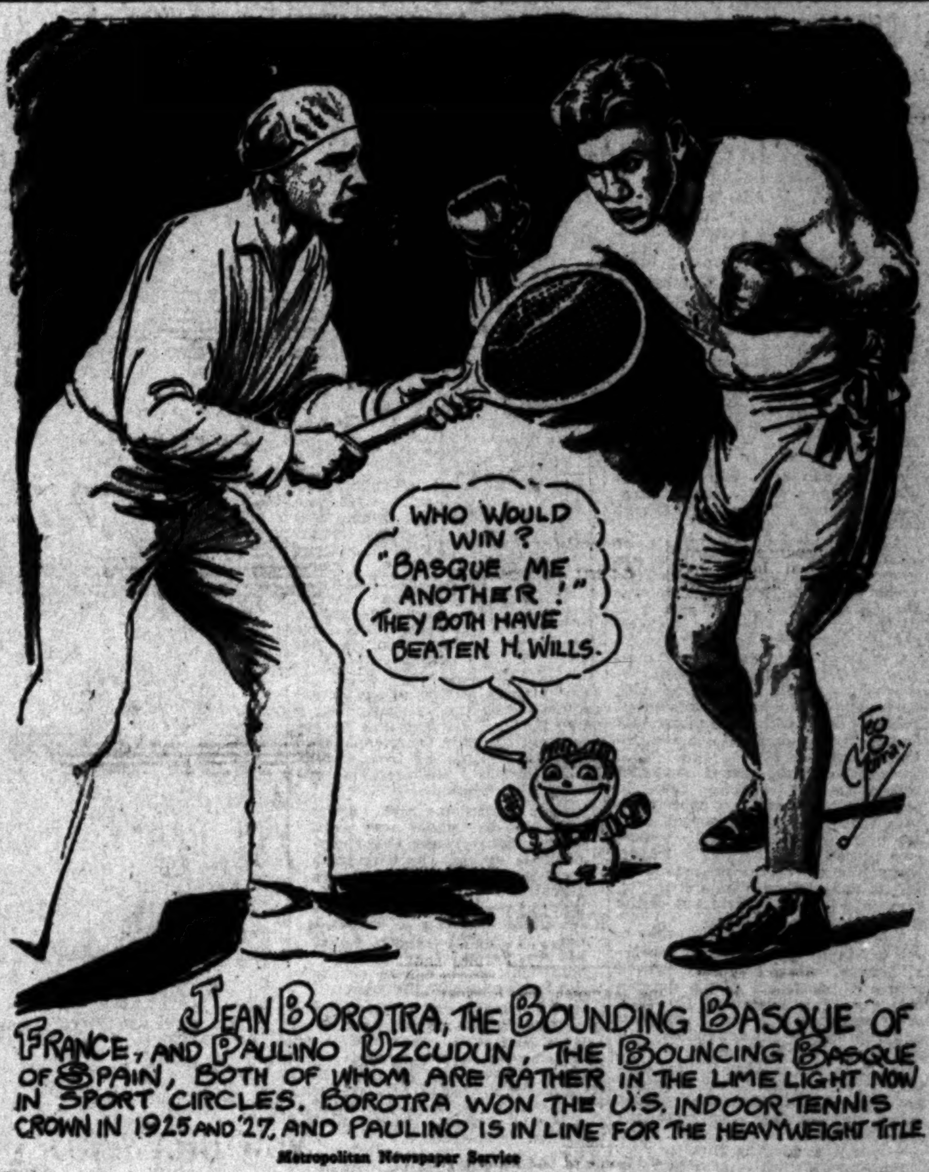
BASQUE BERRIES - - - By Feg Murray



WHO WOULD WIN? "BASQUE ME ANOTHER!" THEY BOTH HAVE BEATEN H. WILLS.
FEG MURRAY

JEAN BOROTRA, THE BOUNDING BASQUE OF FRANCE, AND PAULINO UZCUDUN, THE BOUNCING BASQUE OF SPAIN, BOTH OF WHOM ARE RATHER IN THE LIME LIGHT NOW IN SPORT CIRCLES. BOROTRA WON THE U.S. INDOOR TENNIS CROWN IN 1925 AND '27, AND PAULINO IS IN LINE FOR THE HEAVYWEIGHT TITLE

Metropolitan Newspaper Service

BASQUE-ING in the sunshine of popularity right now are two Bounding Basques—Borotra, of France, and Paulino, of Spain. Both Basques spend plenty of their time in the United States with a common end in view—gold, do-re-mi, money, or dollars (call it what you will.) The only difference is that Paulino is paid directly for pumping his arms into an opponent's face and body, while Borotra sells pumping machinery. Of course, his fame as a tennis player aids his business, but he is to be commended for having a business. Most tennis players don't have any (unless you count monkey business.)

They are about the same age, these two Basques, both acrobatic and colorful, but Borotra is much the better looking and faster. How the crowds flock to the courts when he is playing! They love to see him leap and bound and tip over linesmen, and to hear his good-natured "ah oui," and to see the fine brand of tennis he plays in such a sportsmanlike way.

Paulino draws out thousands of his countrymen when he performs, too. The regular fight fans also like him, because he scarcely ever takes a backward step, because he is always in there trying, and because he gives them a run for their money. "Upside down," as he is called, in beating Christner more thoroughly than Sharkey did, stands among the leading contenders for the vacant heavyweight throne.

Two interesting personalities, these smiling Basques, Paulino, the wood chopper, and Borotra, who has a pretty good chop stroke himself, thank you.

KENNEDY TO FIGHT KAISER THURSDAY

Don Kennedy of Pasadena and Charlie Kaiser, Hollywood's sensational big card, two of the cleverest little boxers on the Coast, will mix in a highly promising natural at the Pasadena Arena Thursday night. The program marks a return to the regular Thursday nights at the arena after a change last week, due to the holiday.

Tommy Morgan, who hails from Ireland and has won his single fight in this country, at the Arena several weeks ago, with a knockout, will take on Andy Dumler in the six-round semifinal. Four bouts of four rounds each will be: Hugh Shropshire vs. Mel Williams, 180 pounds; Black Diamond vs. Pete Cardinas, 133 pounds; Georgie Ryan vs. John Christmas, 130 pounds; Harold Pitcher vs. Benny Rodriguez, 112 pounds.

VENETIANS PREPARE FOR BORDER SWIM

VENICE, June 1. (Exclusive)—The powerful Venice Plunge Swimming Association team which promises to clean up on the outdoor swimming situation this summer is preparing for the annual Silver Gate swim at San Diego on the 23rd inst.

Coach Frank Rivas has a number of stars to enter in this blue-ribbon event. Heading the list is Wallace O'Connor, winner of the race from large fields several times in the recent past. O'Connor represented America on both the 1924 and 1928 Olympics teams in both water polo and swimming. He is one of the great swimmers of the world.

LIVSEY WINS CUE TILT

Spencer Livsey, pocket billiards expert, is still undefeated in his series of match games now in progress at the All Nations Billiards parlor. William Davis was only able to score 116 points against Livsey's 150 Friday night. Walter Wilson will meet Livsey tomorrow evening.

NAVY FIGHTERS LAND IN THE "BIG MONEY"

Back in 1923 the battle fleet had quite an aggregation of boxers, and wrestlers. Many of the boys then fighting for Uncle Sam have performed for big money after leaving the service.

EDDIE HUFFMAN

Billy Vincent, formerly attached to the U.S.S. Arizona, is now in motion pictures, and according to press notices, William is making quite a name for himself before the camera. He had quite a part in the Paramount production, "The Man I Love," and he is now working in the "Isle of Lost Ships." What a fighter he was. Boxing fans in the fleet and harbor district can easily recall his fight with Sailor Liston at the old C.P.O. club in San Pedro, when a capacity house watched the navy welter champion fight four torrid rounds, finishing up with a broken arm. It was the greatest fight harbor district customers ever had the pleasure of witnessing.

ON THE SKIDS

Eddie Huffman, who received more publicity than any other navy boy, is now residing in Long Beach. Huffman made an unsuccessful attempt to come back at San Diego a few weeks ago and was knocked out in four rounds by Marine Strickland.

Ritchie King, formerly of the U.S.S. Maryland, is in Philadelphia and is fighting with fair success.

Jack Silver, the great Jewish lad who called the flagship California his home for two years, is also trying another whack at the game. He is in San Francisco and only three years ago was sitting on top of the pugilistic world with a win over Mushy Callahan to his credit.

Johnny True, former U.S.S. Nevada middleweight, is out of the game entirely. Steve Biss, former welterweight champion from the Idaho, is now in business in San Pedro. Joe Fischer, the great little lightweight fighter, is still in the Navy and is attached to the battleship New Mexico. Sailor Liston, ex-Idaho sailor, is also through with the boxing game. Frankie Constantine is back in the battle fleet but is no longer connected with the cauliflower industry. Sailor Foster, another C.P.O. favorite from the U.S.S. Texas, is residing in Long Beach and has hung up the gloves to work in the oil fields.

A LONGSHOREMAN

Paddy Mullens is in Boston on recruiting duty. Sailor Harry Ashmore, now retired from the ring for more than two years, is working as a longshoreman around San Pedro. He at one time won twenty consecutive fights at Hollywood. Jimmy Hackley, formerly of the Procyon, is boxing in the Middle West and is doing very well.

"Bulkhead" Mulliken, former fleet wrestling champ, is a chiropractor and also a wrestling instructor in Los Angeles. He occasionally appears as a professional grappler at the Olympic Club. Ted Snyder, heavyweight marine boxer from the U.S.S. Mississippi, is now a member of the Long Beach Fire Department as is Don De Marzo, welterweight, who spent seven years on the U.S.S. Pennsylvania.

DARO STAGES ALL-STAR WRESTLING SHOW NEXT

An all-star wrestling card that will pack more color and action than any seen here this year is being scheduled by "Carnation" Lou Daro, local wrestling promoter, for the Olympic on the 12th inst.

LOU DARO.

At the present time the promoter has several mat stars in line for the feature event of this card, but whether he will be able to get them to agree on terms for a match appears to be bothering Daro at the present time.

Joe Malcewicz, the backward body slam expert from Utica, who crashed Stanley Stasiak upon his head in a wild and sensational match last week, is one of the topnotchers who expected to appear in one of the three star matches. Malcewicz, who came to the Coast two weeks ago for the single match with the Pole, has announced he would spend the summer here, making his training camp at Long Beach.

The Utican looked as clever, fast and as strong in beating Stasiak as he was against Ed (Strangler) Lewis here last year. The 200-pound mat panther expects to stay here a few months and meet most of the top-notchers the promoter is bringing west this summer.

Nick Lutze, the young Chicagoan, who has developed an overhead body slam credited with being as effective and punishing as Malcewicz's backward slam, is also in line for the feature event of Daro's next card. The promoter, it is reported, has been trying to get Malcewicz to take on Lutze at this time, but without avail. Lutze demonstrated some wonderful wrestling when he disposed of Don De Laun of Long Beach last week, and the Utican believes he will need several weeks more of training before meeting Lutze, who now appears to be a greater wrestler than ever.

Dick Daviscourt, the rough Kansan, whose real wrestling against Ed Lewis here several weeks ago won him many mat followers in this section, is ready for action again, it was stated yesterday, and has asked Promoter Daro for another bout here.

Daviscourt landed in the hospital as the result of his match with Lewis. It was feared for a time that the Kansan had suffered a fractured skull as the result of the landing he made into the press seats after being crashed through the ropes by his opponent, but an X-ray examination revealed several torn neck ligaments as being the full extent of his injuries. He is in perfect condition for a comeback, and, it was stated yesterday, he may be picked to meet either Malcewicz or Lutze in one of the big proposed matches.

GEORGE YOUNG WINS FROM VIERKOETTER

TORONTO, June 1. (AP)—Miss Olive Gatterdam of Seattle, defeated Miss Ruth Tower of Denver, Colo., today in a special mile race down the Humber River. Miss Gatterdam swam the mile in 22m. 30s. Miss Tower's time was 23:45.

In another mile match race, George Young, Toronto swimmer, bested Ernest Vierkoetter of Germany, by a decisive margin. Young's time was 21:55, Vierkoetter's 22:05.

Hollywood Stars Suffer 19-to-3 Shellacking at Hands of Slugging Oa

Pick-Ups by Bob Ray

Baseball is a funny game.

Take, for instance, the career of Sylvester Johnson, the St. Louis Cardinal pitcher, who is now winning regularly for Billy Southworth's up-and-coming outfit.

SYLVESTER JOHNSON.

Johnson, unless our memory is faulty, started his baseball career with the Portland Beavers back in 1921. He didn't prove a winner with that terrible Beaver outfit, but he did show enough stuff to merit his being picked up for a trial by the Detroit Tigers.

However, Sylvester seemed destined to be just a close pitcher. He won but few games, but he never lost by much of a margin. After a short sojourn in the majors, Johnson came back to the Vernon club in the Coast League.

Johnson always had plenty of stuff, but the goddess of luck was never on his side. Whenever Sylvester held the opposition to one run his mates wouldn't score, while if he permitted two runs his side could collect but one. Truly, he was a tough-luck pitcher and most young fellows would have been discouraged by the run of bad luck that followed Johnson. However, Johnson stuck with the pastime and finally was picked up by the St. Louis Cardinals.

Now the Cards have a string of ball clubs that enables them to pick up youngsters and experiment with them until their baseball days are over. They can take a youngster, place him with Class D league, carry him up to the majors, if he merits it, and then keep a string on him until he passes right out of the picture.

The Cards farmed Sylvester Johnson to Rochester in the International League, where he again showed plenty of stuff, but didn't develop into a consistent winner. However, the Cards kept string on Johnson and this spring he was taken into the Cards' training camp.

But now the string of bad luck that has been following Johnson has been shaken off his trail by the young right-hander. Sylvester, instead of losing games by close scores is now winning them.

Johnson's victory is a victory for perseverance in face of bad breaks and he's entitled to all the good fortune that comes his way. If the St. Louis Cards do win a pennant this season, Sylvester Johnson, the youngster who suffered enough bad breaks to cause most fellows to quit in disgust, should come in for his share of credit.

AQUAYO TO BATTLE WHITEHEAD AT BEACH

Richie Aquayo and Vearl Whitehead will meet in the six-round main event of the boxing card at the Ocean Park arena Wednesday night. The weight is 138 pounds. The fight is a rematch, the boys having fought to a draw a few weeks ago.

Art Molina and Harry Wallinger are paired in the four-round semi-wind-up. The other preliminaries are as follows: Augie Paranque vs. Johnny Navarro, four rounds; Bert Rutledge vs. Oriel Astudillo, four rounds; Melvin Bobo vs. Edward Bertram, four rounds; Eddie Tomasino vs. Harry Inlove, four rounds.

COACH HOBBS ADAMS TO TAKE NEW POST

MONROVIA, June 1. — Coach Hobbs Adams, for three years football and baseball coach at the Monrovia High School, yesterday submitted his resignation to the high-school board, effective at the end of the present school term.

In his resignation Adams announced that he had accepted the offer of San Diego High School as head of the physical education department and varsity football coach.

SERAPHS FACE LOOP LEADERS

Cherubs Hope to Stop Reds in Local Series

Hollywood to Tackle Seals at Recreation Park

Vitt Says Stars Not Out of Pennant Race Yet

BY BOB RAY

Red Killefer's Mission Reds, who are away out in front of the Pacific Coast League procession by virtue of their consistency during the first ten weeks of the season, make their 1929 debut at Wrigley Field next Wednesday, when they open a seven-game series against Marty Krug's Angels.

MARTY KRUG

The Angels are in second place, but they are so far behind the Missions that it takes a slight stretch of the imagination to call this coming affair a "croocial" series. It begins to appear that the only thing capable of heading the Reds off from a pennant now is a train wreck of considerable proportions.

This Mission-Angel series does not get under way until Wednesday because the Krugmen are making the long jump here from Seattle. Bill Lane's Hollywood Stars employed airplanes from Seattle to Portland to arrive here on a Tuesday, but Joe Patrick refuses to let his Angels travel by plane despite this series is one of the most important of the year.

By a strange freak of the schedule, the Missions do not appear in Los Angeles this year until the eleventh week of the season. Ordinarily this would be overlooked, or considered a break of good luck, but this year the Reds are leading the league and local fans consider themselves slighted.

This year's Mission outfit, for which Killefer spent a lot of Fleishhacker's dough to build, is a well-balanced squad. The team has good pitching, capable fielding and an abundance of batting strength. It doesn't seem possible that the Missions will be beaten out of a pennant, especially with the large lead which they have gained, but stranger things have happened.

If the Angels can, by some chance, take five out of seven from the Reds it will do the race a lot of good and enhance the flag chance for the fans. However, the Angel pitching does not appear strong enough to make the Reds suffer their first bad series. The Missions have lost but two series this season and both of them by 4-3 margins.

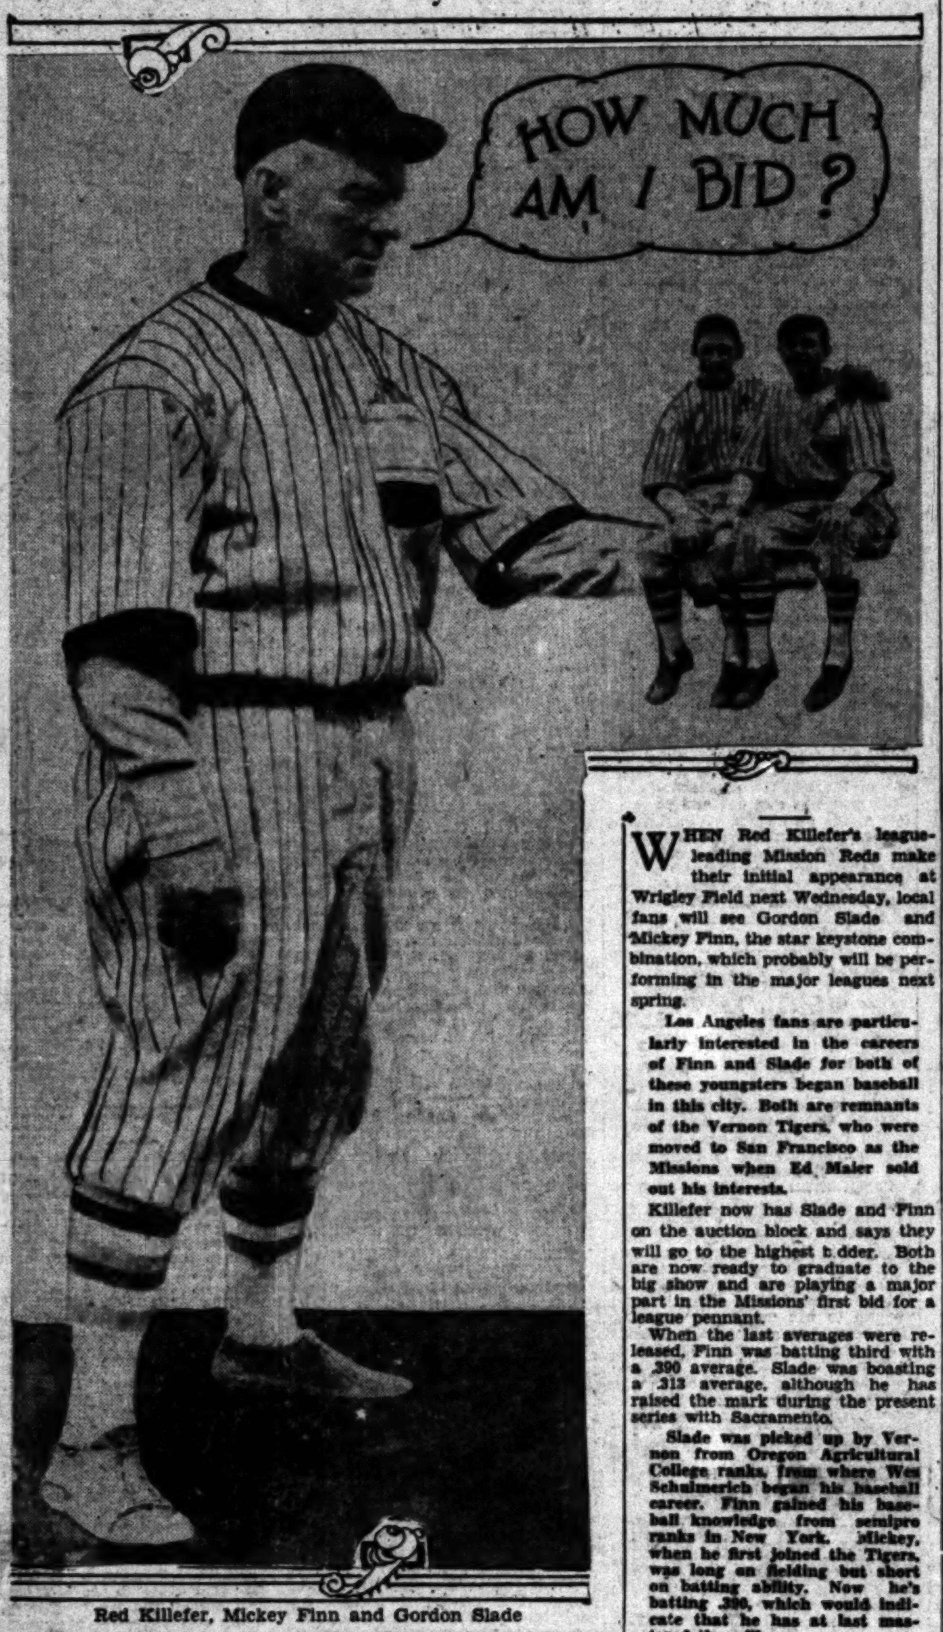
While the Missions and Angels are battling it out here, Oscar Vitt's Hollywood Stars will be meeting the Seals at San Francisco. The Stars trimmed the Seals five out of seven down here and figure to do as well at San Francisco for the Hollywooders always play their best in Recreation Park. That short right-field fence just suits Hollywood's flock of right-field hitters.

Skipper Vitt says his Sheiks can't be counted out of the flag race yet for they'll be doubly tough as soon as Bill Rumler gets back into the line-up. Rumler's heavy hitting will make the Sheiks dangerous pennant contenders, claims Vitt, and he doesn't bar the Missions and their big lead when he puts forth his contention.

The other series starting this week bring together the Ducks and Oaks at Oakland and the Indians and Senators at Sacramento. This week's choices are the Angels, Stars, Oaks and Indians.

SLADE AND FINN NEXT TO GRADUATE

Killefer Puts Mission Keystone Combination on Block



HOW MUCH AM I BID?

Red Killefer, Mickey Finn and Gordon Slade

WHEN Red Killefer's league-leading Mission Reds make their initial appearance at Wrigley Field next Wednesday, local fans will see Gordon Slade and Mickey Finn, the star keystone combination, which probably will be performing in the major leagues next spring.

Los Angeles fans are particularly interested in the careers of Finn and Slade for both of these youngsters began baseball in this city. Both are remnants of the Vernon Tigers, who were moved to San Francisco as the Missions when Ed Maier sold out his interests.

Killefer now has Slade and Finn on the auction block and says they will go to the highest bidder. Both are now ready to graduate to the big show and are playing a major part in the Missions' first bid for a league pennant.

When the last averages were released, Finn was batting third with a .390 average. Slade was boasting a .313 average, although he has raised the mark during the present series with Sacramento.

Slade was picked up by Vernon from Oregon Agricultural College ranks, from where Wes Schulmerich began his baseball career. Finn gained his baseball knowledge from semipro ranks in New York. Mickey, when he first joined the Tigers, was long on fielding but short on batting ability. Now he's batting .390, which would indicate that he has at last mastered the willow.

Mission Reds Crush Solons

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1. (AP)—The Mission Reds smothered the Sacramento Senators today by a 12-2 score. The series stands four games to two in favor of the Reds. Ike Boone had another big day at the bat, slamming out two singles, a double and a home run. He also batted in four runs. The Reds got after Bryan in the first inning and finished him in the second when they staged a rally and scored five runs off six hits. Score:

ACORNS WALLOP OUT FI HOMERS TO ROUT SH

Marty, Coyne and Hollerson Ma by Visitors; Oaklanders Sta Eight-Run Spree in Secon

BY BOB RAY

Jess Willard took quite a pasting from Jack Dempsey Toledo one July afternoon and Al Smith received quite a at the hands of Herb Hoover last November, but both were slaps on the wrist compared to the artistic sh handed the Hollywood Stars out at Wrigley Field yester noon.

Ivan Howard's angry Acorns doled out the lacing to the Sheiks, and what a lacing it was! The Oaks let Oscar Vitt's hired help have both barrels from close quarters and when the Stars finally revived sufficiently to ask what happened, some hardened soul told them that the final score was Oakland, 19; Hollywood, 3.

ZIP DUMOVICH.

The Oaks put on quite an exhibition of plain and fancy hitting and their attack included no less than five home runs, which is a pretty fair total for one club even at Wrigley Field. Ten other hits of lesser denomination rattled off the Oakland bats, and what those safeties didn't do, three Hollywood errors and a lot of walks and hit batsmen did to complete the rout of the home talent.

Zip Dumovich, who beat the Stars and struck out eleven last Tuesday, once more subdued the Sheiks with his cross-fire southpaw delivery, although he wasn't as puzzling on the mound yesterday. Dumovich was touched for eleven hits, but he never had to worry after his mates had hammered across eight runs in the second inning.

SCHINO CLICKS PAIR

Stan Schino, a young Seal cast-off, led the Acorn home-run attack by clouting two over the left-field wall. The other Oakland circuit clouts were contributed by Buzz Arlett, Roy Carlyle and Ernie Lombardi.

Lombardi, by the way, strengthened his position as the league's leading hitter by rapping out three singles aside from his homer in five trips to the plate.

The Oaks made a mess of the struggle in the second frame when they chased Joe Marty to the showers and piled up eight runs before Bill Coyne could retire the side. Six more runs in the fourth, another in the fifth and two each in the eighth and ninth completed the Oaks' busy day of touring around the hassocks.

Marty completely blew up in the second inning after he had beaned Monroe Dean with one of his wild fast ones. Dean dropped to the ground, scrambled unsteadily to his feet and spinned around like a top before he fell again. However, after a bit of first-aid treatment the Oakland shortstop was revived sufficiently enough that he was able to walk off the field.

Coyne was driven to cover during the Oaks' four-inning splurge and George Hollerson finished on the mound for Hollywood. Hollerson was nearly knocked out of the picture in the ninth when a line drive from Schino's bat hit him such a terrific clout that he had to call for "time out" before pitching the rest of the inning.

Hollywood started off with a pair of runs in the first on doubles by Burkett and Rehg, a walk and an infield out, but those two tallies were just a spit in the ocean compared to what the Oaks did later on.

ACORNS SCORE EIGHT

Marty lost that two-run lead in the second by walking Roy Carlyle and grooving Lombardi a home-run ball. The Star slabster fanned Schino but then beaned Dean and blew sky high. Reese ran for Dean. Dumovich walked. Governor then hit to Heath, who evidently decided that inasmuch as he couldn't hit Dumovich at the plate he ought to hit him on the bases. So Mickey rifled the ball right between the Oakland pitcher's shoulder blades in an effort for a force play at second. Reese scored on the error and all hands were safe. Coyne then started pitching, his initial efforts being to walk Brubaker and hit Vergez to force in another tally.

Governor scored when Arlett forced Vergez and R. Carlyle followed with a home run into Thirty-ninth street to count Brubaker and Arlett as well as himself. There were only three hits in that round but eight runs scored.

In the fourth Arlett lined a homer into the center-field bleachers to begin the scoring. A walk to R. Carlyle, Lombardi's hit and Schino's first homer brought in three more. Two more walks and a double by Brubaker made it six runs for the inning.

Schino got his last homer in the eighth with the bases empty. It was a towering drive that floated on the breeze far over the left center-field fence.

TWIN BILL TODAY

The series ends today with a double-header, but the Oaks already have won four out of six and can't get worse than an even break for the week even if they lose both of this afternoon's clashes. McEvoy and Craghead will take the mound for the Oaks, while Wetzel and Hulvey will be the Hollywood hurlers. Score:

JIMMY FOXX NEW LEADER OF AMERICAN SLUGGERS

CHICAGO, June 1. (AP)—Topping the onrushing Athletics with an average of .424, Jimmy Foxx, Connie Mack's versatile workman, who is listed as a first baseman this season, replaced Bill Kamm of the White Sox, as American League batting leader at the end of the sixth week of play, according to unofficial figures today.

MICKEY COCHRANE

Foxx added 43 points to his average during the week, and his team-mate Micky Cochrane, picked up another 38 points to go into second place with .382. Kamm dropped 29 points and slipped to third place with a mark of .366. Other leaders; Jamieson, .363; Land, .358; Narlesky, Boston, .357; Fothergill, Detroit, .357; Manush, St. Louis, .355; R. Johnson, Detroit, .347; Dickey, New York, .346; Gehringer, Detroit, .341; Alexander, Detroit, .341.

Detroit found the pitching a little more difficulty to hit during the week and sloughed off 13 points, dropping to .304, while the Athletics boosted their average from .297 to .306 to grab the leader in team batting. Both of the leaders have six men in the .300 class.

Other clubs in the league had yet to defeat old George Uhle, of the Tigers. The veteran right hander was forced to pitch twenty-nine innings in two games, but he won them both and raised his mark to nine straight.

For the first time of the season Uhle required help when he was relieved after the twentieth inning of the long game with the White Sox. Bob Grove, of the Athletics, participated in only a part of one game and his mark was stationary at six victories and one defeat. Grove still topped the strikeout list with 53. Rip Collins, of St. Louis and Eddie Rommel of Philadelphia, each won one during the week for marks of three triumphs and no defeats.

St. Louis continued to lead in team fielding with an average of .976, and the Senators remained in second place with .975.

O'DOUL TOPS LOOP HITTERS

Ex-Coaster Slugging Ball at .422 Clip for Phils to Lead National League Swatsmiths

NEW YORK, June 1. (AP)—Frank O'Doul, the reformed pitcher, continues to do much better with his bat, now that he has transferred his main headquarters from the Polo Grounds to Philadelphia. The one-time southpaw owns a gaudy mark of .422, the only .400-or-better percentage for a National League regular, according to averages issued today and including games of last Wednesday. O'Doul's heavy sticking has played a big part in keeping the Phillies at the top of the team-batting heap with .314, the only .300 club in the league.

O'Doul also leads in runs scored with 37, while Chick Hafey of St. Louis and Charlie Grimm of Chicago are tied for the top in runs batted in. Each has 34. Andy High of St. Louis has collected the greatest total of hits, 55, while his team-mate, Frank Frisch, has hit seventeen doubles to lead. Lloyd Waner of Pittsburgh sets the pace in triples with six and Melvin Ott of New York in home runs with 11. Ott also is tied with Lou Gehrig of the Yankees for the interleague home run title. Kiki Cuyler of Chicago has the largest total of steals, eleven.

FRANK O'DOUL

GRIMES LEADS

Burleigh Grimes of Pittsburgh continues to lead the pitchers. He has won eight games and lost none, in addition to saving several others for which he can receive no credit in the records. Grimes has worked eighty-three innings in eleven contests, seven of which have been complete games. He leads in both innings and full games. Guy Bush of Chicago has won five games, and Sylvester Johnson of St. Louis, four, without a defeat for either.

Ervin Brame of Pittsburgh, Clise Dudley of Brooklyn, Harold Hald of St. Louis and Elmer Hearn of Boston complete the undefeated circle. Jesse Haines of St. Louis, with five victories and one reverse, is the highest ranking defeated pitcher.

Following O'Doul in the individual batting table are these regulars: Hendrick, Brooklyn, .394; High, St. Louis, .382; Stephenson, Chicago, .370; Cuyler, Chicago, .367; Frisch, St. Louis, .365; Herman, Brooklyn, .364; Klein, Philadelphia, .356; Friberg, Philadelphia, .353, and Terry, New York, .348.

Jess Mortensen, star javelin tosser, was yesterday elected captain of the Southern California track team. This information was received here last night by Tommy Davis, assistant Trojan coach, in a wire from Bill Bailey, manager of the S. C. team. EMIL FUCHS WOULD TURN OVER MANAGERIAL REINS TO EVERS

BOSTON, June 1. (AP)—With the major league baseball season scarcely more than six weeks under way, a change in the management of the Boston Braves appeared in prospect today. President Emil E. Fuchs, who caused something of a sensation in baseball circles when he announced after the Hornsby trade last season that he would undertake active management of the club, was reported to have offered the job to Johnny Evers, former big league star. Evers now is a Braves coach.

Fuchs was understood to have talked the matter over with Evers by long-distance telephone, but the coach, now directing the tribal destines in the Cincinnati series, was said to have been reluctant to change his status, although willing to continue to manage the club on the road.

ATHLETICS CRUSH TIGERS

Philadelphia Home-Run Bats Active as Mackmen Win, 11-2; Simmons Hits Two for Circuit

PHILADELPHIA, June 1. (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics home-run bats gave the Detroit Tigers a rude lambasting here this afternoon that buried the Bengals beneath a 11-to-2 score for their second defeat here and the Athletics' fifth straight win.

All the Mack runs except three were hammered over the plate by four home runs, Al Simmons hit two; his second coming with two on the bases in the seventh that brought his total for the year to 11. The others were made by George Earnshaw and Mule Haas, each with a man on the bags.

AL SIMMONS

George Earnshaw, who registered his fifth win of the season, held the visitors to six hits. Two of which bunched in the fourth inning gave them two runs that kept the game closed until the seventh. Score:

Bambino Raps Tenth Homer; Yankees Win

NEW YORK, June 1. (AP)—With Waite Hoyt pitching in superb form, the Yankees opened their long home stand against the West by defeating the White Sox, 8 to 1, here today. The Sox were blanked until the ninth, when Kerr's single sent Clancy home.

WAITE HOYT

Tony Lazzeri hit his fifth home run with two on in the third, and Babe Ruth cut through with his tenth in the eighth with Lou Gehrig on base. The Babe drove in another run with a single in the first. Danny Dugan, recruit southpaw, who pitched seven innings, yielded Lazzeri's homer, while Grady Adkins contributed Ruth's.

Miller Huggins effected the announced changes in his line-up, sending Leo Durocher to short and Gene Robertson to third, and continuing Bob Meusel on the bench in favor of Ben Paschal. The change seemed to work to advantage, although Robertson was the only one of the new men to get a hit. The champions failed to gain on the Athletics, who also won. Score:

Barbuti to Ask Reinstatement

DENVER (Colo.) June 1. Barbuti, suspended for remarks said to have been made regarding the A.A.U.'s financing of trips by college athletes to athletic meets, has refused to answer letters concerning his entry, but officials said they were confident he would make an effort to be reinstated and run the 440-yard dash.

EX-SEAL STARS WIN OVER FANS

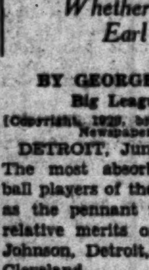
American League Players Equally Divided on Question of Whether Johnson or Averill is Best Outfielder; Earl Makes Hit With Cleveland Indians

BY GEORGE MORIARTY
Big League Umpire

[Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

DETROIT, June 1. (Exclusive)—The most absorbing topic among ball players of the American League as the pennant race blazes is the relative merits of Outfielders Roy Johnson, Detroit, and Earl Averill, Cleveland.

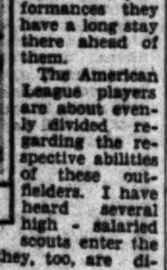
These fly-chasers were team-mates in San Francisco last summer. They are now enjoying their first fling in the majors, and judging by their sensational performances they have a long stay there ahead of them.



EARL AVERILL.

The American League players are about evenly divided regarding the respective abilities of these outfielders. I have heard several high-salaried scouts enter the discussion, and they, too, are divided.

Johnson is ripping things wide open for Detroit. He has a pleasing quality of showmanship. No other American League player surpasses him in fleetness on the bases or in the field. His spikes play a tattoo on the turf when he is going at top speed.



ROY JOHNSON

Johnson won over the Detroit fans in his first few weeks of play. He has an exceptional throwing arm, and wings the ball on a line instead of on a bound to the bases. That is always a spectacular bit. Both Johnson and Averill are comfortable .300 batters.

Averill produces about the same results, and doesn't give the impression that he is extending himself. He has a great arm and runs like a gale. At bat Averill levels his bludgeon, and takes a graceful but wicked cut at the ball. Some batters foul too many pitches. Not so Averill. He gets "a piece of it," whenever he elects to swing, and the ball is usually met in solid fashion and headed somewhere between the foul lines.

Of a score of tried outfielders Averill is the only one who qualifies to fill the shoes of Tris Speaker, and just now it looks as if those shoes would be filled amply.

Billy Evans, general business manager of the Cleveland club, showed rare judgment in landing Averill. He made a special trip to the Pacific Coast last winter for this sole purpose. Other clubs liked Averill, but when it came to the actual purchase they failed to put the money on the line. It will be interesting to follow the struggle Averill and Johnson are waging for supremacy. Just now it seems to be a toss-up.

AVERILL HAILED AS BEST FIELDER SINCE SPEAKER

CHICAGO, June 1. (Exclusive)—Mr. Earl Averill, late of the San Francisco Seals and now of the Cleveland Indians, is a refreshing addition to the major league circus. The Bradleys of Cleveland were forced to give up $53,000 for Averill, which made them a bit hot under the collar at the time, but now, they say, he is worth all that was paid for him. Numerous competent judges of baseball ivory consider him the most proficient rookie of the year.

Earl, who is 5 feet 10 inches high, weighs 175 pounds, bats left-handed and throws right-handed, in 1926 hit to the tune of .348 for the Seals. In 1927 it was .324, and last year the average had increased to .353. While compiling it he scored 180 runs and hit out thirty-seven homers.

Billy Evans, former umpire and now business manager of the Indians, talking about Averill the other day, said: "Funny thing about that fellow. Everyone seems to be quite correct in saying he seems destined to be the best fielder since Tris Speaker's day. Yet, when we bought him they told us he was just a fair fielder.

"How he came to say that is past comprehension. Averill is one of the fastest players in the game and possesses unerring judgment of where balls seem destined to land. Anyone in the league will confirm that statement."

Corrections, game 114: 8.P-KR4. Note (a) on black's 17th move. Note (b) P-KB4.

The Hart Memorial Tourney, which opens this week at the local club, has several strong entries. Games will be scored on the points basis of the club's perpetual handicap tourney ratings. It is to be just a social sort of tourney in memory of the late Woodford B. Hart, who always stood near the top and was one of the most active players on the perpetual tourney list.

A rapid transit tourney, the first in several months at the local club, was held Saturday night, the 25th. It was a knockout affair, ten seconds per move, except the finals at five seconds per move, in which the writer squeezed out a win from Doc Schelts.

The masters' tourney which starts tomorrow at the Hotel LaReine, Bradley Beach, N. J., has ten entries including World's Champion Alekhine of France; L. Steiner, champion of Hungary; L. S. Morrison, many years champion of Canada; Senor Citron, champion of Porto Rico; Frank Marshall, United States champion, and some leading New York experts.

There's nothing remarkable about the following game excepting as the latest example of the established fact that you can't offer Capablanca a pawn and get away with it for the Cuban has no superior, and probably no equal, in holding on to slight material advantage, especially a gambit pawn. White sacrificed a pawn for an attack which included some subtle play. It might have worked against a weaker opponent. From the recent team tourney at Ramsgate, England. The post-mortem analysis is interesting (see note f.)

CALEXICO BULLDOGS WIN BASEBALL TITLE

CALEXICO, June 1.—By defeating the Point Loma High School baseball team at Navy Field, San Diego, this afternoon, 8 to 0, the Calexico Bulldogs won the baseball championship of two southern counties today. Calexico was undefeated in season scheduled in Imperial Valley and Point Loma had won San Diego county championship last week.

Coach Covington's Calexico team today made fifteen hits and one error against opponents' six hits and five errors.

Cherubs Win First, 4-3, But Tribe Nabs Nightcap

SEATTLE (Wash.) June 1. (AP)—Manager Ernie Johnson's sacrifice fly in the last half of the ninth gave Seattle the second game here today by a 2-to-1 score over Los Angeles, after losing the first fray. In the first battle, with the score 3 and 3, in the ninth, Webb's triple after Statz's walk and a sacrifice by Dittmar, put the game on ice for the visitors. The score was 4 to 3.

a—Quite a good line but not very popular with the experts. It is a favorite with several of the local players.

b—This loses. Richard Jordan published play on 16-19 to draw which can be found in the Encyclopedia, and both 6-10 and 3-8 also seem to draw. I looked over this move with Hanson before the match and he saw at that time 7-10 would lose at this stage and decided to play 6-10 should the position come up, but forgot all about it until too late.

c—This cinches the win.

Vane Baker, Fernando Ramos Win Southern California Junior Olympic Championsh

MARKS BROKEN BY YOUNGSTERS

Jerry Deal Places Second in Junior Division

San Jose is Runner-up in Senior Group

Four Boys Get Free Trip to Hawaiian Islands

he tossed the iron ball 59ft. 8 7-8in. The old record, held by John Kuck, stood at 58ft. 7 5-8in.

Wykoff ran the seventy-five-yard dash in 7 3-5s. and Houser did some nifty discus throwing.

There was nothing surprising about the fact that Baker and Deal finished one-two in the junior division but there was plenty of comment over the high scores registered by the two midget athletes.

Vane's total was nine points better than he did last week, while Jerry added 12 digits to his score of last Saturday. There is apparently no limit to what these two kids can do.

They are about equal in every event but chinning and basketball. Vane has a marked edge in the former while Jerry is king of 'em all when it comes to dropping the casaba through the hoop.

SPLENDID MARKS

Here are Vane's marks for yesterday: Broad jump, 7ft. 9½in.; baseball, 188ft. 7in.; chinning, forty times; dash, 9 2-5s.; basketball, fourteen out of twenty. Baker improved over last week in the broad jump, dash and basketball, but fell down a bit in the baseball throw and chinning. Vane actually chinned forty-two times as against forty-one last week, but had two thrown out by officials yesterday.

Deal's records were these: Broad jump, 7ft. 4½in.; baseball, 233ft.; chinning, twenty-six times; dash, 9 2-5s.; and basketball, nineteen out of twenty. Jerry bettered his marks of last week in the baseball, dash and basketball, but fell off a bit in the chinning and lost half an inch in his broad jump.

Vane is of Irish-American parentage and was born in Ardmore, Okla. He has lived in Southern California five years. He has two sisters and one younger brother. Vane will be 14 years of age in September, which means that he will be eligible for the Junior Olympic Games again next year and the season after that.

The triumph of Ramos was rather unexpected. He had finished in fourth place in the Los Angeles county finals last week, being headed by San Jose, Waers and George Warboys. Early in the season Ramos was credited with 679 points, but he had not been able to approach this total in later competition.

ADDED TO TOTAL

His score in the meet last week was 612, which might have discouraged some athletes inasmuch as there were four ahead of him. But Fernando went out and added 80 digits to that total yesterday and as a result finds himself all set for that trip to Honolulu. He is of Mexican parentage and attends McKinley Junior High School. Coach McKenzie of Ross Snyder Playground, where Ramos does his training, expects the boy to do even better in the future.

Fernando's marks yesterday follow: Broad jump, 8ft. 10in.; baseball, 297ft. 6in.; chinning, twenty-eight times; dash, 8 2-5s.; and basketball, sixteen out of twenty. Last week Ramos's record fell down chiefly because he threw but nine out of twenty baskets. He improved in this respect yesterday and also bettered his previous marks in the broad jump and chin.

San Jose, as we remarked yesterday morning, was "Old Man Consistency" again. Here are his records: Broad jump, 8ft. 11½in.; baseball, 228ft. 3 1-4in.; chinning, twenty-seven times; dash, 8 2-5s., and basketball, eighteen out of twenty.

These marks were almost identical with last week's. His records were the same in the dash and chin, while he tossed two more baskets. He fell off one inch in the broad and slipped back a bit in the baseball throw.

San Jose is a full-blooded Filipino, born in the Philippines. He spent ten years in Honolulu, so the trip there next month will be like going back home. Robert's father was quite an athlete, specializing in baseball. He died last year. San Jose attends Richard Henry Dana Junior High School in San Pedro.

IN THE RUNNING

Waers was in the running all the time. He made 659 points last week and would have bettered that yesterday but for a bad break in the broad jump. He had cleared what appeared to be 9ft. 4in., when his tail dragged in the sand, thus blotting out the record. At that he bettered his last week's mark of 9ft. by doing 9ft. 1 3-4in. His records were exactly the same in the chin, dash and basketball. He dropped off seven feet in the baseball throw.

Some idea of the remarkable improvement shown by the boys over last season's performance is gained from a glance at the figures for the 1928 Southern California finals. Deal was junior champion with 586 points and Baker third with 572. Jerry improved almost 100 points over last year while Vane added 186 digits. Inasmuch as Billy Edwards, fifth yesterday, scored 619 points, not a single one of last year's finalists would have placed in this season's competition.

In the senior division the steady improvement was almost as remarkable. Falcon, in winning the championship last year, scored 655 points. That would have tied him for third place yesterday. San Jose was fourth with 590 points last year, 87 digits behind what he did yesterday to place second. Ramos was fifth in 1928, scoring but 576 points, as against 692 yesterday.

The first three boys in the various events were as follows:

SENIORS

Broad jump—Walter Waers, Arroyo Seco Playground, 9ft. 1¾in.; Robert San Jose, Anderson Memorial Playground, San Pedro, 8ft. 11½in.; Fernando Ramos, Ross Snyder Playground, 8ft. 10in.

Baseball throw—Robert Haskell, South Pasadena Junior High, 294ft. 2in.; Fernando Ramos, 279ft. 6in.; Raymond Johnson, Fillmore Junior High School, 272ft. 2in.

Chinning—Clarence Field, Ramona school, San Bernardino, 41 times; Bennie Bleistein, Alhambra High School, 38 times; Ignacio Barron, Riverside grammar school, 35 times.

75-yard dash—Robert San Jose, 8 2-5s.; Fernando Ramos, 8 2-5s.; Oswald Ilria, Santa Maria, 8 3-5s.

Basketball—Robert San Jose, 18 out of 20; Fernando Ramos, 16 out of 20; August Wedeweiler, Belmont High School, 15 out of 20.

JUNIORS

Broad jump—Paul Lee, Arroyo Seco, 8ft.; Vane Baker, Huntington Park, 7ft. 9½in.; Billy Edwards, Fremont High, 7ft. 8in.

Baseball throw—Jerry Deal, Anderson Memorial Playground, 233ft.; Joe Andrade, Calexico, 213ft. 7in.; Paul Lee, 212ft. 8½in.

Chinning—Vane Baker, 40 times; Edward Wileman, Fillmore Junior High School, Ventura county, 33 times; Seda Yanaki, Baldwin Park, 31 times.

75-yard dash—Billy Edwards, 9s.; Merle Harris, Central Junior High, Riverside, 9 1-5s.; Billy Acree, Torrance High, 9 1-5s.

Basketball—Jerry Deal, 19 out of 20; Billy Edwards, 17 out of 20; Jack Showalter, Sturges Junior High, San Bernardino, 15 out of 20.

It will be noted by these results that Baker won but one first place and a lone second. Deal had two firsts, but no seconds nor thirds. Both boys placed high because of their all-around ability.

The meet was a huge success from every standpoint. The presence of Fairbanks, Houser, Brix, Wykoff and other notables kept the kids in a constant fever of excitement. All the notables were in turn kept busy signing programs and whatnots so that the youngsters could take an autograph home with them.

Froebel High Wins Crown

STAGG FIELD, CHICAGO, June 1. (AP)—Athletes from Froebel High of Gary, Ind., won the national interscholastic track and field championships at the University of Chicago today with a total of 42½ points. Arsenal High, Indianapolis, was second with 28½. Fort Collins, Colo., was third with 26½. One world's prep record was smashed, three were tied and four marks for the meet were smashed.

Officials Help Make Program Huge Success

Proof that officials play the all-important difference between success and failure in the conduct of an athletic meet was shown at Moore Field yesterday when more than 100 men active in sports assembled to aid the youngsters of Southern California in the Junior Olympic Games finals.

SID FOSTER.

The interest that has been shown by these men in Southern California is the outstanding reason, according to Boyd Comstock, veteran coach and director of the Junior Olympiad, why local athletes have won such laurels in national and international competition.

Headed by Sig Nylander, director of the Los Angeles County and Southern California junior meets, men from all sections of the various city districts volunteered for work during the entire juvenile program.

One of the most intricate and difficult tasks of the program fell to Den Park, U.C.L.A., in the classification of all boys and their coefficients. He was assisted by Stanley Gould, Dave Orsheff, Earl Swingle, Ray Smith, Jim Legh and Russel Cutler.

Boys were divided into squads and their movements through all events were in charge of the following physical education majors in the University of California and Occidental College: Ray Smith, Lloyd Riddle, Frank Young, Sted Carmichael, Jim Ruckle, Jim Reed, Fred Wulfing, L. M. Steimle, Raymond Kimbell, Joe Higley, B. F. McFarland, Cliff Simpson, Ansel Breniman, Bert La Bruchrie, Earl Fields, Carl Brown, and Marion French.

The precision of movement which brought the meet to a close on schedule was motivated by W. R. Hildebrand assisted by Larry Houston, Glenn Berry, H. R. Simpson, Ralph Whittemore and F. W. Cozens.

While the meet progressed a group tucked far away from the cheering throng worked on statistics and the compiling of intricate tabulations so that the many scores might be ready for presentation of medals and trophies. Miss Grace Adams of the Los Angeles county schools, headed a group of scorers who were teachers in the city schools. Additional judges were Ralph Bunja, Ben Price, Maj. Don Miller, Dr. Lawrence Bailiff, "Pop" Squires, Tommy Sarris, Samuel Loose, H. Stern, Tom Harrison, Jack Platt, W. C. Kaiser, H. W. Dumke, A. Stewner and Hugh Pinney.

Dr. P. M. Seixas as starter got the boys away from the gun for perfect starts throughout the meet.

Other officials whose work was reflected in the success of the meet were Sid Foster, head timer; Tracey Cox, assistant timer; Vernon Augustine, Ross Bowen, W. P. Cummings and Larry Houston.

Drury Weiman of San Bernardino county and W. K. Cobb of Ventura county assisted the judges in special events.

More than thirty Boy Scout troops of Los Angeles, directed by Edward Davey, assistant Scout executive, worked as runners, squad assistants and general orderlies. Miramar Military Academy dispatched a picked squadron of natty cadets to help in the program.

George Hjelte, Superintendent of Playgrounds; D. W. Lott, municipal sports division, and Jack Henderson, supervisor of playgrounds, gave valuable assistance in the conduct of the meet.

Fullerton Wins Over Inglewood

FULLERTON, June 1. — Arkie Vaughan brought a sensational hurling duel here this afternoon to a dramatic close when he poled out a triple to deep right, which scored Jack Hatfield, giving the Fullerton High Indians, Orange County League champions, a 1-to-0 win over the Inglewood High Sentinels, champions of the Bay League, in the semifinals game of the C.I.F. baseball championships.

The blow that ruined the title chances of the Sentinels came in the eighth inning. Hatfield started the rally when he caught the first pitched ball for a sharp single through short and went to second on a sacrifice by Hemus. Then came Arkie Vaughan to the plate and with the count one and one smote the apple far over the right-fielders head for a triple, scoring Hatfield.

Hemus allowed the Sentinels two scratch hits and fanned seven. Coach E. Y. Johnson's Indians will meet San Diego, champions of the Coast League, in the final C.I.F. play-off contest next Saturday at San Diego. Score by innings:

Inglewood	000 000 000—	0	2	1
Fullerton	000 000 01x—	1	7	0

BOBBY JONES HURT IN ATLANTA STORM

ATLANTA, June 1. (AP) — Bobby Jones nursed a slightly bruised shoulder tonight, convinced that an umbrella and the luck that brought his stolen golf clubs back to him from New York had also saved him from a serious injury today when lightning struck a chimney on the East Lake clubhouse and sent a shower of bricks down about him.

The amateur champion and two friends were driven to shelter by a thundershower that came up while they were playing a practice round. All three sprinted for the clubhouse. As they approached the building, the chimney was struck and one of the falling bricks glanced off the umbrella Jones carried and bruised his left shoulder.

Examination showed the bruise was of little consequence, and a zealous club member placed the brick among the club's trophies for permanent preservation.

WASHINGTON CLUB SEEKS FLAGSTEAD FROM BOSTON

CHICAGO, June 1. (Exclusive)—In the wild search of the disintegrated Washington Senators for a right-hand hitter, the waiver requests have been carefully watched. The other day owner Clark Griffith saw Ira Flagstead, the veteran of the Boston Sox, on his way to the minors, and promptly put in a claim for him.

Washington observers believe the Nationals will secure the Boston outfielder, who no longer is rated as a regular. When Washington claimed Flagstead, the Boston club owners demanded a much bigger figure than the waiver price of $7500 and for a time there was nothing stirring. Now both teams seem eager to go through with the deal.

No smarter outfielder can be found today than Flaggy, who, despite his 35 years, can cover a lot of ground, throw as well as ever and get around the sacks pretty fast. Flagstead has the baseball competitive spirit, and is an excellent influence on a ball team.

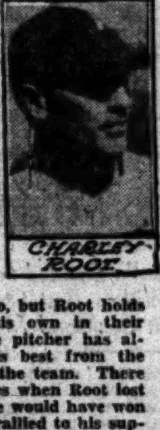
CUB FANS HAPPY AS ROOT WINS

Charley's Comeback to 1927 Form Pleasing to Windy City Rooters

CHICAGO, June 1. (Exclusive)—Windy City fans, happy over the fine showing of the Cubs, are especially elated at the mound work of Charley Root. The famous flinger of the Chicago team, who tried to pitch the team into a championship in 1927, is back this season in his winning stride.



CHARLEY ROOT

Cuyler, Wilson, Hornsby and Stephenson are the idols of the North Side fans of Chicago, but Root holds a place all his own in their hearts, for the pitcher has always given his best from the day he joined the team. There have been times when Root lost games which he would have won had the team rallied to his support with any hitting.

Manager Joe McCarthy is a warm admirer of the Coast boy. He has more confidence in him than any other pitcher on his staff. When reporters tell McCarthy how great a hitting club he has, Joe usually winds up by saying: "I hope Root gets the breaks again and the Cubs will be up there."

In 1927, Root took part in forty-eight games, pitching more than 300 innings, which is a lot of toil for any man on a pitching staff. Root won twenty-six games. Some thought from the sharp drop in his work last season that he had thrown out his pitching arm. The five games he has won this season evidently disproves that idea.

Last year Root dropped his first two games because of bad fielding on the part of his team. He did not get much better support from the players as the season advanced, but still he turned in fifteen victories.

Ramos Cheered by Stands as Unexpected Topples San Jose from Leadership

BY BELMAN MORIN

It made a dramatic, smashing close for Fernando Ra the senior division championship. Over hurdle after hurd liminary trials, it has been Robert San Jose, the lithe San P who has led the field and he was an odds-on favorite to wi Ramos came up practically from nowhere to take the play away

When he was announced as the victor, the bottom almost dropped out of the grand stand, first from amazement and then from the thunder of applause. It was a great finish to the season and the crowd appreciated it.

VANE BAKER

Vane Baker's victory was somewhat less sensational. Like San Jose, he has been in front all year — ahead even of the 1928 champion, Jerry Deal — but unlike San Jose, he made it a clean sweep with the big win in the finals.

The magnificent Fred Thomson trophy that went to little Baker as the high-scoring athlete on the field, was almost as tall, inch for inch, as its new owner. Vane can just about crawl inside and spend the night. A trophy as lofty as the Flatiron Building wouldn't have been much of a tribute to him, however.

With malice aforethought, the officials pitted Jerry Deal and Baker—the two little lads who admittedly would duel it out for the championship—against each other in the 75-yard dash. And what a wow of a race! Deal nosed out his rival by a scant fraction of an inch at the tape, his closing lunge spelling victory.

Their sartorial excellencies, Douglas Fairbanks and Charley Paddock, stood in the stands pop-eyed with amazement as Deal and Baker fought it out down the stretch. Charley was so much impressed that he busted up to the microphone and delivered himself of a speech as soon as he had his breath.

Speaking of their excellencies, the field was simply crawling with notables. It was like a page out of the blue book. Fairbanks and Paddock were just members of the crowd when Bud Houser, Herman Brix, Frank Wykoff, Leslie A. Henry and Lady Heath, the titled British sportswoman, appeared.

And you should have seen the expression on Frank Wykoff's face when Paddock, in his speech praising the junior athletes, alluded to the Glendale greyhound as "an old-timer."

Jerry Deal must have broken some sort of a world's record in the basketball throw. He tossed nineteen out of twenty in the morning trial and rested content on his laurels, far ahead of the field. For the next ten or twelve years, until he goes to college, Jerry will be a marked athlete, a prize for any casaba coach.

The basketball throw was the big nemesis of the whole pentathlon. It is naturally a test of skill and, in competition, it becomes a gruelling trial of nerves. A slight tremor of the hand, an ounce of nervous reaction and the ball probably misses the hoop. The cool, phlegmatic athlete has a tremendous advantage in this event. It was just another event to some of the boys yesterday, but the majority came away fairly jumping with nerves.

Vane Baker and Jerry Deal are both marvelous performers from the psychological angle as well as the physical. Neither one showed the slightest sign of emotion or nerves through all the events. They shook hands and smiled as they went to their marks in the sprints. They exchanged courtesies time and again as the afternoon wore on, and there was never the slightest vestige of excitement.

Ramos and Robert San Jose, on the other hand, are the typical Latins, temperamental, nervous, skittish as race horses. It is possible that they can be aroused to greater feats than the juniors, but then it is also true, that, on a bad day, they would hit the cellar harder.

The crowd liked the chinning event best. These exhibitions of sheer grit on the bar when every nerve and muscle in shoulders and torso are screaming for rest, brought terrific ovations. Some of the little athletes went, two-thirds of the way on muscle and the rest of the distance on unadulterated fight. And the stands clapped themselves silly.

Clarence Fields, the bronzed San Bernardino boy, was on the bar for almost fifteen minutes. He chinned himself forty-one times and the last twenty took him in the neighborhood of a half-minute apiece. He hit upon the novel method of hanging, like a monkey, and letting the blood ru other. Then he would then chin himself two more times before process. It worked.

It was a terrific test while the meet was going ning, running, tossing jumping. But the real at the close when a fl ers and sweethearts, cousins, and the girls crowded around for the hanging kisses on the heroes.

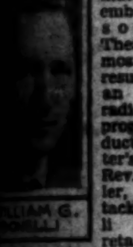
Word War Between Porter Bonelli, Mayor Candidates; Who's Who for Council

BY THE WATCHMAN

[illegible] complete extinction of the old discredited municipal [illegible] machine expected to follow the election of a Mayor, re- [illegible] of the candidate chosen at the polls, and with every in- [illegible] that the new City Council will represent an improvement [illegible] the present body, Tuesday's final municipal election will [illegible] a close one of the most eventful political campaigns in [illegible] history.

[illegible] Mayoralty contest between [illegible] C. Porter and William G. [illegible] is reaching a climax under a veritable storm of charges, recriminations and embittered personalities. These, for the most part, are resulting from an aggressive radio broadcast program conducted in Porter's behalf by Rev. R. P. Shuler, whose attacks on Bonelli precipitated retaliatory tac- [illegible] the Bonelli camp.



WILLIAM G. BONELLI

[illegible] PROGRAMS

[illegible] Porter and Bonelli have [illegible] themselves to eliminate [illegible] in the City Hall made [illegible] during the last eight years [illegible] political ascendancy of Kent [illegible] and H. H. Kinney, secretary [illegible] retiring Mayor, George [illegible]

[illegible] the Mayoralty candidates [illegible] committed themselves to [illegible] of action designed to relieve Los Angeles property owners and taxpayers from the excessive burdens imposed by inequitable special assessments.

The candidates present essentially similar assurances regarding harbor improvement and expansion, police administration, crime suppression and gener- [illegible] betterment. Bonelli was elected as an anti-administration Councilman and has taken a leading and an active part in the fight to eliminate the Parrot-Kinney-Cryer machine. During the concluding phase of the Mayoralty campaign he abandoned a policy of silence with regard to attacks from the opposition camp and has charged repeatedly that Rev. Shuler will, in effect, become a "political boss" if Porter should be elected.

Disinterested analysis of the contentions of the opposing candidates and scrutiny of their respective accomplishments and experience prove them to be in many respects better qualified for the office of Mayor than the average array of aspirants for that office.

Porter is 58 years of age, married, has two grown children, and is the head of an auto-wrecking business here. He is one of the active and influential leaders of the Federated Church Brotherhoods of California.

He is a graduate of the Los Angeles Business College. During the fifteen years from 1891 to 1906 he was a railroad telegraph operator, employed by the Southern Pacific.

The sketches were made yesterday by Henry Major, king of caricaturists, whose work will appear exclusively in The Times throughout Shrine Week in Los Angeles. Other character sketches of leading Shriners, both local and national, will appear in The Times daily. The sketches here are of members of the Imperial Divan, which is the executive body of the national Shriners. Preparations have been completed for the conclaves of this group through the middle of this week.

WELCOME FEZ! SEZ CITY TO THOUSANDS TODAY

Fifty-four Shrine Delegations to Arrive, Including Imperial Potentate With Guard

Excitement of the city grew apace yesterday as thousands of crimson-fezzed Shriners labored at the preliminary problems for entertaining the fifty-fifth annual convention of the order, which will be held here Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Up and down the streets brilliant with bunting and decorations inscribe with greetings went badged and uniformed patrols who will handle the gigantic task of providing information and amusement for more than 100,000 visitors expected during the week. This number does not include the families and friends of Nobles, who, it is believed, will swell the total to 250,000.

Only two official delegations landed in Los Angeles yesterday, but today fifty-four bodies will arrive from temples all over North America. Cairo Temple of Rutland, Vt., arrived over the Santa Fe at 5:50 p.m. and the Aloha Temple party from Honolulu debarked from the liner Calawaii at 6:30 p.m.

COLORFUL ENTRY

As the largest delegation of Shriners ever sent to the mainland the Hawaii group was composed of sixty-six members of Aloha Temple of Honolulu, headed by Dr. Archibald N. Sinclair, Potentate, and accompanied by Guy Buttolph, Past Potentate.

The Calawaii made a colorful entry to the harbor as she steamed into quarantine in full-dress and her sides decorated with the emblems of the Shriners. The Al Malaikah Temple band boarded the Calawaii in the outer harbor and serenaded the visitors as the ship eased down the channel to her dock where more than 500 Shriners awaited the visitors. The Hawaiian delegation brings Aloha Temple's noted chanters, headed by Captain of the Patrol Lester Petrie, who is also a Past Potentate.

FIFTY BANDS

The Cairo delegation of fifteen was headed by Potentate W. H. Nicholas, who reported a wonderful trip. Included in the group was Col. Rolla Griffin of Brandon, Vt., 85 years of age, for fifty years a member of the order and the oldest Shriner in Vermont.

Today the great pilgrimage will exhibit colorful glory. Railroads serving Los Angeles will be thronged from dawn until late in the night with special and regular trains bearing delegations. The streets of parade from the railroad stations to the public library, where all of the delegations will be photographed, will echo to the music of more than fifty bands and the sunlight will reflect all the colors of the spectrum in the oriental regalia of the incoming bodies arrayed in costumes of their temples.

EARLY ARRIVALS

The first scheduled arrivals for today are Moslah Temple of Fort Worth, Tex., at 6 a.m. over the Santa Fe, followed by Osiris of Wheeling, W. Va., at 7:20 a.m. over the Southern Pacific and Moslem of Detroit at 7:30 over the Santa Fe. The Nile Temple of Seattle will arrive over the Southern Pacific at 8:40 a.m.

Imperial Potentate Frank C. Jones of Arabia Temple, Houston, Tex., will arrive with his delegation on a Southern Pacific train at 9:15 a.m. With all the pomp and ceremony for which the order is noted, the Morocco Temple patrol of Jackson-

WHISPERING PHANTOMS

Phil Townsend Hanna, editor of Touring Topics, and I had been slipping along through the San Bernardino Valley—which is the scene of great historic deeds.

Here old Geronimo roamed and murdered the settlers. In Skeleton Canyon, near here, he surrendered at last to Gen. Miles. It was in this old canyon that the Clantons murdered some twenty Mexicans who came with a rich mule caravan from Mexico.

The noble crested Chiricahua Mountains are peopled with phantoms for me. I almost could hear the grunting marching chants of the Apaches. Every rocky headland of the hills is haunted by the ghosts of the warriors of the past.

DISILLUSION

I saw this young lady when we stopped for lunch at Lordsburg. Her eyes were of heliotrope and her dress was the color of an Apache maiden's. She fitted into the picture. I believed she, too, was a phantom.

But when she came into lunch she was accompanied by progeny. There was one female infant who had to be fed with a spoon while the goo leaked down its chin. There were two pop-eyed boys with gopher teeth and an older girl child. She had a missing tooth and freckles on her nose. She ate ice cream and licked the spoon.

There ought to be a law forbidding the marriage of heliotrope-eyed young ladies with red hats. They are liable to have children who leak down the chin.

POLITICAL FUR FLIES AT FINISH

Bitter War of Words Winds Up Mayoralty Race

Both Porter and Bonelli Are Considered Well Qualified

'Times' Recommendations in Council Contests

ern California and of the university's college of law. A lawyer by profession, he served for six years prior to his election to City Council as an instructor in political science at Occidental College.

In the primary campaign last month Porter and Bonelli were, respectively, first and second in a list of fourteen candidates.

As between the two, The Times sees little to choose, believing that the city probably will be well served by either. It therefore makes no recommendation.

FOR THE COUNCIL

Due to the fact that an election occurred at the primary in six of the city's fifteen Councilmanic districts there are but nine contests for Council seats in Tuesday's election.

These are:

District No. 1—Charles H. Randall (incumbent,) and M. C. McColl; District No. 4—Robert L. Burns and William M. Hughes (incumbent;) District No. 5—Virgil Martin (incumbent,) and S. DeVier Ely; District No. 8—Evan Lewis (incumbent,) and James R. Gentry; District No. 9—W. J. Sanborn (incumbent,) and Frank Belcher; District No. 11—Lester Rice-Wray and J. C. Barthel; District No. 12—Douglas E. Foster (incumbent,) and Thomas W. Williams; District No. 14—Charles A. Holland and Sherrill Osborne; District No. 15—James H. Dodson, Jr., and A. E. Henning.

Briefly, the record and experience of the contending Councilmanic candidates are as follows:

DISTRICT NO. 1
(San Fernando Valley)

District No. 1.—Randall, the incumbent, is a former member of Congress and possesses ability. He has displeased large groups of his constituency by sponsoring measures and policies not generally approved in his district, and has added tremendously to its financial burdens by ill-advised, politically-inspired "improvement projects." He is a shrewd politician and has made a success in politics by creating dissension and division among those opposed to him.

McColl is an engineer and has had experience as a purchasing agent. His campaign has been based on a platform pledging departure from Randall's official course with regard to expenditures, special assessments and public improvements. The Times prefers him to Randall.

DISTRICT NO. 4.
(Wilshire District)

District No. 4.—Robert L. Burns at present a member of the Los Angeles Board of Education, is a man of exceptional business experience. Following a long and successful business career in Kansas, where he also served in such public capacities as member of the Hutchinson Board of Education, City Council, member of the Kansas Legislature and State Bar Association, Burns became active in local civic affairs.

During his incumbency on the local Board of Education he has had supervisions of the board's finances, budgets and assessments. He is supported by representative citizens and organizations throughout his district.

Hughes, the incumbent, has not established a strong record in public office. The vote he received at the primary, while sufficient to give him a place on the final ballot, was approximately a third of the combined total of his three opponents. Burns headed the ticket by a margin of nearly 1000.

Because of the wider experience, greater ability and more alert and energetic personality of Burns, The Times recommends his election in the Fourth District.

DISTRICT NO. 5
(Central Southwest)

District No. 5.—Not only the negative record of Martin, the incumbent, but the exceptional business and civic record of Ely are strong reasons for preferring the latter. Ely is a university graduate and the father of three children, who also are university graduates. He is a business executive and is a former manager of a large manufacturing enterprise. He has lived in his district and owned property there more than ten years.

The Times recommends the election of Ely.

DISTRICT NO. 8
(Extreme Southwest)

District No. 8.—In this district, The Times recommends the retention of Lewis, the incumbent, who was appointed to fill the vacancy created when Frank Shaw was elected as a member of the County Board of Supervisors. Lewis has demonstrated an ability to serve the public equaled by intelligent and energetic attention to public business. His opponent, Gentry, is a foreman employed by the Department of Water and Power.

DISTRICT NO. 9
(Downtown and Hollenbeck Heights)

District No. 9.—The long and creditable record of Councilman Sanborn recommends him as being in every respect the most desirable candidate in this district. He has been a member of the Council for almost a decade, during which time his service has been effective and unselfish. The Times urges his re-election. Sanborn's opponent, Frank Belcher, is a concessionnaire in city parks and in the primary election ran far behind the incumbent.

DISTRICT NO. 11
(Extreme Southwest and Venice)

District No. 11.—This is a new district created through a change in old district lines. The Times recommends the election of Barthel, whose experience in public service includes several important posts and extends over a period of many years. He served as postmaster of Venice from 1915 to 1924, is a former army engineer and a former deputy County Surveyor. He was among those taking a determining part in moving the University of California at Los Angeles to Westwood. Barthel is a former secretary of the Venice Chamber of Commerce.

Rice-Wray, his opponent, is a former member of the City Council, having been recalled from that office in a special election that followed considerable agitation throughout the district.

DISTRICT NO. 12
(Downtown and Westlake)

District No. 12.—In the contest between Foster, the incumbent, and Williams, The Times feels that the best interests of the district and of the city as a whole will be served by the re-election of Foster. The incumbent has had wider and more practical experience than his adversary both in business undertakings and in the public service. Williams, who is 62 years of age and retired is a former minister and Socialist speaker. He was formerly secretary of the State Socialist party and in 1911 was a Socialist candidate for the City Council.

DISTRICT NO. 14
(Highland Park-Eagle Rock)

District No. 14.—The election of Osborne is recommended by The Times. He is an attorney and has been engaged actively in various civic enterprises in his district and the community at large for many years. Prior to the annexation of Eagle Rock city to Los Angeles, he was president of the suburban community's Board of Trustees. Osborne is the eldest son of the late Representative Osborne. Holland, his opponent, is retired, and is a former member of the City Planning Commission.

DISTRICT NO. 15
(Harbor and Shoestring Strip)

District No. 15.—This district comprises the harbor, Wilmington and the "shoe-string strip" to Manchester avenue. In the opinion of The Times, Dodson, who resides in San Pedro, is better qualified than Henning, who also, however, is a man of ability. Dodson was born in San Pedro and has spent the greater part of his life there. He is a graduate of the University of California and possesses exceptional knowledge of the needs of his district. Henning is a university graduate and a former teacher. He also is a former president of the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce.

COUNCIL GETS PETITION

The City Council has received a petition for the installation of an ornamental lighting system on Virgil avenue between Sunset Boulevard and First street. It has been referred to the Board of Public Works and the Council's Traffic and Street Lighting Committee.

Decree Granted Author's Wife

Mrs. Helen Cooke Wilson, former wife of Harry Leon Wilson, yesterday received her final decree of divorce from the noted author when Superior Judge Jorgenson signed the decree at Salinas yesterday, according to word received in Los Angeles last night by Roger Marchetti, Mrs. Wilson's attorney.

At the same time it was announced that no property settlement has been completed and that litigation now pending in the Supreme Court has not been acted upon. Mrs. Wilson made a move to have a property agreement made before the separation set aside on the grounds that it did not give her one-half of a property estate valued by her at more than $500,000. She said that a contract had been given her by her husband assuring her of one-half his estate, but that when time for the settlement came she charged her share was approximately one-tenth only. Mrs. Wilson arrived here several days ago from New York.

WERNER FOR LEGAL POST

Record and Freedom from Political Entanglements Qualify Him for City Attorneyship

Involving a question of whether the office of City Attorney shall be conducted on political or nonpolitical lines, the contest between Erwin P. Werner and Peirson Hall—almost decided in Werner's favor over the opposition of Hall and two other candidates in the May primary—will be settled in Tuesday's final election.

ERWIN P. WERNER

Werner, who ran more than 21,000 votes ahead of Hall in the primary election, has confined his appeals for support to a discussion of the actual problems which the City Attorney must face—the administration of the legal department of city government.

Hall, a member of City Council, and not actively engaged in practicing law for several years, has resorted to appeals calculated not only to mislead public opinion, but, if successful, to thrust the City Attorney's office into a storm of mischievous and destructive politics.

WERNER'S RECORD GOOD

The professional background of Werner is regarded as exceptionally favorable to a successful administration of the position he now seeks, as his experience in administering the affairs of the legal division of the State inheritance tax department involves not only a wide contact with all aspects of the law, but has given him extensive training as an executive.

Indorsements received by Werner are representative of the leaders not only of the legal profesion of Los Angeles, but of all aspects of community activity.

He is recommended on the basis of his record in the public service and his character as a useful citizen.

DANGER OF POLITICS

Werner is pledged to continue in effect the constructive and sound policies of his predecessors, virtually all of whom have refrained from political meddling and have kept the office free both from personalities in the department itself and from the introduction of political influences outside of the department.

The Times recommended Werner's nomination in the May primary and at this time urges his election, believing that in naming him as successor to the retiring official, Jess E. Stephens, the people of this community will make a wise choice.

The election of Hall, in the opinion of this newspaper, would create an undesirable situation in the city's legal department, not only from the standpoint of Hall's long absence from active practice of law, but from the more dangerous basis of political interference with a nonpartisan, nonpolitical function of government.

SANITARY SEWERS ASKED

Institution of proceedings for the construction of sanitary sewers on Badger avenue between Grant and Anaheim streets has been requested of the City Council. The matter was referred to the City Engineer and the Council's Health and Sanitation Committee.

FOR MUNICIPAL JUDGESHIPS

Having filled, in the May primary election, eight of the ten current vacancies on the local Municipal bench, Los Angeles voters next Tuesday will make final decision in the two remaining contested judicial posts.

For Office No. 7, the incumbent, Judge Guy F. Bush, is opposed by Attorney Perry Thomas, whose primary vote, combined with that of the unsuccessful candidate, Charles F. Adams, ran more than 23,000 ahead of the office-holder.

The Times recommended the election of Thomas in the primary campaign and renews that suggestion at this time.

Judge Bush received his legal training at the University of Michigan. He came to Los Angeles in 1911 and began the practice of law. He was appointed to the Municipal bench two years ago. He is indorsed by the Los Angeles Bar Association.

Thomas is a graduate of the University of Southern California and has been practicing law in California since 1919. He served as deputy city prosecutor for five years. He is a member of the City Planning Commission, being chairman of that body's zoning committee. He served in the World War, is married and has one child.

For Office No. 10, the incumbent, Judge McDill, is opposed by Attorney Wilbur C. Curtis.

Judge McDill, whose candidacy is supported by the Bar Association and by various other civic bodies and by individuals, is regarded as one of the city's most able jurists. He was admitted to the bar in 1904 and practiced law here until his appointment to the bench in 1927.

Attorney Curtis, 32 years of age, was admitted to practice in 1922. He has joined with Judge McDill in drawing attention to the fact that his name is not to be identified in any way whatsoever with other names associated prominently with the judiciary of the city, county and State.

Believing that Judge McDill has demonstrated his qualifications for the office he holds and that demonstrated ability in public office should be given public approval, The Times recommends the retention of Judge McDill.

HERE ARE THE PROPOSITIONS

Four Bond Issues to be Voted on Tuesday

Chief Need is $22,500,000 for More Water

Funds for New Police and Health Quarters Sought

Involving four proposed bond issues totaling $42,500,000 and a rearrangement of hours of service for members of the fire department, the five measures on Tuesday's ballot are closely related to several of the community's basic needs—water, health, police protection, fire department efficiency and electrical power.

From the standpoint of greatest general importance, the proposed issue of $22,500,000 of water bonds deserves the most universal support, being requisite to necessary improvements and expansion of the city's water supply.

Indorsement of the water bonds has been voted by virtually every important and disinterested organization and civic agency in Los Angeles. There is no division among informed citizens as to the imperative need for this water-development program and The Times earnestly recommends a "yes" vote on the bonds, which appear as Proposition No. 1 on the ballot.

THE POWER BONDS

There is much dissension concerning the advisability and need for voting the proposed $17,500,000 power bonds. While no question exists as to the merit of some of the specific items in this proposition, a fairly good case against other large items has been made by those opposing the issue.

The Times makes no recommendation, either for or against the power bonds, desiring to point out, however, that any lack of support for the power bond issue should not militate against approval of the water bonds. The two propositions are entirely separate and are unrelated so far as actual operation of the water and power department of the city government is concerned.

Concerning Proposition No. 3 on the ballot, which seeks to provide a two-platoon system in the fire department and permit the Board of Fire Commissioners to adjust the hours of labor of officers and members of the department, The Times recommends a vote of "yes." No additional cost to the taxpayers is involved in this proposal, which is designed to effect a more scientific and beneficial schedule of hours of duty for the community's fire fighters. Proposition No. 3 has the support of virtually all individuals and organizations making careful investigation of its objects.

JAIL AND HEALTH BONDS

As to Propositions No. 4 and No. 5, the first providing for a bond issue of $1,500,000 for a new jail and Central Police Station, and the second for an issue of $1,000,000 for a Public Health Center Building, The Times unreservedly recommends a "yes" vote in each case.

This city stands vitally in need of a modern, sanitary jail and of a Central Police Station adequately equipped to cope with modern crime conditions. The existing jail and station facilities are deplorably unsatisfactory and inadequate.

Offices of the City Health Department, temporarily housed in the old International Bank Building, must soon be moved to other quarters, rental of which will cost more than the interest on the bond issue proposed for a municipally owned plant.

From every standpoint of sanitation, health protection and general services rendered by this department, the Health Center to be provided by the bond issue will prove a good investment.

In the case of each proposed bond issue, a favorable majority of two-thirds will be necessary for adoption.

SCHOOLS' FUTURE AT STA

Grave Issue Before Voters in Contest Between E and Baskerville and Socialists

Whether the Los Angeles school department shall be admini representative citizens having no personal, partisan or political to impose on the conduct of the city's educational affairs, or subject to the meddling and extreme views of those avowing principles and purposes, will be determined by the votes of the on Tuesday.

Two of the four candidates indorsed by the Citizens' School Committee in the May primary—Carrie Parsons Bryant and Elysabeth Louise Clark (incumbents) — were elected. The others indorsed by the committee, Arthur W. Eckman and Harry H. Baskerville, received almost three votes to one for their Socialist party opponents, George S. Grant and Irene Smith.

ARTHUR W. ECKMAN

However, due to the absence of general information as to the nature of the Board of Education contest, apprehension has been expressed that the voters might fail to give this situation the attention which it should receive, thus increasing opportunity for success for the Socialist party nominees.

VOTES RECEIVED

In the primary election the vote received by Baskerville was almost 65,000 greater than that of Grant, who ran slightly ahead of Miss Smith. The vote of Eckman was 50,000 greater than either of his Socialist adversaries.

HARRY H. BASKERVILLE

Los Angeles schools, which have an enrollment of more than 260,000 boys and girls, and which represent a financial investment in lands, buildings and equipment of more than $125,000,000, are recognized throughout the nation as being among the leading educational institutions of the world.

For several years the members of the Los Angeles Board of tion have worked not only dustry and unselfishness, tire harmony for the bett the school system.

Eckman and Baskerville complete sympathy with the of the present Board of and are supported by the sam of men and women that ha ed time, money and ener many years to this vitally aspect of civic activity.

SHRINE WIVES EMANCIPATED

Nobles' Families No Longer Pine at Home While Males Disport in Regalia Far Away

Once upon a time—too remote to remember—wives and other ladies of representatives remained at home to wind the clocks and tend the cats while their Nobles, members of the Mystic Shrine, once a year assembled in imperial council. Those days are long since gone beyond recall. Miladies of the Imperial Council today are as much a part of a Shrine convention as are the fezzes.

Fully as much time and thought have been devoted to the entertainment programs for the ladies of the representatives to the fifty-fifth annual session of the Imperial Council, A.A.O. N.M.S. as to the program for the Shriners themselves.

Leading the vanguard of the visiting ladies is Mrs. E. A. Fletcher, wife of Imperial Rabban Fletcher, and her niece, Miss Florence J. Goulding; Mrs. Edwin C. HEAD NURSE ARRIVES

Miss Florence J. Potts, director of nursing of the Shrine hospitals for crippled children, was one of the early arrivals.

Since her arrival Friday Miss Potts, who is in complete charge of the nursing staff of all the Shrine hospitals, has been in conference with the trustees' committee considering plans for next year. Three additional hospitals are to be included in next year's plan, is is asserted, and present facilities of the fifteen units now in operation are to be enlarged.

Shriners Take Bryce Canyon Temple Site

CEDAR CITY (Utah) June 1. (Exclusive)—Zembo Temple of the Shrine from Harrisburg, Pa., today acquired a larger and older temple than any other Shrine as a result of a ceremonial at Bryce Canyon National Park when the Potentate and Nobles of the Harrisburg Shrine formally dedicated one of the national park's outstanding formations to themselves and named it Zembo Temple.

The structure, which is of solid rock carved by nearly 20,000,000 years of erosion, is more than 700 feet high, triangular in shape, measuring about one-third of a mile on each side. It is salmon pink in color with gleaming white turrets reaching toward the sky. In dedicating this temple Zembo Shriners also formally opened Bryce National Park for the season.

During the ceremonial they named Myron Bybee, famous Bryce Canyon cowboy guide, as official custodian and warder of the great temple.

Pythians Will Honor Departed

Appellate Court Judge Thompson will be the principal speaker at the annual memorial services of the Knights of Pythias this afternoon at Forest Lawn Memorial Park. Other speakers will be W. U. Handy, president of District Convention, No. 30, and Mrs. Corrine Mitchell, Past Grand Chief of the ladies' auxiliary.

The band of Al Borak Temple, D.O.K.K., will furnish music. Members of the Zouaves, drill team of the order, will be aided by Boy Scouts in decorating graves in the Knights of Pythias plot with flowers. Fifteen hundred members of the order are expected to attend.

American tractors and plows are to be used in the opening up of an agricultural area northwest of Taonan, China.

STUDENTS TO PRESENT PLAY

Students of the school of speech of the University of Southern California on Wednesday at 8 p.m. will present Sir James Barrie's drama, "Dear Brutus," in Bovard Auditorium. The production is directed by Miss Florence Hubbard. BEAR IN MIND

After all the mind is more liable to rust out than to wear out, so don't be afraid to use it.

THE HIGHER-UPS

A German aviator has climbed the skies to the tune of 40,625 feet. This is a heavenly jaunt of nearly eight miles and is the most uppity adventure that a human ever had. There is no great fun or advantage in these elevation records, but as long as there are marks there will be venturesome souls to shoot at them. Some American will not rest until he has bettered this score.

WE ARE SEVEN

Some time ago the statement was made that there were but twelve persons in the world who could understand Prof. Einstein's unified field theory of electrogravity. Now they tell us that the number is actually but seven. They must have marked us off the list when we weren't looking. The dozen might have made up a jury, but the seven may only pose as the seven wonders of the world.

OLD EARTH'S CORE

Geologists at Indiana University are agreed that the ancient rumor that the center of the earth is a molten and fiery mass is all poppycock. They are able to prove to their own satisfaction that this earth has, in fact, a core of practically solid iron nearly 2200 miles in diameter. Anybody disputing this contention can find out by digging down far enough. Incidentally they might discover the best deposits of iron yet revealed. It might be worth trying. They would only have to bore about 6000 miles and think what they might strike on the journey!

NO FOOLISH APPEALS

Now that the appellate judges are fining litigants $25 or $50 for bringing useless or frivolous appeals into their courts there should be a slight reduction in the calendar. A lawyer or client who takes his case into the Appellate Court merely to delay the judgment of the lower court may get bumped if it is found that he hasn't a leg to stand on. The court is not going to show kindness to those who only break in because they think the door may be open. The average lawyer is supposed to know something of the prospects of his client in the higher court.

UNDER CIVIL SERVICE

Although appointments in the census service are looked upon as political spoil, belonging exclusively to the party in power, the Senators voted to place the workers in their field under civil service. Inasmuch as the last census was taken under Democratic auspices this might give some of the former appointees an advantage. But the House is still to be heard from and the members of that group may not be as complaisant. None of the jobs are very valuable, however, and most citizens who are making a living would hardly consider them worth fighting over.

THE LONG VIGIL

When two men in an ancient single-motored plane can remain aloft for 172 hours it is a sign that gasoline engines can be brought to run with the sweet precision and fidelity of a watch. For more than seven consecutive days and nights the motor never missed a beat. As a test of endurance for both men and machinery this was the most wonderful thing that has yet been recorded in the annals of aviation. It is hardly worth while to attempt rivalry. With perfected methods for refueling in midair it is realized that barring accidents a plane may fly indefinitely.

THE LOAN SHARKS

All the loan sharks have not been fended off. There is mention of an unhappy Ohio man who borrowed $15 from a loan company four years ago. Since the day of his contact with this grasping concern he has paid more than $150 in interest and the company still claims $47.50 as the debt. Now a court steps in and asserts that the victim owes not a penny and is even entitled to a rebate. Interest at better than 300 per cent will not be countenanced by any judge. There are a lot of people in trouble with these Shylocks who could find relief if they were able to reach the ear of a court.

WELCOME, SHRINERS!

This week Los Angeles belongs without reservation to the Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine for North America. Four years ago it was our pleasure to welcome them as our guests. It is an honor to entertain again these illustrious visitors on the occasion of their fifty-fifth annual convention. Such occasions appeal to every normal man and woman, keep us in touch with the fiesta spirit, and through all the fun and frolic point the religion of the fellowship of mankind.

From 157 temples in the United States, Canada, Mexico and Hawaii Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, together with the host of visitors attracted by their convention, will add a multitude of some 200,000 or more temporary residents to the population of Los Angeles. The delight of receiving, and in our turn of being entertained by, this mighty throng in a five-day festival imposes also a big responsibility on our citizens. That some may play others must work; that some may enjoy the spectacle others must plan the parades and decorations. To attend to these details has been a labor of love for everyone in Los Angeles through the many days of preparation.

So the great week opens with hopes set high and hearts aglow for making the fifty-fifth convention one that will always be memorable in the annals of Masonry. The Shriners themselves are hosts no less than guests in contributing to the general enthusiasm. In the seven events to be staged in the Coliseum from the Circus Maximus to the final man-made Aurora Borealis the Shriners will hold the center of the stage. For the setting of the stage Los Angeles will provide every facility within the powers of its resourceful citizens, not the least of which will be every piece of portable equipment in the Hollywood studios and the presence of nearly the whole body of Hollywood motion-picture stars.

Americans as an accompaniment to the anthem of democracy delight in ritual, pomp, ceremony, bright colors, the spectacular, ranging all the way from the altar to the street procession. The Shrine has been called the playground of the Masons and when the Shriners turn themselves loose in the field of entertainment they are past masters in solemn satire, fun-making, the bizarre and humoresque. And around the serious work of the three-day convention they give this lighter side full play.

Yet it would be unfair to place all the emphasis on the fund of spectacular amusement and the feast of merry-making that is after all only one side of their popularity in every community wherever the caravans trek when the Shrine convenes. Known as the princes of good fellows in adding to the lighter and brighter side of life—that needs all the lighting and brightening, heaven knows, this joyful company infuses into it—the Shriners have earned an even finer name for their efforts to take the shadows out of life's darker and unhappier aspects.

When the fun and fiesta and frolic of their week in the playground has passed away their year of philanthropic and Christian work that preceded it continues unceasingly; the Shrine hospital for crippled children, with its annual contribution of more than $1,000,000 a year remains; the Shrine's eleven orthopedic hospitals remain; their numberless homes for aged Masons remain; their lavish Christmas gifts and charities remain; their thousands of nameless acts of relief in answer to the cry of sorrow and suffering, acts where the right hand knoweth not what the left hand doeth, remain.

The playground is for a week, but the great principles on which the Shrine is founded and the mighty deeds done in the name of God and humanity are for a month, a year, a decade, as long as the Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, remains as a human institution to vanguard the march in the battle for the right. We see them in their holiday regalia when they hold their annual convention because as one of their order once expressed it, "the philosophy of the Shrine is one that permits men to unite in the frank democracy of boyhood and yet retain the dignity of manhood."

THE NEXT CITY ATTORNEY

Neither personalities nor politics has any place in administering the functions of the office of City Attorney of Los Angeles and such considerations, likewise, should have no bearing on the question of selecting a successor to the retiring incumbent, Jess E. Stephens.

The two candidates nominated for the office in the May primaries—Erwin P. Werner and Peirson Hall—are university graduates; each has been admitted to the practice of law, and each under varying circumstances has engaged in such practice.

Beyond the incidental fact that each is a lawyer are such essential requirements as ability, training, experience and temperamental fitness for the place.

On each of these points Werner seems to have advantage. He has for several years served in the capacity of chief counsel for the legal department of the State Inheritance Tax Division, such service not only demanding wide contact with all aspects of civil law, but demanding the exercise of executive ability.

The support he has received from representative organizations and individuals of the community does not spring from political origins, but is founded on the confidence his public record inspires. In his campaign appeals Werner has adhered strictly to a discussion of the real issues—honest administration, unbiased attention to the legal merits of all matters coming before the office, and nonpolitical, nonpartisan disposition of the business of the city's legal department.

His opponent has resorted to political appeals and maneuvers which, if permitted to influence the conduct of the City Attorney's office during the next four years, would seriously menace the excellent organization of the office now existing and precipitate the City Attorney himself into a muddle of mischievous politics.

Hall for four years has been a member of the Los Angeles City Council, during which time, of necessity, he has not been engaged in legal practice. His Councilmanic record, regardless of its character, is not of a nature to recommend him as a desirable administrator of important matters solely concerned with legal definitions and practices.

The city's interests will be better served, The Times believes, by the election of Werner, and this newspaper recommends that he be elected.

CHURCH UNION CLOSER

In the one hundred and forty-first general assembly of the Presbyterian Church of the United States held at St. Paul, Minn., recently, a resolution to appoint a commission to meet with like commissions already appointed by the Methodist Episcopal and Protestant Episcopal churches, was passed overwhelmingly.

Just one year ago the Methodist Episcopal Church took the initiative by raising such a commission to approach the Presbyterian body. In October last the Protestant Episcopal Church made overtures to be included in the merger. The circle has been widened to include the southern groups of these denominations.

While these actions of the law-making bodies of these churches do not insure union and are merely preliminary skirmishes, yet the mere fact that these heretofore competitive organizations are willing to go into conference is most hopeful.

Many matters of vital importance will have to be ironed out. A creed acceptable to all will have to be formulated. A policy upon which all can agree will have to be organized. Various benevolent societies will have to be legally devised. It may be a long-drawn-out process. And yet these auspicious beginnings are symptomatic and encouraging.

The rank and file of the ministry of these churches favor one great body. The lay adherents of these divisions of Christendom are weary of competition and overlapping of effort. The economic loss through excessive overhead in overchurched communities does not appeal to the contributor.

The ruling officiary of each church will have to be hurdled to secure ultimate union. Here is the crux of the advance. A modified form of official life will have to be worked out. Each will have to give and take. Former attempts at amalgamation have failed here.

However, there is sufficient and devout leadership in each of these great bodies big enough to swing these forces together. The world looks on hopefully. The very life of religion depends upon it. The great revival of this century will be reunion.

MATTER OF TASTE

Taste is pursued at less expense than fashion and to a better purpose. In fact, bad taste presumes indifferent morals, while good taste is the flower of good sense.

THE BENCH AND THE BAR

In upholding the decision of Judge McComb of this county that a judge is not a member of the State Bar and not subject to discipline by it, the State Supreme Court has settled an intricate and difficult question in a manner which seems to be consonant with sound public policy. The court holds, in effect, that judges are public officials responsible to and answerable to the people only. To have decided otherwise might have introduced grave dangers into the judicial system, putting the administration of justice as well as the practice of law into the hands of a corporate body beyond public control.

On behalf of the State Bar it was argued plausibly that judges ought to be subject to some sort of discipline for misconduct short of removal by the Legislature or by recall. But, on the other hand, the independence of the judiciary is of very great importance; and to place in the hands of the officers of the court, presumably subservient to the judge, who is master of the court by virtue of his office, the power to censure him, might lead to abuses, might cause timid judges to truckle to lawyers known to be influential in the counsels of the bar organization.

Rebukes to judges who overstep the bounds, in fact, can be and are given by the higher courts, and at times are quite severe. This is quite proper. But to permit lawyers to give such rebukes would be analogous to empowering a committee of second lieutenants to issue orders to the colonel.

FOREST OF ARDEN

They are going to have a Shakespeare Grove on the Ucla campus. A few of the trees have been set out with due ceremony and others are to be placed from time to time. Of course the bard doesn't need our perennial foliage to keep his memory green, but nevertheless it is a fine thing to dedicate our living laurel to his fame. Some day we may make pilgrimage to Shakespeare Grove and nibble hard-boiled eggs amid its delicious greenery.

PUNISHMENT BY MAIL

The traffic court is said to be doing a large mail-order business. A speeder or other offender who gets a tag is given opportunity to report and send in his fine by mail if he cannot spare the time for an appearance in court. This is an accommodation that is appreciated, although one result is lost. The lesson that goes with a formal appearance before a judge is lacking. That often improves the future performances of a violator.

The LEE SIDE o' L.A.

BY Lee Shippey

THIS year the wildflowers have lasted wonderfully well. Along Ridge Route, no more than forty miles from town, there still are wonderful fields of Mariposa lilies. In Tujunga Canyon the other day we saw yucca worth going miles to see, and on the way there, in a little canyon near La Canada, there was such a wealth of wild lilac as would have made Wordsworth more rapturous than did the "host of golden daffodils" he immortalized.

For that matter, it probably is a blessing that so few great poets live nowadays, or Southern California in early June would make them strain and break their hearts in unavailing efforts to express what they felt. We would as soon dare attempt to describe the beauties of heaven as those we saw in one drive, past the Cherokee rose hedges of Altadena, out the road to Flintridge and straight on to those wonderful old oaks in Sunland Park.

California's "Original" Indians

In Tujunga we stopped a while at John McGroarty's, and there we met E. G Johnson, who is tarrying here till things get good and settled in Mexico, when he will proceed there to collect Indian curios for the Smithsonian Institution. Johnson has been working for sixteen years with the Hupa, Yarok and Karok Indians of California, where he recently completed a notable collection of Indian baskets for the Smithsonian Institution, and he tells us that the Indians of Northern California do the most original basket weaving in America. All the Mexican and border Indians, he says, have absorbed ideas of decoration which the conquistadores brought from Europe, but these California Indians along the Klamath have clung to their own designs and traditions.

Baskets for Soup!

These Indians weave baskets in which you can cook soup, by dropping red-hot stones into it, and never a drop will leak through. They also weave smaller ones, bowl size, in which soup is served, and smaller hot stones keep it warm. No cold soup for the Indians!

Some of our big hotel managers really ought to study more Indian lore.

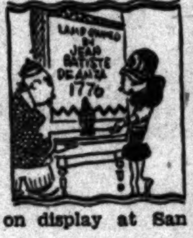
Try This on Your Tourists

Many of our California Indians are sadly modern. But not those on the Klamath. The women there don't even try to bunk you as to their age or rights to freedom. A maiden wears one kind of basket-weave cap, a bride another kind, a settled married woman another kind and a widow still another kind. You can look at any woman's cap, if you know all about caps as Johnson does, and tell right off the bat whether or not she's in the marriage market.

Just suppose they'd try that at the beach hotels!

Bringing Back the Past

Johnson recently was assigned to trace the history of Jean Batiste de Anza, first settler of San Francisco. He found several direct descendants of De Anza still living, and from one of them procured a lamp brought around the Horn by De Anza in 1776—an odd little lamp which really was a lantern, burning fish oil, the illumination coming from a wick which burned like a torch. That interesting relic is on display at San Gabriel.



LAMP OWNED BY JEAN BATISTE DE ANZA 1776

Such relics and such baskets as Johnson has collected make us realize how close both our civilized and our savage past are to us. His basket collection is to be displayed in Hollywood.

Supererogation

Lee: The squirrels in Bixby Park, Long Beach, are the tamest I ever saw. Yesterday one ran across the street, climbed a tree and hopped from a branch right into the open window of our apartment. There he perched on a radiator, biting and clawing at it. And before we realized what he was up to—honest, this a true story—he'd picked a nut off the radiator!—G. P. C.

Who'd imagine a squirrel would go to all that trouble for one nut?

"Just the Place for Children"

When we moved out to Ourville,
Where there is lots of space,
We, thriftily, were glad to see
The fruit trees on the place.
Six orange trees, one lemon,
One apple, plum and peach,
And of apples of Granada
And apricot, one each.
"It's just the place for children,"
Remarked the agent sweet.
"Lots of sunshine, air and peace
And fresh fruit to eat."

Alas, our twenty-mule-team
Quartet of impish dears
Spy every little bullet green
As soon as it appears—
The little hard green bullets
Which never miss their aim,
But hit the childish tummy-tum
Despite our efforts lame.
"It's just the place for children!"
Alas, it is, we fear.
Each climbing boy can here enjoy
Green-fruit colic all the year!

LETTERS TO The Times

[Name and address of writer must accompany all letters for this column. Letters of a personal nature or involving contentious religious questions are not acceptable.]

And Still Organizing

MINOT (N. D.) May 24.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Newspaper reports announce that a large number of prominent writers and artists throughout the United States have been induced to join the Association Against the Eighteenth Amendment, to "help fight prohibition."

One wonders how long it is going to be before this great organization is ready for something else than collecting memberships. It has "organized" the people of this country ever since the Eighteenth Amendment was adopted, collecting millions of dollars, according to its own statements; still never yet proposing anything constructive. Of course, a certain amount of preliminary organization work is essential along any line, as a means to an end, but when it becomes the end itself, then there must be something wrong.

What would one think of a physician who continued for a decade to diagnose a disease without prescribing a remedy of any sort? Putting on big dinners to notable wets is not going to solve anything. And giving out fictitious reports—such reports as the one now in circulation about the cost of prohibition—is not constructive, yet that is the extent of the organization's program. Although nearly all branch offices have been closed, huge sums are being asked from the public. Something big is always about to be accomplished, but it dies away in the midst of the raising of funds with which to carry it through. Two years ago the association's president, Capt. William H. Stayton of Baltimore, carried on a campaign to raise $3,000,000 for a national referendum on prohibition, but aside from getting the $3,000,000—if he got them—nothing was done.

The manner in which this association carries on—simply a nation-wide fee-collecting agency—must be disgusting to thinking anti-prohibitionists, and certainly is detrimental to their cause.

J. A. DANIELSON.

Alma Whitaker Challenged

SANTA MONICA, May 28.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I am, indeed, deeply indebted to The Times for giving such a fair and full report of my recent sermon entitled "Comes Again This Pageantry of Nakedness."

It may be of interest to the reading public to know that I have received in response thereto a great many indorsements from people of evident culture and discrimination. I have also received numerous letters taking exception—every one of them anonymous and with a single exception illiterate. Most of these communications were evidently inspired by Mrs. Whitaker's misleading article which would be very interesting reading if true, in your columns of May 22. This was built up around three premises, no one of which appeared either in the account in The Times or in the sermon as delivered.

First, no exception was taken as to what one should wear in the way of bathing attire when bathing in the ocean or immediately on the beach. Exception was taken to the comportment of some people in bathing apparel on the beaches and the wearing of bathing apparel only in the public streets, shops and parks.

Second, no statement was made or inference drawn that the undesirable element numbered 200,000, but that the undesirable element was certainly to be found among the 200,000.

A third false premise is in her statement that I discriminated in my maledictions in favor of the beach clubs, all of which is contrary to the facts. I regret that The Times to date has published only those letters supporting this distorted interpretation of the challenge.

Our city officials are making an earnest effort to retain what is left of our beaches in Santa Monica for the use of all those who will not abuse the privileges. We seek the co-operation of The Times in this effort to conserve popular respect for American womanhood.

ALBERT JOSEPH McCARTNEY.

THE CAMELS ARE COMING

We are coming in our trains o'er the mountains and the plains,
And our camels with their packs are just behind;
We are anything but slow—if it's that you wish to know—
Though our tempers and our hearts are true and kind.
We have crossed the desert waste, where the heat prohibits haste,
And at last we've reached the cool Pacific shore,
Where the merry natives sing through all the blooming spring
"It ain't agonna rain no more."

Yes, we're swarming through your doors and we'll crowd your Temple floors
With our sweethearts and our daughters and our wives;
Watch us do the order's work (we were never known to shirk)—
It's the inspiration of our busy lives.
We are feeling strong and happy and we'll make our sojourn snappy
Till we melt into the darkness and are gone
Where the softly dawning gray of a never-ending day
Will carry on, and on, and on, and on.

LOOKING TWO WAYS

By The Foothill Philosopher

Strolling among my beloved foothills, I paused to admire a "Candle of the Lord." Then, passing on and upward, I stood on a miniature peak, whence I could view the scenes I had passed as well as a vista equally as fair sloping away before me. There I stood, with the sun above me, the verdant, beflowered earth under my feet and with soft shades slowly gathering about the beauties before and behind me. And I might have rested there, drinking in all those natural glories, excepting for that restlessness, common to every human heart, which seems to impel man ever to look forward and backward. And I fell to wondering why it is that this is so—and especially wondering why it is that when one reaches the point in time when the future is almost as clear as the past, he looks even more fondly toward the fading past than toward the brightening dawn.

Standing on the peak of life, the mind of man is besieged by pictures—pictures of yesterday and visions of tomorrow. They are almost equally beautiful, these pictures, yet it is the "negatives" of yesterday, which one hopes to develop tomorrow, that make the future so fair. For faith has decreed that no beautiful thing is dead beyond revival. The radiant past, with all its loves and dreams, is destined to resurrection in that "eternal recurrence" which the mind of man demands.

Yet may it not be that one day the soul shall stand beyond mind-made space and time, upon that highest peak of the mountain of life whereon all yesterdays are united with all tomorrows in an everlasting now? Perhaps, after all, it is the mind alone that sees a difference in the distance between the hand and the heart and between the earth and Venus, and that notes a difference in the length of a minute and an age.

"Yet a little while," whispers faith to the mind, "and the soul shall come into its own eternality, and all fond memories and sweet hopes shall dwell together in one undying moment of bliss. This the soul already knows and this the mind shall learn."

WHERE CAN I LEARN

Auto Repairs?

BY LOUISE L. TEMPLE

[Prepared in co-operation with the Los Angeles evening high schools. Questions concerning free evening classes will be answered if stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Address, Louise L. Temple, care of The Times.]

The Central Evening High School, 469 North Hill street, has established an auto repair shop, where repair work is taught free. The class meets on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, from 7 to 9 o'clock. Auto owners may bring their cars and be taught how to make the necessary repairs, using the school tools free; or they may have them repaired by students at about a third of the cost, just the materials used being paid for.

The instructor is Harry P. Cummock, who has had years of experience in the field of internal combustion engines. During the World War he was in the government schools in connection with the Tank Corps and Motor Transit Department.

As planned by this auto expert, the course includes instruction in how to clean carbon, grind valves, fit new piston rings, reline the clutch, align wheels, repair the rear axle, adjust the carburetor and ignition, fit new steering knuckle bushings, and adjust or fit new connecting rod or main bearings.

CALIFORNIA ROSES

BY WYNONAH B. JOHNSON

Raw little western towns—sniff the tourists who drive hither and thither over the California roads—but they are silent when they come to the settlements in Tuolomne county. They gaze at the tiny towns, some of them shells of past grandeur, some of them busy little villages or brave clusters of homes and shops of today. And they say respectfully, "Well, did you ever see anything so mellow?"

It is not only the brick buildings and old homes which give these hamlets mellowness, either—it's the roses. Roses everywhere—great clusters of yellow roses tumbling from trellises three times as high as a man's head. Sheets and cascades of bright crimson roses, clambering up the railings and stairways which mark these houses. Creamy white Lamarques, such as perfume the southern breezes, and salmon-colored roses, and pink ones, and shell-like La France—they are everywhere.

One house boasts a sign that sets forth the claim that here the first cultivated roses in all of California were grown. Roses trained as shelters, roses to darken a sunny corner, roses to hide bareness, roses to outline quaint beds. Roses trimmed to trees, bearing huge perfect blossoms; roses climbing everywhere. Roses to circle old wall fountains, roses to frame an old sun dial; roses everywhere, a memory of beauty and fragrance that cannot be dimmed by all the raw little towns one may pass hereafter.

Aviation Club in Manila

The first aviation club in the Philippines was recently organized in Manila. Twenty members of many different nationalities have each pledged $250 to purchase the first plane and equip a landing field. It is expected that other clubs will be formed in the Philippines this year.

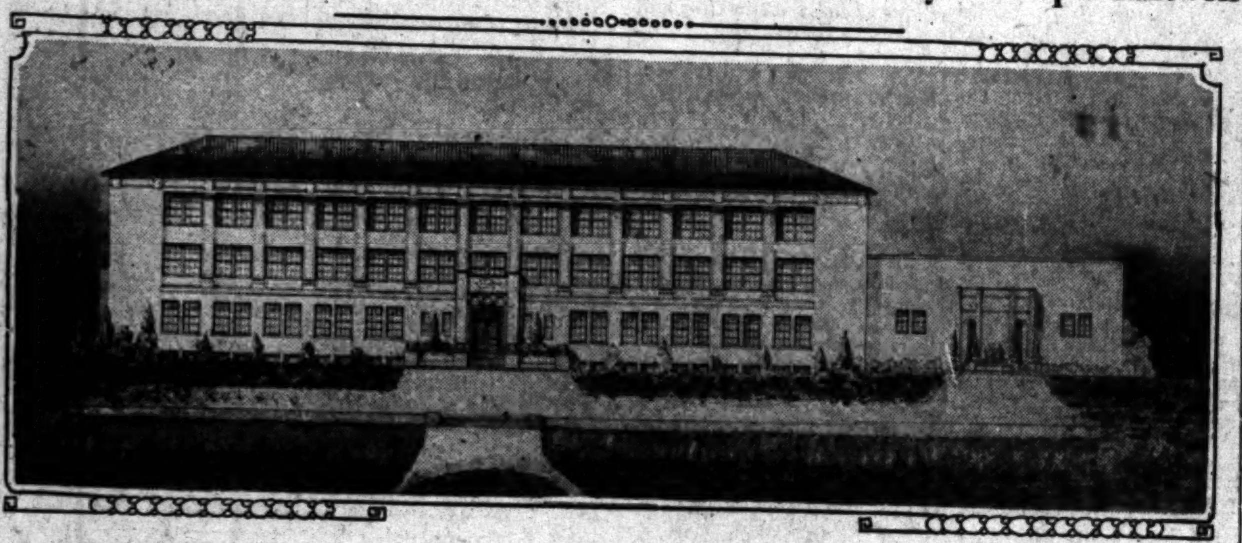
CEREMONY AT LOYOLA SCHEDULED FOR TODAY

Corner-stone of New Arts Building to be Laid by Bishop Cantwell



Cinema Industry's Gift to University

Drawing by David Elms Graham Company, architects, shows how structure in hills of Del Rey will look when completed.

LOYOLA UNIVERSITY will start activities on the hills of Playa Del Rey at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Executives of the motion-picture industry will attend the laying of the corner-stone of the university's new Arts Building there. This structure is being erected through their efforts as a cinema memorial. Following the corner-stone ceremonies academic, professional and honorary degrees will be conferred on 100 young men.

Will Hays, president of the Motion-Picture Producers' Association, presided over the meeting wherein the resolution was passed to rear the Arts Building. The details were put in the hands of Louis B. Mayer, Jack Warner and Sol Wurtzel. This committee started to work immediately and with Lou Anger staged the Screen Stars' Gambol, from which it cleared $20,000. The rest of the money is being contributed by the industry.

Loyola University is ready to render service to the Southland and is throwing wide its doors for all those young men who seek admission. It lays great stress on mental culture, but far greater stress on moral training. It is proposed to give to Los Angeles an institution that will train the heart as well as the mind; that will studiously endeavor to cultivate the young men in all their obligations to God, to fellow-men, to themselves and to society.

The Jesuit Order was established in the sixteenth century, and has endured to the present time, for the purpose of rendering this service to the community.

Men of note and men of culture from far and wide will take respective chairs in the new university.

SAN DIEGO WELCOMES DELEGATES

Shrine Convention Party from Alabama Arrives; Others to Follow

SAN DIEGO, June 1. (Exclusive) With the arrival here at noon today over the San Diego and Arizona Railway of thirty members of Al Cazar Temple, Montgomery, Ala., the advance guard of thousands of Shriners bound for the national convention in Los Angeles, San Diego began its duties as host to many delegations from various temples throughout the country which are scheduled to visit this city before the opening of the conclave.

Moslem Temple of Detroit, 325 strong and with several bands and patrols in the entourage, checked in at 4 p.m. More than 200 women are in this party. The entire group will be San Diego's guests until 1 a.m. tomorrow.

Members of Al Bahr Temple, San Diego, are hosts to the visitors. Transportation is being provided from the depot to the U. S. Grant Hotel, headquarters for the invading Shriners.

Moumit Temple, Baltimore, arrived at 4:30 p.m. today. Approximately 130 are in the party, which will remain until noon tomorrow.

Headed by Potentate Allen W. Williams, 200 members of Aladdin Temple, Columbus, O., accompanied by many women and three uniformed bodies, are expected tomorrow at noon. Other temples coming tomorrow include: Salaam of Newark, N. J., 160 members; Ainad, East St Louis, Ill., twenty-five members; Kaaba, Davenport, Iowa, 300, and Za-Ga-Zig, Des Moines, Iowa, 250 members.

Imperial Potentate Frank Jones will head a delegation from Arabia Temple, Houston, Tex., traveling by automobile and due here Monday morning. Representatives of the Trenton (N. J.) temple also are expected to arrive then.

VISITING NOBLES MAY RIDE ON OSTRICHES

All Shriners wearing fezzes or bearing Shrine cards may have a bird to ride if they journey out to the Cawston Ostrich Farm in South Pasadena, it was announced yesterday by H. J. Vatcher, Jr., of Al Malaikah Temple. What's more, they may have their pictures taken astride trained ostriches. Buckets of oranges will be fed to the birds while visitors are present, according to Vatcher. Exhibitions of expert ostrich riding will be given by trainers. The farm may be reached by Pacific Electric cars going out Main street or by automobile along Pasadena avenue.

PROGRAM AT CHURCH

A musical program of special interest has been arranged for the service this evening at Temple Baptist Church. The program will include selections by the Al Malaikah Shrine Chanters, organ numbers by Dr. Ray Hastings and solos by Frank Geiger and Harriet Henderson. Following the concert, Dr. John Snape will preach on "Radium and the Utilization of Energy." The sermon topic for this morning is "The Catholic Church."

SHRINERS TO MASS AT BOWL

Annual Religious Services and Sacred Concert Will be Conducted Today in Hollywood

Thousands of Shriners, visitors and citizens will wend their way to the renowned Hollywood Bowl this afternoon for the annual religious services and sacred concert of the fifty-fifth convention.

The services will be featured by the first public appearance of Frank C. Jones, Illustrious Imperial Potentate, Arabia Temple, Houston, Tex., who will deliver the principal address, when he speaks on "Shrine Hospitals for Crippled Children." This address will give hearers an opportunity to learn of the work the Shrine organization is carrying on throughout North America for crippled children. He will speak on the $8,000,000 investment of the organization in fifteen hospitals, where 30,000 children receive treatment, and of the $1,500,000 spent last year in this particular field of Shrine activity.

PROGRAM OF DAY

The sermon will be delivered by Rev. Dr. Henry Coe Culbertson, president of the Los Angeles Ministerial Association and pastor of Plymouth Congregational Church, on "Our Faith in the Living God."

Massed bands, choirs and chanters will give the sacred concert, which will make the two-hour program from 3 to 5 o'clock one of oustanding brilliance.

The complete program follows:

The selection will be under the direction of Stephen H. Perrine, Al Malaikah Band.

POISON LIQUOR BLAMED

Suffering from asserted liquor poisoning, Tom Reddington, 43 years of age, of 1205 East Sixth street, was taken yesterday to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital. After emergency treatment by Dr. Spear, he was transferred to General Hospital, his condition critical. Police made an investigation of his story of buying bad liquor.

SHRINERS DEDICATE CIRCUS TO CHILDREN

Carrying out the traditional policy of special interest in children that always has characterized Shrine organizations, Al Malaikah Temple has dedicated two performances of the sixty-five-act Circus Maximus in the Coliseum to the youngsters of Los Angeles.

For the Wednesday and Thursday afternoon performances, children will be admitted for 25 cents and adults for $1. These tickets, which call for unreserved seats, are to be on sale at the Coliseum box offices on the day of each performance. They will not be good for the $1,000,000 motion-picture electrical pageant, the oriental parades or any other of the convention events.

"Children always have occupied a favorite place in Shrine activities, as may be judged by the fifteen Shrine hospitals for crippled children now in America," said Le Roy M. Edwards, director-general of the convention who made the circus announcement.

"We hope that every kid in Los Angeles can see at least one of these two performances, for we have planned special features just for them and our army of 100 clowns will be funnier than ever on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons," he stated.

The Circus Maximus troupes will arrive tomorrow morning on three special trains from Chicago, where they have been rehearsing during the last week. The finest talent obtainable has been recruited from the most noted American and European circuses and vaudeville circuits.

The Circus Maximus will be staged in five rings which have been erected in the Coliseum arena. Shows will be given each afternoon of the convention and Tuesday night, June 4. Many of the aerial events will be performed on apparatus 100 feet above the ground, according to Stanton A. Bruner, chairman of the circus committee.

Season tickets for all Shrine events in the Coliseum may be purchased for $5.50 at the B. H. Dyas stores and the ground floor of the Broadway Arcade Building.

HORSE UNIT OF SHRINERS CHALLENGED

Kansas City Patrol Sends Word to Mounted Iowans of Desired Contest

The mounted guard of Abu Bekr Temple at Sioux City, Iowa, boasts thirty snow-white Arabian horses which arrived in Los Angeles yesterday for their part in the Shrine convention program. Great have been the assertions set forth by the temple that this is the champion mounted guard of Shrinedom.

But in Kansas City, Mo., is a temple known as Ararat which also has a mounted guard. George R. Collett, president of the outfit, heard of the boasting being done by the Iowans and called in his captain, Al Coffman. The result of this conference was a challenging letter dictated to Willard Frommer, secretary and quartermaster, who transmitted the missive to the Los Angeles newspapers. The gist of the communication is that Ararat Temple challenges Abu Bekr Temple to a competitive drill of mounted guards at the next Shrine conclave.

The Kansas body is composed entirely of live stock men at the Kansas City stockyards, it is reported. They exhibited their mounted patrol at the 1925 convention in Los Angeles. According to Mr. Frommer's letter, the Ararat Temple has a "horse spy" at this year's conclave.

Convention Has Official Airship

The Shrine convention will have an official airship which will act as a patrol ship for Al Malaikah Temple, the host, during the week's festivities. The Goodyear airship Volunteer will be dedicated at the Goodyear flying field tomorrow afternoon. After the ceremonies it will be turned over to Fred J. Wadley, Jr., and L. S. Rounsavelle of the Shrine executive committee.

One of the events in which the blimp is to be used is the barbecue at Ed Maier's ranch next Wednesday. Rounsavelle and Wadley will ride it to the party. It also will fly over the daylight oriental parade and hover over the Coliseum on the night of the $1,000,000 motion picture electrical pageant, when powerful beams from searchlights are to be played on the huge bag of helium.

SHRINE TICKETS STILL AVAILABLE

Season tickets for the seven Shrine Coliseum events still are available at Shrine box offices, it was stated yesterday by Director-General LeRoy M. Edwards. The main box office is located on the ground floor of the Broadway Arcade Building and is open from 8 a.m. until 10 p.m. daily. Shopping district box offices are located in the B. H. Dyas stores, Seventh and Olive streets, and Hollywood Boulevard at Vine street. Out-of-town box offices are located in the Pasadena Athletic Club, 61 South Los Robles, Pasadena; the Security-First National Bank at First street and Pine avenue, Long Beach; and at 143 North Maryland avenue, Glendale. Season tickets cost $5.50 and reserve Coliseum seats for the $1,000,000 motion-picture electrical pageant, two oriental parades, and the Shrine sixty-five-act Circus Maximus. All of these events will be open to the public.

Shrine Caravan Comes by Ship, Auto and Rail

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1. (Exclusive)—Hundreds of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine began the last lap of their trek to Los Angeles tonight, moving by train, ship and automobile.

Approximately 500 sailed on the Lassco liner Yale, with one member in chains in the hold. He had insisted he could not attend the convention.

An automobile caravan of 100 cars manned by members of Islam Temple paraded the downtown district before departure.

In Oakland seven special trainloads of the visitors toured the east bay section and then departed via the Southern Pacific.

The five official representatives from Islam Temple are Dr. William P. Read, Potentate; Frank C. Sykes, Chief Rabban; John D. McGilvray, Ernest C. Hueter and George Filmer, past Potentates.

Gov. Dern of Utah, Potentate of El Kalah Temple of Salt Lake City, was among the group going south by train.

Other temples represented were Nile, Seattle; Nilah, Ashland, Or.; El Katiff of Spokane, Afifi of Tacoma, India of Oklahoma City, Zamora of Birmingham and Al Kader of Portland.

Parades and Maneuvers of Shrine Listed

The official Shrine parades will form on Figueroa street just south of Washington and move southward to Exposition Boulevard, thence west on Exposition (south side) to Menlo avenue, and south on Menlo to the entrance of the Coliseum. The important drill formations and meneuvers will take place in the Coliseum.

The first procession is scheduled for Tuesday morning at 9 a.m. At the conclusion of this parade the color guard, massed bands and chanters will perform in the Coliseum arena. A massed band concert will be given at the same place Tuesday afternoon at 2 p.m., preceding the first performance of the Circus Maximus.

The Wednesday night Shrine oriental parade will form at the same place and follow the same line of march but all of the costumes will be different.

SHRINE BANDS VISIT SCHOOLS

Five Concerts Scheduled For Tomorrow Morning By City Guests

Five concerts by visiting Shrine bands will be given tomorrow morning in Los Angeles high schools as follows: Akdar Temple Band of Tulsa, Okla., at Hollywood High School, Highland avenue and Sunset Boulevard, 11 a.m.; Al Koran Temple Band of Cleveland at Polytechnic High School, 400 West Washington Boulevard, 11:15 a.m.; Moslah Temple Band of Fort Worth, Tex., at Belmont High School, 1575 West Second street, 10:15 a.m., Zenobia Temple Band of Toledo at Los Angeles High School, 4600 Country Club Drive, 9:45 a.m.; Zurah Temple Band of Minneapolis at Lincoln High School, 3625 North Broadway, 10:30 a.m.

IT AIN'T GONNA RAIN NO MO'!

The Sahara Desert never staged a clearer day or finer weather than the atmospheric conditions of Los Angeles yesterday. The temple bringing umbrellas may use them for sun shades at Venice. Goggles also may be necessary for safety first.

It was reported at headquarters that thirteen brides and bridegrooms are included among the conclave arrivals.

The camel fly, a new political bug, already was buzzing around yesterday. James H. Price, Imperial Recorder, is an unopposed candidate in the primaries of Virginia for Lieutenant-Governor.

"The registrars are the supreme test," said a Noble from Portland yesterday. He was referring to the three lines of forty-five stenographers who are taking the registrations at Arcade headquarters.

"But it is a case of 'first come, first served,'" interposed Noble L. B. Servis, chairman of the registration committee.

"Can't tell my life history to the blue-eyed blond?" asked the Noble as he lined up in front of a brunette. "Oh, well, here goes, John L.—no, not Sullivan, but Sylvester from—"

The real thrill at registration headquarters is to go up to Rooms 1101-2-3, where the long line of operators receives inquiry calls, such as:

"My husband says no women are to be allowed at the barbecue. Is that a fact? I want to go."

"He was joking, madame; women will be welcome."

"Say, can't you pass a law that will make these Shriners check their fezzes? We don't get in on this at all," said an irate check girl, phoning from one of the leading cafes.

"Sorry, young lady, I am not a Shriner and have no pull," was the operator's answer.

Mrs. LeRoy Edwards, as general hostess, with headquarters at the Biltmore said: "It is easy to be hostess in Los Angeles, for all Los Angeles does the rest."

Joseph H. Sterns, a member of the Imperial Council and a resident of Erie, Pa., has been swimming at Hermosa Beach for two months now. "Just getting in trim for the conclave," he said yesterday as he signed his registration card.

Shriner singers and musicians tonight are providing a musical program for Brother Tom Liddecoat's Midnight Mission, 396 South Los Angeles street. The program is to be offered by the Al Malaikah Chanters, the Nile Temple Chanters of Seattle and the Nile Temple Band, a total of 105 singers and musicians. The program will last from 9:30 p.m. until 11:30 p.m.

chairman of entertainment of Ladies of the Imperial Divan, was hostess last night to several of the visiting members of the Divan and their families at an informal dinner at her home in Baldwin Hills. She and Mr. Youngworth are giving a dinner to Past Potentates and members of the Divan Monday evening in honor of Imperial Potentate Frank C. Jones.

A women's hospitality committee, consisting of 300 members under the chairmanship of Mrs. Kenneth H. Gillette, will assist in entertaining the wives and daughters of the visiting Shriners.

Pending the official opening of the convention Tuesday informal receptions, dinners, theater parties, etc., have been arranged for the visiting women by wives of the Southern California Nobles who are hosts to the fifty-fifth assembly.

A fashion show at the Ambassador Tuesday afternoon, to be staged by Peggy Hamilton, assisted by a number of Hollywood cinema celebrities, and a Hawaiian banquet honoring Illustrious Imperial Potentate Jones at the Biltmore, will feature the opening day's program of entertainment.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL MARKS ANNIVERSARY

Alumni will join with former and present teachers of the Twenty-fourth-street elementary school, it was announced yesterday, in celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of the institution at Twenty-fourth street and St. Andrews Place Tuesday evening, the 11th inst. The reunion, which will take place in Mission Hall, will begin at 8:30 p.m.

The guest of honor will be Miss M. Amelia Foshay, the school principal, who enjoys the distinction of being the only elementary school head who has continued in that capacity at the same institution for a quarter-century. Many persons frequently in the public eye are numbered among the school's graduates and a number of these, it is announced, have promised to appear on the program at the reunion.

Dist.-Atty. Fitts, an alumnus, will deliver an address while others expected to attend include Marshall McComb, attorney; Nathan Newby, Jr., Herbert Klein, 'cellist; Jeanette Tyler, oratorical contestant; Margaret Fairef, attorney; Jack Oberle, and Louis R. Ardouin.

Aviator Killed and Society Girl Believed Fatally Injured When Plane Crashes in Landin

PLUNGE OCCURS DURING LESSON

Young Woman Daughter of Wealthy Merchant

Aircraft Apparently Got Out of Control

Three Investigations as to Cause on Foot

Raymond Compton, aviator, was killed, and Ysabel Goss, Los Angeles society girl, was reported dying last night as the result of injuries received when an airplane they were operating crashed into the Hawthorne residence district at 11:30 a.m. yesterday.

The girl, 18 years of age, is the daughter of Chester A. Goss, general manager and large stockholder in the Grand Central Public Market, residing at 254 South Kingsley Drive. Miss Goss is a graduate of the Marlboro School for Girls and was prominent in horse show and other society activities.

GIRL'S SKULL FRACTURED

Compton, 22, was single and lived at 1790 West Manchester avenue. He was a government licensed pilot and formerly lived at Chico, Cal. He died at 2:15 p.m. in the Hawthorne Hospital.

At the hospital it was declared that the girl suffered a skull fracture, crushed chest and severe lacerations that would probably cause her death.

Compton's leg was broken in three places and he was injured internally. His body was removed to the Gillilan undertaking parlors in Hawthorne.

INQUIRIES STARTED

Three investigations of the crash were under way last night, with Deputy Sheriffs Neighbours, White and Meadows co-operating with Chief of Police Thrope of Hawthorne and Department of Commerce investigators.

The crash took place at approximately 11:30 a.m. Chief of Police Thorpe of Hawthorne, who, with his men, answered a hurry call to the scene of the accident, reported that they found Compton's plane a mass of wreckage in the back yard of the home of R. D. Ballard, 535 West Broadway, Hawthorne. Compton was pinned under the motor and struts and the policemen had to get saws and other implements to release his body. The girl was thrown clear of the plane.

PLANE NOSE DIVES

Witnesses of the accident reported that the aviator and the girl were apparently losing altitude to make a landing at Kelley Field, about three blocks away, when the plane suddenly went into a nose dive. From the reports of spectators, the Hawthorne police were inclined to a theory that Compton, instructing the girl in flying, was preparing to take the controls of the plane to make the landing and that in making the change of operators the ship got out of control. Owing to the low altitude at which the man and girl were flying, the investigators believed, Compton had not time to right the plane before it crashed to the ground.

Compton's craft was an Eaglerock biplane owned by the Aero Corporation of America.

THE LANCER

Tucson. They are going to take back the lovely old Spanish names of their streets—just as we in Los Angeles ought to do.

"Congress street," which means nothing, again is to be "Calle de la India Triste" (the street of the sad Indian maiden.) Oh, children, children, that's a peach of a name.

Some of the other old names which are to be born again are, "Callejon del Herrero" (blacksmith's lane;) Calle de Alegria (street of happiness;) Calle de las Milpas (street of the fields;) Calle del Correo (postoffice street;) La Plaza de las Armas (the parade ground;) Calle de la Guardia (street of the guard.)

Tucson claims to be the oldest town in the United States. However old St. Augustine may be, Tucson is fifteen years older. It is wise in not forgetting.

THE WISHING SHRINE

One of the things Tucson has saved is the "Wishing Shrine." In the long ago two gallant caballeros fought over a beautiful Mexican girl. Both were killed. That night she came to the place of the knife duel and placed a burning candle for the repose of their souls.

From that day—through the years—a candle has always burned there. Usually many candles. Every night the lovelorn Mexican girls slip down and light their candles, which are living prayers for help in their love affairs. No one sees them come. In the morning the sad, wilted-down candles are found there.

"TIMES" ELECTION SERVICE

In accordance with its custom, The Times will make known the returns from Tuesday's municipal election by radio, from Station KHJ, the Don Lee station, by special street editions and by telephone to all who call Tuesday night. First returns will be available probably about 7:30 and will be broadcast at frequent intervals as long as the results remain in doubt.

Nose Dive Turns Aircraft into Heap of Salvage

When Wings Failed

Workmen salvage the wreckage of the airplane which fell in the Hawthorne residential district yesterday resulting in injuries that caused the death of Raymond Compton, the pilot. Miss Ysabel Goss, Los Angeles society girl (below,) a passenger in the aircraft, sustained injuries which physicians fear may cause her death.

DR. WESTLAKE ACCUSED

Formal Complaint Issued Charging Suspect With Mrs. Laura B. Sutton's Murder

Dr. Frank P. Westlake, retired 57-year-old physician, yesterday was charged with the murder of Mrs. Laura B. Sutton, whose headless and limbless body was found in the Los Angeles River near Lynwood on April 4, last, in a complaint issued by Wayne Jordan, assistant chief deputy District Attorney.

Immediately after the complaint was signed by V. P. Gray, deputy sheriff who with Chester Allen investigated the case, Dr. Westlake was arraigned before Municipal Judge Ambrose. The court held the physician without bail and fixed the date of his preliminary hearing for the 5th inst. at 9:45 a.m.

BLOOD IN WATER TRAP

Filing of the complaint came as the direct result of the discovery of particles of what officers believe is coagulated blood in the water trap of the bath tub in Dr. Westlake's home at 1810 1-2 West Eleventh street. Capt. William J. Bright, chief of Sheriff Traeger's homicide investigation detail, has submitted the blood particles to County Chemist Abernathy and other experts for analysis. The returns from these tests will be available for the preliminary hearing, Capt. Bright said.

Meanwhile investigating officers have been ordered to pursue their search for a typewriter believed to have been used by Westlake in writing a note to himself signed by Mrs. Sutton, which officers assert is a forgery. The note asked about Mrs. Sutton's canary birds and if Ben King, another friend of hers, was still in Los Angeles. This letter was dated May 13, last.

In the opinion of officers, discovery of the blood particles forged the final link in a chain of circumstances which they believe warrant charging Dr. Westlake with Mrs. Sutton's murder.

DRESS ADDED LINK

Another point, which the investigators say indicates that Dr. Westlake is implicated in the woman's death, was revealed Friday when Mrs. Lena Price of 946½ South Bonnie Brae street, told Capt. Bright that Dr. Westlake had given her a gingham dress saying that it was one belonging to his deceased wife. The dress was later identified by Ben King as one worn by Mrs. Sutton on the day of her disappearance, March 28, last.

It is further charged by officers that Dr. Westlake had gained control of Mrs. Sutton's bank account and a large amount of her property.

Frank M. Westlake, a son of the defendant, also was questioned by Capt. Bright yesterday. He was asked about the movements of his father on the day of Mrs. Sutton's disappearance and up until the time of his arrest.

Investigation into the so-called torso murder has been one of the most intensive in the history of the Sheriff's office. The body was not identified until the head was found three weeks ago. With this discovery, dentists identified dental work in the mouth as that done for Mrs. Sutton several years ago. This, coupled with the woman's disappearance on March 28, and chemists' analysis of hair led to the identification.

EXTORTION CLEWS LINK TWO PLOTS

Demand on Cooper Shows Similar Characteristics of Puente Attempt

Clews indicating that the same group of mysterious men who attempted to extort $3000 from W. E. Cooper, wealthy South Pasadena lumber dealer, May 11, last, have attempted to blackmail others in a wholesale blackmail plot, were unearthed by the Sheriff's office yesterday and placed at disposal of District Attorney's investigators.

W. E. COOPER.

The attempt to blackmail Mr. Cooper was made public following three weeks of investigating by Investigators Chriss and Elliott of the District Attorney's office.

Records at the Sheriff's office reveal that on April 5, last, Herschel Pyle of 103 West Main street, Puente, received a letter demanding that $200 be left in a can at the Chole Chapel. If this order were not complied with, the letter said, the senders would kill Mr. Pyle's daughter, Wordna. The letter was signed "The Mysterious Five." Efforts to trap the extortionists failed.

Yesterday Mr. Cooper offered $500 reward for the arrest and conviction of the extortionists. Meanwhile his house is being guarded by officers.

OSTEOPATHIC GROUP MAKES SESSION PLANS

Local osteopathic doctors yesterday received a program of the annual convention of eye, ear, nose and throat specialists of the osteopathic profession meeting at Des Moines, Iowa, the 11th to 15th inst. Los Angeles members of the American Osteopathic Society of Ophthalmology and Oto-Laryngology are Dr. George V. Webster, Dr. T. J. Ruddy, Dr. Stanley M. Hunter, Dr. Leslie V. Harvey, Dr. Wesley M. Barrett and Dr. Charles A. Blind. This society was organized in 1916, and meets annually a week before the convention of the American Osteopathic Association, held this year in Des Moines on the 17th inst. Other affiliated societies meeting there are the Osteopathic Women's National Association, the American Society of Osteopathic Internists and the American Osteopathic Society of Proctology.

Planners Will Hear New Mayor

"The Mayor-elect of Los Angeles" is announced as the principal speaker at the luncheon of the Association of City Planners of Los Angeles County at 1 p.m. Saturday in the Hotel St. Catherine, Catalina Island. J. A. Mellen, secretary-treasurer, who issued the announcement yesterday, added that Bryant Hall, engineer for the Regional Planning Commission, will speak on the history of planning in California.

Mr. Mellen notified members to make individual reservations, the meeting to be a two-day session in conjunction with Harbor District Chamber of Commerce, the East Side Organization and associated bodies. F. S. Gillet is in charge for the Harbor District chamber.

EMPLOYEES OF TRUST COMPANY TO PICNIC

Four hundred employees of the Title Insurance and Trust Company will motor to Emerald Bay, between Balboa and Laguna Beach, for the company's annual picnic today. The outing, sponsored by the employees' club, will include athletic contests of various sorts with prizes for the winners.

In spite of the trouble caused by the tornado, savings in Porto Rico banks are now $1,000,000 greater than a year ago.

City Sorely in Need of New Jail, Judge Declares

"No one realizes the terrible conditions existing in the Los Angeles City Jail more than I," said Presiding Judge Keetch of the Superior Court. "In this age humanitarian principles demand intelligent treatment of those unfortunates who, through environment, disease, or criminal tendencies, come to the attention of the authorities. I am placing no blame upon the officials supervising the jail—it is simply impossible to make anything else out of such a worn-out, decadent structure. The health department, too, is trying to function in a building in no way suited to its needs.

"Let me urge you, sincerely and seriously, that you go to the polls Tuesday and vote 'Yes' on Propositions No. 4 and 5."

'Tough' Bandits Demand Plenty

Two unidentified men, describing themselves as "a pair of tough guys" yesterday walked in on Dominic Alonge of the Harbor City Cannery and demanded $75,000, which, they told him, could be paid in three installments.

Alonge pleaded a strong case, so the bandits at the point of a gun relieved him of $75 cash, took a diamond ring from the canner's left hand, and finished up with his watch and chain.

They departed hurriedly, riding away in a new Essex coach.

Detective Lieutenants E. L. Dunphy and T. P. Fuller of the San Pedro division, investigating the hold-up, said the men made the acquaintance of Alonge Friday as prospective buyers of some cannery products.

Bandit activities in the last two years have caused a decline in gold and silver mining in Nicaragua.

POLICE COURTESY LAUDED

All-Year Club Thanks Department for Friendly Treatment to 518,892 Visitors Last Summer

An expression of appreciation for the courteous treatment accorded by the Los Angeles Police Department to the 518,892 tourists who visited the Southland last summer is contained in a letter to Chief Davis from Don Thomas, executive secretary of the All-Year Club. The tolerant attitude of traffic officers toward motorists unfamiliar with our traffic regulations is particularly stressed.

The letter follows:

Dear Chief:

Our summer tourist season is under way, and during the next three months will be at its peak. There will be thousands of visitors on our streets, arriving by all channels of travel. Many are from small towns and are unfamiliar with boulevard stops, restricted left-turn areas, and other features of modern traffic control.

These visitors want to co-operate with us but they need friendly guidance and suggestion. They will not deliberately violate a traffic ordinance and the kindly help of the traffic officer will not only set them straight but make a new friend for Southern California as well.

Last summer Southern California had 518,892 of these visitors, 34,929 of whom traveled by automobile. These visitors leave an average of $104 in "new money" for every person in Southern California. They help vitalize trade and some 10 per cent of them return to become permanent and valuable residents.

We have had many compliments on the courteous treatment the visitors have received at the hands of the Police Department. We, therefore, wish to express our appreciation for your continued co-operation, to the end that these strangers within our gates may look upon Southern California not only as a great area but a thoroughly friendly one as well.

Cordially yours,
DON THOMAS,
Executive Secretary.

EAST AND WEST IN CLOSER BOND

Planes Link Kansas City and Los Angeles

Western Air Express Ships Open New Line

Notable Passengers Make First Voyage

Los Angeles, metropolis of the Pacific Coast, and Kansas City, metropolis of the Missouri River, yesterday became neighbors by grace of airplane travel.

The service was inaugurated by Western Air Express. A little more than fifty years ago stage coaches boasted of making the trip in ten days. More recently the fastest railroad trains have spanned the territory in fifty hours. The airplanes, placed in service yesterday, are under schedule to make the trip in thirteen hours.

On the completion of its eastbound trip the air liner landed at Kansas City during a rainstorm at 7:20 o'clock last night. Pilot Morehouse, according to dispatches, landed the trimotored Fokker in a plowed field near the Fairfax airport at Kansas City, and the big plane became so deeply mired that it was impossible for a large tractor to haul it from the mud.

A cross-wind made a landing at the Kansas City Municipal airport dangerous. Some of the men of the twelve passengers aboard the bogged plane removed their shoes and waded to higher ground. Other passengers waited in the cabin until arrangements were made to take them into Kansas City.

The westbound plane dropped slightly behind schedule because of adverse winds, but landed at Vail Field with a notable passenger list at 10:15 o'clock last night.

SHRINERS PASSENGERS

The westbound plane from Kansas City brought the first contingent of Shriners to arrive here by airplane. The are Fred H. Dorner, William E. Haeffner and James A. McCall, all of Chicago. Aboard, also, was Jack Dempsey, famed as a heavyweight boxing champion, who sped to Los Angeles to visit his wife, Estelle Taylor, motion-picture actress.

Another notable visitor on the Kansas City plane was F. H. Reid, vice-president and secretary of Woolf Brothers. With him was Guy Stanley of the same firm. They come to Los Angeles to establish a new men's furnishings store in this city. Their company already has stores in Wichita and Lawrence, Kan.; St. Louis and Columbia, Mo.; Tulsa and Norma, Okla.; Memphis, Tenn., and Dallas, Tex.

Other passengers on the plane from Kansas City were T. C. Johnson of Wichita; Franklin Moore, manager of Hotel President at Kansas City; M. S. Munson and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Steel of Kansas City, and Miss Marjorie Sheetz of Chillicothe, Mo.

PLANE BUYERS' SPECIAL

The passenger list of the eastbound plane from Los Angeles evidences the importance of the new service to the business interests of this city—it was practically a buyers' special. Among the buyers going east on business were C. H. Ewing and E. C. Yourell of J. W. Robinson Company; M. S. Rittenberg, H. J. Horton and L. A. Oviatt of Alexander & Oviatt; R. J. Hamer of Desmond's; L. L. Riley of Bullock's Store for Men; Miss Violet Tatum, representing J. J. Haggarty Company.

Other passengers were T. Harris Smith, capitalist of New York City; A. T. Williams of Atlantic City; R. T. Moore, Pasadena naturalist, and A. C. Mackay, special agent for the New York Life Insurance Company. Mr. Mackay is on his way to New York to attend the dedication of the new building being erected by his company.

ROGERS ON HIS WAY IN AIR-RAIL TEST TRIP

Among the pioneering passengers to try out the new airplane-railroad schedule of the Transcontinental Air Transport, Will Rogers, humorist, is on his way to Los Angeles from New York. He left the Pennsylvania station in New York City last night at 6:05 o'clock and traveled by Pullman to Columbus, O.

At approximately 8 a.m. today Rogers will hop into a TAT plane at Columbus and fly to Winoka, Okla., where he again will dismount to spend the night in a Santa Fe Pullman. At Clovis, N. M., he again will take to the air and is scheduled to arrive by plane at the Grand Central Airport, Glendale, at 6 p.m. tomorrow night.

The TAT schedule will be opened formally about July 1, next. The cowboy-humorist's jaunt is in the nature of a test trip. Regulation planes are co-operating with two railroads in speeding Rogers across the continent.

CAKE TO BE SENT LINDBERGHS

Confection Displayed in Store Here

Verna Corum and Lindbergh Wedding Cake

A WEDDING cake weighing 150 pounds, made here for Mrs. Anne Morrow Lindbergh and her husband, the flying colonel, was displayed at Young's Market, Seventh street and Union avenue, yesterday and will be shown again tomorrow before it is sent, via airplane, tomorrow night to the newlyweds somewhere in New Jersey.

Ernest R. Bailey, English pastry chef at Young's, made the Gargantuan wedding cake after the famous Simnel recipe, which is both historical and romantic. The ladies of Bury, Eng., used it in making a cake presented to King George and Queen Mary upon the occasion of their wedding. The cake is named after Lambert Simnel, famous pretender in the reign of King Henry VII and son of a baker who invented it.

John Stouffle, Young's decorator, designed the architecture of Bailey's cake, combining conventional wedding motifs with aviation in frosting. The cake was planned originally for the wedding announced for the 15th inst., but as the marriage was set ahead the confection is going as fast as wings can carry it.

BULLET ENDS LIFE

Husband Fires Shot Into His Brain While Wife and Child Watch

Placing the muzzle of a revolver against his right temple, Glenn E. Haskell, 32 years of age, of 2340 Jackson street, Wilmar, counted to three and fired a shot into his brain which caused instant death Friday night, according to the report of Deputy Sheriff Hutchison filed yesterday.

Mrs. Haskell told officers that her husband had been drinking heavily for the last six months. Friday night when he came home, she said, he appeared to be very nervous, whipping their dog because it barked. A few minutes later he reprimanded their small son, Dudley, and when Mrs. Haskell remonstrated he said, "You don't love me any more."

With these words he went into the bedroom and got his revolver, saying, "It is the only thing to do." He then fired the fatal shot while his wife and son stood powerless to prevent the tragedy.

WOMEN OF CHURCH END CONVENTION

Catholic Council Praised by Bishop Cantwell for Ideals Advocated

BY MYRA NYE

Noteworthy for the cosmopolitan character of its honor guest list and for the fine spirit pervading it, the annual convention of the Council of Catholic Women, diocese of Los Angeles and San Diego, closed yesterday with a brilliant luncheon in the Sala De Oro of the Biltmore. Mrs. Rose Roy presided, Mrs. Thomas E. Workman was toastmistress and Rt. Rev. J. Cantwell, bishop of the diocese, was chief guest and speaker.

Bishop Cantwell declared that the organization of women, which is a part of a national council whose avowed purpose is to "speak nationally and internationally for the glory of God and country and the preservation of the home and family," has grown in the last two years in such an astonishing way that its higher usefulness is a source of great pride. There were present women from nearly every city in Southern California.

"Your capabilities as women and mothers for perpetuating the finest traditions on which this country is founded are almost limitless—a country where the poor are better circumstanced than the rich of many another; where palatial school buildings rival palatial monuments of antiquity abroad. While we are conscious with pride of these material blessings we know that our country may remain great only as its people remember the things of eternity as well as the things of time.

"Your patriotic work, your social service, your work in the schools—all of it is related to these immutable principles. Those of other denominations, those who even now are thronging the rooms of this hotel outside of this room, are ready to come half-way to meet us in our great desire to make our country great if they know what we are talking about."

Annulment Won by Film Actor

Charles Morton, juvenile motion-picture lead, whose real name is Carl Mudge, stepped forth from the courtroom of Superior Judge Stafford yesterday, freed of the bonds of matrimony with Lola Matilda Mudge. His marriage was annulled on the grounds he was only 19 years of age when the ceremony was performed.

Difficulties in the actor's family came to light several months ago when Mrs. Mudge filed a suit for a divorce on the grounds of mental cruelty. He answered his wife's action with one asking for an annulment of the marriage. He also denied the accusations of his wife.

Mrs. Mudge did not appear in court to contest her husband's suit.

Remorse

For my part I believe that remorse is the least active of all a man's moral senses—the very easiest to be deadened when wakened; and in some never wakened at all. We grieve at being found out, and at the idea of shame or punishment; but the mere sense of wrong makes very few people unhappy in Vanity Fair.—[Vanity Fair.

COUPLE DEAD IN QUARREL

Man Slays Wife, Wounds Her Employer and Kills Himself as Climax to Family Row

Jealousy and his failure to bring about a reconciliation with his estranged wife is believed by police to have incited Casimiro Valdez to shoot to death his wife, Guadalupe, seriously wound her employer, Vincente Lopez, and take his own life yesterday morning in a restaurant and tortilla bakery operated by Lopez at 501 Macy street.

The shooting occurred in the basement of the building shortly before 5 a.m. when Mrs. Valdez, who was working there with Lopez, is asserted to have answered the knock of her husband, who the night previous had called on her and attempted a reconciliation, according to the police report. Her body was found at the foot of the basement stairs, near that of her husband. After shooting his wife, Valdez is asserted to have turned the gun, a .38-caliber revolver, on Lopez, firing three of four times and wounding him in the chest, throat and arms. Valdez then fired a bullet through his own heart.

Lopez was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where he was pronounced in a critical condition. Later he was removed to the General Hospital. The bodies of Valdez and his wife were taken to the County Morgue.

According to information obtained by the police, Mrs. Valdez separated from her husband about a month ago and came to work for Lopez, living in rooms above the restaurant and bakery.

RETAIL SERVICE STATIONS SOLD

Italo Withdraws from Sales and Refining Field

Texas Corporation Purchases Distribution Centers

Earnings in Four Months at $1.59 a Share Yearly

Italo Petroleum Corporation of America has sold out all of its retail service stations to the Texas Corporation and will henceforth confine its activities exclusively to the production of crude oil, Robert S. McKeon, vice-president and general manager, announced yesterday.

The stations, which number seventy-two, are largely situated in Oakland and San Francisco, while a few are in Los Angeles and San Diego. Prior to this deal the Italo company turned over approximately 125 stations to individual lessees.

TERMS FAVORABLE

Although Mr. McKeon declined to state the consideration involved in the deal, he said that officers of the company believe the terms are favorable, and that the transaction was consummated on the appraised value of Italo officials.

In line with the program to withdraw from the retail distribution field, the company's refinery at Signal Hill has been leased out and it is expected that similar action will be taken with its refinery at Hynes. At the Hynes refinery the company is still conducting experiments with the Trumbull refining process of which it owns the sole patent rights.

PROFITS REPORTED

Net profits of the company from all sources for the first four months ended April 30, last, were reported yesterday by Mr. McKeon at $677,028 after all charges, including depreciation and depletion. After preferred dividends there was left a balance for the common stock of $527,428, equal to 53 cents a share on 994,070 shares.

This is at the annual rate of $1,582,284 after preferred dividends, which is equivalent to $1.59 a share. In the full year of 1928 the company and its predecessor earned net profits after all charges of $773,743.

The company's oil production in the four months amounted to 1,226,513 barrels from approximately 194 wells. This output is from Signal Hill, Huntington Beach, Kern River, Kern Front, Midway and Coalinga. Two new wells are nearing completion in the O'Connell and at Santa Fe Springs.

Sharp Drop on Wheat Market Event of Week

NEW YORK, June 1. (AP)—The stock market again went through a thorough shake-out this week, and showed but little recuperative power save in the rails and utilities.

A drastic break in the grain prices, with wheat going below $1 a bushel for the first time in about fifteen years, was the most important factor in breaking the stock market. Fears that purchasing power of the agricultural area may be seriously impaired carried several farm implement and mail-order shares to new lows for the year. Also, unsettling rumors to the effect that some of the market's large operators had suffered severe losses and were in need of assistance caused much nervousness, although most of them were not taken seriously.

The acute heaviness of the market was, rather curious, in the face of the easiest call money conditions of the year, with the official rate holding at 6 per cent, and money going begging in the outside market at 5. Time money got down from 9 per cent and above to 8½ on Friday. Fears of a severe money pinch beginning with the June 1 requirements and extending through June, what with heavy income tax and new financing requirements, were a factor in the Monday break, but the decline in prices appeared to have released adequate funds to help the situation materially.

Durant Motor Profits Gain

DETROIT, June 1. (Exclusive)—Durant Motors reported today for four months net profits of approximately $100,000, compared to a $440,000 loss in the same period last year. Earnings in April were in excess of $440,000, which offset a loss of $307,000 for the first quarter.

Considerable production volume was sacrificed by a shift in operations from Elizabeth, N. J., to Lansing, Mich., and by the management's decision to withhold several new models from production until certain improvements could be effected.

CELOTEX SALES UP

Net Gain of $707,097 Reported for Six Months' Period

Net sales of the Celotex Company for the first six months ending April 30, 1929, after deduction of freight, allowances and discounts, amounted to $4,534,084.52, as compared with $3,826,987.21 for the corresponding period a year ago, according to a statement issued yesterday by President B. G. Dahlberg.

Net profits after all operating expenses and general charges were $370,238.18, as against $358,400.11 a year ago. The earnings this year were also after deducting $214,506.64 for accounts of inventory adjustments of stocks of Celotex on dealers' hands December 10, 1928, at which time the company reduced the prices of its product to the lumber trade.

Cotton Acreage in Central Belt to Show Slump

MEMPHIS, June 1. (Exclusive)—With almost perfect cotton weather in the valley the last three days, farmers are concentrating chiefly on cultivating the grassy crop and permitting some acreage planned for replanting to go stale, with the result that it will never be planted to cotton this season. Considering the flooded area, central belt will have a decrease of 5 to 8 per cent in acreage this year, according to local statisticians. Upward of 500,000 acres of crop land, three-fourths of it used for cotton, will lie idle or go in late corn or sweet potatoes in the valley because of the late season and overflow.

The balance of the crop, however, seems to be coming to good stand where youngest and that which is older is looking healthier and progressing rapidly. Planting in the Memphis area has been virtually completed with most of it germinated and current weather conditions are hurrying it along.

Return to the fields of thousands of conscripted negro laborers from levees in Arkansas, Mississippi and Tennessee, has eased the situation by grassy conditions. Except for that land already flooded, chiefly by backwater, danger of floods practically is over.

Boll-weevil complaints seem to be general from the south half of the valley and from the South Atlantic States, but north of Clarksdale, Miss., the reports have been very scattered. No weevil have been reported in the Memphis area.

There were 7,087,000 barrels added to storage in April, as compared with 8,467,000 in March, 8,864,000 in February, 11,616,000 in January and 2,975,000 in April, 1928.

Gasoline stocks amounted to 47,105,000 barrels on April 30, last, against 47,205,000 barrels in the previous month and 41,189,000 barrels for the same month last year. This equalled thirty-nine days' supply in April, against forty-four days' supply in March and forty-two days' supply in April, 1928. Domestic gasoline consumption for April was 32,109,000 barrels, or 1,067,000 barrels daily, while exports amounted to 4,629,000 barrels for the month.

Gasoline output aggregated 34,636,000 barrels, or 1,155,000 barrels daily, against 34,467,000 in March and 29,317,000 in April, 1928.

RESERVE BANK BILLS PEND

Attacks on Federal System Scheduled for Next Session of Congress; Critics Active

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Out of the welter of criticism against the Federal Reserve System for its policies relating to the regulation of credit used in the stock market is bound to arise a series of legislative attacks when Congress next convenes. Critics of other phases of the Federal Reserve's activities have been emboldened by the widespread comment on the credit policy to raise their voices again with the result that the reserve bank system may be elevated to one of the leading issues in the next session.

More people probably know more about the actual operation of the Federal Reserve System, its purposes and its powers, than ever before as a result of the free discussion of the credit policy. The public statements for and against the restriction of stock market credit have not only inspired probable Congressional attacks, but have acquainted a vast army of investors and speculators with the purpose of the rediscount rate, open market operations, etc., terms heretofore something of a mystery. The average brokerage-house habitue now learnedly discusses the merits of a 4 or 6 per cent rediscount rate, and is quite willing to advise the Federal Reserve Board in this respect.

LEGISLATION FORECAST

William C. Durant, generally recognized as the spokesman for the larger speculators, was quoted in yesterday's dispatches from Paris as having told the American Club that sentiment against Federal Reserve interference in credit will result in the framing and passage in the next session of Congress of a bill defining the functions of the Federal Reserve Board. Mr. Durant has been openly opposed to the board's dear money program.

From the ranks of the economists will likely emanate another demand for legislation affecting the Federal Reserve. Prof. O. M. W. Sprague of Harvard University, writing in a recent issue of the American Economic Review, declares that the Federal Reserve Act should incorporate a price stabilization provision to form the basis for future monetary legislation and the development of co-operative policies with foreign bank officials.

At the present time, according to this authority, other considerations, such as the development of the acceptance market or the "doubtful objective of money market stabilization," rather than price stabilization are apt to bulk too largely in the determination of Federal Reserve policies.

Encouraged possibly by the suggestion of E. H. H. Simmons, president of the New York Stock Exchange, in his Chicago address on stock market loans, the bankers favoring the admittance of securities to rediscounting privileges may see fit to press this demand at the next session as an amendment to the Federal Reserve Act. As Mr. Simmons pointed out at Chicago, the amount of commercial paper eligible for rediscounting is shrinking, and may soon reach the point where the value of the Federal Reserve to American business will measurably decline unless the rediscounting of security collateral loans is undertaken.

FUNCTIONS DEFINED

The Federal Reserve Board's so-called interference in the stock market, on which Mr. Durant commented in Paris, was the subject recently of another article by Gustav Cassel, Swedish economist, who maintains that the stock market does not deprive industry and business of even a dollar of capital. Reiterating that the stock market is in reality a channel through which funds flow into industry, and that the total capital available for business is not changed by increases or decreases in speculative activity, he stated:

"There is a rather general tendency to saddle the central banks with the responsibility for a proper regulation of the stock exchange. This tendency must be combated. A central bank should have no other function than to maintain the currency of the country on a parity with gold and, so far as lies in its power, to promote the stabilization of the value of gold itself, which is vitally important for the world at large."

NET INCOME OF UTILITY REPORTED

Southern California Gas Earnings Show Increase for Year

Consolidated net income of the Southern California Gas Corporation and subsidiaries, controlled by Pacific Lighting Corporation, amounted to $3,447,895 for the twelve months ended April 30, last, after all charges including depletion, as against $2,520,272 for the preceding year, a gain of $927,623 or 37 per cent, according to a statement issued yesterday by the company.

The gross operating revenues of the company reached a total of $16,885,118. This compares with revenues of $15,801,948 reported for the previous period and represents an increase of $1,083,170 or about 7 per cent.

The operating expenses increased $30,106 to $8,693,258. The gross income including other income aggregated $4,753,363 against $3,795,595 in the former period, a gain of $958,768 or more than 25 per cent.

Control of the Southern California Gas Corporation recently passed to the Pacific Lighting Corporation, common stockholders of the former agreeing to exchange their holdings on the basis of .355 of a share of common stock of Pacific Lighting for each share of Southern California Gas common. This is equivalent to thirty-five and one-half shares of Pacific Lighting for each 100 shares of Southern California Gas.

Executive Aides Named by Head of Richfield Oil

Appointment of I. N. Randall and J. T. French as assistants to C. M. Fuller, president of the Richfield Oil Company, was announced yesterday. Their headquarters will be in Los Angeles.

Mr. Randall entered the employ of the company in 1925 as branch manager at San Francisco, retaining that position up to the time of his present advancement. He came to Richfield from the Union Pacific Railway, for which he was general agent in charge of its refrigerated car system. He will be succeeded at San Francisco by J. T. Scanlon, assistant branch manager.

Mr. French joined Richfield in July, 1927, as assistant manager of the lubricating oil department at Los Angeles, coming from the general offices of the Standard Oil Company of California, San Francisco. He has been particularly engaged in general sales promotion work.

Security-First Units Combine

Continuance of the consolidation process brought about a merger of the Eighth and Olive and the Seventh and Grand branches of the Security-First National Bank at the close of business yesterday. All accounts and safe-deposit boxes of the Eighth and Olive patrons will be accessible to their owners at Seventh and Grand tomorrow morning.

The entire personnel of the former branch will be retained and transferred. John W. Eagle, manager, will take the position of assistant manager at Seventh and Grand. S. F. Zombro, a vice-president and director of the Security-First National, will continue as manager. He has been connected with the bank for twenty-three years. Dale M. Tussing and Curtis S. Albro will continue in their respective capacities of assistant manager and assistant secretary. In preparation for the merger the Seventh and Grand branch has recently been renovated and redecorated.

Net of Mexican Seaboard Gains

Consolidated net profits of the Mexican Seaboard Oil Company, which includes the International Petroleum Company and domestic subsidiaries, amounted to $25,944 for the quarter ended March 31, last, as reported yesterday on the New York News Bureau wires.

This is after charges for interest, reserves for drilling expenditures and others, but before depletion. For the first three months of last year the company reported a consolidated net loss of $427,254. For the full year 1928 a consolidated net loss of $1,332,905 was reported after all charges.

INSTITUTE BOARD TO GET OIL CUT REPORT

NEW YORK, June 1. (Exclusive) Directors of the American Petroleum Institute will hold their next regular monthly meeting here the 28th inst., at which time it is expected they will discuss the results of the conference of governors and representatives of the industry called by President Hoover for the 10th inst. at Colorado Springs for consideration of oil and gas conservation measures.

Election Jars London Market

LONDON, June 1. (Exclusive)—The election has disappointed the financial district and investment business is virtually at a standstill. At the opening, gilt-edged prices were marked down as a matter of precaution by jobbers, without sales, and later the market's tone became rather firmer, when it became apparent that Labor would not obtain a clear majority. No inferences, however, as to the future course of the market can be drawn from yesterday's movements.

Financial opinion is very unsettled, except on one point, namely, that the broad result of the election is to reintroduce political uncertainty from which the markets have been freed in the last five years.

OIL ADVERTISING BILL RUNS HIGH

Outlay of Seventeen Major Companies in 1928 $6,050,000

NEW YORK, June 1. (Exclusive)—The petroleum industry stands sixth in the list of industries advertising commodities on a nation-wide basis, it was revealed at the convention of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, bureau of advertising, held here recently.

Seventeen oil companies spent $6,050,000 for advertising in 1928, as compared with $5,284,000 in 1927.

GOLD MINE EXCHANGE BASIS TOLD

United Eastern to Offer Five for One and Rights in New Corporation

Terms of the exchange of stock of United Eastern Mining Company for that of United Eastern Mines Corporation, recently incorporated under the laws of Delaware to acquire the business and assets of the former company, are stated in letters just mailed to the stockholders. One share of stock in the new company will be exchanged for five shares of the old company and for each share of United Eastern Mines Corporation thus received by exchange, a stockholder will have the right to subscribe for one additional share at $1.50.

The proceeds of the new financing will permit the company to carry on development work it has under way and also to acquire additional property, according to the officials.

It is pointed out that as the exchange ratio is five shares for one, this price of $1.50 per share is equivalent to paying 30 cents a share for United Eastern Mining Company stock. The right to subscribe for additional stock will expire on the 25th inst. Payments may be made in four monthly allotments.

The letter states that it is planned to make application for the listing of the stock of the new company on the New York Curb and probably also on the Los Angeles Curb exchanges. The old stock is listed on the latter exchange. The authorized capital of the new company is 2,000,000 shares of $1 par value.

United Eastern Mining Company was organized under the laws of Arizona in 1913, with an authorized capital of 1,500,000 shares of which 1,363,000 are outstanding. The new company will have the same board of directors and operating officials as the old company.

Bakery Profits Hit High Level

Net profits of the Langendorf United Bakeries, Inc., in May were estimated yesterday at $50,000, a new monthly record, according to Stanley S. Langendorf, president. Net profits for three months ending in May were estimated at $147,424, or at the annual rate of $578,699.

This is equivalent to $3.22 a share annually on the combined "A" and "B" stocks. Both stocks will be on a dividend basis when the initial is paid on the "B" July 15. With the present consistent increase in earnings continuing, it is probable, Mr. Langendorf stated, that the year's profits will be around $3.50 a share.

Loken Elected to Curb Market

Gilbert Loken, Jr., formerly a partner and representative of Wilcox Drake & Co., on the floor of the San Francisco Stock Exchange, was yesterday elected a member of the San Francisco Curb Exchange, having purchased the seat of Bob Feinstein of Los Angeles.

It is understood that the consideration for the transfer was $60,000. Mr. Loken has been a member of the stock exchange for the last two years and resigned from Wilcox Drake & Co. when that house withdrew from San Francisco to concentrate its activities in Los Angeles. It is believed that he will operate as an independent trader.

STOCK SPECULATION DEFENDER APPEARS

PRINCETON ECONOMIST SEES NO TRADE PERIL IN DEMAND FOR SECURITY LOANS

In an article contributed to Barron's Financial Weekly, Prof. J. S. Lawrence of Princeton University, says that by no reasonable test can it be shown that the stock market absorbs more than its fair share of the country's funds. After a study of the relation of interest rates to business activity, Prof. Lawrence concludes that "business is not suffering from high money rates and has not been deprived of necessary credit."

What part does interest play as a cost in American business? From the detailed income statements of twenty representative industries, the Barron's writer finds that "out of every $100 spent by American industry, $1.93 was for interest on funded and unfunded debt.

"The significance of this can be better appreciated when we say that a doubling of the interest rate from, say 6 per cent to 12 per cent would cause total expenses to rise only 1.93 per cent." Only 1 per cent "of the costs of industry, transportation, public utilities, and agriculture is likely to be affected by temporary fluctuations in the market rate of interest."

PACIFIC FINANCE ADDS TO LOAN ACTIVITIES

Pacific Finance Corporation has acquired the business of Rhoades & Rhoades, Inc., live-stock auctioneers, and the assets of the Los Angeles Cattle and Loan Company in an expansion of its cattle and dairy loan business, it was reported yesterday. The acquired concerns have branch offices in Fresno and Modesto.

UTILITY PLANS SALE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1. (Exclusive)—Ben Lomond Light Company has applied to the State Railroad Commission for a permit to sell its properties to the Coast Counties Gas and Electric Company for $50,000.

FORD IN NEW FOREIGN ROLE

Request for European Wage Survey Believed to be Harbinger of Better Old World Days

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1929, by North American Newspaper Alliance]

NEW YORK, June 1.—Edward A. Filene, public-spirited Boston merchant, international student, successful business man, has volunteered to obtain the funds necessary to defray the cost of an investigation by the League of Nations to get data on the subject of "real" wages in Europe.

A few days ago Mr. Ford announced that he was anxious to pay "real" wages in all his factories in Europe, and he asked the International Labor Bureau at Geneva to get him data by which "real wages" could be determined. But the League has no funds to carry on special work. It will need about $25,000 for this. Mr. Filene guaranteed the funds.

"If Ford can help to bring about the same change in Europe that he did in the United States it will mean higher wages, lower prices, greater total profits and higher standards of living in Europe and as a result, greater world prosperity and an enormous impetus to world peace," said Mr. Filene.

Before Parker Gilbert sailed from the United States I discussed this matter with him, of how European purchasing power could be widely expanded. An interesting and basic subject. If it can be accomplished by giving "real wages," such as Mr. Ford suggests, the problem of European debts will become less relative with the years. If wealth can be increased in Europe at a much faster rate relatively than the charges on public debt, then the problem of debts becomes of minor importance.

This is the position taken by Mr. Gilbert and other international leaders. They believe that just such a situation can be brought about.

Mr. Ford, therefore, may be the new leader in European prosperity, as he has been in American prosperity.

For many years there has been a law on the statute boks of Illinois preventing any demand loan on securities taking a higher annual interest rate than 7 per cent. This virtually eliminated Chicago as a call money center because New York, with no such limitation, attracted the call money of the nation with rates from 8 to 12 per cent. Chicago, limited to 7 per cent, naturally found slim picking.

Now the Illinois Legislature has amended the usury act to exempt demand loans on securities from the limitation of the 7 per cent interest. Only the signature of Gov. Emmerson is needed for it to become law.

This new legislation will have far-reaching effect, in returning to Illinois millions of dollars now on call in New York.

R. Arthur Wood, president of the Chicago Stock Exchange, goes even further and says that the new law will attract several hundred million dollars to the Chicago call money market without imposing any additional hardships on anyone, and without raising any rates on small loans made by banks to customers.

"The new plan will be of great benefit to the whole Middle West and our securities markets," says Mr. Wood. "In the past, with our rates lower than New York's call rates, the result has been that money has been hardest to borrow in this territory when it was most needed. Serious stringencies were created, with the result that our bankers, brokers and dealers in securities, and also our manufacturing and business enterprises, have been penalized."

From now on Illinois should become the second call money center of the nation.

WHAT'S BEHIND YOUR STOCK

AIR REDUCTION COMPANY

The Air Reduction Company is a pioneer in a somewhat new field, directly or through subsidiaries manufacturing oxygen, acetylene, nitrogen and other gases, oxy-acetylene welding and cutting apparatus and chemicals. Its main field has been the reduction of the atmosphere into its component parts, a process wherein raw material is without cost. Operations cover the United States, Cuba and Porto Rico. During 1928 property expansion was continued, and in February, 1929, the company operated 80 plants and about 307 warehouses. A large interest is possessed in the United States Industrial Alcohol Company, the two companies having virtually the same management.

Gross income has increased each year since 1924. Net income for 1928 was $3,209,000, which compared with $2,412,600 in 1927.

CAPITALIZATION

Funded debt, none; preferred stock, none; common stock (no par,) 753,364 shares.

Current data: Earnings at record level have been reported for the quarter ended March 31, 1929, being $1,406,194, which compared with $728,940 for the corresponding period in 1929.

Remington-Rand Earnings Lower

NEW YORK, June 1. (Exclusive) The statement of Remington-Rand, Inc., to be published soon is expected to show a net income of around $2,750,000 or $1 a share on 1,334,052 common shares after preferred dividends, it was learned here today. This compares with $2,850,732 or $1.17 a share on 1,333,460 shares for the previous year.

Although earnings are expected to show the slight drop for the full year, it is pointed out that more than 80 per cent or about $2,250,000 was realized in the last six months of the fiscal year. This contrasted with $1,429,827 in the same period last year, a gain of 67 per cent and the best six months on record.

INVESTMENT CONCERN IN SUSPENSION

Taylor, Ewart & Co. to Close Down National Chain of Offices

CHICAGO, June 1. (AP)—Taylor, Ewart and Company, an investment securities house with offices in eleven cities, suspended operations today. Announcement of the suspension was made at the concern's offices here.

The company is headed by B. F. Taylor, chairman, and C. B. Ewart, president, and maintains offices in Chicago, New York, San Francisco, Boston, Kansas City, St. Louis, Minneapolis, Milwaukee, Louisville, New Orleans and Houston.

Recalling of demand loans by New York and Chicago banks forced the company to shut down, officers of the brokerage house announced. The Guaranty Trust Company, Seaboard National Bank and New York National Bank took the initiative in withdrawing their call money and the First National Bank of Chicago, Continental Illinois Trust Company and Northern Trust Company of Chicago followed suit.

"It appears that the suspension will be permanent," declared L. R. Billett, secretary-treasurer, as he prepared a formal statement to be issued later.

Taylor, Ewart and Company dealt in stocks and bonds, and was not a member of any stock exchange. The company was founded in 1911.

B. F. Taylor, chairman of the board, issued the following statement:

"It is true that Taylor, Ewart & Co. is temporarily, at least, in financial difficulties. However, the assets of the company are such that with the co-operation of the banks there should be no loss to any firm or individual." Mr. Billett estimated the firm's assets roughly at $6,000,000, and said the loans called in by the banks yesterday totaled about $4,000,000, almost equally divided among New York and Chicago banks.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, June 1. (AP)—There was renewed liquidation in the latter trading which sent prices off to 18.06 for July and 18.40 for December, and the close was barely steady at net declines of 7 to 10 points. A private crop report placing the condition at 69.7 against 72.8 last year and the increase in acreage at 2.2 per cent, appeared to be without much effect on the immediate market.

SHORT COVERING CHECKS DECLINE

Bullish Activity at Closing Routs Bear Clique

General List Turns Higher Led by Utilities

Total Turnover at Session Relatively Light

NEW YORK, June 1. (AP)—Bulls launched a vigorous buying movement in the utilities in the final transactions of today's short session of the stock market, which prompted short covering and strengthened the entire list, as it was slipping under week-end liquidation and short selling.

The Associated Press price index of twenty leading utilities rose more than 3 points to a record high level, and this but six days since the index of fifty industrials dropped to a new low for the year. Rails and chemicals were also well supported. The day's business, however, was comparatively light, with only 1,533,770 shares changing hands, but this turnover was substantially greater than for the two previous Saturday sessions.

The response to the record-breaking weekly reduction of $232,000,000 in brokers' loans was rather disappointing during the first hour, when gains were confined to 2 or 3 points. This encouraged bearish operations, appearing to be centered in Radio, which was depressed 3 points to 84, a new low for the movement. Announcement of the reaching of an agreement at the reparations conference, however, appeared to revive confidence. Coppers, which have been particularly sensitive to reparations developments, strengthened. Checking of the decline in the grain markts also helped stock market sentiment.

TRADERS UNEASY

Despite the reduction of brokers' loans, the credit situation still caused uneasiness, although the Federal Reserve Bank statements showed further improvement at New York, discounts for the entire system, instead of declining further, turned sharply upward, reaching a total of $988,194,000, in contrast to $904,426,000 a year ago. Wall street felt that this might cause even greater pressure to be brought to bear against the use of credit for speculation. Yesterday's 6 per cent call loan rate carried over the week-end, but higher rates are expected next week as the month-end dividend and interest checks return to the banks.

Federal Light and Traction and Standard Gas and Electric were high flyers of the utility group, both mounting about 6 points, the former to a new peak. North American Company lost about 3 points in realizing, then more than made up its loss, closing about a point higher. American Water Works, which jumped 17½ points yesterday, sold down 4 points at one time, but was off less than 2 points at the close.

CENTRAL RALLIES

New York Central was a strong spot of the rails, getting back to 200 with a gain of about 4 points, only about 4 points from its record price. Atchison jumped nearly 3 points to a new peak but lost its gain in profit-taking. It is rumored this road may seek approval from the Interstate Commerce Commission to declare a 40 per cent stock dividend. Norfolk and Western rose about 2 points to a record price in response to rumors that the Pennsylvania may seek to lease it. The first sixty-eight roads to report April earnings show an aggregate gain of 33 1-3 per cent over April of last year.

Columbian Carbon, Commercial Solvents, Union Carbide and Allied Chemical sold up from 4 to 6 points, and Burroughs Adding Machine

Edison Common and Preferred Stocks Advance Spectacularly on Brisk Demand

Southern California Edison virtually ran away with yesterday's trading on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange and bounded up 2⅝ points to a high at 60⅝ on a spirited turnover that overshadowed all other market activities. The balance of the list was inactively traded and was held within a narrow range.

The strength in Edison was manifest from the opening when a block of 1600 shares crossed the board at 60 1-2. The move followed an advance of 1 7-8 points on the previous session and a generally brisk turnover all of the week. The action was attributed to the recently improved technical position, and buying on the part of investment companies. The Edison original preferred stock made a sensational jump of 5 points to 63. Other utilities, including Pacific Lighting, showed a small fractional improvement.

Followers of oil stocks witnessed one of the quietest half-day sessions this year. Richfield improved 3-8 to 42 3-8 and Richfield preferred, 1-4 to 24 1-4. Rio Grande at 31 3-4 was unchanged as was Standard of California at 73 3-4. Union Oil eased 3-8 to 47 1-2, while Union Associates held firm to 47 3-4.

Only four stocks were traded on the industrial board. Byron Jackson firmed up 1-2 to 36 1-2 and Douglas Aircraft 1-4 to the same price. Emsco at 34 and Hydraulic Brake at 56 were both steady. Security-First National Bank yielded 1-4 to 129 3-4 and Transamerica dropped a full point to 135 3-4.

LOS ANGELES CURB

Lockheed Aircraft again dominated all other operations on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange yesterday and with a turnover of 6500 shares for the half-day session, was forced up 1 1-4 points to 20, reaching the high mark on the last few sales. Reports continue that the buying is for the account of eastern interests seeking control.

Maddux Air Lines, following publication of the terms of the merger with Transcontinental, advanced a full point to 13. Other aviation securities held generally firm on a restricted activity. Marbelite, usually inactive, marked a new low at 13 1-2. Hancock Oil was a strong spot up 1 1-4 points to 44. No other changes of consequence took place.

Sales totaled 60,090 shares valued at $227,724.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, June 1. (AP)—The most active Saturday bond market in two months saw convertibles and foreign issues make further progress in a list that recovered some of the ground it lost earlier in the week.

European obligations, particularly the German and French bonds, responded to the reparations settlement by adding to yesterday's gains, although the advances were not so large. German Republic 7s were up a point and several of the Central Agricultural Bank obligations improved from ½ to 1½. French Republic 7s touched new high ground at 109, closing one-half below that figure on the largest turnover in the foreign group. A few of the German industrials gained as much as a point.

Atchison 4½s and Missouri Pacific 5½s were well taken in the convertible group and each made a new high, the former closing at 120½ and the latter at 108 for gains of ½ and 2 points, respectively. American Telephone 4½s were up more than a point and International Telephone 4½s took a 3½-point rise on the strength of the stocks. New Haven Railroad convertible 6s were active at net advance of 1¼.

The rest of the list, including United States government securities, was irregular, although the averages showed a firm to strong tone. Cement company bonds took a spurt, International Cement 5s gaining 1¼ and North American 6½s advancing 1½, the latter, however, surrendered its gain in the late trading and closed at a small fractional net loss.

A few of the utilities met with selling which forced Utah Power and Light 5s to a new low for the year on a net decline of 3¾. Cincinnati Gas and Electric 4s also struck a 1929 minimum. Industrials were firm and some of the railroad mortgages worked up.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in the order given. To expedite transmission, the close is omitted when the same as the low, and both low and close when same as high.

BAY CITY CURB

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1. (AP)—Those who expected a substantial rally on the curb exchange on account of the large decrease in brokers' loans announced yesterday, were doomed to disappointment. The tone of the short session was one of distinct irregularity, although the market advanced on a small scale.

Bank of America opened with a 5-point loss at 230, but sold erratically to close at 240. Bank of America of California rose consistently during the day from a low and opening at 175 to the close at 178.

In the aviation issues fractional gains were the rule. Aviation of Delaware, Maddux, Western Air Express and Lockheed all showed fractional gains, whereas Fokker showed a fractional loss at the close.

Italo common and preferred were exceptionally active, selling erratically and closing fractionally lower. Italo common showed a ⅝-point loss at 5⅛ and the preferred a 25-cent loss at 4.75.

Universal Consolidated, with a large volume, continued to fall to lower prices. Opening at 1.45, it lost to 1.30, and gained to 1.40 at the close.

Fractional gains were seen throughout the industrial group, but they failed to equal yesterday's closing prices.

What Is America's Greatest Industry?

Here is a line of human endeavor creating half the tonnage carried by all the railroads. It employs the largest number of workmen and produces profits exceeding those of any other branch of trade. The volume of business is always increasing. It is the most essential of all basic industries.

The securities of corporations operating in this almost unlimited field offer investment opportunities of exceptional merit. Send for illustrated circular.

SUNDAY MORNING.

jumped 10. Farm implement issues rallied from the low levels reached in yesterday's break, with Case, Advance Rumely preferred, and International Harvester mounting 3 to 5 points. American Telephone, Curtiss Aero, General Electric, Greene Cananea, Anaconda, Indian Refining, Mohawk Carpet, Republic Steel and Wright Aero made moderate gains, some of which were reduced by realizing.

NEW LOW HIT

A weak spot was Westvaco Chlorine, which has been on the decline for several sessions. Today it broke about 14 points to a new low at 49 3-4. Motors were inclined to heaviness for a time, but closed fairly steady. Auburn rallied 8 points. Chrysler advanced about 3 points on news that liquidation of an unsuccessful pool had been completed, but lost most of its gain. General Motors and Packard closed fractionally lower. United States Steel sagged a point.

The halting of the decline in the grains was the most notable development in the commodity markets. Wheat sold from ½ to 1 cent a bushel higher on export demand and bullish bearish crop reports from Texas. Corn mounted a cent a bushel on small receipts on forecasts of rain. Cotton, however, was again under pressure, closing about 50 cents a bale lower.

Foreign exchanges were quiet, with marks and sterling showing some firmness in response to the reparations agreement. The Japanese yen and the Spanish peseta, however, both dropped to new lows for the year.

CLEARINGS. MONEY

Clearings yesterday were $36,172,837.31, a decrease of $997,411.35 from corresponding day last year.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, June 1. (AP)—Public utility stocks dominated today's short session of the curb market. The trend was irregular with the usual week-end profit-taking reducing some of the gains, which for the most part were small. There was little in the day's news to influence the market, and traders seemed inclined to hold off commitments until trading develops a more definite character.

New highs for the year again were established in the utility list. Mohawk Hudson Power, one of the Morgan-Bonbright group of companies, shot up 4½ points to a new high at 80, but realizing in the final hour cut this gain to 1½ points. American Commonwealth Power "B" and Utilities Power and Light, new, reached highs, and St. Regis Paper came within a fraction of its peak price. American Superpower "A" and "B" stocks encountered selling and sold slightly lower, but the new shares gained fractionally.

The oils after an early period of weakness turned upward, with Humble and Gulf rising 2⅝ and 4⅝, respectively.

Transcontinental Air Transport paid slight attention to announcement of purchase of Maddux Air Lines of California. T.A.T. closed fractionally higher. Aircraft shares as a group were steady.

In the specialties group Goldman Sachs rose a point in sympathy with recovery the last of this week in stock prices.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

Wheat Futures Turn Higher on Brisker Buying

CHICAGO, June 1. (AP)—Quick right-about-face action of the wheat market today brought about price upturns strongly in contrast with the recent long succession of setbacks. Aggressive buying from important sources developed, with trade leaders taking the ground that lowest quotations on wheat for at least some time had been reached, and that enactment of a farm-relief bill and appointment of a farm board within two weeks could be expected. Best prices of the day, however, were not maintained in the face of profit-taking during the late transactions.

Wheat closed unsettled, ¼@⅞c net higher; corn ¼@1c up, oats ⅝@1c advanced and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12c.

Accompanying the rise in wheat values today, West estimates from one of the foremost unofficial crop experts here that the outlook was for 70,000,000 bushels less spring wheat production in the United States this season and 110,000,000 bushels less in Canada than last year. It was said the Canadian output last year was of a freak nature, and that the 1929 Canadian harvest as figured on the present estimate of acreage and on a ten-year average yield would be but 387,000,000 bushels, compared with 509,000,000 bushels last year and 377,000,000 bushels average in the preceding five years.

Assertions also were made that, although there has been sufficient rain in Canada of late to give wheat a favorable start, a deficiency of subsoil moisture still was apparent, and that this shortage must yet be overcome by frequent rains to maintain good conditions. At the same time the 1929 United States winter wheat crop unofficially was forecast as 40,000,000 bushels larger than in 1928.

Contributing to the upward course of wheat values today were indications that considerable export business in No. 2 hard winter wheat from the United States had been done overnight. St. Louis messages said some wheat had been taken there last night for trans-Atlantic shipment. Reports of unwelcome rains in Kansas and elsewhere Southwest also were construed in some quarters as being a factor toward higher prices. Other traders, though, made light of complaints of too much rain, and said that by far the best ground for advance in the market was the extreme low prices prevailing.

Corn, oats and provisions were responsive to the renewal strength shown by wheat values. Notice was taken that as against talk about corn being too high compared with wheat, cash corn in Liverpool brought within 2c a bushel of the price of wheat. The majority of corn traders today were expecting good-sized decrease in the corn visible supply total Monday.

WEEKLY CITRUS REVIEW

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS]

California lemons, after weeks of declining and unsteady prices, rose sharply in value at eastern and middle western auction centers during the past five-day selling period, figures compiled from the week's averages revealed today.

A gain of $1.36 a box was registered by the fruit over last week's low mark of $2.99 per box. A better condition fruit being offered figured in the upward price trend. At Detroit Friday one carload of California lemons averaged better than $10 per box.

California oranges to some extent shared with lemons the gain in values. Continuing last week's moderate rise, oranges averaged $3.42 a box during the past five days for an increase of 15 cents per box. The price increases were attributed in part to the comparatively high prices brought by Valencias just reaching eastern markets.

A year ago today oranges averaged $7.06 a box, or $3.64 more than the current price, while the corresponding week of 1927 showed an average of $4.27, or 85 cents higher than the past week's mark.

Lemons a year ago averaged $6.90 per box.

Day-by-day auctions for navels and Valencias follow:

TRAFFIC SIGNAL SHIFTING URGED

Commission Asks Council to Survey City System

Rearranging May Eliminate Need for Buying More

Change in Timing "Stop-Go" Lights Suggested

BY CHARLES C. COHAN

Facing traffic problems incidental to its remarkable community growth, Los Angeles cannot expect a solution on the theory that the greater the number of traffic signals the better-controlled the flow of traffic and the greater the margin of public safety. On the contrary, the imperative need is the relocation of many of those now in place, an improvement in their timing along various main thoroughfares and the elimination of needless signals at certain outlying points.

At the present time there are 491 street intersections here equipped with traffic signals aggregating enough for some time to come if the suggestions made by the Los Angeles Traffic Commission, are followed.

In reaching its conclusions, the Traffic Commission is not intimating a breakdown in the general service rendered by the local traffic-signal system, but is offering a way for improving the traffic situation materially and showing the way to a big saving for the taxpayers.

PROBLEM STUDY

The commission's recommendations sent to City Council have been submitted to the Department of Building and Safety and now are in the hands of General Manager [illegible] of the department and Traffic Signal Engineer Dorsey. It is contended that the city charter provides that the traffic-control system is a function of the police department while the Department of Building and Safety attends to the installation and maintenance of the signals. However, as to whether the recommended survey will be carried out under auspices of the department of building and safety or some other department, apparently is a point to be determined by City Council.

The importance of such survey rather than merely an increase in the number of signals is stressed in the concluding statement of the commission's recommendations to the Council: "We therefore request your honorable body, prior to purchasing additional signals, to give due consideration to our recommendation that a scientific survey be made by the city of Los Angeles of all signalized intersections and those where it is proposed to install signals, and that such a survey include a study of different control systems and the latest types of signal devices."

THE COST PHASE

All the traffic signals installed in Los Angeles since the first installation in 1920, inclusive, are of the same type. While four signals generally are placed at a street intersection, there are five in some instances where more than two streets intersect, it being estimated that the total number represents an investment of something like $1,000,000 figured on the basis of an average cost of $1950. This does not mean that all signal installation contracts have specified this individual cost. The signals for the downtown business area, the first installation, cost approximately $2250 each, it is stated. The variance in price is accounted for by the number of signals involved, whether or not cables and conduits must be installed for synchronization purpose if in any instance such method is used, and by the market price of cables, conduits and other materials.

Admittedly the total investment involved is not an excessive expenditure, but to it must be added the cost of maintenance and operation. There also is a significant traffic economic phase involved. The commission's attention has been directed to costly time loss in transportation and consequent construction delays due, it is asserted, to the same duration and frequency of signal stops in hours of lesser traffic as during the peak hours of traffic.

If to the costs specified there should be added the expense of additional installations under new contracts for which there is no need for a rather extended time to come, as maintained by the commission, the aggregate easily might impose a heavy burden on the taxpayers.

SAFETY METHODS

The elimination of needless signals at outlying points and various other details pertaining to the proper maintenance of safety with due regard for logical economy are comparatively simple phases compared to the relation of traffic flow to requisite signal installations. For instance, a type of flasher warning light installed by Mr. Dorsey at certain intersections where stop-traffic signals were requested, has been found to give requisite service.

A new plan of "stop" to be termed "emergency" or "main boulevard" is suggested by an official of the Automobile Club of Southern California for especially busy intersections on streets that otherwise are not so busy and which it is thought advisable to designate as through boulevards.

There is a difference of opinion as to the center-suspension style of signal for some localities. In connection with signal installations, the commission's recommendations say:

"We urgently recommend that this survey include a study of the latest type of signal devices because we understand that many improved devices have been brought out since the first installations were made in Los Angeles. It is generally understood that the traffic signals used in the city of Los Angeles at this time, on account of the arm as well as the light control, means a material increase in the cost of maintenance over the hooded light signal that has been adopted in many cities in the East. The view of the commission is, that before any more lights are purchased and installed in the city of Los Angeles a study should be made to determine if there is a more economical and satisfactory signal than the present one."

"What's he wearing, mum?"

POLICE HUNT MAN WANTED FOR SLAYING

Witnesses Alter Story, Now Declaring Fatal Shot Accidental

Police search for James H. Murphy, accused as slayer of Eddie Bennett, was pushed yesterday, although witnesses of Friday's killing at 625 South Bixel street asserted that the shooting was accidental. Robert Parker, Jack Richardson and Sid Goldbaum, under questioning by detectives of Capt. Bean's homicide squad, asserted that Murphy had been twirling his revolver around with his index finger in the trigger guard when the weapon discharged. All three men insisted that the shot was accidental and that Murphy did not deliberately fire at Bennett.

Detective Lieutenants Hickey, Shannon, Condaffer and Ryan put the three witnesses through a stiff interrogation but failed to shake their stories. Originally they had been told that Murphy entered the room where Bennett was drinking with Parker, and had announced, "I feel like shooting somebody." Following that remark Bennett was reputed to have suggested, "Why not shoot me?" At which, Murphy was said to have cried, "That's a good idea," and then fired, killing Bennett. Testimony yesterday by Parker, Richardson and Goldbaum altered the case.

Parker, who had been held as a material witness, was arraigned yesterday in Superior Court on a two-year-old warrant charging robbery. He was held in $500 bail.

Until the Olympic Oil and Refining Company complete arrangement with one of the major oil companies to handle its output from the Lomas No. 1 discovery well in the Palisades tract, west of Santa Barbara, and any other project that may be completed, production from the well will be shut down.

Officials of Olympic have announced that early next week an agreement may be reached whereby a marine loading line may be constructed to care for oil produced in that district.

Olympic has acquired about thirty locations for wells and has approximately 200 acres on which to drill. As a result of the increased area, on which drilling restrictions were just lifted by the City Council at Santa Barbara, more actviity is noted.

In the event Olympic is unable to enter into an agreement with a major company for handling its oil a large storage tank will be constructed. Operators throughout the area are looking forward to an early solution of the problem, it is reported, realizing that some method must soon be put into effect to care for the oil.

To Test

A production test will be made early this week in the Elwood Community No. 1 well of the Barnsdall-Rio Grande combination at Elwood. This project is plugged at 5394 feet, with bottom of the hole at 6667 feet.

The Luton-Bell No. 4 is drilling ahead at 3058 feet, while Doty No. 5 is below 2115 feet.

Total daily output from ten producers at Elwood is 27,600 barrels of oil.

Formation Higher

The Major Oil Company's No. 1 well near the Lomas No. 1 discovery well of the Olympic Oil and Refining Company, in the Palisades tract, three miles west of Santa Barbara, is reported to have penetrated a rock formation at ten feet.

This would indicate, according to field reports, that it should pick up the oil formation considerably higher, as the Lomas No. 1 went into a rock formation at 190 feet.

Drilling Ahead

The Rutherford No. 1 wildcat of the Shale Oil Company near Refugio, about twenty miles east of Santa Barbara, is drilling ahead below 3800 feet. This project is situated a short distance from the State highway. No favorable formation has been penetrated, field reports indicate.

Report Delayed

A report said to have been completed by a committee of seven appointed a month ago by Umpire F. C. Van Deinse, for the purpose of preparing a plan to lessen drilling activities at Kettleman Hills, is being changed somewhat from the original, which was to be considered by permittees and lessees at a general meeting this week.

According to members of the committee, the findings will be submitted early in the week to Mr. Van Deinse. At a general meeting the report will be discussed, and if it is adopted it will be forwarded to Secretary of the Interior Wilbur for his consideration.

Rigging Up

The Montebello Trust's No. 1 well, situated on thirty acres at the southeast edge of the proven area at Montebello, is rigging up and will shortly spud in.

According to field reports, this district is due for a drilling campaign to pick up deeper sand for production.

Northwest of Montebello the Prairie Oil and Gas Company's Hellman No. 1 wildcat has just spudded in.

Locates Leak

The Pacific Western Oil Company has located the leak in its Willett No. 5 well in the Ventura-avenue field and is pumping in cement to plug it at 8000 feet. Bottom of the hole is at 8025 feet—the depest test in that area.

Completes One

The Marland Oil Company has just placed on production its Bixby No. 5 well at Seal Beach for an initial flow of 2200 barrels per day from a depth of 5710 feet.

This project was formerly a producer from the Selover sand and was killed to deepen to the Wasem sand.

Cement in the Selover No. 1 has just been drilled out at 5187 feet and the crew is drilling ahead at 5420 feet.

Moving in Equipment

Rotary equipment from the Duncan No. 1 well of the Exeter Oil Company, northwest of Santa Barbara, is being rigged up at the Edwards No. 1 project, three miles west of Santa Barbara.

The Duncan No. 1 was abandoned last week, having failed to pick up anything favorable.

Exeter has made locations for its Hill No. 1, O'Brien No. 1 and the Lamb No. 1 in the Palisades tract and will start operations on them immediately.

In Deep Zone

The Richfield Oil Company is endeavoring to bring in its Hobson Fee No. 1 well in the Ventura-avenue field, which is reported to be putting out considerable mud, water and gas.

This project started coming in two days ago when an attempt was made to pull out the two-inch drill pipe. Six-inch perforated tubing is cemented at 7285 feet, with bottom of the hole at 7449 feet.

According to field reports, the present output is estimated to be between 500 and 1000 barrels of oil per day. Pressure on the casing was gauged to be 700 pounds.

Now Locations

The Union Oil Company has just made three new locations for wells to be drilled in the Poso Creek field. Work on roads and foundations is under way for the Tribe No. 2, the S. & M. No. 4 and S. & M. No. 5, offsets to projects belonging to other operators in that area.

At Santa Fe Springs Union has eight projects reported to have penetrated the O'Connell sand; The Alexander No. 17, with tubing cemented at 6250 feet and bottom at 6300 feet, is nearing completion.

The Alexander No. 10 project, with four and three-quarter inch casing set to 6800 feet, is the deepest of this group.

Port business broke all records last month, when 2,137,749 tons of cargo were handled over the docks, with an aggregate value of $92,367,094; a material gain over April, this year, with 2,098,937 tons of freight, valued at $89,189,678. Six hundred and ninety-nine vessels arrived during May, exceeded only in the port's history by August, 1928, with 703 ships, bringing, however, only $83,002,381 worth of commerce.

Of these 699 arrivals, 187 ships were in foreign trade, 141 in intercoastal service, 364 were operating coastwise and seven in service to Hawaii. Of the total fleet, registering 1,918,920 net tons, 582 were of United States registry, forty-seven were British, twenty-eight Norwegian, twenty Japanese, nine German, eight Dutch, seven French, six Swedish, four Danish, four Mexican, three Italian and one Panaman.

Every trade, with the exception of Hawaiian freight, made big increases last month. The biggest growth was that of foreign imports; 93,344 tons, as compared to 46,887 tons in May, 1928. Foreign exports last month totaled 604,909 tons, worth $13,691,660, against 551,871 tons, valued at $11,312,188, for May, 1928.

Lumber receipts, totaling 129,383,681 board feet, last month were the largest in more than four years, lumber shipments for the year to date amounting to 498,597,094 feet. Petroleum outward shipments likewise increased, last month's business totaling 10,454,530 barrels, as compared to 10,291,485 barrels for May, 1928, and 9,719,822 barrels in April, 1929.

The Pacific range continues to hold the lead in oil shipments, 4,397,587 barrels going to domestic markets on the coast and 3,095,053 barrels were exported to the Orient and the Antipodes. Europe took 1,474,769 barrels of Los Angeles petroleum products last month, while the North Atlantic range bought 1,487,121 barrels.

SALE OF SHIPYARD REPORT UNCONFIRMED

Officials of the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Corporation yesterday would not confirm an article appearing in the San Francisco Chronicle to the effect that Paul W. Chapman, recent purchaser of the United States Lines, and Des Moines (Iowa) interests are negotiating for the San Pedro yards.

Reports of the approaching sale of the Los Angeles shipyards to east coast and middle western interests have been current on the local water front for several months. The San Francisco story also indicates that the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, Ltd., operator of the other large shipyard at the harbor, has recently attempted to purchase the competing plant.

A notable list of passengers, totaling 580, will sail for New York, via Havana and the canal, tomorrow morning aboard the Panama-Pacific electric liner California. The travelers include May Robson, noted actress, with her secretary, Miss Lillian Harmon; Don Marquis, widely known author and New York columnist, accompanied by his three sisters; George C. Warren, dramatic editor of the San Francisco Chronicle; H. C. Morris, Oakland financier, and his bride, on their honeymoon; R. L. Dubrow, San Francisco oil operator, with Mrs. Dubrow and their daughter, Beverly, and Frank J. Thomas, local attorney, and Mrs. Thomas.

Lassco's liner Calawaii was brought in from Honolulu at sunset last night by Capt. A. A. Sawyer, after experiencing strong northwest winds for the past several days. Included in her 228 passengers were sixty-six Shriners from Aloha Temple, Honolulu, with twenty-five members of their families, the group being headed by Arthur Wall. Calawaii's sister ship in service, the City of Honolulu, sailed at noon for the islands, taking out 230 travelers and several thousand tons of freight, including navy planes for Pearl Harbor, a pipe organ, automobiles, clay products, machinery and citrus fruits.

Capt. England of the Isthmian freighter Corvus was yesterday high in his praises of the work of Dr. D. R. Robbins, Los Angeles surgeon who operated on a stricken seaman transferred from the Corvus to the Holland-America liner Noorderdyk at sea on May 24, last.

Lauding the co-operation and courtesy of Capt. Filippo of the Noorderdyk, the Corvus skipper told of attempting to put into Salina Cruz for relief for Henry Lohse, the stricken seaman. A radio message from the Mexican port informed him that no hospital was available.

He then received a message from the Noorderdyk stating that Dr. Robbins was aboard and willing to operate and that two nurses were also listed as passengers.

Lohse was transferred to the Noorderdyk at 4 o'clock in the morning and operated upon at 5 o'clock. Capt. England said yesterday that he was in receipt of advices from the canal that the seaman, minus his appendix, is ashore there and in good health.

The Corvus, here from Baltimore, brought more than 3000 tons of steel and general cargo for discharge at the Norton-Lillie dock.

The fifty-foot fishing boat Essancee, owned by Louis Gross of Redondo, was driven ashore early yesterday near Manhattan Beach and Red Stack tugs last night were attempting to refloat her. She is valued at $10,000.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1. (P)—The new steamship Hualalai, recently completed at a local shipyard for the inter-island trade of the Hawaiian Islands, will be given a trial cruise in San Francisco Bay tomorrow.

The Star of Iceland, with a picturesque career behind her as the British bark Willscot, has been sold to Japanese interests by the Alaska Packers' Association, it became known today. In charge of a Japanese crew, the Star of Iceland will leave San Francisco shortly for Japan.

The Chamber of Commerce announced today that port tonnage for San Francisco during the thirty-one-day period ending last Friday reached the high figure of 3,324,069 tons, exceeding the May record of 1928 by 198,880 tons.

SEATTLE, June 1.—Capt. Charles Klingenberg, dean of Arctic traders, will leave Vancouver, B. C., in the near future at the head of a party of twenty men bound for Coronation Gulf. The expedition is being organized by Col. James Cornwall, mining man of Vancouver, B. C. who will prospect in the Canadian Arctic for gold and other minerals.

For a walrus hunting cruise off the Wrangell Island in the Siberian Arctic, Bruce Thorne of Chicago and George Coe Graves II of New York will sail from Seattle the 9th inst. on the liner Alaska. Thorne and Graves are members of the zoological expedition of the Field Museum of Natural History.

PORTLAND (Or.) June 1.—Under an engagement closed by the Pacific Transport Company, the Danish steamer Parana will return to Portland in July from the Antipodes to load a cargo of lumber destined for Melbourne. The Parana was converted from a coal to an oil-burner recently.

In the five months of this year, 734 vessels, of a combined net register of 3,171,788 tons, have been entered at Portland, compared with the corresponding period in 1928 when 714 carriers of 2,007,226 tons arrived.

The outbound fleet for the five months has been made up of 749 units of 3,163,307 tons, while in the first five months of 1928 there were 712 ships cleared of 2,002,748 tons.

CARELESS SMOKER CAUSES FIRE LOSS

ONTARIO, June 1.—A careless cigarette smoker today was said to be responsible for setting a fire along San Antonio avenue that caused destruction of three stately palm trees, pioneers of the valley, at the intersection of H street, and severe damage to several others.

Neighbors say a motorist flicked a lighted cigarette from his moving automobile, dry grass ignited and caused destruction of the trees. Ontario Fire Department was called to prevent loss of residences in the district.

YOUNG MATRON ENDS HER LIFE

SANTA ANA, June 1.—Despondency over ill health was believed today to have been responsible for the suicide of Mrs. Vaughn Knight, 20 years of age, of Laguna Beach, who ended her life by drinking poison.

Mrs. Knight was the mother of an infant, ten days old. Her body is at the Dixon undertaking parlors in Huntington Beach, where the young matron formerly resided.

Coroner Charles D. Brown stated today that he probably would not conduct an inquest.

STATE BAR ACT WILL FACE TEST

Supreme Court Plans to Hear Disbarment Cases

Two Attorneys Make Attack on New Statute

Law That Ousted Both Men Basis for Fight

Echoes of the disbarment proceedings launched by the State Bar Association against Attorneys Benjamin Elconin and Howell Richardson, growing out of the L. H. Allen bail-bond case in the local courts, will be heard tomorrow afternoon in the State Supreme Court, which opens its June session here. The question of the constitutionality of the State Bar Act is raised by the respondents and this question, and the contention by the respondents that, even if constitutional, the act is not retroactive in its operation, will be the chief points for decision by the justices.

FIGHT JURISDICTION

It is asserted by Elconin and Richardson that, since the asserted acts involving them occurred about one year prior to the date when the State Bar Act became operative, the State Bar Association has no jurisdiction. It is further set forth by the respondents that all the evidence in the case is improper because no court or arm of a legally established court, such as a referee, took testimony in the case. The association, it is said further, erred in admitting hearsay evidence into the testimony, on which it based its findings.

The case grew out of a motion for dismissal of a felony complaint against L. H. Allen, and for exoneration of the bond on the ground that the defendant had been sent to prison in another State.

It was pointed out yesterday by Attorney Elconin that action of the association has not had the effect of disbarment against the two respondents and that both are still engaged in the practice of law, pending adjudication of their case by the Supreme Court at the present session.

OTHER HEARINGS

Several other hearings affecting attorneys will come before the Supreme Court at the present term, it is announced. These include Weldon J. Bailey, A. C. Brydonjack, A. L. Abrahams, Harry G. Sadicoff and M. O. Graves.

The case of Graves involves a six months' suspension order, issued by the board of governors of the association, growing out of the charge that Graves charged double fees in an estate case. The charges were originally brought by the late Judge Sidney N. Reeve. The case then was handled by Raymond Taylor, of the association grievance committee. Taylor died in a fall from an office building in Glendale soon thereafter.

Funeral Rites Conducted for B. W. Metcalf

Funeral services were conducted yesterday for Barton W. Metcalf of 2693 West Avenue 32, who died May 28, last, in Monte Sano Hospital of heart disease. Rev. R. H. C. Buell conducted the services in the Second Presbyterian Church preceding burial in Forest Lawn Memorial Park. Mr. Metcalf was general foreman of the Taylor roundhouse, Southern Pacific Railroad. He was born May 20, 1883, at Dennison, Tex., and was a railroader throughout his manhood, starting with the Missouri, Kansas and Texas, and later with the Great Northern, having been general foreman at Whitefish, Mont.

Affairs of the Week

by Juana Neal Levy

Vacations and glorious trips are planned for the hot months following commencement exercises by juniors or those of lower classes as well as the seniors, some deciding whether beach or mountain resort is the most attractive, while others are rejoicing in the prospect of ocean trips or voyages to the Far East, North or some other equally attractive destination.

Betrothal announcements and wedding plans are as always on the fore of the social stage and the charming young debutante who is being much honored by elaborate or simple affairs.

One of the June weddings which is of much interest to the younger set in Los Angeles, Claremont, and Pasadena is that of the 27th inst. the date Miss Rebecca Burns Hamilton, lovely young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hamilton of Claremont, has chosen for her wedding with Archie Field, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Field of Glendale, the ceremony to take place in the lovely Mabel Shaw Bridges Hall of Music in Claremont with Rev. A. D. Stauffacher officiating.

Many delightful prenuptial affairs are being planned in honor of this attractive bride-elect, when she returns from Oregon State College at Corvallis, where she is a member of Gamma Phi Beta Sorority.

Mr. Field, also a student at Corvallis, is affiliated with Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity and is associated with his father in business in Glendale.

An attractive affair given for classmates at Marlborough School was the tea yesterday afternoon with which Miss Jayne Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Wilson, entertained 200 guests at the home of her parents, 146 Beachwood Drive.

Miss Wilson is a senior this year, being graduated this month, and is the efficient president of the student body, while last year she held the same office with the junior class.

She is planning to enter University of California at Los Angeles in the fall and with her parents will pass the summer at Balboa Beach.

Mrs. Wilson assisted her daughter in receiving and the subdebs who also assisted the charming young hostess included Miss Patricia Stimson, Miss Virginia McFie, Miss Helen Murphy, Miss Catherine Toberman, Miss Marion Thomas, Miss Dorothy Baum and Miss Laura Ann Lisk.

The decorations of the house and tea table were attractively carried out in yellow and orchid tones with a profusion of ferns and foliage.

Girl's Collegiate at Glendora is also planning many lovely affairs for its graduate class as well as for the younger students.

In the gymkana events participated in by the Webb School for Boys and Girl's Collegiate skilled horsemanship was displayed.

The riders were divided in two teams, the Red team including Janet Vosburg, Betty Bailey, Kathleen McCartney, Frances Elfendahl, Juanita Lewis, Dorothy Lyman, Dorothy Brown and the boys were Kauffman, Lasley, Webster and Bram of Webb, while in the Blue team were Gene Monroe, Betty Gray, Nancynell Swaffield, Petrea Conzelman, Jane Wall, Jean Cotton and Betty Lee of Collegiate and Riley, Jackson, T. Grant and F. Grant of Webb.

Betty Bailey the charming young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. W. Bailey of Glendora, was the highest point winner.

One of the attractive students at Girl's Collegiate is Miss Janet Vosburg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Vosburg of Azusa, granddaughter of Mrs. Kate Slauson Vosburg and great-grand-daughter of the late Mrs. J. S. Slauson, for whom she is named.

She is a member of the sophomore class and one of the most popular students on the school campus, being especially efficient in horsemanship, being a skilled equestrienne.

In honor of the teachers at the school, Miss Alice Parsons and Miss Jeanne Dennen entertained with an attractive luncheon yesterday at the Women's Athletic Club, the occasion celebrating the founding of the school, thirty-seven years ago.

Those included were Miss Carol

IN preparing for her new rôle of hostess, the selection of her silver seemed among the most important of all decisions to Miss Geraldine Herron.

We will be proud to show you this lovely pattern, as well as our many other beautiful designs by the Gorham artists. Six Princess Patricia teaspoons are only $11.50.

Anna Schleby, Miss Gertrude Williamson, Miss Fay Templeton, Miss Mary Anne Copps, Mrs. Marion Douglas, Mrs. Eleanor Kellum, Mrs. Emma Sawyer, Miss Frances Schuman and Miss Violet Walker.

One of the loveliest of the season's debutantes is Miss Elizabeth Von KleinSmid, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Rufus Bernard Von KleinSmid of Chester Place, whose debut tea was an attractive affair of last month.

Miss Von KleinSmid, daughter of the president of University of Southern California and Mrs. Von KleinSmid, was graduated from Girl's Collegiate when the school was in West Adams at Hoover street some years ago and later entered University of Southern California, where she has completed a very notable college course.

Miss Von KleinSmid, one of the most popular members of the younger set, has been prominent in all the social events of Los Angeles and Pasadena as well as on the university campus.

Lieut. and Mrs. Clarence Haugen, whose wedding was one of the brilliant events of last month, are honeymooning in the north, where they are motoring leisurely and after their return will make their home in San Diego, where Lieut. Haugen has been detailed for duty aboard the Corey.

Mrs. Haugen was formerly Miss Ruth Carr, charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Carr of Citrus avenue, the ceremony taking place in the picturesque little Church of the Angels, Garvanza Way, Rev. Harry Parke officiating at the full military ceremony with the ushers, best man, and bridegroom wearing full dress regalia, and the bridal party passed from the altar beneath the crossed sabers of the ushers as they stood at attention below the chancel steps.

Mrs. Haugen was graduated from University of Southern California and was affiliated there with Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority. She was an honor student, a member of the Amazons, was on its executive board and prominent in all activities of the campus.

Lieut. Haugen, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin C. Haugen of Fort Dodge, Iowa., was graduated from the Naval Academy at Annapolis, class of 1925, and stationed aboard the flagship California until his recent detachment for detail on the Corey.

Another attractive bride who is away on her honeymoon is Mrs. Edward Dick Badham, formerly Miss Virginia Dabney, daughter of Mrs. Richard Temple Dabney, the wedding ceremony taking place in Wilshire Boulevard Christian Church with Rev. Harold Griffis D.D. officiating, followed by a reception and wedding supper at the Dabney home in Irving Boulevard.

Mr. and Mrs. Badham are on their way East for their honeymoon and their itinerary includes Chicago, Niagara Falls, New York, Washington, D. C., and Boston and after their return in about six weeks they will be at home in North Citrus avenue, Hollywood, the wedding gift of the parents of the bridegroom. Mrs. Badham was graduated from Marlborough School, class of 1927, and since being graduated has matriculated at University of Southern California, while Mr. Badham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Byron James Badham, claims Pomona College as his alma mater, and is affiliated with Kappa Delta Fraternity, while his bride is a member of Pi Beta Phi Sorority.

Among the popular brides in the social circles of the service colony of the Southland is Mrs. Byron Chase Wanglin, Jr., formerly Miss Marjorie Ruth Waite, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Waite, whose marriage to the gallant young naval officer was solemnized in San Pedro, May 22, many friends from Los Angeles and its environs motoring down for the ceremony and reception which followed.

Lieut. and Mrs. Wanglin are motoring north on their honeymoon and after their return will be at home in San Diego, where the former has been detailed for duty aboard the destroyer Farragut.

Mrs. Wanglin was graduated from University of Southern California and is a member of the Alpha Chi Omega Sorority and also of the TicToc honorary interfraternity.

What Hostesses Have Been About Lately

came full-fledged members of the sorority at a sunrise initiation Sunday morning at the Kappa Theta chapter house, 870 North Kenmore street.

The initiation ritual was read by Miss Audrey Buratti, newly elected president of the sorority, and was followed by a breakfast at the Hollywood Pig'n Whistle Cafe. Each initiate was presented with a red Jacqueminot rose, the sorority flower.

Pledges and new initiates of Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority at the University of California at Los Angeles entertained sixty members of the active chapter and alumnae with a flower and organdie dance at the home of Miss Lucille Van Winkle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg Van Winkle, 634 South June street, recently.

Hostesses and guests all wore pastel-hued organdie frocks and each guest was given a corsage of flowers to match her dress. Pastel programs, decorated with flowers emphasized the dainty spring motif.

The hostesses included Misses Henrietta Blank, Virginia Clay, Violet Cardwell, Virginia Johnson, Peggy Austin, Beth Caldwell, Lorraine Conrad, Mildred Bostwick, Elizabeth Johnson, Hester Johnson, Dorothy Ortman and Mildred Gilmore.

Alpha Chi Omega at the University of California at Los Angeles experienced a most exciting meeting last Monday evening at the chapter house when three engagements were announced.

Miss Mary Owen used an unique way of announcing her engagement to Robert Porter, a graduate from Culver Military School. A large basket of roses was sent, in the center of which were hidden imitation engagement rings tied to individual candies which were given to each girl.

The traditional box of candy was sent by Miss Helen Gray and Willard Stanton Small, Jr., affiliated with the Delta Upsilon fraternity at Tufts College, Boston.

Miss Helen Coomber announced the date set for her wedding to James Norton of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity by means of a large cake lettered with the names of the couple and the date, July 12.

A color scheme of blue and orchid was used, with crystal baskets of orchid flowers tied with blue chiffon bows, a large table center of sweet peas and delphinium, tallies score pads and numbers all carrying out the motif. Four prizes of orchid tied with blue paper and orchid bows, were presented. Refreshments further carried out the two shades.

Miss Hester was assisted by her mother, Mrs. John Gilmer Hester, her sister, Miss Ruth Hester, Miss Winnifred Clark, Miss Harriet Sterrett and Miss Maye Stephens. Bidden were Mmes. Robert Applegate, Charles Cook, Earl Dillon, Frank Easterly, Bernard Ginn, Lewis Kipke, Allen Morrison, Theodore Frederick, Raymond Muenter, Richard Van Blaricom, Howard Stites, Charles Keller, John Keller, Stancil Dunn, Forest Crum and Rollins Jones, and the Misses Ruth Bristol, Rose Charter, Charline Chilson, Ruth Emerson, Dorothy Haserot, Ruth McClain, Hazel Rudbach, Velma Miller, Henrietta Chase, Helen Martin, Ruth Billings, Clodie Gaudin, Desiree Van Roy, Jane McKee, Gladys Marquardt and Betty Brush.

Many of the guests are sorority sisters of the hostess in Delta Zeta at the University of California at Los Angeles. Miss Hester was graduated in 1927 and now is president of Alpha Chi Alumnae Chapter.

Miss Tilden Honoree

Miss Vivian Tilden, daughter of Mrs. George Tilden of Orange Drive, Hollywood, has chosen the 14th inst. as the date of her wedding with Dwight Etter. The wedding is to be a church affair, at the Methodist Episcopal Church in Hollywood, Rev. H. H. Hoeker of Compton officiating.

Miss Maxine Tilden, sister of the bride-elect, will serve as maid of honor, while Mrs. Raymer Brown, Miss Burnet Lehr, Miss Mary Moler and Miss Martha Van Buskirk, sorority sisters of the bride-elect, Alpha Gamma Delta, University of Southern California, will be the attendants. The little flower girl will be Patty Ann Currie and the ring bearer, Jay Currie, cousins of Miss Tilden.

Clarence V. Beckman will be best man and the Messrs. Louis Rogers, Russell Hovey, Chester High and Bennett Tilden will serve as ushers.

A reception will follow the service at the lovely home of J. E. Currie on Laurel Canyon Road, for relatives and close friends.

Beginning with the lovely affair of the 25th inst., given by Miss Mary Beulah Moler and Miss Martha Van Buskirk, Miss Tilden is being honored with many prenuptial parties, among them a shower given yesterday by Miss Frances Rogers. Tuesday a lovely party will take place at the Breakfast Club and the 8th inst. Mrs. Raymer Brown will honor Miss Tilden with a linen shower.

Glendale Wedding

For Two Guests

Most attractively decorated in pink rosebuds and dark blue delphinium was the luncheon over which Mrs. Elizabeth S. Rea presided Tuesday in the tea room of the Asbury, honoring her mother, Mrs. Gertrude O. Dibble and Mrs. N. Downs, who is leaving shortly for a tour around the world with Mr. Downs.

Guests, who later enjoyed bridge in the solarium, were Mmes. Virginia Landrum and her daughter, Miss Neva Landrum, C. E. Lovell, Nan Stowell, Hedda Philipson, Dorothy Johnston, Walter Walker, Runyan, Harry Bunn, Homer Spotts, C. P. Purcell, A. McAlester, Muir, Fritz and Fulton.

Entertains Frequently

A charming hostess, who entertains frequently for her many friends, is Mrs. Fred W. Sinclair of 106 South Catalina street. Recently she entertained sixteen friends with a dinner at the Chapman Park Hotel, where the honored guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burns Macalpine, whose wedding anniversary it was. The table was beautiful decorated with roses and lilacs and tall candles. Bridge was played later in the evening at the Sinclair home.

The announcement was formally made at the annual Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority formal, which closes the school year. Attending the affair were Mr. Jahns and Miss Jane Lord, sister of the bride-to-be.

No date has been set for the wedding, which will be an event of autumn, perhaps in late September, in San Marino. Miss Lord is a graduate of Pasadena High School and is one of the most popular girls in the younger set at San Marino. Mr. Jahns attended Oregon State College and is a member of the Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity.

Take Virginia Residence

Mrs. Frank Monroe, Jr., (Hildegarde Stivers,) who left during the past month to join her husband, Lieut. Frank Monroe, Jr., in Kansas City, has been passing ten days in Sedalia, Mo., as the guest of Lieut. Monroe's parents. During the visit many delightful dancing parties, dinners and bridge-luncheons were given in their honor.

Mrs. Monroe, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles G. Stivers, is a native of Los Angeles, a graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles and has been prominent socially here. She leaves many warm friends.

Lieut. and Mrs. Monroe now are in Norfolk, Va., where the former is stationed on the destroyer U.S.S. Charles Ausburn.

Luncheon Hostess

A gracious hostess of last week was Mrs. W. M. Hunt, who entertained in Mrs. De Witt's Tea Shop in Flower street with a luncheon, later taking her guests to her home in Occidental Boulevard for bridge. In the party were Mrs. W. H. Mead, Mrs. George Steckel, Mrs. Ed Burrows, Mrs. Edward Sloan, Mrs. Harry French, Mrs. A. S. Scott, Mrs. Carlton Riggins, Mrs. Edwin Lodge, Mrs. James Bonner, Mrs. Alice Dearden and Mrs. L. C. Bailey of San Francisco.

Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Hunt opened their Catalina home for a gay party during the dedication of the new Catalina Casino. The party, in which were included Mr. and Mrs. James Henderson of Sacramento, Mr. and Mrs. George Steckel of Covina and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Arbuthnot of La Verne, sailed for the island Wednesday morning and remained for the rest of the week.

For Returned Author

One of the smart affairs of the week was the party given last evening by Mr. and Mrs. Irving Alexander Hamilton at their home in White Knoll Drive to honor George Albee, son of Mrs. Harriet Albee of North Hayworth avenue, Hollywood, who has returned after an absence of nearly two years.

Mr. Albee, who, after attending the University of California at Berkeley became known to Hollywood through his articles on the film city written for College Humor, has been in Paris and Cannes, where he collaborated with Holworthy Hall, as well as in North Africa, and on his return journey visited for some time with relatives in Ohio.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton included Mr. and Mrs. Barton Yarborough, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mulholland, Mr. and Mrs. C. David Forrest, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hamilton, Miss Rosalind Shepard, Miss Minnie Selvin, Lucian Bradford Self, Jr., George Frederick Olsen, Jr., William Plunkert and Richard Albee. Unique decorations were elaborately featured. The hosts recently returned from two weeks in Berkeley, making the trip northward by boat and returning by automobile.

Luncheon and Bridge

With the California Country Club as a setting, Mrs. Alfred Scotti entertained recently at luncheon and bridge. The T-shaped table was banked with flowers in tones of orchid, pink and yellow. Nut cups and tapers carried out the color motif, with charming place cards of blue. Bidden were Mme. Charles Swaine, John G. Bullock, Herbert Collins, F. E. Gloyd, A. E. Wright,

Hebrew Traditions Broken in Edifice Decorations

JEWISH HISTORY DEPICTED IN MURALS

Racial Traditions Theme of 320-Foot Frieze and Three Large Lunettes by Ballin Decorating New B'nai B'rith Temple

BY ARTHUR MILLIER

"We have broken tradition to bring back tradition!"

That is how Rabbi Magnin characterizes the precedent-shattering murals by Hugo Ballin, A.N.A., gift of Warner Brothers to the beautiful new Temple B'nai B'rith on Wilshire Boulevard. A 320-foot mural frieze and three large lunettes, the donors commissioned the huge undertakings in memory of their brothers, Samuel and Milton.

For gentiles it must be explained that orthodox congregations have not countenanced painted or carved human figures in their places of worship, remembering the false images and the golden calf. And Ballin's murals are composed almost entirely with figures from Jewish history.

Now, as the worshipers sit in their pews, they may see unrolled before them the great scroll of Jewish history, a tale of storm and sweetness, from the great lunette of "The Creation" high above the organ grill and the altar, through the frieze, seven feet high, which makes the 320-foot circuit of the walls. From Abraham with the Five Kings to the new life of the Jew in free America; a sight calculated to freshen interest in their history among a race caught fast in the hurried life of today.

Under the superb dome—an architectural triumph—the paintings take their place easily in the scheme of rich decoration, constituting the largest mural scheme ever undertaken in any permanent western building.

Following his beloved Umbrian precedents, Ballin has endeavored to present his story simply, so that he who sits may read. The distance of the works from the spectator called for boldness of handling rather than minute finish. Generous use of gold leaf aids the silhouette of individual figures set forth in strong reds, greens and blues. Realism and symbolism interpenetrate easily throughout the works.

Familiar biblical scenes appear. The Jews making bricks in Egypt under stern taskmasters, watched over by the eye of God. The episodes of the life of Moses the Deliverer, from his discovery in the basket, past the flames of the burning bush to Sinai's awful peak. Interwoven here are the exodus and the destruction of the Egyptian horsemen in the Red Sea.

Joshua and the falling walls of Jericho, Sampson pulling down the Phillistine columns—an ingenious bit of composition tying this through Saul the herdsman to David contemplating the Temple. Under three columns beneath the superb stained-glass windows—these last being creations of the gifted Smith family of Athyn, Pa., famous glass designers—the four favorite books are symbolized: Psalms, Proverbs, Ecclesiastes and the Song of Songs.

There follows a vivid representation of the 200 years of battle between Assyria and Judaea, the stories of Elijah and Ezra leading into the long periods of foreign domination of the Jews.

A very beautiful panel shows the four women, Rebecca, Leah, Sarah and Rachael on a mosaic background.

Then the frieze picks up the story on the west wall, portraying the martyrs in Rome, the rescue of Josephus from the cistern, the raz-

O'NEILL'S PLAYS TO BE OPERAS

Simon Bucharoff to Write Music for Productions of Playwright

The plays of Eugene O'Neill are about to be developed into grand operas. Simon Bucharoff has been awarded the right to take any or all of the collection and write the musical scores. Mr. Bucharoff had asked the playwright to collaborate with him in an opera, O'Neill to write the play and Bucharoff the music, but time and inclination conspired against the idea.

"Why do you not take the existing plays and consider them for operatic material?" Mr. O'Neill asked the composer. When asked if he had any preference he excused himself on the ground that he could not judge material for music and deferred to the judgment of Mr. Bucharoff. Finally a blanket agreement was made whereby any of the existing plays could be used.

"The Emperor Jones" is now under consideration, though "Hairy Ape," "Dynamo," "Strange Interlude" and others are the list. While admitting a very strong leaning toward "Beyond the Horizon" and "Anna Christie," Mr. Bucharoff finds "Desire Under the Elms" very strong in musical possibilities. The choice of a singer to interpret the music has also held up actual work, though Roland Hayes and others are being considered.

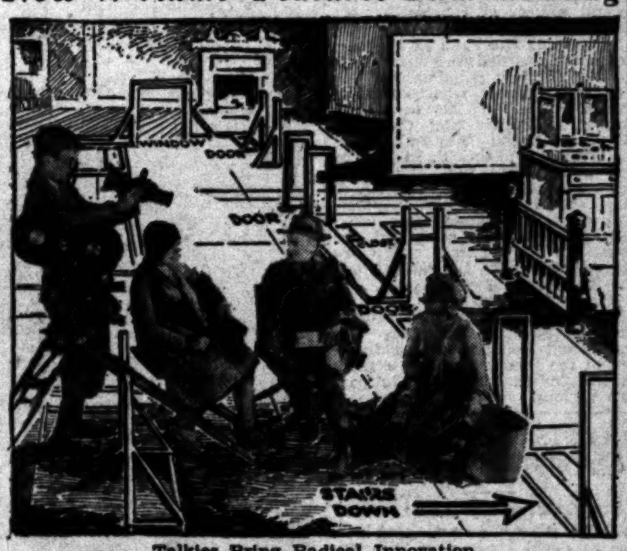
ORCHESTRA WILL PLAY IN OCTOBER

Many New Soloists to Be Heard With Philharmonic Next Season

The Philharmonic Orchestra season will begin October 24, with Dr. Artur Rodzinski as the leader and a brilliant array of soloists. Four new soloists will be introduced this year. They are Vladimir Horowitz, pianist, who has been a sensation wherever he has played; Gregor Piatiagorsky, 'cellist, who has been termed " "tone Croesus of the 'cello;" Nathan Milstein, a young Russian violinist, who has won international fame for his superb playing, and Josef Lhevinne, pianist, who has been heard here in recital.

Other soloists to appear at the symphony concerts and who need no introduction to Los Angeles audiences, having appeared in recital or with the orchestra in past seasons, are Jacques Thibaud, violinist, who will appear at the second symphony pair, November 7-8; Hulda Lashanska, soprano; Harold Bauer, pianist, and Claire Dux, soprano.

New Wrinkle Features Film Making



Talkies Bring Radical Innovation
Talking pictures, have brought many radical innovations in the big Hollywood studios, and the latest is rehearsal of scenes on skeleton sets before the permanent sets are built on sound stages and action photographed and microphoned. Herbert Brenon, originator of the skeleton set rehearsals, is shown with Winifred Westover, playing the title role in "Lummox," for United Artists, and Fannie Hurst, author of the novel from which the screen story is adapted. At the left is Karl Struss, chief cinematographer.

TALKIES HAVE "SKELETON"

Rehearsal on Abbreviated Sets Prepares Cast for Machine-Like Filming of Speaking Picture

BY SPEED KENDALL

A brand new technique in the production of talking pictures has been originated by Herbert Brenon, director for United Artists, which has focused the attention of the entire industry on his unique "skeleton set" rehearsal system that preceded the start of his latest production.

Not only did Brennon spend four weeks rehearsing every player in every action and line they will make and speak in every scene on the screen, but he also had the studio build him two acres of skeleton sets of the exact dimensions of the complete ones later constructed on the sound stages.

With the skeleton sets marked on the floors, the same properties and furniture actually used in the picture were placed in their corresponding positions on the imaginery sets. Camera angles were determined long in advance of the switch of operations to the sound stage where actions and voices are electrically synchronized and transferred to film and discs for reproduction on the screen.

THE RESULT

When the thoroughly coached, line-perfect members of the cast started actual work, they knew exactly what to do, exactly what to say and exactly when to say it. The cameramen knew where to place their booths and practically all Brenon had to worry about was the volume of the dialogue and sounds.

In other words, the picture was paradoxically completed by Brenon before he started shooting it.

The picture on which Brennon first used the idea is "Lummox," taken from Fannie Hurst's novel in which Winifred Westover, divorced wife of William S. Hart, has the leading role. Brenon got the idea through his years of training as an actor and director, obtained before he pioneered in motion pictures two decades ago.

Brenon makes his first talkie after months of intensive research in the new field of screen voice. When the films became articulate, the Hollywood slangsters immediately pronounced the talkies "Brenon's dish." Like a master chef, he went about his plans methodically.

When it came time to design sets and costumes, William Cameron Menzies, art director, poured over the script for weeks, then submitted sketches of the sets. When they were finally approved by Brenon, he said:

"Don't make them; just give me skeletons."

Assisted by Park French, unit art director, Menzies laid out the sets in skeleton form, with strips of wood simulating walls, doors, windows, stairs, etc., with each designated by data painted on the floor.

MOVIE DRESS REHEARSAL

Furniture and other properties were placed in their exact positions on these skeleton sets and each scene rehearsed time and again until action and dialogue were pronounced perfect. The last two days were dress rehearsals, and the players moved from set to set, enacting the drama under the same conditions, with the exception of microphones and lights, as encountered on the sound stages.

The day that shooting started witnessed a general hegira to the real sets, and everything went with clock-like precision as silence was signaled and the cameras and sound apparatus took up the job.

"From then on I could say it would almost be safe to leave the set and 'Lummox' would take care of itself," Brenon said. "The rehearsals on the skeleton sets eliminated guesswork on the mechanics of the film play, and the players knew exactly what to do.

READY FOR AUDIENCE

"The rest was photography and recording of dialogue. If there was a theater stage big enough, and the sets could be changed in the twinkling of an eye, it would have been possible to take my company before an audience and stage the film play before we made a single scene for the screen."

While the preshooting rehearsals for talking pictures is not new to Hollywood, it is believed that Brenon is the first to use the skeleton-set idea. Since, it was said, others have staged rehearsals in this manner instead of waiting until the sets actually used are constructed.

It was after considerable study that Brenon selected "Lummox" for his first talkie production and with the author and Elizabeth Meehan, scenarist, he spent months on the adaptation. Weeks were spent in making tests for the selection of the players until Miss Westover was chosen.

DOROTHY JANIS ELEVATED

Of the other members of the cast, some mean much to pictures, a few hardly anything. William Collier, Jr., has nine talking pictures to his credit. His mother in the picture—Clara Langsner—has never been on the screen. Dorothy Janis gets her biggest role in this opus. Then there are Ben Lyon, Danny O'Shea, Myrtle Stedman, Lydia Yeamans Titus, Edna Murphy, Torben Myer, Myrta Bonillas and Bobby Ullman.

The latter, Bobby Ullman, 5 years of age, is none other than the late Rudolph Valentino's god-child. He has never been on the screen.

Only several days ago production on the picture was halted because Brenon was stricken by blood poisoning. Because of the intense rehearsals the picture could have been finished without him. United Artists executives, however, have stopped all work until Brenon is able to return. There is about one more week's work on the production.

WRITERS SLIGHT CITY AS LOCALE

Resident Novelists Fail to Notice Los Angeles

Wealth of Local Material Passed Up

Books on Southern California Demanded at Library

BY LEO RARIDAN

Regarded throughout the civilized world as the wonder city of the age, its very name a synonym of "romance"—especially the romance of modern city building—yet Los Angeles has been treated as shabbily as an alley cat by the nation's novelists, many of whom live here.

There are few scoffers left to doubt the fascination the city and its environs holds for the world and his wife; the cumulative evidence of recent years is too overwhelming.

NOT INTERESTED

But this interest, which it would seem should be looked upon by novelists as a veritable gold mine, has failed except in a few instances to fire the imagination of authors.

In the last few years there has been a deluge of short stories with Los Angeles and Hollywood—especially the latter—as the locale; but there is a peculiar dearth of book-length novels with the city as a background.

Miss Van Tyne Smith, principal of the fiction department of the Los Angeles Public Library, is authority for the statement that the demand for such novels, particularly historical romances, is tremendous.

"I cannot understand why the wealth of material here has been overlooked," she said. "Day in and day out we are besieged by scores of patrons seeking stories in which the scenes are laid in Los Angeles. And judging by the pronounced interest evidenced the world over in this city I surmise that the appetite for Los Angeles stories is not confined to our own citizens."

Many novels that have had wide appeal have been written around San Francisco, she pointed out; citing a list of California fiction; Sacramento, Monterey, Carmel and several other points likewise have been dramatized in this way.

GOLD MINE UNWORKED

But few writers have prospected the gold mine of interest that Los Angeles appears to be.

One of the first and few novels dealing with modern Los Angeles that is on file at the Public Library is "Boosters," by Mark Lee Luther. A new one, "Adios," by the Bartletts, which deals with Southern California in the fighting fifties, soon will be off the press.

There have been a number using the motion-picture industry as a background. They include "Merton of the Movies," by Harry Leon Wilson; "Minnie Flynn," by Frances Marion; "Skyrocket," by Adela Rogers St. John; "Jarnegan," by Jim Tully; "On and Off the Lot," by George Randolph Chester; "Valley of Olympus," by Octavus Roy Cohen; "Yes Man's Land," by H. C. Witwer, and "Close Up," by Margaret Turnbull.

Aside from these, there are only the following stories centering on the city to be had at the library:

"The Dons of the Old Pueblo," by Percival Cooney, a story of the early days when the Mexicans were making their last stand; "Play the Game," by Ruth Comfort Mitchell, a love story with South Figueroa street and Los Angeles High School for its setting; "Rose Dawn," by Stewart Edward White, which has several chapters touching on the city's real-estate boom; "Hieroglyphs of Love," by Amanda Matthews, little tales of Mexican life centering about the Plaza; "Rose of Los Angeles," by John Campbell, partly historical; "From the Old Pueblo," a small collection of short short stories; "Lone Star of Carboja," by Cora Sharp Hough, a romance of Los Angeles in 1850.

EARLY-DAY FEUDS RECALLED

Book Relates Incidents of Days When Border Sheriffs and Outlaws "Shot It Out"

BY THOMAS F. FORD

FAMOUS SHERIFFS AND WESTERN OUTLAWS. By Williams McLeod Raine. Doubleday, Doran & Co., New York.

In this lively account of the activities of famous sheriffs and infamous outlaws, William McLeod Raine transports us back to the exciting days before the West became tamed and hamstrung.

Then, as now, it was not always easy to discriminate between the tactics used by the men charged with enforcing the law and those bent on shooting it full of holes.

For instance, there is little to choose between the Earps and the Clantons, whose famous feud has filled the pages of many newspapers and books retailing the history of those wild days when a man's six-shooter was his best friend and the only one that stood between him and extinction.

Then there's Wild Bill Hickok. He was a law officer, it is true, but he was not always on that side of the fence. Bat Masterson was another famous sheriff whose reputation for nerve and speed with a six-gun made him a terror.

Bucky O'Neill was one of the most lovable and picturesque of the hard-riding, hard-fighting, hard-drinking sheriffs of the bloody days when the trigger finger was a man's best insurance policy. Bucky was a sort of knight errant of the cow country. He was a poet, a scholar and an adventurer. He had tried his hand at being an editor, a lawyer, a judge and a sheriff. He was a wild gambler and made a great sheriff. He was absolutely fearless, but he was as shy as the proverbial dairy maid. His editorial experience was at Tombstone when that was the toughest town in all Arizona and as tough a town as ever existed in the whole West. His adventurous career ended in Cuba, where a Spanish bullet pierced his neck.

The Tonto Basin war between the Graham and Tewksbury factions is treated at some length. It was one of the bloodiest of the range feuds. In recalling it the author takes sides with neither party.

The story of the battle of Beecher's Island, where a mere handful of soldiers and scouts held out against a large band of Indians, is here told with many details that are not usually given in accounts of this tragic episode in the history of Indian border warfare.

Those interested in this phase of western history will find here a book well worth reading. For in addition to the great sheriffs like Garrett, Wild Bill Hickok, Billy Tigham and others equally brave and energetic in bringing about a reign of law, some of the most picturesque of the bad men are here pictured, such as Buckskin Frank Leslie, Arizona's worst killer, and Tom Horn, sheriff and bad man, who was instrumental in the capture of Geronimo and, after a brilliant career on the side of the law, was hanged for the murder of a little boy.

Hatfield Now Has Galleries

Yesterday Dalzell Hatfield took over the Los Angeles branch of the Newhouse Galleries, opening under the name The Dalzell Hatfield Galleries. The new firm will continue to handle the large stock of paintings from the Newhouse Galleries of New York and St. Louis, and will have in addition sculpture, etchings and water colors, as well as paintings from other eastern sources.

Oftener than heretofore, according to Mr. Hatfield, exhibitions will come direct to the galleries from New York showings. Only perfectly authenticated examples by recognized artists or works by young contemporaries of real ability will be shown.

"We have no fight to make for any particular school of painting, but will obtain for collectors fine examples of all schools from the old masters to the moderns," said Mr. Hatfield in announcing the change of ownership.

Dalzell Hatfield, for many years director of the Newhouse Galleries here, has been handling paintings for twenty years throughout the United States, selling to such important collectors as Edsel Ford, George Harrington of Chicago, F. E. Keeler of Los Angeles, George P. Tweed of Duluth, Hershel Jones of Minneapolis and many others.

ITO SPIRITUALLY INSPIRED

Japanese Dancer Declares Mental Balance Ideal State of Attainment

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

Michio Ito, the internationalist among dancers, is becoming known in Hollywood-Los Angeles in the most gracious manner possible. He is an Oriental-European in matters of culture and philosophy and he, in the good company of Stokowski, Krishnamurti and others, believes Southern California to be the cradle of a spiritually and physically exalted race.

For this reason he has deliberately left his flourishing institution of the dance in New York to get along without him, and set for himself the task of making rhythmic and beautiful movement take its rightful place in the development of our people.

INTERNATIONALLY KNOWN

It is obvious, Ito points out, that mental balance is the ideal state to be attained. Mental and physical balance are inseparable. From Japan through eighteen years of growth in Europe and America, Ito has brought us the laws of balanced direction in movement. As with all that is truly great, these laws are divinely simple. There is no mystery about Ito or his art. On the other hand he is a mystic for he relies upon meditation in acquiring truth.

Michio Ito

He scorns making art incomprehensible, remote, a secret thing for the few, and he accuses those who would, of hiding ignorance behind subterfuge. Ito is a "communitarian." He wants to make this a community of dancers.

"Everyone can be an artist in movement. Balance is attainable by all. I want this wave of rhythm to start here in California and spread throughout the world. Balanced bodies creating balanced minds will create a civilization unsurpassed by anything history has recorded."

This vision of the artist, Michio Ito, is not a beautiful chimera. He has begun practically to put the idea into motion. Men and women of all ages and conditions of life have been invited and have accepted his invitation to dance. His studio in Hollywood is actively engaged in making the ideal a reality.

SOUGHT BY MANY

Of course, there are also classes for professionals, for although this famous dancer has only been here a month, he has been immediately sought out by those whose dancing is a life work and a livelihood, and whom the pictures have attracted to Hollywood. But the main business of Ito's life today is developing this wholly modern idea of communities dancing and the leaders in community life in Southern California are helping him.

Leaders in other parts of the world are helping also, for they, too, have this belief that the West is the cradle of an exalted race. Edgar Varese, the modernist composer, who startled New York with his "Ameriques" and who is now being heard in Paris, is outlining an orchestral work for Ito's community dancers. Leopold Stokowski expects to conduct it, for he is heart and soul in the new play. The singing choruses which have sprung up all over Southern California under the encouragement of Artie Mason Carter will join in the new movement and if Ito's comprehensive plans are acted upon by the people, he intends to present them at the international dance festival to be held in Europe in a few years, as the folk-dancers of the present time.

'Hell's Angels' Almost Ready

"Hell's Angels," after two years in the making, will have its premiere showing at the George M. Cohan Theater, New York City, in October.

Howard Hughes has definitely announced that he has leased the Broadway showhouse for the initial showing of his aerial extravaganza.

Filming of "Hell's Angels" began in October, 1927, and the picture, which has cost approximately $3,000,000, is now in the hands of the cutters and synchronizers. The last scene was filmed this week.

The Los Angeles opening, under present plans, will take place immediately after the premiere in New York. Subsequently, the film will be seen in leading cities throughout the country.

Painters at Sequoia Park

SEQUOIA NATIONAL PARK, June 1—Two well-known California artists, whose paintings of the big trees and mountain scenery in Giant Forest and parts of Sequoia National Park, are becoming familiar to picture lovers throughout the State, have opened their camp at the artists' colony at Wolverton, where they lived last year. They are Christopher Siebert of Los Angeles and Albert Marshall of Lindsay. They have spent several summers in Sequoia working on paintings.

During the winter these artists develop pictures from sketches made during the summer. Mr. Siebert has many pictures on display in art galleries in Los Angeles and Pasadena.

PANAMA VIOLINIST AT BOWL

For the first time a musician from the tiny republic of Panama is to be heard by a western concert audience.

Alfred San-Malo's appearance at the Bowl is made possible by the generosity of Arturo Muller, a wealthy Panaman, who has sponsored the young violinist's artistic tours. Muller is an uncle of San-Malo, Dr. Saens stated. He is a leading merchant of Panama City and reputed a three-time millionaire.

Dr. Saens announced as a nucleus of a committee to welcome San-Malo to the Southland, the following prominent Panamans who reside in Los Angeles: Manuela Galvez, Ernesto Ardila, Adolfo Aleman, prominent Panaman government official; Dr. M. Ponce, Mrs. A. Caballero, Amalia Bellino, Adella Navarro, Panaman professor at the University of Southern California; Miss Nellie Maleck, inspector of schools of Panama, now studying domestic economy at the University of Southern California, and Julio Mata, consular official of Panama.

The young Lochinvar of the violin who came from out of the wet zone of these dry United States, was born in Panama City on December 13, 1902. From his parents, both of whom were violinists, he inherited the gifts that were to carry him to world renown. His father was a South American of French-Dutch descent; his mother Spanish—a biological background which perhaps accounts for his great interpretive versatility in extracting qualities characteristic of the several schools of composers. His paternal forebears were Huguenots who founded the town of St. Malo in France and fled to Holland during the religious persecutions.

He began his violin studies at the age of 5, receiving his instruction mainly in France and Germany. His first public appearance was made when 9 years old. In 1916 he was admitted to the Paris conservatory, being one of a quota of two foreign students so honored, and only three years later when only 17 years old, completed the course to which four years are normally allotted. He was awarded the much coveted grand prize.

During the next ten years he played repeatedly in Paris, Berlin, Cannes, Menton, Marseilles and throughout Holland, also visiting a few of the foremost eastern centers in the United States in the past two seasons.

PHILLIP TRONITZ

For several months Mr. Tronitz has been conducting a series of interpretation classes for teachers and advanced pianists. The results of the course were received with such enthusiasm that Tronitz decided to present some of the most representative players in recital.

Those appearing are Rosalyne Asner, Bertha Behn, Lenore Grazide, Matilda Incao, Marie Julius, Eva Law, Armando Loredo, Dora Schiro and Margaret Walter.

IVEY HAS ROLE OF "HANSEL"

The announcement that Lenore Ivey, student of Otto Morando for several seasons, is to sing Hansel in "Hansel and Gretel" this fall during the performances of the Los Angeles Grand Opera Association, is of very general interest. Miss Ivey has been heard before in opera, but not in so large a part. She will sing opposite Queena Mario.

CHOIR HEARD IN MEMORIAL

The choir of the First Baptist Church of Los Angeles, under the direction of Alexander Stewart, conductor, was heard in a splendid and impressive Memorial Day concert in beautiful Grace Chapel, Inglewood Park Cemetery. The large auditorium was crowded to the doors, while several hundred more listened in chairs placed outside under the trees, and in their machines, through a public address system of loud speakers which carried the music and the address to all.

TAP DANCING APPEALS

The modern business girl is finding tap dancing a pleasant form of relaxation, according to Earle Wallace, the American ballet master. Wallace says, "The business girl takes more pleasure out of learning tap dancing than she does in ballroom or classical dancing. She is able to accomplish more in a shorter length of time and this practical form of dancing appeals to her."

PRINCIPAL WORKS ON NEW OPERA

Louis Woodson Curtis

Louis Woodson Curtis, vice-principal and head of the department of music at Lincoln High School, is putting the finishing touches on his new opera, "The Bandit Lover," which will have its first presentation at the Lincoln Auditorium on the 6th, 7th and 8th inst. Mr. Curtis, during his years of teaching at Lincoln, has developed a technique in the realm of romantic light opera with the result that his scores are in demand throughout the country, both for school and professional production.

Other operas from his pen include the "Marriage of Nannette," "Pierrette Among the Shepherds," "The Rose of the Alhambra," "Joan of the Nancy Lee" and Briar Rose." His works have been accepted for publication by the John Church, Schirmer, Summy and Schmidt companies. More recently, Mr. Curtis has been engaged in making chorus arrangements for the Schirmer house.

"The Bandit Lover" is a tale of New Orleans in 1840. The story is concerned with the romance of Angela De Fontenay who belongs to a wealthy, but impoverished, family. In order to complete her education she travels to Paris and upon returning meets John Allen Randolph, a poet. After a thrilling courtship Angela refuses to marry John because he is too poetic. At the Mardi Gras ball, John Allen Randolph comes disguised as a bandit and there as "The Bandit Lover" wins his suit.

Mr. Curtis will spend next year in Europe for travel and study. He will have six months' work in composition in Paris.

MUSIC PAGEANT PLAN TOLD MONROVIA CLUB

S. Earle Blakeslee, head of the music department at Chaffey Junior College, Ontario, was the guest of the president's council of the California Federation of Music Clubs at their last meeting of the season at the Aztec Hotel in Monrovia Tuesday afternoon. The Chaminade Club of Monrovia was hostess at the special dinner which followed the meeting. Mr. Blakeslee outlined the plans and musical progress of "The First Californians," the historical musical pageant to be given the 24th and 26th inst. at the Chaffey Amphitheater.

Following the dinner, Chief Yowlache, the Yakima baritone, gave a concert, with Charles Wakefield Cadman at the piano.

CASELOTTI'S PUPILS TO PRODUCE OPERAS

Arrangements have been made by B. C. Cianfoni, director of the Santa Ana Symphony Band, to have Guido Caselotti, Los Angeles vocal coach, produce two operas in which Caselotti's pupils will enact the leading roles. These operas are to be "La Traviata" and "Carmen" and will be given in Santa Ana next fall in connection with the Santa Ana Chorus and its symphony band under the direction of Mr. Cianfoni.

PROGRAMS TO BE PRESENTED

Of interest to lovers of both music and drama are two programs to be presented by the Jewish Music and Art Club on the 11th and 12th inst. These consist of a one-act playlet written by Dr. Arthur Freidman, Los Angeles musician and dramatist, to be presented on the 11th inst. at 1:30 p.m. in the Ambassador Theater, it being the club's last open meeting this season; and on the 12th inst., when they are presenting Irvin Nyireghazi, famous Hungarian pianist, and Mme. Virginia Florhi, coloratura soprano, in a concert to be given in the auditorium of Hollywood Conservatory at 8 p.m.

GIANNINI TO COME HERE

Dusolina Giannini will again come to the Pacific Coast under the management of L. E. Behymer in a series of concert engagements next year. She will be one of the artists on the Biltmore musicales, as well as on the Philharmonic course.

BIRD STUDY PLANNED

Los Angeles Audubon Society closes the season with a morning of bird observation at the east entrance to Griffith Park Thursday. Visitors are invited and may join the society at 9:30 a.m.

MANY SEEK TICKETS TO 'FIRST FIFTY YEARS'

Since the date for the Marta Oatman Players' production of "The First Fifty Years" has been set for the 10th inst. a number of fans have obtained blocks of seats when it became known that the play would be presented for one performance only.

The Marta Oatman School of the Theater opened a special Saturday-morning class for children yesterday and the new adult technical drama class opens on July 1.

The first months of work in the adult drama classes are given over to personal development to awaken latent powers in the student and to build to correlate emotions and bodily agents in creative thinking, acting and speaking. After that work is covered practical technical work continues until the student is ready for play production.

BENEFIT AND AUDITION TO BE GIVEN STUDENTS

The Artist Students' Endowment is sponsoring a Chopin lecture-recital to be given by Alexander Kosloff, Russian pianist, at Hollywood Conservatory of Music on Tuesday evening. In order to give guests opportunity to greet the artist, a reception will follow the program. Following the lecture upon Chopin—his personality and works, the following numbers are programmed: Sonata B Minor, Nocturne C Minor, Ballade G Minor, Polonaise A Flat Major, all by Chopin.

Dr. Leonard Siever, president of the Artist Students' Endowment, announces that auditions for free scholarships in the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, will be held in Los Angeles in July under Dr. Howard Hanson, director of that institution. Those interested are requested to register at once with the Artist Students' Endowment, 408 Professional Building, Pasadena.

YOUNG VIOLINIST PLAYING

Tania Akounine, a young and talented violinist now resident in Hollywood, has been appearing frequently on the concert stage recently. She had a decided success with the Lyric Club last week playing the Lalo Symphonie Espagnole and d'Ambrosio's Canzonetta as well as several obbligatos to the choral singing. The Covina Lyric Club also engaged her and she played in San Diego at the Mitchell gallery in Coronado.

MUELLER GIVES RECITAL

Kurt Mueller, composer-pianist, gave an annual pupils' recital at the Hollywood Conservatory on Thursday.

JAPANESE DANCER TO APPEAR AT BENEFIT

Genevieve Gray, sponsor of the Biltmore morning musicales, is presenting Michio Ito, famous Japanese dancer, in a benefit program to be given by the Women's Auxiliary of the Pasadena Hospital on the 5th inst. at the Busch Gardens, Pasadena. The proceeds are to be used for the erection of a children's ward in the hospital.

Ito is establishing a community school of the dance. His recent appearances, in addition to those in which he performed in dance programs, have been before the Pro-Musica, the Woman's Club of Hollywood and the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, where he gave talks on the dance. On the 4th inst. both Mr. Ito and Mrs. Gray are to be the guests of honor at the Pasadena Shakespeare Club, at which time Ito will give a talk.

UNIVERSITY OFFERS HERBERT OPERETTA

"The Red Mill," one of Victor Herbert's most colorful and tuneful comic operas, will be the Zanja Fiesta offering at the University of Redlands, Saturday evening in the alumni Greek theater, directed by Al Johnson.

Facilities at Redlands for producing an out-of-door drama are excellent, as a natural stream, the Zanja, flows between audience and actors, making beautiful staging effects possible. Last year the student body presented "The Fortune Teller," by Victor Herbert, and the previous year offered Charles Wakefield Cadman's "Lelawala," which attracted national attention.

Mebane Beasley

This baritone and teacher from New York has interested himself in movietone preparation and is convinced that character and training is bringing recognition in the new work. He quotes a musical director of one of the largest companies as saying, "we want words plainly and musically spoken, so that the public can understand; a tone that is true and steady and an eye that is electrified by an expression of thought."

Mr. Beasley was engaged in church, concert and opera work in the East for over twelve years. He now resides in Santa Barbara and teaches at the Beaux Arts Building in Los Angeles on Mondays and Thursdays. He was recently heard to advantage in the reading of Saint Saens's opera "Samson and Delilah" directed by Roland Paul at the Windsor Square Theater.

Pupils of the Elisa Ryan school of dancing and drama are preparing for one of the most elaborate series of programs attempted in the history of the school.

Beginning with a dance party which was given at the home of Dr. Edward Janss last night, the program calls for a spectacular recital of more than 300 pupils of all ages, students of the Immaculate Heart Convent, which will be presented in the afternoon of the 4th inst. on the tennis courts at the convent, corner of Western and Franklin streets. Again on the 7th inst. pupils of Miss Ryan will appear in public in a recital to be held in the ballroom of her studio at 3305 Wilshire Boulevard.

PAT O'MALLEY "COMES BACK"

Merry Irishman Scores in "Alibi" Portrait

Hollywood Welcomes Actor Back to Fold

Prize-Fight Story Follows West Film

Pat O'Malley was in New York [illegible] with vaudeville managers [illegible] with a longing eye cast on a [illegible] part in a new show when Mrs. [illegible] excitedly telephoned him that [illegible] was wanted for "Alibi."

It was the first time in nearly two years that Hollywood had evinced [illegible] specific interest in the fortunes of this genial, twinkling-eyed Irishman once known as the "great daredevil of the screen."

Pat was so startled that he dropped the telephone receiver and almost broke the connection between the Pacific and Atlantic seaboards. "If it hadn't been for Mrs. Pat's [illegible] on the wire, I might have thought some one was playing a [illegible]-be practical joke," he grinned. "I took the next train. I never [illegible] behind an engine that made [illegible] slow time."

"Alibi," Roland West's first talking picture, opened at the United Artists theater ten days ago. When [illegible], as master of ceremonies, called first upon Pat to stand up and take a bow, a burst of applause such as would warm the cockles of any heart rang through the theater. It was loud, thumping applause but more than that it carried that particular ringing note which has the translucent quality [illegible] of genuine enthusiasm and good [illegible].

WELCOMED HOME

Hollywood which, for nearly two years, had let Pat O'Malley trod the path of forgotten stars, was welcoming him back home.

Since "Alibi," Pat has played for director William Wellman at Paramount in "The Man I Love," a prize fight story and is in the midst of negotiations now with independent producers for the lead in a picture

HART'S RETURN INTERESTS

Star Would Recall Old Days of Long Journeying to Work Each Day; Jeanne Eagels and Ruth Chatterton Hit High Records Among New Stage Arrivals

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

AND now Bill Hart! It is decidedly an old-timer's year. Bill's signing up for talkies was not unexpected. It had been rumored for some months. He made a half dozen or so records for the Victor Talking Machine Company not long ago, and it was forecast then that he would soon be in the audible films. However, the deal came about in another way. I am told that Will Rogers had something to do with it by suggestion. But then Hal Roach, too, has been ambitious to venture into features.

Hart runs high as a box-office favorite. It is a question whether his popularity has ever materially diminished in spite of a protracted absence. The old Hart pictures, reissued, are still being played and making money. The star has been getting a steady and ample fan mail despite his virtual retirement. Talkies should be his medium even more than silents because of his stage experience.

The plan is to start his production in about eight weeks, but to some extent this "taking-off" date is contingent on story. Nothing has been settled definitely yet as to the subject, except that it will be a western, and with plenty of outdoor scenes as is natural in a western.

WHILE filming the picture, whatever one it is that he makes, Hart will continue to live on his ranch at Newhall. "It doesn't take more than an hour to run into Culver City," he said. "It will be like the old days. I mean my very early days in California.

"At that time I was living in an old frame house on Figueroa street between Fifth and Sixth—I think it is still standing. I used to travel twenty-six miles by street car and bus to Inceville every day because I had to go by way of Edendale, where our laboratory was located. It was quite a journey."

Hart came to pictures in December, 1914. He had shortly before closed an engagement in "The Trail of a Lonesome Pine" at the Grand Opera House in New York. That was the last time he spoke on the stage, except possibly for a benefit performance now and then, and in personal appearances.

The talkies will take him back into a medium similar in a number of ways to that in which he gained his first celebrity.

HART'S return to pictures is almost concurrent with the publication of his autobiography. This is called "My Life—East and West." It is one of several books by him that have been issued, and is the most pretentious. It is an intimate and personal account of Hart's stage and screen experiences, in which many anecdotes are related of people who have made history in both forms of expression.

Hart's last picture was "Tumbleweeds." It was filmed four years ago.

JEANNE EAGELS need have no concern, apparently, above her future in the talkies. She has hit with a very large audience. Her first picture, "The Letter," did not possess the surest-fire popular elements, but

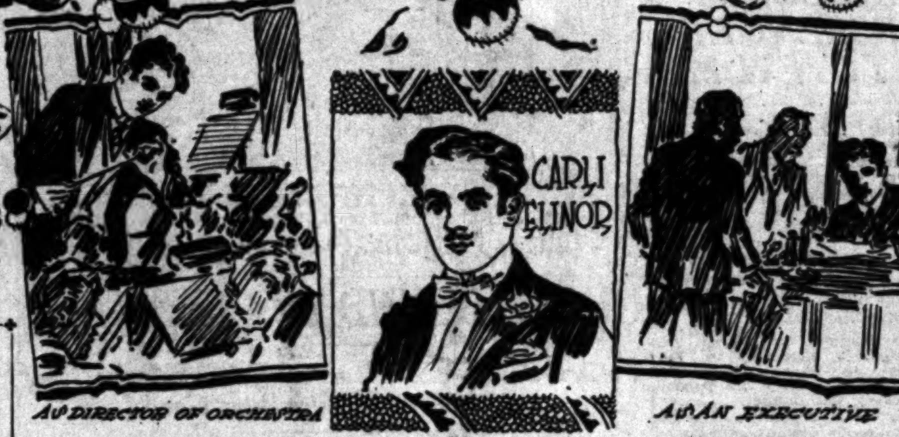
Arrival of F. W. Murnau's Production, "Four Devils," Certain at Last

With the insertion of brand-new dialogue, this Fox film will be ready for its gala premiere on the evening of the 10th inst. at the Carthay Circle Theater. The "four devils" of the title are a quartet of gymnasts in a picturesque circus. Times Staff Artist A. L. Ewing shows them together (at top;) Janet Gaynor, Nancy Drexel, Charles Morton and Barry Norton. J. Farrell Macdonald plays the friendly old clown, and Mary Duncan, seen beside him, the menace to their sawdust paradise. Miss Gaynor will be heard in her first speaking role in the picture; and new popularity is predicted for the winsome little heroine of the erstwhile and unforgettable "Seventh Heaven."

FAMILIAR MUSIC TRIUMPHS

Carli Elinor Knows His Public; Carthay Orchestra to Continue Along Same Lines



BY PHILIP K. SCHEUER

"The finest orchestra I heard in America," wrote Walter Marks, M.P., "was at the Carthay Circle Theater, and if that band was fired, it would mean that the house would lose its entertainment value."

Mr. Marks, M. P., who is a Federal film commissioner in Australia, has no particular place in this story, other than as a mouthpiece expressing an opinion pretty generally held by a large number of persons, foreign and otherwise. There is no way of telling, of course, how many other orchestras Mr. Marks got around to hearing in America, or, as a consequence, whether or not Messrs. Schneevoigt, Rodzinski, Stokowski and the rest should feel properly crushed; but there can be no question about its being a compliment.

Carli Elinor is the conductor of the Carthay Circle Theater orchestra, and has been since its organization. Recently appointed director-general of the picturesque edifice by the Fox Film Corporation, he intends to continue its musical activities along lines already well laid out. These represent, as at present, mere-

Stage People Held Severe Drama Critics

It is generally agreed that the most difficult audience to please is one that is composed of professional show people. If a production satisfies these people, a producer is fairly sure that it will do as much for the theatergoing public, apt to be less critical and exacting.

Bearing this theory out is the reception that stage and screen celebrities have accorded Edward Everett Horton's revival of "The Streets of New York," the melodrama of 1857 at the Majestic Theater.

Hardly a performance has been given with less than a score of motion picture and theater persons in attendance. The stars enter into the spirit of the ancient play, hiss the villain and shout for the hero.

Spooks Chase Actress From Play to Play

It's just awful, having these mystery plays following one about, when one really doesn't care a thing about them!

At least so thinks Gretchen Thomas, who portrays the mystery lady of "The Ghost Train," now showing at the Vine-street.

Gretchen should know! She played in "The Bat" for a lengthy engagement and it seems that she no sooner shakes the spooks of one "mellerdrammer," than another series of thrills pops up.

"Realy, I should much prefer playing some demure little ultra-English girl—something quiet and reserved—but instead, I must shriek myself hoarse and stumble over murdered men every time I turn around."

Miss Thomas, however, looks none the worse for all of her harrowing experiences. At the present time she is so tied up with business, and in trying to inform everyone just where she will be each hour of the day, that she has little time left for anything else.

Those who saw "The Bat" during its engagement several years ago, will probably remember Gretchen Thomas as its leading lady—and if they missed that mystery classic, there was the role of Kate in "Kempy," offered at the Majestic back in 1926.

Gretchen Thomas hails from the New York stage, where she played with such stars as Raymond Hitchcock, Fred Stone and Willie Collier. However, she wishes to be quoted on the statement that "of all the prominent stars she has appeared with, Franklin Pangborn is the most considerate—hiding himself in the background so that the other players may have a chance."

Miss Thomas is endeavoring to cast her fate with the talkies at the close of her current Vine-street engagement.

IN SPRING RECITAL

The Edith Jane School of Dancing is seething with activity of late in the preparation for the spring recital to be held at the Windsor Square Theater on the 22nd inst. Betty and Barbara Rockett, the small daughters of Al Rockett of movie fame, Barbara Vernon, pride of the household of the famous comedian Bobbie Vernon, Faith Brook, petite off-spring of the famous Clive Brook and many others prominent in the public eye are taking part in the production.

LAVISH SETTING GLORIFIES FILM

"Broadway" Emerges Amidst Magnificence

"On With Show" Called Best of Its Kind

Estelle Taylor Praised for "Where East is East"

BY NORBERT LUSK

NEW YORK, June 1. (Exclusive) With a vast flourish "Broadway" opened Monday evening at the Globe Theater and, without revealing anything hitherto unknown about the subject, qualified as good melodrama. It would, of course, be all that the producers hoped for had not the original play inspired countless pictures based on the same subject. As it stands the impressive production gives the picture values it does not possess as a story, and at the same time that lavishness of investiture nullifies the intent of the story, which in its original form centered around a small unostentatious night club, whereas on the screen the club is pictured on a scale so vast that no performer would aspire to forsake it for vaudeville.

Nor does this magnificence throw into higher relief the drama of the story. The latter is concerned with the shoddiness of night-club life rather than its grandeur, and the splendor of the setting does nothing but make the drama petty by comparison. However, what with exploitation and the vogue for speech on the screen there is no doubt that "Broadway" will be a financial success. The acting is variable, though the characterizations are frequently indistinct in spite of adherence to the dialogue of the original.

OUTSTANDING PERFORMANCES

In the opinion of many the outstanding members of the cast are two recruits from the stage play, Thomas E. Jackson and Paul Porcasi, but to those of us who are still loyal to the screen much can be found to admire in Glenn Tryon's highly expert performance as the hoofer, in Evelyn Brent's sullen study of revenge, in Robert Ellis's effective hi-jacker and Leslie Fenton's brilliant though brief flight as the murdered man. The veil of charity must be drawn over what is perhaps the most inadequate performance on the part of Merna Kennedy yet disclosed by talking pictures.

With still another flourish the indefatigable Warners offered further evidence of their pioneering efforts when "On With the Show" opened at the Winter Garden Tuesday evening. The first all-talking, dancing and color film has made a favorable impression which might easily have been a stronger one with a better story and a few more memorable songs, to say nothing of cutting. However, the picture is the best of its kind in so far as its chorus numbers and stage effects are concerned, and for the most part color is admirably achieved and adds to the illusion of extravaganza. Movement also has been sustained and the spectator is permitted to believe that he really is watching a musical show in its progress on the stage as well as behind the curtain. The entire cast is considered well chosen and every member may be said to have an individual impression.

VAUDEVILLE RECALLED

As much cannot be said of "The Cocoanuts," starring the famed Marx brothers, which opened at the Rialto last week. Produced here, it fails in the very essentials which make "On With the Show" superior. The dancing numbers are circumscribed by the limitations of the screen and the synchronization is distinctly poor. While the Marx family are amusing in their familiar manner, and garner laughs galore, the picture is slow, unsubstantial and lacking in individuality. It is vaudeville rather than the musical

New faces everywhere, ruling out the old-fashioned movie hero business. The demand now is ability, brains, art. But the actor who has kept on the job need have no fear. He knows his business, so why the panic?"

PLOT TO FORE

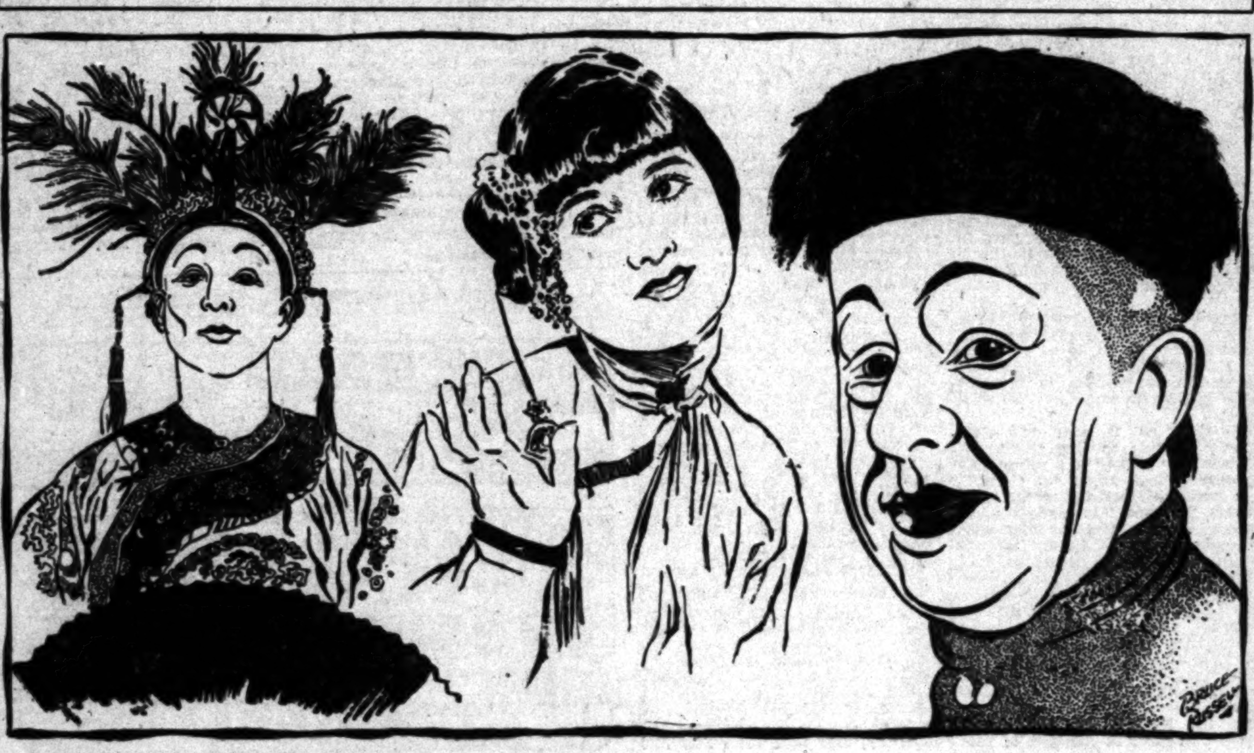
With the exit of the hero, who handsome does as handsome is, comes the disappearance of the burning love theme, Hardy declares. Now the love interest is subordinate to the main plot or spectacle, as in "On With the Show."

One of those rare few who live up to boyhood traits, Mr. Hardy a week ago handled a difficult bit of real showmanship when, as president of the Masquers, he arranged, put on and acted as master of ceremonies for their annual revel at the Warner Theater. This was the fulfillment of an early urge, for the Hardy career dawned in its own back yard. There, with the hearty co-operation of the neighborhood, Sam undertook to restore civic pride in the drama. Art for art's sake was the pledge. There were no fights about salaries; there were no salaries, although the box office showed a thriving collection of pins. As to just what part he played, the Napoleonic side of the Hardy personality came forth with nice nonchalance. "Oh, I had to write the plays, pick the cast, do the directing and take the lead, or I wouldn't play."

Wiser from experience, Sam has learned there is often more "meat" in a smaller part. Variety is what he seeks and he is getting it at present by changing from one of the prides of the community in private life to a murderous, riotous racketeer in "Big News" on the Pathe lot.

ORIENT AND OCCIDENT MEET AT REPERTORY THEATER

"The Yellow Jacket," which will be unfolded Friday night at the Figueroa Playhouse, promises to be one of the major novelties of the theatrical year. Although written by two Americans, it presents the Chinese viewpoint on such vital matters as first love and the dreams of young men setting out to conquer the world. Three of the performers are pictured by Staff Artist Bruce Russell. They are Schuyler Ladd; Mary Hutchinson and Charles D. Coburn. Mr. Coburn, at right, takes the part of Chorus, who interprets the action for the edification of the audience.



'MOTHER' TURNS TO DANCING

Belle Bennett Forgets Sobs for Saucy Maternal Role in Duffy Stage Play, First in Five Years

BY ALMA WHITAKER

No one else could be "just as good" for the star role in "Dancing Mothers" as Belle Bennett, according to Henry Duffy, who would not have produced this play at El Capitan without Belle. It opens today, and Belle, who has not been on the stage for five years, feels that she is to make a new flutterful debut.

For it is in pictures that Belle Bennett won her most stylish honors—notably as that precious vulgar noble-hearted mamma in "Stella Dallas"—and now she has to learn stage make-up and stage technique all over again. She was as excited as a girl at her first party, when I captured her between rehearsals—with her faithful spouse, Fred Windemere, playing ardent stage-door beau.

"I adore the role," confessed Belle, who dotes on maternal psychologies. "I can fit my picture work in with it, too—we still have the sound version of 'The Woman Who Was Forgotten' to make in the daytime, and this revival of my stage experience will help in that, too. Fancy, I, who have been on the stage all my life, so thrilled to be back—and so anxious as to whether my voice will carry.

"You won't make any money out of it," remarked her practical spouse.

"Now, don't talk about money. It doesn't matter a bit," laughed Belle, who nevertheless has been meeting perfectly colossal expenses lately. For, you see, Belle really has the matriachal consciousness, and mothers an enormous family—grandparents, parents, sisters and brothers, nieces and nephews galore, several of whom have gone in for expensive illnesses of late, with doctor's computing their bills on movie-star salary basis. Then, too, three distinct families of less fortunate relations from back East have been brought out here and staked by Belle, who, strong in her Christian Science faith, is getting them and their fifteen children "organized." Some of the children arrived as undisciplined little pagans, but it took less than a week for friends to describe them as the best-behaved darlings in the neighborhood! So whatever Belle's maternal methods are, they obviously work—even unto securing jobs for male relations as well.

In spite of all this weighty responsibility Belle looks younger, trimmer, happier than she has in years. Quite the ideal type for that Dancing Mother who can cut out her own daughter with the man-about-town, Ben Bard—for daughter's own good.

"And I think the picture I am doing, 'The Woman Who Was Forgotten,' is one of the sweetest and finest yet for me. It is the story of a school-teacher, from the ages of 20 to 70, and is being produced by that clever young man, Richard Thomas. Oh, yes, I am so happy in both my jobs now."

For recreation Belle loves the Dove, the Windemere yacht, so named for Peace. Her husband wanted to call it Lady Windemere, but Belle stood firm for the Dove, and that emblem adorns the seagoing sweaters. They delight in filling up that boat with all those young nephews and nieces, who adore being allowed to keep the galley clean, swab the decks and shoulder any responsibilities that are permitted them.

Each of those families Belle is mothering, has been provided with a cottage, a modest car, and complete new sartorial outfits. The little boys wear blue serge sailor suits and the little girls middies and skirts—a la the English royal children. No wonder they all regard Auntie Belle as a superior sort of a fairy godmother, who must be lived up to. Quite awful to disgrace such a marvelous auntie. In spite of the Christian Science, Belle lets her older dependent relations have doctors and go to hospitals when their own faith demands—she just calls that "confusion," which her Science aids her in unscrambling. Still, it is ironical that she of all people should be paying quite boggling doctor's bills these days.

BANK LOSES MESSENGER TO FILMS

David Rollins Once Intent Upon Career in Finance; Vacation Gave Idea

"Boy-e-e-e!"

There was a time, and not so long ago, when this long drawn out monosyllable, echoing through the marble halls of the Bank of America, resulted in more concentrated pep on the part of a certain David Rollins than the combined results of all the patent medicines on the market.

At this period in the life of Fox's pet juvenile, his dreams were soaring, not cameraward . . . but toward a spacious private office with the impressive name, "President," lettered in gold on the door.

David was a messenger boy, but he didn't intend to stay one for long. As soon as his apprenticeship was over he would be a teller, and maybe president . . . yes sir!

The crash came all unexpectedly. One morning David awoke to find his dreams shattered about his head. He had taken a vacation, lost his seniority in the organization, and that was that. He would have to begin all over again if he was ever to smile at customers through that envied little window where his name would be boldly lettered.

"Why don't you try pictures?"

It was David's "best pal and severest critic," his sister, who diplomatically let this bombshell drop one morning not long after the tragedy.

"Why not?"

And so it was that David embarked upon his career, in a line of youngsters waiting for extra bits in Universal's Collegian Comedies.

It took six months, however, before the boy was singled out as having that indefinable something that makes for stardom. Fox made the discovery.

Those inside the lot still smile when they recall the first interview with David.

"How much will you work for?" they asked.

"Well, I-I-I got $15 a week at the bank, sir," came a small quakey answer.

"Will $75 a week do for a starter?"—

That was almost a year ago. Since that time David has appeared in six feature pictures, and has been placed under a five-year contract. The only time he ever thinks about a bank any more is when he makes his monthly pilgrimage to deposit his pay check.

With his last picture, the "Fox Movietone Follies," completed and playing at the Criterion, David is taking life easy in the roadster (which has the distinction of being every bolt, nut and screw his own) and in the ocean.

"Gee, a fellow doesn't know what he can do until he plays in a musical comedy talkie," David grinned, referring especially to his part in the Follies. "If anyone had told me I could sing and dance, I'd have thought they were crazy . . ."

David admits, however, that he always had a secret trend for musical comedy . . . in spite of the fact that, had anyone offered him a position in one, he believes that he would still be running.

Be that as it may, any chap should be able to sing the words "That's You, Baby," to a young lady as easy to look at as Sue Carol.

According to David, however, most of his "whoopee" is made on the screen . . . and for two good reasons. First of all, he is very much concerned by being the man of a family consisting of a sister and a small niece and nephew. Anything this trio says, goes with David.

And then too, there is a clause in his contract to the effect that he must dispense with any excesses in late hour entertainment and recreation. This is so that he may retain the youthfulness that is to make him score in the type of production made famous by Richard Barthelmess. David himself, thinks nothing would be more ideal than to play Mark Twain's character Tom Sawyer . . . or perhaps, Huckleberry Finn.

And so while waiting for another picture to come his way, David dreams, not of a bank president's office . . . but of being a great actor.

"But it's a funny business," he said, "not long ago I was working on three pictures at once . . . now I'm not doing anything!"

According to report, however, David won't have a chance to idle for long. He is being considered for the role of the wise-cracking little brother in the talker version of that popular stage play, "The Family Upstairs."

FROM HERO TO VILLAIN

Ian Keith, who is playing the male lead in "The Great Divide" for First National, has grown six different mustaches during the past year, only to shave them off an equal number of times. Producers have found that Keith can be transformed from hero to villain by merely adding a little fuzz to the upper lip, and thus each new role finds him shaven or otherwise, according to the menace of the character he is portraying.

OLAND BOUND BY CONTRACT

Veteran Free-Lance Player of Oriental Roles Now With Paramount; Talkies Bring Good Luck

BY ALMA WHITAKER

That motion-picture director who is such a direfully important person to the plot of "The Studio Murder Mystery," now showing at the Paramount Theater, is Warner Oland of lo, these many villain roles, mostly oriental.

"Yes," he says, smiling through those half-shut eyes of his, "I am getting along very nicely with the talking pictures," and he adds a quiet little chuckle. Nothing noisy about Warner. You see, it was his work in "Chinatown Nights" with Wally Beery and Florence Vidor which brought that pleasant contract with Paramount . . . when contracts are not exactly being thrust upon people.

And since "The Studio Murder Mystery," now showing, he has returned to the oriental culpabilities in "The Insidious Dr. Fu Manchu," which the studio considers so good that it is holding it for the fall season, which is much more stylish than the summer season.

It was after a glittering career on the stage in this country that Warner Oland decided to take a dip into this picture game . . . not seriously, of course, but just to sample it. That was in the Theda Bara days of siren glory; and he has stayed in Hollywood ever since . . . free-lancing. "I preferred free-lancing during the silent picture era," he declares, "but now that talking pictures are here and my old stage experience proves so valuable, I am happy to be under contract."

A LOVABLE PERSON

For a famous villain he is a serene, lovable sort of a person. One bit of evidence thereto is that he forms one of that all-too-small coterie in Hollywood that have kept the same wives all the time . . . J. Farrell Macdonald, Ralph Lewis, George Fawcett, Tully Marshall, the Torrence brothers. Warner married Edith Shearn, that clever artist whose work was first exhibited in New York when she was but 17 years of age . . . twenty-one years ago.

They have a home in Laurel Canyon and a halcyon retreat up at Carpinteria, and Warner quotes Walt Whitman anent loafing and the poetic contemplation of blades of grass. He can talk wistfully of apple orchards, and wax sentimental anent dips in the ocean waves and lazy sun baths . . . even, I mean, if he can portray such a vile person as the villain in "Twinkletoes" with Colleen Moore.

He also, however, dabbles in oil wells and real estate on the side, and sighs that life can become so complicated . . . while insisting that very soon he and Mrs. Oland will resume their sketching expeditions, once their pet recreation.

CAME FROM SWEDEN

It was as a little 9-year-old that Oland came to this country from Sweden, even then intent upon being an actor. He worked hard to put himself through school and to pay for dramatic and singing lessons. All this in Boston. His first job was with an itinerant opera company, alternating with stock-company work in Portland, Me. It was his excellent voice that got him into Viola Allen's company and "The Christian" . . . and New York.

Warner really started out very highbrow . . . seasons of Shakespeare with both Viola Allen and Sothern and Marlowe, and Ibsen with Nazimova. The fellow even pioneered in the Little Theater movement, giving matinees of Ibsen and Strindberg for the "elect few," a most unprofitable but uplifting bit of missionary work.

"I used to work in the road shows and save all my money to lose in New York with my highbrow ventures," he reminisces, without regret. It was a west-coast engagement for "The Yellow Ticket" which brought him to Hollywood and sealed his fate, for Herbert Brenon annexed him for "Jewels of the Madonna" right away and pictures have claimed him ever since. The list of "silents" he has played since then is most imposing. He has abundant faith in the future of the talking picture.

There was the doubt that the play would regarded as anything more than a novelty. But in Paris and London, and again in New York and Chicago, it has been regarded as a play extremely enonomical in form yet nonetheless intricate and entertaining. This drama of two persons who love each other and yet come to a tragic parting, takes its place among the theatrical phenomena of the day. The five months' engagement in New York and the three months' stay it achieved in Chicago testify in favor of its popularity.

Of the two players in the drama, the better known is Miss Bainter, a native of Los Angeles, with her personal triumphs to her credit in both drama and musical comedy. Her portrayal of the distracted wife in "Jealousy" has been highly praised; in fact, several critical authorities in the East have hailed it as her finest achievement.

Halliday, who was born in this country, educated in England, and introduced to the professional stage by Nat Goodwin in San Francisco, has been prominent for many years in New York comedy and melodrama productions. Last year he was starred in "The Spider," a mystery play. He, too, has been credited with surpassing himself in this Verneuil-Walter play of love gone mad.

Guthrie McClintic, who staged "Jealousy" for Woods, filled the husband role in the try-out days, but Halliday was playing opposite Miss Bainter by the time the production reached the New York stage and has been sharing the honors ever since.

ROLE HOLDS ACTOR FOR LONG TIME

Schuyler Ladd Plays Part of Chinaman During Past Sixteen Years

Schuyler Ladd, who plays the young Chinese esthete, Wu Fah Din, which delicately translates into Daffodil, in "The Yellow Jacket," coming to the Figueroa Playhouse Friday, has begun to wonder if he is destined to go on acting the role all his life. He has been doing it intermittently for sixteen years. Not that he doesn't enjoy it—only, when he is not playing and the telephone rings, he knows that another rehearsal of "The Yellow Jacket" is called.

Ladd was the original Daffodil in the first production in New York in 1912. In the spring of 1915 the Coburns revived the play and, with Ladd as the princely exquisite, took it over the country, continuing the tour through the winter of 1915-16, and coming into New York in the fall of 1916 for a full season's run. In 1921 this happened again, and then last fall, when Ladd had come to the conclusion that he was done with the Daffodil, the Coburns decided it was time for another repeat and once more for a season in New York he became the supercilious Wu Fah Din.

Schuyler Ladd says he was born in a Colorado mining camp and that there was nothing in his environment to fit him for what may almost be called his life's work, except a Chinese cook from whom he learned little of the ways of superior princes. While he was a student at the University of Colorado, he decided that he would like to go on the stage. Accordingly he left school without bothering to notify anyone that he was leaving. Arriving in New York, he promptly went into "Ben Hur."

Since then he has spent his time in the theater, though he took two years off to serve in an ambulance unit during the war and, after the armistice, to make the grand tour from St. Aignan to Coblenz with his own company.

CARLYLE FEATURED

Richard Carlyle is a living answer to what has become of the thousands of players who entertained America's soldiers during the war. Carlyle, amusement director at Camp Kearney, is now playing a featured role in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new talking comedy, "Eva, the Fifth." This was directed by Edgar Selwyn and includes Bessie Love, Raymond Hackett, Ford Sterling and Jed Prouty in its cast.

Players Revive Ancient Drama

One of the most distinguished casts ever assembled for any theatrical production appeared in the original presentation of "Are You A Mason?" when it was first offered in New York back in 1901. This Leo Dietrichstein farce opens at the Lincoln Theater Monday night with the colored Lafayette Players featured.

A glance at one of the programs reveals the fact that the original production of "Are You A Mason?" had a company composed of Cecil B. De Mille, May Robson, Arnold Daly and others who have since attained prominence.

The Lafayette members to appear in "Are You a Mason?" will include Evelyn Preer, Edward Thompson, Cleo Desmond, Charles Olden, Sidney Kirkpatrick, Malcolm Patton, Laura Bowman, Lawrence Criner and Arthur Ray.

FARCE RULE OF DAY AT MILLION DOLLAR

"Nothing But the Truth," now playing at Lazarus's Million Dollar, deals with a young man who makes a bet of $10,000 that he can tell the truth for twenty-four hours. Farce situations arise when the young man is confronted by his sweetheart, clients and friends and has to tell the unpleasant truths in answer to their pointed questions.

Richard Dix has the role of the truth teller. Helen Kane, Louis John Bartels, Ned Sparks and Berton Churchill are others in the cast. Added features are "Now and Then," a novelty short talkie, and "Old Black Joe," a one-reel song, and "Curiosities."

STAGE LIFE PREFERRED TO COOKING

Actress Declares Career Better Than Matrimony for Woman of Today

Grace Stafford, who plays the college girl in "Skidding" at the President Theater, has several iconoclastic views on matrimony. She believes that a woman is better off with a career or a business position as a wife than she is as a housekeeper.

"My sympathies are all with the girl in the play," says the Henry Duffy actress. "I believe entirely in her viewpoint that a woman should have some definite work to do and that she is a better wife because she has other interests. If I should marry I would not want to give up acting. I began it as a business and now I'm thoroughly fond of it. I'd never be content to sit at home and accept my husband's salary check every Saturday night."

Miss Stafford started out by engaging in business. She had taken part in many dramatic entertainments in school in Worcester, Mass., and she felt she had dramatic talent. There was no "urge" to the stage. She sat down one night and figured out what she could make in business and what she could earn as an actress. The result sent her to the stage.

She had been in New York only two weeks when Earl Carroll engaged her for his production of "The Rat." Then, for a season, she played Lily, the girl, in "The Shame Woman," with Florence Rittenhouse. After that she was Rosemary in "Abie's Irish Rose" and toured Australia in the comedy. She has been seen here in "So This is London," "The Shannons of Broadway," "Lightnin'" and "The Best People."

Actor Holds Versatility Great Asset

A leading man of the stage who starred in silent pictures and is now being sought after for talking pictures declares he prefers character roles. He is Niles Welch at the Mayan Theater, leading man for Edna Hibbard in John Golden's comedy "Let Us Be Gay," an appropriate title for Shrine week.

"To me, stars and leading men make the mistake of being seen in so many plays in the same line of business that they become identified with it, and that valuable asset, versatility, is apparently overlooked," explained Welch. "We all have our day, but it seems to me that the actor whose work is varied, who is capable of filling many roles, enjoys a longer day than the star or featured player of one line only.

"To me, versatility touches the keynote of success. The field that it opens is enormous, and when I say these things, I have in mind actors who, though identified with one line, were nevertheless capable of playing any important role. Richard Mansfield, for instance: Richard Third to Prince Karl, and Irving with anything from Hamlet to Jingles.

"One of my cherished ambitions is that I may some day give the public some character studies on the stage or screen—that I have an opportunity to portray both the bright and seamy sides. But just at present," added Mr. Welch, "the public appears to demand the lover, the matinee idol, and they want you all dressed up and no place to go."

Niles Welch is remembered by motion-picture fans as the former leading man for Norma Talmadge, Mary Miles Minter and many others.

New York Theaters

BY PERCY HAMMOND

NEW YORK, June 1.—One of the wits of "A Night in Venice" is an outspoken fellow, given to jests of an unseemly character. When his funny tongue is set to wagging it disregards the laws of propriety and makes remarks that would incarnadine the cheeks of any hardened gondolier. Revuegoers enjoy candor, believing it to be a refreshing relief from the polite inhibitions that tether their daily lives. They find relaxation in abandoned humor and extravaganzas to be free and loose, untrammeled by the gear that harnesses their other favorite art forms. Appreciating this need for laxity the New York policemen are temperate in their strictures, and permit the revue comedians to say and do things for which, were they not actors, they would be severely scolded or sent to the chair.

It is, one supposes, a statesman's compromise made in the interest of the public weal. As such it is to be winked at by the law's steel-blue eyes, in which it is gratifying to see a twinkle of human sympathy. But in the matter of "A Night in Venice" privilege is abused. Given a magnum of liberty, it takes a hogshead of license and turns a jolly banquet into a filthy sty. Two of its jokes are so lewd, that they startled even me, one of the most benumbed of the first nighters. There were more than a few who winced at its occasional sewage. Miss Alison Smith, the dramatic critic of the New York World, for instance, tried to crawl under her seat, she was so shamed, and was prevented from doing so by Russell Crouse, her husband, who is one of the New York Evening Post's most understanding humorists. Several nice and paying patrons left "A Night in Venice" in a huff on Monday night, objecting that the orgy they had bought seats for had been interfered with by intrusions of gutter debaucherie.

The Messrs. Shubert, who are sponsors for "A Night in Venice," are in a dilemma. Catering conscientiously to those who are fond of dissipation, they ponder how far they can go in their errand to please. What, they ask themselves in conference, will satisfy our customers, one and all—the wicked, the innocent, the calloused, the ingenues, the tired, the ennuied and the alert? Appointed by fate to be America's most industrious distributors of theatrical entertainment, the Messrs. Shubert shoulder a heavy responsibility.

Though they do not ask me to help them to unravel their tangle, I volunteer to aid them with advice. If I were in their places I should have two editions of "A Night in Venice"—one of them dirty, the other comparatively clean. I should advertise in the newspapers that the performances on Tuesdays and Fridays are addressed to those who like just a little smut; while on Mondays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays the audiences can wallow in the swill barrels.

The adoption of such a policy would be tactful and diplomatic. All of us might be delighted by the stolid humor of Mr. Ted Healy, the agile dancing of Chester Hale's Y.W.C.A. girls, some leftover music by Vincent Youmans and a general heigh-heigh atmosphere more jovial than usual. When, if ever, I take a wife or a daughter to see "A Night in Venice" I shall hope that its comedian will be merciful and not spew epigrams more indigenous to the gutter than the mountain brooks and rills of the Broadway drama.

The Pulitzer prize has been bestowed upon the low brow of "Street Scene," a grand show and the most moving of the past season's theatrical devices. An effective assemblage of sure-fire tricks, alternately reeking with honesty and hokum, it belongs in the category of the better and more photographic circuses.

Mr. Pulitzer's committee did well in its pinning of the blue ribbon upon the weak and palpitating chest of "Street Scene." It would be available as a guide to drama lovers if the Pulitzer judges would make public the causes for their decision, to announce their reasons for a show Pulitzer canonization and to point out the several faults and virtues that make it the saint of the 1929 Broadway crises, but never does it tell us why it does so. It pooh-poohs the last will and testament of its founder, as is its modern right. He is dead and he does not know that the Pulitzer standards are being lowered in the dust of today's show business.

Still, I believe that his committee, a group of distinguished and more or less intelligent showgoers, should be made to put, as the saying goes, their cards upon the table. Why, we may ask them, do you choose "Street Scene" as this year's final answer to the query, "Is the drama an art or a side show?"

Their reply is always, yes, yes; and this reviewer regrets that they are not game enough to mention in their virtuous decrees the fact that "Street Scene," while a thoughtful, virile kodak representation of life upon the tragic New York sidewalks, is but a superchromo picturing in Broadway strokes the sexual ups and downs of those who reside in the East Side tenements. Let us dismiss the plays of the past for tonight as so much nonsense and turn our attention to croquet or the cultivation of dramatic art in the Little Theaters of Oil City, Pa., Humansville, Mo., Manchester, Eng., or Utica, N. Y.

Ray Harris to Prepare Play

Ray Harris, responsible for many Paramount opuses, including several Richard Dix vehicles, and collaborator with Joseph Franklin Poland in the adaptation and dialogue of Poland's original story for Alan Hale, "Sailor's Holiday," again has signed with Pathe. Harris is now working on a play for William Boyd, the title and details of which have not yet been divulged. Howard Higgin, who made "High Voltage" with Boyd, is slated to direct.

ARTS WORKING TOGETHER

Achievements in Architecture, Sculpture, Painting Decoration Observed in This City

BY ARTHUR MILLIER

ALL the arts connected with building in Los Angeles are experiencing a new thrill of mutual activity. As important new buildings are planned architects are turning more and more to the sculptor and mural painter for fitting decoration.

First the development of monolithic concrete churches offered such opportunities as that accorded the sculptor, Gaetano Scarpitta, on the facade of St. John's Church. to carve figures based on early ecclesiastical models. The majority of later churches all included sculptural bas-reliefs over their entrances.

Then came the public library, frankly depending upon sculpture for all its exterior decorations and, despite widespread criticism from disturbed laymen and school-minded architects, its sturdy simplicity and highly appropriate figures and bas-reliefs had their inevitable influence upon subsequent building.

Meanwhile, outside influences were at work which tended to limit architectural decoration to the work of the sculptor and mural painter or tile-mosaic designer. The new forms produced by the new York "setback" laws were modified for use here because of the increased air and lighting possibilities they offered, the architect composing his building in large cubical masses on which elaborate decoration of older type appeared incongruous, while so-called modern decorative art, depending entirely upon proportions and textures for its effects, offered increasing opportunities for the use of clean-cut stone carving.

The largest mural commission in the city is that just completed by Hugo Ballin, A.N.A., for Temple B'nai B'rith, described in another article on this page. The example of the Public Library's mural competition, awarded to Dean Cornwell, who is now bringing his work near completion in his London studio, has been followed by the Los Angeles Museum's announcement of a competition for large wall decorations on the theme of man's creative spirit. The works chosen will enrich the walls of Mural Hall, center of the huge museum structure when additional building units are completed.

Gjura Stojana is now at work in the imposing sportswear salon of Bullock's Wilshire building upon a forty-foot mural decoration which freely and richly symbolizes California's opportunities for the enjoyment of outdoor sports. In this work he is exercising his talents as painter and carver of wood. The result should prove one of our finest decorations, for Stojana is a born decorator.

Over the Wilshire Boulevard entrance of Bullock's, George Stanley's 18x12-foot sculptural plaque, symbolizing the service of the institution standing between producer and consumer, is now being put in place.

This store is setting an unusual precedent, but one wholly in harmony with the times. It has erected a modern building to serve the motor-traveling customer, who drives into a large court and is relieved at once of his car. To alight from a motor vehicle and walk into a Renaissance building would obviously be an anachronism, so the treatment of the exterior, with its strongly stressed verticals, and the interior, saving only two period rooms, is in modern modes.

John and Donald Parkinson, designers of many notable structures, are the architects of the building. Three floors of the interior are the work of Feil and Paradise, designed by J. D. Peters, one of the most gifted and practical "modern" designers here, who is responsible for many of the best new store fronts and interiors in Los Angeles, as well as modern furniture and rug designs which have been manufactured on a national scale. The decoration of still another floor is being done in Bullock's own studios by John Weber, modern architect.

Over at the stately new County Hospital Building Gaetano Scarpitta is modeling a group of figures and high-reliefs to be poured in concrete as sculptural decoration of the facade, a project that will be watched with interest by architects because it offers a harmonious method of enriching a concrete building. It has been done here before, but not on the same scale.

An extensive scheme of mural and sculptural decoration is being carried out at the State Exposition Building, Exposition Park. This commenced with the series of murals of California life and industry installed two years ago by James E. McBurney; was followed a few months back by David Edstrom's statue of James Whittier, which stands in front of the building, and now Merrell Gage, sculptor, is at work on two overlife-size figures symbolizing the wealth of agriculture and industry. The aim at the building is to use decoration that will be easily understood by the masses of people who visit the institution. While some of the works designed for it will seem a little obvious to artists and connoisseurs, the policy is probably a sound one.

In line with the modern trend to combine beauty with utility in business institutions are the new offices of the Mayers, Inc., on the fifth floor of the Braun Building. Advertising and printing are the commodities this firm dispenses, and their offices are located close to their presses in what is by nature a loft building of concrete, glass and steel frames. The ordinary procedure is to stick in a few desks, hang up a quantity of samples and invite the client in. The Mayers, however, having tired of that, did something different and worthy of emulation.

They called in Kem Weber, designer, and asked for sketches of an interior that would be well lighted, beautiful and modern. The finished job has fine style and utility.

Philippine mahognay of a light color thinly shellacked and waxed, metal furniture painted green with green leather trim, and sanded glass for windows and light fixtures, are the materials used. One enters a small but cheerful waiting room, entirely paneled in the wood with lounging seats akin to automobile seats of the same wood with light green leather cushions. Like all the executive offices this room is lit by a central fixture of mahogany and a single horizontal sheet of sanded glass immediately below the bulbs, giving diffused light.

An eighty-foot corridor, with offices on either side, is cleverly stylized, reflecting and refining the rectangular nature of the building itself. In the offices themselves the green metal furniture draws all the customary filing cabinets and office machinery into harmony against the warm, light-colored wood panels.

As Henry Mayers put it: "We wanted a machine to work in but we demanded as much beauty and lightness as we get in a modern automobile. We got just what we wanted."

Cruising about this vast city one quickly discovers that "modern" business architecture is quite the thing. After Roger Babson put his oracular O.K. on modern decorative art as good business, "modern" began to elbow "Spanish" quite rudely off Wilshire, Hollywood and other boulevards.

The general result is nothing to write home about, being simply a change from an old-style to a new and very raw one. The average architect has simply added a new file of photographs to his library and his younger and less-set draughtsmen now copy the decorative details first revealed to the world in the Paris exposition of decorative arts in 1925; whereas the older men purloined the charms of Florentine palaces, Spanish churches and Norman farm houses.

Hundreds of two-story store buildings are already to be seen, montonously repeating their vertical and horizontal bands of artificial stone where previously one saw stucco. The angular mountain and wave motifs and the massive decorations seen on top of towers, loking like the feather of an arrow, meet the eye at every turn. Instead of Academie des Beaux Arts we must now read L'Art Moderne. Either way we are still lisping bad French.

BLAMPIED PRINTS SHOWN

A group of etchings and drypoints by Edmund Blampied, English etcher, most of whose works have been done among the farm folk and fishermen of the Channel Islands, is now current at the Print Rooms. He is a strikingly original figure among print makers, the vigor and brilliance of his drawn line giving him a high place. Occasionally he hits a remarkably high level as in the superb "Farm Fire," in which a horse rushes terrified from his stable, and in "Ostend," horses again being his subject. He has few equals in drawing the horse in action, and is a fine technician to boot.

England will spend on education this year $2,170,000 more than in 1928.

Art Cures Insomnia

Despite the number of fine works of art shown, visitors to the National Gallery, London, fall asleep gazing at a Rembrandt, a Titian or works by other masters, according to the Star of that city. A reporter, checking up the report of a subscriber to that effect, investigated. He found the sleepers to be mostly middle-aged, well-dressed gentlemen with clubs of their own. While closely watching a gray-haired man in white spats and "topper," to observe how long it would take him to reach the snoring point, he was himself wakened by a museum attendant with a tap on the shoulder, saying, "You can't go to sleep here, sir!"

JEWISH HISTORY IN MURALS

ing of Jerusalem under Titus and the theft of the candlestick from the Temple.

Such famous historical figures as Akiba, the first martyr, and Hanina appear; Rabbis Meyer and Rasshi, famous mediaeval commentators on the sacred books, Mimonades the physician and others, the figures interlaced with symbols of their lives and beliefs.

The Day of Atonement, the Passover, Confirmation, the Feast of the Horns and the lighting of the Sabbath lamp bring out the charm of Jewish family ritual. Of great interest to gentiles is the panel showing Emmanuel of Rome reading his poems to Dante, who is said to have gained the inspiration for his works from the Jewish poet. Another especially satisfying group is that of Judaea's three contributions to world culture, personated by a philosopher, an astronomer and a physician.

The Inquisition which visited the Jews of Spain so fiercely, and the Procession carrying the books in the synagogue—a custom which grew out of that persecution—lead to the final symbols of a new life for the Jews stirring under the rich soil of the New World.

Lunettes on the east and west walls show hieratic compositions of the prophets and the prophecies. Seen from a distance of seventy feet, it is apparent how well the artist has solved the difficult problems of perspective inherent in works placed high above the eye.

The liberal attitude of Dr. David Edelman, Mr. George Mosbacher and Rabbi Magnin himself and others have made possible the artist's free presentation of his theme. The church, which will be dedicated on Friday, Saturday and Sunday of this week, is unsurpassed here for the daring conception of its soaring dome and the richness of its interior decorative treatment. Its designers are A. W. Edelman, architect, and Allison and Allison, consulting architects.

PRINTS SHOWN ABROAD

An exhibition of 432 contemporary American prints, arranged by the American Federation of Arts, is on exhibition at the Victoria and Albert Museum, London, Eng., from May 14 to the 22nd inst. Nine Californians are represented. They are Loren Barton, Benjamin C. Brown, Howell C. Brown, Armin Hansen, Charles B. Keeler, Arthur Millier, Roi Partridge, Howard Simon and John W. Winkler. Works by Hansen, Winkler and Partridge are reproduced in the catalogue.

Nation Gets American Art

WASHINGTON (D. C.) May 31. The collection of American paintings of the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries formed by John Gellatly, has been accepted for the National Gallery. The pictures, which are said to have cost the collector from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000, were previously offered to Columbia University on condition that a special building be provided. This the university found itself unable to do, so the works have been offered the Smithsonian Institution and accepted by Congress. Many of the finest works by Thayer, Ryder, Twachtman, Whistler, Homer, Inness and living artists, including Hassam, Myers, Wiles and Reid, are in this collection, which is also believed to include Mr. Gellatly's notable collection of glass and classical objects.

Convention for Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, May 26.—The American Federation of Art held its twentieth annual convention in this city from May 22 to 25, last, simultaneously with the American Association of Museums convention. Among subjects discussed were "Creative Art Education," "Art Commissions and City Planning," "Lending by Museums." Especially significant were sessions dealing with art and the department store, one of them presided over by the Hon. R. B. Lamont, Secretary of Commerce. Other interesting sessions discussed "Community Co-operation" and "Rural Adult Education and Aesthetic Interests." Philadelphia's museums, art schools and private collections were viewed by the visitors.

Small Town Gets Museum

The "Fitchburg Art Center," recently opened in a remodeled barn de luxe at Fitchburg, Mass., realizing the lifetime dream of Eleanor Norcross, daughter of the town's first Mayor and herself an artist. Her will left a legacy of $100,000 to found an ideal small museum in her native city. Small but good collections give a cross-section of man's art achievements.

COURSE ANNOUNCED

A summer course of creative art is announced by Franz Geritz for six weeks, from July 1 to August 10, limited to twenty-five students. The course will present creative principles based on rhythm and will stress individual expression. For further information address 102 Carondelet street.

DESERT FORMS YIELD MO

Noted Architect Uses Nature's Design in P
Huge San Marcos Hotel Now Rising in Ari

BY ARTHUR MILLIER

Who has not looked up at the forms of our western d and exclaimed: "What superb architecture!" But who ever forms utilized by man? The customary procedure is to le ground and plant a Moorish or Hopi building; to impress on the desert.

When Alexander J. Chandler of Chandler, Ariz., commissioned Frank Lloyd Wright, famous architech, to draw up plans for a resort hotel in the Salt River Valley about thirty miles from Phoenix, a process was set in motion which is now flowering into the West's most interesting architectural development, known as "San Marcos in the Desert."

The architect himself styled it "in" the desert, the little word symbolizing a profound conviction, expressed concretely in many previous structures, that a building should be in and not on its soil. But in planning San Marcos he found for himself a theme, at once so simple and so all-embracing that it is doomed to be as much and as badly imitated as were his low-lying prairie houses.

It is an ironic truth in art that masters do not grow out of schools. Great artists often say: "With my crude groping I have paved a new way in which my successors may create great works." We wait and see only technique and imitation. Wright's theme at San Marcos was lying in the desert awaiting a man both simple enough to see it and big enough to develop it; and—let us not forget this, an Alexander J. Chandler broad enough to recognize its significance.

Draw a horizontal line on paper. Now take a protractor and construct an angle of 60 deg. at one end of your line and an angle of 30 deg. at the other end. When these two lines meet you have made a right-angled triangle. Nature antedated your performance on the desert by a few billion years. The floor of the desert is the hypotenuse, wind has piled up the long side and dropped sand sharply at the apex to form the short side of the triangle. Here is the characteristic profile of the desert.

But obviously that is a broad generalization; a true theme is a tiny thing of a few notes.

Wright went down into the desert and built a camp. The camp was so interesting architecturally that Dr. Chandler had him build two others. While these were building the architect wandered about the desert in leisurely fashion examining broken rocks, plants, small crystaline forms. Everywhere the same angles persisted, even to the ribbed formation of the sauhara plant, seen in cross-section.

He had his theme.

OPPOSING FORCES

Rocks and plants on the desert rise vertically; wind blows across them, creating the characteristic triangle. Draw a vertical through your triangle and you have a profound symbol of life. Great shoulders and heads emerge above the wind-blown debris, little ones are completely buried, holding up the mass of sand.

I do not know whether the architech pursued his theme to such a metaphorical pitch, but I do know that he found it so true to the desert and his purpose that it sustained him through the difficult task of planning the vast building now rising at San Marcos, without relapsing into easy precedent.

Facing distant Superstition Mountain is a rounded spur of the Salt River Mountains. Down a draw in the middle of the spur trickles a stream of water from a series of springs. Rich verdure

JUNE OFFERS LIVELY READING

Edwin Justice Mayer Writes Brilliant Jonathan Wild Play; Vina Delmar, Henry Kitchell Webster and Arthur Somers Roche Offer Sprightly Fiction

BY LILLIAN C. FORD

CHILDREN OF DARKNESS. An Original Tragi-Comedy. By Edwin Justus Mayer. Horace Liveright, New York.

This play of the eighteenth century by Edwin Justus Mayer, author of "The Firebrand," was suggested by Henry Fielding's "The History of the Life of the Late Mr. Jonathan Wild the Great." In feeling and manner it might be an authentic play of the age depicted. Not only does Mr. Mayer re-create the scene: he also reveals the point of view and the psychology of the age.

It all occurs on the top floor of Mr. Snap's house, close to Newgate prison, of which Snap is one of the jailers. According to the custom of the day, favored prisoners of means were allowed to live at the grasping jailer's house, where his daughter, Laetitia, played her part in their entertainment. Snap had sold "the entire privacy of the floor" to the notorious criminal, Jonathan Wild, while he was waiting for his execution. He had likewise sold it to Count La Ruse and to the poet Cartwright. The complications that arise therefrom are amusing and dramatic. Mr. Mayer ably develops the play to its climax, when the poet is released through the self-sacrifice of a rogue, who gives up his own chance of liberty, realizing that it is too late for him to make any good use of freedom.

I cannot do better than quote this comment of John Howard Lawson's on "Children of Darkness." He says: "It is brilliant and subtle in the real sense; because its wit has the mellowness of an adult mind, and the delicacy of an [illegible] spirit manipulating sharp tools. I know of no more thrilling full-length portrait than that of the astonishing woman in this play—a gorgeous, bawdy, humorous figure, sketched with an eighteenth-century verve, and a very modern understanding."

LOOSE LADIES. By Vina Delmar. Harcourt, Brace & Co., New York.

The author of "Bad Girl," that fair to middling first novel with the title that made for big sales, has in "Loose Ladies" collected various short stories that have appeared in magazines during the past year or two.

The style in them, if you can say she has a style, is as loose, as lacking in distinction and in artistic worth as in "Bad Girl." There is just one thing to be said for her and that is that she knows her pert shop girls, her banal taxicab drivers, her cheap sports and her tiresome climbers fairly well, though she has no deep psychological insight into them or any other members of the human race.

She makes her people talk in a cheap and slangy way, contrives some rather good situations in which she plants sufficient pathos to move a waitress to tears, tells us a deal of what goes on in her loose ladies' heads, and calls the result short stories. That she is fully justified in this is proven by the fact that editors grab them up as though they were jewels found in the jungle.

THE SEALED TRUNK. By Henry Kitchell Webster. The Bobbs-Merrill Company, Indianapolis.

When the young newspaper feature writer, Martin Forbes, first sees Rhoda White, with "her curly red hair and her perfectly delightful legs," he falls for her. It is in the Alhambra, Denver dance emporium, that he gets this shot in the heart. Not ten minutes later he overhears a suspicious looking bozo talking about her to a woman who set Martin's teeth on edge. This unpleasant person tells the man to find out where she lives. "If I can get her address," she adds, "we'll have J. C. where we want him."

From that time on things happen so fast that no reviewer can possibly keep up with them. But if you want a mystery story that keeps you on your toes from start to finish, buy this. It's clever, original, well written and generally a little bit of all right.

THE WOMAN HUNTERS. By Arthur Somers Roche. The Century Company, New York.

Here's another rapid-fire tale that it's easy to read. It is told in the first person by Allen Gorman, outcast member of the aristocratic New York Gormans. Allen had been accused of cheating at cards, his own cousin taking the lead in this. Ostracised from society he had gone to Europe, where he made his living as a high class, straight-shooting gambler. At Deauville he had met the Candaces, with their daughter Yvonne, "a girl who might have been born to the blood royal," though her father was a self-made nobody.

In New York he meets them again at the vulgar party that is supposed to launch Yvonne into society. "There were thieves at Vonny Candace's party; there were blackmailers here; there were men here who made their living in ways more questionable." Not that the Candaces knew this. They had merely sent invitations broadcast, with this merry result.

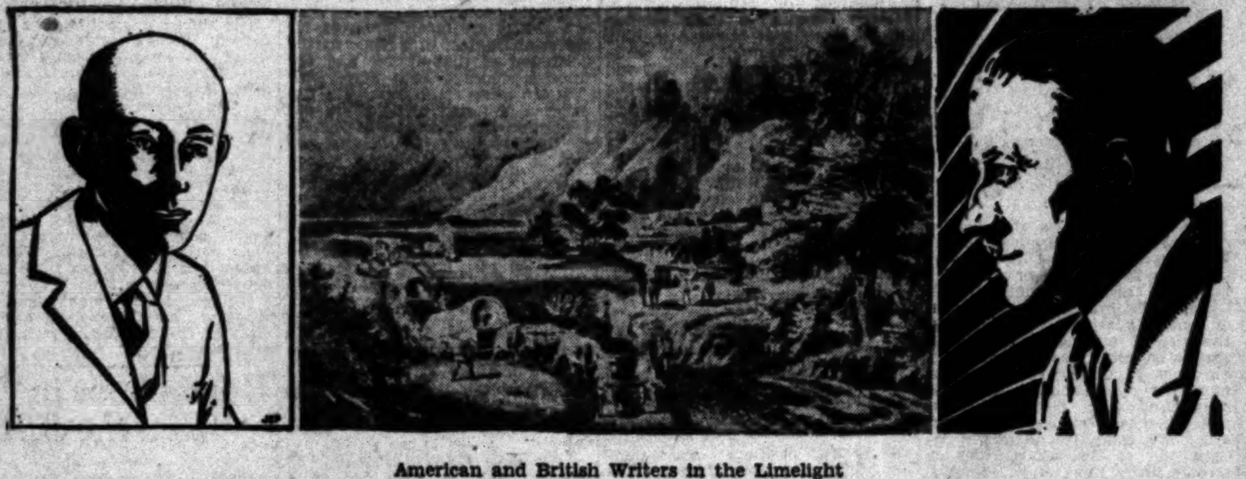
One of the guests was the racketeer, Kenneth Runyon, a good-looking crook who had made up his mind to marry Yvonne and her thirty millions. Young Gorman, who thinks he is in love with the woman who jilted him at the time of his disgrace, takes sufficient interest in Yvonne to decide him to block the racketeer's game. As to how he does it and who becomes involved, Mr. Roche tells in his usual high-voltage manner.

NEWSPAPER VERSE

Franklyn Pierce Davis, editor of the annual anthology of newspaper verse, is convinced that much of the best verse printed in America is published, originally, in newspapers and for ten years has been collecting impressive evidence in support of that conviction. The tenth successive Anthology of Newspaper Verse, for 1928, has just been published, and not only would it be hard to gather an equal number of magazine poems of superior quality but probably it would be impossible to find a collection equally reflective of America's moods and sentiments. While many of the poems are more marked by humanness and vigorous expression of American thought than by art, some are as delicate, as exquisite and as sincerely poetic as one one could expect to find anywhere. They remind one of Don Marquis's boast that he would not publish any poetry in his columns, when he was a New York colmunist, "which was not better than most of that appearing in the current magazines."

Three poems from the Los Angeles Times are included in the volume, one by Mabel W. Phillips and two by Lee Shippey. Frederick M. Steele and Annice Galland of Los Angeles also are represented by poems published in other papers. Very few papers are represented by more than two poems, the exceptions being papers like the Boston Herald, New York Times, New York Post, Philadelphia Bulletin and Oakland Tribune, which have exceptionally high standards for poetry. Six poems, an exceptionally high number, are reprinted from the Honolulu Star-Bulletin, indicating that Hawaii must be the most poetically inspiring bit of land America possesses.

Henry Justin Smith, widely known to the literary public as the editor of the Chicago Daily News and as the author of "Deadlines" and of "Josslyn," has written a new novel, entitled "Poor Devil," that bids fair to become the epic of our new urban civilization, to be published by Covict Friede. It tells the story of the crushing effect of a big city on the sensitive soul of one "poor devil."



American and British Writers in the Limelight

Gossip of the Book World

One of the most unique and valuable collections of Roosevelt's writings in existence is a twenty-two-volume set now in the hands of Cannell & Chaffin on West Seventh street. The set includes "Hero Tales From American History," "The Winning of the West," "Oliver Cromwell," "American Ideals," "Hunting Trips of a Rancher," "Gouverneur Morris," "The Naval War of 1812," "Ranch Life," "The Hunting Trail," "New York," "The Wilderness Hunter" and "Thomas Hart Benton." Each of these thirteen books bears on the title page an inscription written in Roosevelt's own hand.

"Illusion," by Arthur Train, has been bought by Paramount for an all-talking screen production. Charles Rogers and Nancy Carroll will play the leading roles. Filming will commence immdiately. "Illusion," a story of modern society and of the vaudeville stage, was published by Charles Scribner's Sons May 3. It was reviewed last Sunday.

Thornton W. Burgess, who has done so much to preserve vanishing and inoffensive wild life, recently had the melancholy privilege of taking, with Dr. Alfred O. Gross, a motion picture of the last heath cock—a sort of eastern prairie chicken—on Martha's Vineyard, Massachusetts, the solitary survivor of unnumbered thousands that foraged the East two centuries ago. Mr. Burgess, whose "The Burgess Animal Book for Children" and "The Burgess Flower Book for Children" are the most popular of their type, has now written "The Burgess Seashore Book for Children."

Just before his inauguration it will be remembered that President Hoover paid a flying visit to South America. Now comes forward Miss Annie S. Peck, globe trotter and mountain climber, to advise him of what he missed. In fact, she has a lecture on the subject delivered through the Board of Education lecture bureau of the New York city schools. Miss Peck's book on "Industrial and Commercial South America" is published by the Crowells in a new edition.

In "The Bright Thread" (Doubleday, Doran) Cornelia Geer Le Boutillier tells the story of a young man who saw both the fineness and the coarseness in life. There was a little of each in his own make-up. An adopted son, Michael Locke, was brought up with the cultured and wealthy children of his foster-uncle, who was one of New York's most fashionable clergymen. He tried to follow the example of these quiet, charmingly conservative people, but Michael's greatest struggle was with himself. Although the victory was not bloodless, Michael's fiery, questing spirit finally triumphed over the obstacle that a hard-headed intellect imposed and returned to the church which he had always loved.

The Associated Press dispatches that Reginald Sutter, grandson of Gen. John Sutter, will press a claim against the United States for $50,000,000 brings to mind Blaise Cendrars's book, "Sutter's Gold," published by Harpers. Blaise Cendrars is at work on a biography for Harpers which he hopes to finish by summer.

"The Bishop Murder Case," by S. S. Van Dine, was on the best-selling list of 96 out of 109 book stores in 92 cities of the United States reporting, in a survey conducted by the R. R. Bowker Company for the current issue of "Books of the Month." It is published by Charles Scribner's Sons.

Joseph Conrad was inspired to write "Romance" by the same pirate capture of children which gave Richard Hughes the idea for his novel, "The Innocent Voyage" (Harpers.) Conrad got his data from reports of trials; Hughes got his from a long letter written many years after by one of the captured children, now an old woman.

ESSAYS ON VARIOUS THEMES

BY M. F. CUMMINGS

THINGS TO COME. By J. Middleton Murray. The Macmillan Company, New York.

In this treatise the well-known critic turns his attention to subjects compounded of the intellect and the spirit. The work of which these essays are a sequel was dedicated to a consideration of "The unknown God" and was soundly belabored by the standard-bearers of orthodoxy on one side and by rationalists on the other. As John Middleton Murray has his living to earn he deplores the neglect to which this fact may lead. Nevertheless he feels that woe will be his portion if he refrains from further unfoldment of his new-old revelation, and so proceeds.

Murray's philosophy may be described as a blending of the devout pantheism of Spinoza, the positivism of Compte and of Frederic Harrison and the superman worship of Nietzsche. He realizes that man must have something to worship and this want may be filled by contemplation of the heroes which our race has produced. Of these heroes, this author places Jesus of Nazareth first.

Jesus was a man who loved all things and all men, who believed in a God who was the Father of all men, who believed Himself the son of God, who described Himself as the son of man, who deliberately took the risk of a disgraceful and agonizing death in order to prove and proclaim to men that the God of His belief verily existed, and who, "as His last words absolutely prove, was compelled to renounce this belief when He found Himself forsaken by his God at the last."

Did Jesus, then, live in vain? No, for He left to His brethren the priceless legacy of a hero who so loved His inferior fellows that He gave up his life in a vain attempt to establish the verity of a beautiful, if mistaken belief.

He also gave to the world a new psychology, dynamic, not static, a knowledge that we must be "born again" out of our present state of consciousness into a higher state in which Jesus habitually lived, and which enables those who have once achieved to look upon the world with new eyes and love all things as Jesus loved them.

A list of great writers whose work bears evidence that they have experienced this second birth is given and the selection will surprise many readers. For the foremost heroes in Murray's pantheon are not those of every-day worship. Hinton long ago said that "Positivism bears a new mysticism in its bosom, but the child has not yet come to the birth." Those who read this remarkable series of essays may decide that Murray is to be the acting obstetrician.

Murray's final essay entitled "A Divagation On Politics" will interest those who may care little for the subjects previously treated. It is in this critic's most brilliant vein and proves that his wonted fires are not dulled by hero-worship.

THE BLACK HEART. By Sydney Horler. Published for the Crime Club Incorporated, by Doubleday, Doran & Co., New York.

What can be more productive of anticipatory thrills than a volume sponsored by "The Crime Club Incorporated?" Doubtless the younger members of the "club" are now going about murmuring Hist! at each other, and carrying silver-mounted revolvers in their flask pockets. Of further dark practices we may bootlessly enquire, for Alas! "The Crime Club Never Tells." Therefore the sole resources for those who love mysteries is to turn their questing minds to a study of "The Black Heart" whose very name is warranted to produce shudders of high voltage.

The "Black Heart" was a secret order of criminals into which only the few and fit were ever initiated. Gilbert Chertsey, who was neither a criminal nor a professional detective, came into it as a result of failing to mind his own business, which happened to be that of writing stories.

Being unable to think up a plot for his next story, Chertsey, who had plenty of money, determined to stimulate his imagination by visiting a Parisian gambling-house, where he lost heavily and so attracted the attention of some Black-Handers, who were looking for a catspaw to pull some of their London chestnuts out of a dangerous fire. Therefore, they made a tempting proposal to the supposed bankrupt, which Gilbert, in search of a thrill, accepted.

How he became aware of a fiendish plot of a political nature, which was intended to wreck the peace of all Europe, how he helped to catch the plotters, rescue a beautiful girl and incidentally save his country and himself, is graphically related.

The popularity of B. M. Bower's western novels on the Continent is indicated by the sale of the Czecho-Slovakian rights of ten recently published books from this author's pen. The forthcoming Bower novel is "Rodeo," which will be published shortly by Little, Brown & Co.

A SYMPOSIUM ON SEX PROBLEMS

SEX IN CIVILIZATION. Edited by V. F. Calverton and S. D. Schmalhausen. With introduction by Havelock Ellis. The Macaulay Company, New York.

This bulky volume is composed of the views of thirty distinguished doctors, psychologists and men of science on the influence of sex on civilization. What has been attempted is to bring the discussion of this subject out into the open so that normal men and women may contemplate it free from the taboos that have until quite recently made anything like a free handling of sex and its problems impossible.

Maintaining that the influence of sex in civilization is a form of social evolution that has not as yet been given sufficient study, the contributors to this volume purpose to do several things that will tend to achieve this object. The ends to be sought have to do with the emphasizing of the enormous importance of modern psychology in the understanding of individual personality and individual reactions.

The following significant statement, taken from the preface of this volume and written by the editors, presents in brief just what some of the effects of this suppression has been. They say:

"The most significant aspect of our civilization, psychologically fluoroscoped, is pretense. Pretense is the key to modern civilization.

"Men pretend to believe in God and sacrifice their lives to Mammon; they love liberty and persecute the champions of freedom, honor Christ and are obedient to Mussolini. They bow down to virtue as holy and stain the earth with prostitution and syphilis. They defend marriage as the ultimate honorable basis of civilization, of life itself, and practice on the sly—the Freudian censor being bribed to keep mum—freedoms and licenses that range from guilty-innocent nibbling and flirting and tampering to libidinous experimenting, polymorphous perversions and free love. They praise truth and allow cheats to occupy seats of the mighty, making a religion of education and a mockery of enlightenment. They pretend to love the highbrow and in their secret hearts most enjoy the lowbrow. They speak of the mind as evolution's most wonderful achievement and do everything in their power to defy the illumination of consciousness. They shout for brotherhood, and shoot, imprison or outcaste those who will not join their drunken debauch in celebration of patriotism, nationalism and war."

OREGON TRAIL CHRONICLED

In "The Road to Oregon," says the New York Herald-Tribune, W. J. Ghent chronicles, with meticulous accuracy and in loving detail, the natural and human history of the Great Emigrant Trail. He celebrates the intrepid explorers and fur traders who first traced it dimly, the pioneers of the early '40's who courageously trusted to it their destinies, and the later emigrants who, in the greatest folk trek of history, wore it into a broad, deep highway. He traces with sure pen the geography of the trail, and of the feeders, cut-offs and branches that developed from it. He paints with vivid brush the life of the emigrant bands, the vicissitudes of the march, the conflicts with Indians, buffaloes and the elements. He records the coming of civilization—the inauguration of Holladay's stage coach and Butterfield's overland mail, the coming of the telegraph, and, eventually, of the railroad—the last act in the drama of the disappearance of the American frontier.

A Group of Recent Books

YOUNG BLOOD. By Francis Lynde. Charles Scribner's Sons, New York.

Francis Lynde knows how to write a good railroad story in which intrigue and war between opposing factions make for drama.

Here we have Frederic Burdick made general manager of a small branch road, which he determines to run so efficiently as to make money for the stockholders and at the same time to give the best of service to those dependent upon it.

He finds out that this is not the idea of the men overhead, and here is where clash after clash come. If you are interested in railroad politics and if you like a good adventure romance, seek no further. "Young Blood" fills the bill.

THE BRAND OF THE SEA. By Knud Anderson. The Century Company, New York.

A powerful story of Reinar Graadyb, who left his home in Denmark for a seafaring life, planning to return later to his mother and his sweetheart. Three years changed him, hardened him, made him a different person, one that bore on his heart the brand of the sea.

There is much swift and exciting action in the story, with scenes along the water fronts and with sea fights and terrific storms and conflicts. But it is no ordinary tale of wild adventures, as there is fine character work here.

AMERICAN BEAUTY. By Arthur Meeker, Jr. Covici, Friede, New York.

Here is a clever story that caricatures the American woman who seeks in Europe to establish herself and marry her daughter to some one with money.

It opens auspiciously with Angelica attending Lanvin's fall sale, where she hangs on valiantly to the one chic frock she wants to buy, though other hands reach out for it. In the midst of her embarrassed stand for the bargain, she sees a presentable young man watching her with amused eyes.

She meets this young man again in Violet Daventry's villa at Dinard, whither she had been whisked by Lady Millicent, friend of her mother's. He turns out to be a young American professor, grandson of the Daventry. Quite wholeheartedly he falls in love with the lovely Angelica, who is being kept by her mother as a choice morsel to tempt a rich man.

How Angelica's shabby past rises up to defeat her and how she proves too weak to take the stand needed to cut away once for all from the rubbish life her mother has made for her is the story, told smartly and entertainingly. Its burlesque is not too strong.

STIRRING TRAVEL TALES TOLD

Ellsworth Kolb Describes His Trip Down the Colorado; Col. Powell Penetrates the Last Home of Mystery; Ferdinand Ossendowski Pictures Life in Jungles

BY THOMAS F. FORD

THROUGH THE GRAND CANYON FROM WYOMING TO MEXICO. By Ellsworth L. Kolb. The Macmillan Company, New York.

This is an account of a trip made by the author and his brother down the Green and Colorado rivers in a rowboat. It is a very agreeable compound of incident and adventure and the text throughout is supplemented by a series of admirable photographic studies.

The author has indulged in some interesting general reflections and his account of the meetings with some of the quaint characters that, like the trappers and trailers of the old frontier days, still prefer the solitude of the wilds to the haunts of men in cities, is worth the price of the book alone.

The distance covered was 1600 miles. The drop was 6000 feet from the Green River in Wyoming to the mouth of the Colorado in the Gulf of California. It proved to be a joyous adventure. They saw some of the most picturesque scenery on the continent, met some of the most hospitable and also some of the queerest and quaintest people imaginable and on the whole had a right royal good time.

THE LAST HOME OF MYSTERY. By E. Alexander Powell. The Century Company, New York.

E. Alexander Powell has honestly earned the title of "citizen of the world." Few men have had so wide an experience in far places. He is an able journalist, who has told the world about his wanderings, in such a way as to give his readers a feeling of being with him in the flesh.

In Nepal, a tiny kingdom between India and Tibet, he found the peoples living in such a degraded manner as to characterize their lives as being lived in a "spiritual cesspool."

He tells of exciting experiences in elephant hunting, of camping on Mount Everest, of desperate encounters with the desert Bedouins and of the charm and glamour of some of the beautiful old cities of the East, with their quaint pagodas and splendid temples.

SLAVES OF THE SUN. By Ferdinand Ossendowski. E. P. Dutton & Co., New York.

This is a brilliant account of a journey made by Ossendowski into the heart of the western part of tropical Africa. In it he paints for us a vivid picture of the primitive blacks that inhabit that sun-scorched region of striking contrasts and gives us his impressions of the collective soul of the teeming millions of this isolated area of the earth's surface.

His wanderings carried him through Senegal, Upper Volta, the French Soudan and the Ivory Coast. His account of the people, their habits, customs, religious rites, superstitions and general mode of living is done with dramatic intensity and deep sympathy.

EAST AND WEST OF JORDAN. By Albert Field Gilmore. The Stratford Company, Boston.

A volume recording impressions of the Holy Land. Chapters deal with the events that made Palestine the Holy Land, with the agricultural situation, with the flora and avifauna, with the social institutions, the government, the industrial conditions and the history of the people.

The author's observations on the operation of the British mandate in Palestine and the French in Syria are of interest. So is his account of the workings of the Zionist movement in Palestine.

DEEP SONG. Adventures of Gypsy Songs and Singers. By Irving Brown. Harper & Bros., New York.

Here is a remarkable collection of Gypsy songs, gay, pathetic, passionate, tragic. The author, who has traveled with gypsies for over fifteen years knows every phase of gypsy life. He finds them to be a race of remarkable men and women, whose lives are filled with poetry, who are proud, passionate and reckless. They are great lovers, intense haters. They love a fight, but are inclined to be peaceful, unless put upon. In their wanderings from land to land, they have experienced life in many phases, and have taken from all civilizations, but have been absorbed by none.

Many of the songs appear here for the first time in print.

FROM DEAUVILLE TO MONTE CARLO. By Basil Woon. Horace Liveright, New York.

Basil Woon is a gossip who loves gay places and gay people. With knowing nod and wink he tells us all about the attractions of the gayest places in France. Starting at Deauville he covers Le Touquet, Biarritz, Vichy, Aix-les-Bains and Cannes, ending with Monte Carlo.

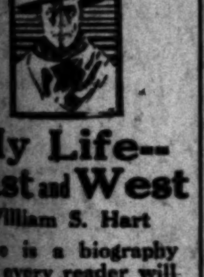
All about gambling and restaurants, wines and entertainments, and all the well-dressed throng who help to keep things going in the resorts where everyone wants to go and most people are glad to get away from.

DEATH ON THE AIR. By Herman Landon. Horace Liveright, New York.

Hector Callender was warned he would come to a violent end within thirty-six hours, but that did not prevent him from admiring Dorothy Leigh's legs while she sat and pleaded with him to give the evidence which would get her husband out of jail. Neither his assurance nor his cunning availed him. Death came as predicted. Followed the death of his wife. It is all mysterious and baffling, with unexpected turns here and there, until at last we understand why each murder occurred to the music of "O Sole Mio" over the radio. But you'll have to read the book from cover to cover before you "get" the point.

THE ENFORCEMENT PLANS

This bulky volume is a symposium of 100 plans submitted by law enforcers in the Durant prize contest "for the best and most practicable plan for making the Eighteenth Amendment effective." Among the contributors are Gifford Pinchot, Police Chief Davis of Los Angeles, William J. Flynn, former head of the Secret Service and many other prominent men.



My Life—East and West
William S. Hart

Here is a biography that every reader will enjoy. Hart has brought to it the same honesty and vigor and daring which made him the first real cowboy on the stage and screen. America knows him first as a movie star, but he has fought his way up as a ranchman, hunter, bullwhacker, iceman, clerk, athlete and actor. His reminiscences include contacts with practically all the stage and screen celebrities of the past thirty years. Lavishly illustrated, $4.00.

Touring Actors Describe Jaunt Below Surface

Description of a jaunt through one of the Kimberly diamond mines of South Africa is made by Billy Wells and the Four Fays, current Orpheum Theater entertainers, who returned recently from a world tour.

"We were crowded into a tiny box-like elevator," they say, "and shot down a long black shaft that seemed to cut right through to the bottom of the earth. Finally we 'landed' and got out.

"They were separating the diamonds from the dirt. It worked like this. One bucket cooped up the unmined dirt and poured it over a long slanting slab of wood covered with a thick grease that resembled vaseline. Another bucket was pouring water over this. The dirt mixed with the water and was carried away into a ditch, but the diamonds, with their jagged edges, caught in the soft grease and were held fast, later being removed.

"Covering the entire surface of the grease were the uncut diamonds. They looked exactly like pieces of jagged, broken glass bottles. Some were huge pieces and some very minute. An unknowing person would never recognize value in them.

"When we ascended in the elevator, we were shown pictures of famous stones mined there and gigantic cases of large, beautifully-cut stones, altogether unlike the ordinary, uncut ones. Guards and searchers stood all around the mouth of the mine, which was situated in an inclosure. Leaving, we were each given a small diamond as a remembrance."

Charles King, singing star of "The Broadway Melody" and other Radio-Keith-Orpheum attractions are on the current bill.

Director Confers on Garbo Film

Clarence Brown at present is one of the busiest men in Hollywood. He is doing two things, either of which is a full size job for any man.

The director is concentrating work, half the time, on putting the finishing touches to the editing of his latest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "Wonder of Women," which has Lewis Stone and Peggy Wood in the leading roles. The rest of the long working day and night he is conferring with Frances Marion, scenarist, on the adaptation, scenario and dialogue of his next production, "Anna Christie," which will introduce Greta Garbo in her first talking role.

Story Shows Youth's Climb From Poverty

Richard Wallace has brought a regular Horatio Alger story to the screen. Directing Maurice Chevalier in his American debut in talking pictures, the Paramount director has told the story of a young boy's rise from poverty to outstanding fame in the theatrical world.

The human-interest touches which caused Wallace's "The Shopworn Angel" to break box-office records throughout the country also are evident, if only faintly, in this first starring vehicle.

Although a hilarious entertainer, Chevalier, for all his dynamic energy, reveals in his manner that undertone of melancholy which tinges the gayety and mimicry of Charlie Chaplin. In making "The Innocents of Paris," the story of which somewhat resembles Chevalier's early life, Director Wallace endeavored to bring out these characteristics of the French actor.

Wallace has just completed shooting on "Magnolia," a love story of the old South, retitled "A Man Must Fight."

Bessie Love in 'Eva the Fifth'

Kenyon Nicholson, co-author with John Golden of "Eva the Fifth," was one of the onlookers when Edgar Selwyn photographed the first sequence of the talking-picture version at the M.-G.-M. studios.

"Eva the Fifth," produced in New York during August, 1928, is a play relating the comic-tragic plight of a stranded "Uncle Tom's Cabin" troupe.

Magnetism in Stage People Held of Value

"There are two kinds of actors, those with compelling personality and those with technical skill," says Edmund Breese, who is starring in Tom Barry's "Danger" with the Henry Duffy Players at the Hollywood Playhouse.

"In the end the actor or actress of magnetism and an arresting stage presence will outdistance the skilful player, although he or she may not know nearly as much about acting.

"The best actress on the stage today is a woman who lacks that spark of warmth that stirs an audience. She is not cold. She is fine and sympathetic in whatever character she plays but she simply has not the personality that appeals to an audience. As a result she is almost forgotten, while many comparatively mediocre players have outdistanced her.

"In my second season on the stage I was leading man for Mme. Rhea, the French actress, who had a wonderful personality. Audiences loved her. She played 'Nell Gwyn' with a French accent but no one thought the less of her for it. Her personality made them forget the fact that she was a Frenchwoman trying to play the English orange girl.

"The same thing was true of James O'Neill, father of Eugene O'Neill, the playwright. He had a remarkable personality and he also was the most skilled actor with whom I have played. I was in his company for several seasons and he taught me more about acting than anyone else. He was both a technician and a man of compelling personality."

I wonder if the present agitation of scenic highways unmarred by [illegible]ian ugliness in the form of billboards will prove sufficient to arouse the dormant sense of beauty in the planners and supervisors of our driveways!

Or will our artistic sensibilities, combined with our love of nature [illegible], still be offended by the [illegible] of unwarranted placards in scenic settings? How long will it be before it is recognized that beauty should at least go hand in hand with utility in the building of our roads and highways?

Wherever a selection is possible our drives should lead through scenery that charms. Wherever there is a dearth of natural beauty, trees should be planted. The need for tree planting along our highway borders cannot be too strongly stressed.

In France the planting of trees is a necessary part of road construction. Also in many parts of the East in our own country. In Southern California where they are so greatly needed we have been cutting them down.

The writer remembers when large stands of tall eucalyptus trees bordered some of our highways to the beaches. They have been ruthlessly destroyed, and none of any description since planted where they stood.

With intelligent planning there is no reason why all our highways should not be beautiful. Here in California distances are so vast that there is far greater need of tree-lined avenues leading through the wide reaches between our cities.

We spend so much time on the road in going from one point of interest to another that riding often becomes irksome unless there is charm in the setting.

So let us plant trees and more trees and reserve billboard advertising for the urban centers where we expect to be reminded, at every turn, of our material age and the things we need for our physical comfort.

But out in the open let us have a chance to forget this side of life and drink in the beauty of clear vistas, reminiscent of a lost Eden.

An article in a late issue of the Forum, by Everett Dean Martin, has this to say of education versus propaganda:

"One of the serious results of propaganda is that it has caused the public to think that education and propaganda are the same thing and thus to make an ignorant multitude believe it is being educated when it is only being manipulated. Education aims at independence of judgment. Propaganda offers ready-made opinions for the unthinking herd . . . The educator tries to tell people how to think; the propagandist what to think. The educator strives to develop individual responsibility; the propagandist mass effects." The summary is that "the educator wants thinking; the propagandist action. The educator fails unless he achieves an open mind; the propagandist unless he achieves a closed mind."

Which is a pertinent subject for reflection.

Our future will be shaped by our present policies. With propaganda of various kinds so prevalent and the masses so ready to listen and be influenced and manipulated, the handwriting on the wall holds a warning.

While much of present-day propaganda has benefits and improvements in view the writer quoted does not distinguish between them.

He deems all contrary to true progress. The benefits procured would be those for the "unthinking herd" rather than for the thinking individual. As pointed out: "One effect of propagandist methods is greatly to increase the susceptibility of the public to slogans, catchwords, half truths. Every real educator and philosopher in history has noted the dangers of this popular tendency."

Should the evil propaganda which disrupts be offset by that which contemplates beneficial results?

Mr. Martin evidently thinks not as the principle involved in all efforts of this kind en masse is a wrong one. The distinction which he makes between individual development and manipulation of the masses is emphasized in these words:

"It makes all difference in the world whether men seek truth in order to make a plausible case for their existing interests and profits and the preconceived ideas they are determined to believe, or whether they seek it for light on all sides of a question. The first makes the ignorant more opinionated; the second leads slowly to one's becoming an educated and civilized individual."

Mass production, mass thinking and planning, mass education characterize our American civilization. Say what we will in favor of this method we know that the commonwealth is an aggregation of individuals and upon their character and development the quality of the civic structure depends.

The ideal state is one which does not stultify the individual but trains and develops all his powers to the utmost. Or rather, aids him in the intensive training, for, in the end, self-development is the true education.

SOUND FILMS SEEN AS MEDIUM OF EDUCATION

The entire world soon will become familiar with the dialects spoken throughout its confines, as talking pictures are made featuring characters from these regions, according to Jean Hersholt, veteran character actor, who is shortly to embark upon the starring role in "The Genius" for Paramount, following his recent completion of the stellar role in "The Climax" for Universal studios, where he was contracted for five years.

Hersholt points out that the charming colloquial dictions like the southern drawl have a singular charm for most English-speaking peoples. In like manner, says the actor, a great majority of Americans are interested in the poised, accented English of the continent, as the reception of several recent plays and talking pictures with English characters conclusively proves.

When talking pictures are made featuring characters such as the New England Yankee, the Tennessee mountaineer, the Old Country Irishman and the dour Scot, Hersholt points out, the colloquialisms of these interesting people will be unearthed and featured. By this occurrence, the actor concludes, a much keener insight will be afforded English people of one another and the basis for a better understanding will be laid.

It is not well known that previous to his arrival in this country Hersholt was a leading actor on the continental stage. In addition he is a portrait painter, a make-up artist, former director and writer and has some 500 characterizations to his credit in his screen and stage careers.

Life Declared Fertile Field for Material

A great amount of fascinating material for synchronized sound pictures is seen in the life, loves and music of the various civilized and semibarbaric peoples of the world by Roy Del Ruth, director of "The Desert Song," who has just completed shooting on a Technicolor all-talking Warner Brothers production, "The Gold Diggers of Broadway."

Much intriguing material for such films is now easily available, Del Ruth explains. The black man chanting his weird ritual in the African swamp, the gay, music-loving Hawaiians in their Pacific island home, the mad, reckless Cossacks of Russia, the sentimental Italian provincials, are all marvelous subjects for sound-film entertainment, this director avers.

"It is delightful to think what great new fields the talking pictures have opened up," says Del Ruth. "The profession has taken on a new glamour and a new fascination. What is more, I believe there are developments ahead which will make this the most amazing and interesting of all existing mediums of entertainment," he concluded.

Recently Director Del Ruth completed "The Hottentot," as an all-talkie comedy production for Warner Brothers, with Edward Everett Horton in the role played by Douglas MacLean in the first film version of the play. Del Ruth will spend the next few weeks supervising the cutting and editing of "The Gold Diggers of Broadway," which, according to the latest reports, is Warner Brothers' most elaborate sight-and-sound production to date.

BOTELER RECALLS BOYHOOD

Wade Boteler, the free-lance actor who is now at Pathe playing the city editor in "For Two Cents," can look back at his boyhood days and remember the time when, as a printer's devil, he hoped some time to be an editor. Wade, who has been heard in several sound pictures, most recently in "The Leatherneck," is doing another talking role in this newspaper story which is being filmed at the Culver City studio under the direction of Gregory La Cava.

ELINOR WORK IS INCREASED

ly two overtures a day—but because of their very brevity (a single performance lasts from eight to twelve minutes) they must cater to an infinite number of different tastes in an infinite number of seconds.

PLEASING THE PUBLIC

"I find," says Mr. Elinor, "that a tuneful melange of familiar airs, symphonically arranged, will please most of the people most of the time. As a starting point, I usually decide on melodies of a definite character; currently a medley of oriental pieces, and with 'Four Devils,' our next picture, an overture which I am calling 'Rhapsody Espanole.'

"It is becoming more and more difficult to assemble and keep an orchestra of representative caliber. The union cost was never higher, thanks to the inroads being made on all available talent by the studios and their sound recording. Musicians who are receiving $300 a week do not consider themselves overly fortunate; I recall a kick registered at one of the film plants by an instrumentalist who netted a 'paltry' $285 for seven days' work."

The two women players in Mr. Elinor's organization have been with him seventeen years. One he is developing as a soloist—Elsa Grosser, who will sing "Estrellita" into the house microphones during the "Four Devils" engagement.

Mr. Elinor made a study of audiences' tastes in music when he led the orchestra at the old California Theater here. His concert programs were, even at that time, known far and wide. Each of them he divided invariably into three parts: the first unreservedly classical (Tschaikowsky, Wagner, Schubert;) the second a light intermezzo; the third a jazz arrangement. Fun for all.

RECORDING DEFICIENT

The chief difficulty with synchronized scores for motion pictures, this conductor deduces, is the loss of graduations in volume, these being in truth the measure of the emotional response in the listener. There is not enough contrast; forte and piano are too alike. The microphones are still temperamental; only lately have the phonograph companies been able to cope equally well with thunders and whispers.

Mr. Elinor is credited with the scores accompanying several recent photoplays, among them "The Bridge of San Luis Rey," "Mother Knows Best," parts of "The Broadway Melody," and two "shorts" for Tiffany-Stahl, for one of which he utilized the "Scheherazade," of Rimsky-Korsakoff. He considers music such an essential background to the screen that he even experimented with "Interference," for which only voices and incidental sounds had been recorded, when it played at the Circle.

During the course of the picture's showing, his orchestra in the pit kept up a low musical commentary on the action, just as if the film had been silent. Unfortunately, however, it wasn't low enough. The audience couldn't hear what the actors were saying.

Mr. Elinor believes that the present craze for recording every little sound in a scene (or within five miles of it) is a temporary throwback to the days of the nickelodeon, when the trap-drummer was the hero of the orchestra.

"It is much more important to suggest action in musical terms," he explains. "A knock on a door becomes dramatic only when it is translated into an insistent summons—for that is what it really is—on the French horn. How can the hollow sound of a hand knocking wood compare for effectiveness with a series of short, piercing blasts on a wind instrument?"

CRITIC REVIEWS NEW TRENDS

her own work is most favorably regarded.

Of the actresses that have come to the films from the stage, she and Ruth Chatterton seem to appeal the most. Miss Chatterton is yet to be seen here in her best performance, namely "Madame X." Miss Eagels is following "The Letter" with "Jealousy" the two-player drama, in which Fay Bainter is shortly to be seen on the stage. Interesting opportunity for comparisons—this.

THE sifting of imported talent will be slow, but early results would seem to show that the advantages will go to the self-possessed and seasoned actresses. The old assurance of experience counts. So does voice color. It adds plenty of the interest in a performance. Both Miss Eagels and Miss Chatterton have shown that they have this.

comedy it purports to be, and as such is almost unbearably lengthy.

"The Black Watch" also opened last week and won excellent notices on the score of its pictorial beauty, distinguished direction and in part the excellent acting it revealed. Technically the picture is a triumph, its weakness lying in some of the dialogue, particularly that which is devoted to amorous passages between Victor McLaglen and Myrna Loy, and this is not because of the speech of the players so much as the lines provided for them. For the rest of it Mr. McLaglen is finely impressive, and his voice is exceedingly agreeable and perhaps more sympathetic than anticipated, while Miss Loy is considered by many to be a potential star. Her earnestness and her efforts not only to speak distinctly but to color her speeches indicate a degree of talent which with further experience as well as careful training should place her high among the leaders of the screen.

"The Fox Movietone Follies" at the Roxy is rated as fair, though three of its songs hold the promise of wide popularity. Its weakness lies in an inane story and a low quota of talent, as well as an abundance of grating, ear-splitting voices. Not one of the young people featured is pleasant to the ear, though to the eye they are agreeable enough, thanks to fair photography, and some of the numbers could well be dispensed with. However, the picture is the first of its kind and on that score the producers must be given credit for pioneer efforts which will no doubt become more expert in the next edition. Stepin Fetchit is, as usual, considered a bright spot, if not in this instance the star of the show.

EXPERT ACTING

Superlatives are showered on Estelle Taylor for her brilliant performance in "Where East Is East," at the Capitol Theater, her best since Lucrezia Borgia in "Don Juan," and in the opinion of many its superior because of the subtlety the earlier achievement lacked. With a colorful, flamboyant role at her disposal, Miss Taylor plays it with the restraint expected of a distinguished artiste so that she dominates every scene without apparent effort, her personal magnetism and striking appearance adding eloquence to her slightest movement. And she has strong competition, indeed, for Lupe Velez has never exploited her charms and high spirits to better advantage, probably because of sympathetic direction and also because her role is more believable than her recent ones.

Lloyd Hughes also comes through with a capital performance, and Lon Chaney is as always expert, arresting and enormously sympathetic. The production, too, is extremely interesting and atmospherically a triumph, though the rather worn expedient of having a vengeful gorilla kill the villainess is something less than a novelty to those who are all too familiar with a Simian menace.

ARLEN QUALIFIES

Another excellent program picture and additional proof of talent are found in "The Man I Love," at the Paramount, in which Richard Arlen distinguishes himself in his first incursion into audibility. His characterization of the prize fighter hero is a major portrayal both in pantomime as well as speech, and qualifies him to stand confidently among the limited group of leading men who bring to the screen more than an agreeable personality.

The picture is expertly directed and abounds with refreshing touches of intelligence and novelty, but only up to a certain point. It fails lamentably as a story in its handling of the climacteric fight. The premise that an ambitious pugilist can win only with the knowledge that the little woman is listening on the radio is feeble and unworthy of the intelligence expanded on the rest of the picture. However, it is so entertaining up to that point that this weakness won't matter to any but the critical. Baclanova contributes another seductress of high caliber, and once again Leslie Fenton upholds the belief that he is among the most versatile and satisfying players to be found in Hollywood.

FILMS TURN TO BEST IN MUSIC

ture, will have to draw on the reserve of really great compositions. Indeed, in the scores arranged by Hugo Riesenfeld and others they are already doing so. These scores are naturally fashioned for emotional rather than intellectual stimulus, but they have many excellent qualities. Pictures can't become too highbrow.

The wage scale for instrumentalists is high. The minimum is $30 for an hour or any fraction thereof. As the number of hours in a day sometimes runs long, it is not unusual to find a musician playing in an orchestra receiving as much as $250 to $300 for a single day's work. This has made the Vitaphone and Movietone stage a genuine paradise for the orchestra player. There will be an increasing invasion as this is noised about through the country, but there will also be keen disappointment for the invaders, because the opportunities are naturally limited to a definite number of studios.

Actual musical development in pictureland will in some respects be slow and restricted, but that will not interfere with its attraction. The old fascination of "gold in them thar hills of Hollywood" will suffice to stimulate the influx, and it will help also to form a new nucleus for musical activity here. The benefits of this will be felt in both the work done outside of the studios and in the increasing appreciation for music.

A parallel is to be found in the growth of the stage, especially since the advent of talking pictures. The quality of performances is improving steadily because of the enlarging population of stage actors. It is becoming easier from day to day to cast stage productions. Talent is available as nowhere else, perhaps not even in New York. And there are ever additions to that talent.

It will be the same in the musical world.

MIAMI CHANGES NAME

Miami Campbell, who has given her notice to the stock engagement she has been filling in San Diego and who will arrive in Hollywood in a week, becomes Miami Alvarez when she joins the picture colony. Her stage work has all been done under the first name in compliment to her stepfather, Frank Campbell.

GUDE JUNIOR CLASS PREPARES RECITAL

The junior students of the Louise Gude studios will appear in recital in the Beaux Arts Hall Wednesday evening.

Angelo Ross, a pupil of Miss Gude, it will be recalled, is to share a scholarship awarded by the Euterpe Opera Reading Club with Herman Kennedy, Gardena High School student, for six months, at the end of which time a further tryout will determine which of the two boys will enjoy the scholarship for the balance of the three-year period for which the award is made. Angelo Ross is a junior at Roosevelt High School, whose only previous musical training has been regulation public school work and appearances as leading tenor in high school operettas.

Nelle Gothold, dramatic soprano, will be heard in the title role of Mary Carr Moore's American opera, "Narcissa," when it is read for the Euterpe Opera Reading Club the 18th inst.

Among the singers from the Gude studios who are engaged in "talkie" work is Thomas S. Vartian, tenor, who is singing for First National and R.-K.-O. studios; Muriel Horne, soprano, who is on location with the cast of "Rainbow," for Warner Brothers, and Jane Killian Harding, who is singing frequently at the Paramount studios.

TEACHER PARIS DANCER

Georgia Graves, dancer, trained by Ernest Belcher and who is the present dancing sensation of the Folies Bergere, Paris, will return to Los Angeles late in the summer to obtain some new dances under Belcher's direction. Miss Graves has been in the leading classical dances of the Folies Bergere for two seasons, and according to Paris critics, has been one of the outstanding hits in the history of the show.

Messrs. Pavley and Oukrainsky have conceived a new act for the Radio-Keith-Orpheum circuit. In this act, the Vitaballeton, they combine the ballet with motion pictures and musical sound by the Bush Synchrophone. It is now shown at the Hillstreet Theater.

The Vitaballeton instead of employing scenic decorations, uses a projective scene or scenes, which scenes enable one to get away from the stereotyped form that has been used in the theaters for centuries.

One added advantage of Vitaballeton is the production of various scenic effects which ordinarily would be impossible to produce. For instance, each dance may have its proper setting as it is very simple to throw another picture onto a specially constructed screen.

The dancers on the screen are all from Hollywood; the soloists are real and have been trained by Messrs. Pavley and Oukrainsky. Eleanora Flaige, premiere seuse, has already attained of a reputation because of pearances with the Pavley-Ou sky ballet in the Los Angele San Francisco operas.

GONI PRESENTS PUPI

STUDIO SIGNS THIRTEEN FOR NEW PRODUCTIONS

Thirteen outstanding personalities of stage and screen were signed in one six-day period this week by William Le Baron of R.-K.-O. radio pictures. A new regiment of R.-C.-A. Photophone engineers was rushed to the Coast to handle increased production activity. A musical department was born amid a fanfare of saxophones.

Victor Barravalle, who directed "Rio Rita" for Ziegfeld, "Three Cheers" and other New York musical shows, arrived, took off his coat and started organizing Radio's musical department by hiring Gus Arnheim's Cocoanut Grove Ambassadors.

He put them to work in "Half Marriage," which features Olive Borden, and "Street Girl," the Betty Compson all-talkie, all musical feature. And then he started looking for more musicians, composers and arrangers for "Rio Rita" and "Hit the Deck."

Mal St. Clair, director, roped Owen, Matt and Tom Moore and put them to work on "City Streets," the first picture in which they ever appeared together. And they play brothers, too. It's a singing talkie. Just to make it a family party, Radio signed Kathryn Perry for the sweetheart role. She's Mrs. Owen Moore.

They caught three more actors for "City Streets." First was Emma Dunn, then came Frank Sheridan and Andrew Beranger.

George B. Seitz put down his name for Radio films this summer. He signed to direct "Tanned Legs," an all-talking feature from George Hull's story.

And the Eatons, too. Pearl already is directing dances. Now Doris, the song-and-dance star, is signed to do her stuff in "Street Girl."

Raymond Maurel, who was aide to Gatti-Casazza at the Metropolitan Opera for six years, also joined the "Street Girl" cast. He is a baritone.

Eddie Kane was lifted from vaudeville and went into the "Street Girl" cast. He impersonated Ziegfeld in "The Broadway Melody." John Harron, Ned Sparks, Jack Oakie, Guy Buccola and Ivan Lebedeff are also in it.

Hedda Hopper, a prime favorite, put on her new hat and started work in "Half Marriage."

A. Leslie Pearce, who has his name on many hits, signed on the dotted line to direct "The Delightful Rogue," which will go into production this summer. It's from a story by Wallace Smith, who signed to adapt it for screen purposes.

P.-T.A. EFFORTS GAIN APPROVAL

Work of State Organization Outlined

Members Co-operate With Instructors

Prominent People Praise Body's Efforts

BY MYRA NYE

P.-T.A.—"Parents talk always"—about their own children to the eternal boredom of their listeners. The old gag about the Parent-Teacher associations was entirely disproved to me at the thirtieth annual State convention in Sacramento. In fact, many a preconceived notion was disproved by this great body of women, for in spite of their boasted dads in the organization it is so preponderantly one of motherhood that here again dad must take a back seat. And he does no back-seat driving. Not that mother wouldn't like to have him. She would. She spent a whole evening of the five-day meet trying to prove how important dad is. But he is just too busy.

I believe there are thousands of persons in this California of ours like myself, interested deeply in education and the problems of child welfare, who haven't a vague notion of the great work this efficient machine of P.-T.A. is doing.

I remember that teachers not so very long ago had a secret hatred of the interfering P.-T.A. mother. She said, and rightly in some cases: "Here I have spent eight years' intensive study on how to teach and along comes an ignorant P.-T.A. mother who tries to tell me all about it when she herself doesn't know what it is all about."

Now it is different. That same P.-T.A. mother does know what it is all about. She and some 156,000 others have instituted courses in night school, parent-teacher education, if you please.

That was the theme of the convention, too, and there was not a hint of condescension toward teacher, of reform of schools or of interference in educational methods. When the great body of delegates, numbering 1375 voting members, thought the good of the schools was jeopardized by a bad piece of legislation, they went on record as unanimously opposed to the State excluding supplementary textbooks especially in the elementary schools. But there were no petty personalities about their opposition.

Their reports showed an amazing amount of worth-while work accomplished and along lines dealt with by no other organization. They see to it that dangerous crossings near schoolhouses are properly policed, that the child without proper nourishment at home gets milk at school; that dental work, the lack of which is keeping Johnny behind in his grade work, is done; that glasses are fitted to the child whose parents are too poor or too ignorant to have it done; that shoes are given to the child who is staying home for need of them, that adenoids that help to lower grades are removed, that the boy musician gets the musical instrument he has been longing to play, that the girl artist gets a copy of one of the old masters, that—oh but there are so many things they do, they cannot all be named.

COURSES PLANNED

To go back to self-education of the mother, during this summer credit courses through the efforts of the State P.-T.A. on the educational aspects of the Parent-Teacher movement will be given at the following institutions of learning: Stanford University, University of Southern California, University of California, University of California at Los Angeles, Occidental College, Whittier College, Pomona College, Humboldt State Teachers' College, Chico State Teachers' College, San Francisco, Santa Barbara, San Diego, San Jose, Fresno—the teachers' colleges in all these cities.

In that alone the Parent-Teacher body has done a work worth while for the year.

This is the young folks' century. In California where, it has been said, a new race of children has developed, children with a sort of sixth sense far ahead of children of even a century ago, this P.-T.A. is keeping abreast of them. Of course, these intuitive children are found everywhere in the world, but Annie Besant, the philosopher and observer, has said that nowhere in the world are they found in such great numbers as in California—children who seem to know intuitively, their knowledge gleaned from what she terms the great subconscious mind of the universe. If this be true, can the parent lag behind? The Parent-Teacher Association is seeing to it that they do not.

Among the many splendid things said in that five-day convention at Sacramento, where the women influenced the Governor of the State, who is himself a life member of the organization, to refrain from signing a bill they thought harmful and to sign another one they thought good, are the following gleaned at random:

COMMENTS REPORTED

"In an age when co-operative effort is so manifest in all material matters it is most satisfying to those who have the public weal close to their hearts to find parents and teachers of our State joining in a common cause for the benefit of the children of today."—Gov. Young.

"We now have a membership that makes fewer mistakes and hews toward real results in child welfare—an outstanding example is the great response to the parental-education classes, and this summer will mark a new milestone. I am referring to the credit courses offered at the universities."—Mrs. Robert L. Cardiff, State president, P.-T.A.

"What is right with the public schools? Too often we talk only of what is wrong. Not many years

IT FEELS most imposing to receive an invitation with "On His Britannic Majesty's Service" on the envelope, so I celebrated British Empire Day in San Diego in great style. A banquet, at which the Hon. J. A. Heap, vice-consul, presided; a gay and polished George A. Burnham, banker, was toastmaster; and the guests included such distinction as United States Admiral Senn and his lady, Capt. Scott, U.S.N., Col. H. Lay, U.S.M.C., and Mayor and Mrs. Clark of San Diego, proved a pleasant international exchange of compliments.

Quite charming how many nice things British and Americans can find to say about each other when the occasion offers.

His Honor was feeling fine, having been re-elected at the primaries, and having the news to report that one of the robbers of the Agua Caliente hold-up had been caught. Mrs. Clark, wearing a red gown that blended artistically with the banquet hall decorations, is a petite brunette and a most gracious little person.

By the way, it wasn't the "pay roll" of Agua Caliente that was stolen, but the casino money . . . mostly left there by Americans who didn't guess right at the roulette tables, so that $85,000 was quite a nice little week-end haul, wasn't it?

It seemed to be my professional duty to go and look Agua Caliente over . . . that week-end retreat across the border that so many Angelenos find alluring.

One drives through that international gate, after facing a large sign that warns "intoxicated persons are subjected to a jail sentence." One is just waved through politely by Mexican officers, whose smile seems a little cryptic. One goes through that utterly odious little Tia Juana, that reeks of boozy saloons and tawdry morning-afterness at 10 a.m. Stale beer, stale cigar ends, cold mutton stew. So that Agua Caliente seems replete with charm by comparison.

Spanish architecture and flowers galore create a halcyon effect, but they charge you for parking right off the bat . . . right off there in the desert.

They showed us the Governor's suite, quite impressive, which anyone can rent for $25 a day, and the royal suite, just completed, all prepared for ice expensive movie stars . . . twin beds but one large bathroom, with mirror walls. Somehow two smaller bathrooms would have seemed more exclusively regal.

The casino in the grounds has a very Monte Carloish effect, and jaded gamblers were crowding the tables—even before lunch. The bar stands forth glittering and gilded. The golf links and swimming pool are still mere "sites." Quite easy to tear ourselves away and get back to town in time for a nice family dinner.

But returning through that international gate, the atmosphere changes. Suspicion oozes all round one. The Mexican officers still smile cryptically, but the Americans suspect the worst . . . It is hardly worth it—to be so doubted by one's own.

On the whole a day's visit to the little Twentieth Century Club of Eagle Rock proved more satisfying. I like little clubs, where the members do their own cooking and take turns in waiting on table, and someone's lovely garden provides the flowers.

Mrs. Andrew Goddard, the president, was righteously proud. All the cooks and waitresses were quite charming people. Mrs. J. A. Argus, program chairman, who is also vice-president of the Friday Morning Club, is the dear whose gorgeous thirteen-acre garden provides so many of the radiant flowers. I met a petite, vivacious flapper, who insisted she was Mrs. Hall Brown, mother of three sons and a grandmamma. Likewise Mrs. Mary D. Fiske, aged seventy-seven, garbed in becoming orchids, who has had a long career of club organizing.

A visitor to the club, who aroused sentimental memories, was Mrs. Wrightman of Long Beach, who, before the war, was Mrs. Martin Chase of Riverside, one of the loveliest of the women golfers I wrote about in those days, and who was immeasurably kind to me, when kindness was extra precious. She has let her pretty hair go gray, so that her charms now take a different form . . . but golfers galore will remember the dashing, beautiful blue-eyed Mrs. Martin Chase . . .

The Mutual Benefit Reading Circle of Glendale played a naughty trick on Will Durant, philosopher, . . . writing to ask him a few searching questions anent "How A Great Scholar Brings Up His Child," vide his article in a national magazine.

Mrs. Underhill read his reply to such questions as "What part does Mrs. Durant play in the training of daughter Ethel?"

It seems that Mrs. Durant has charge of daughter's diet, clothing and manners, but papa "preaches the sermons." What would he do if there were several children? Will confessed he would probably lack both the patience and the time to put his methods into effect in that case . . . In fact, don't you know, we mothers need not take Will too seriously on this subject.

Ebell simply dripped royalty at it's last Wednesday luncheon of the year—with the drama section showing off handsomely. You see, Norwegian music and drama was the motif and members galore dressed up as royal princesses and their courts, ostensibly to attend Prince Olaf's wedding to Princess Martha . . . Mrs. I. C. Mahan masquerading as the dashing bridegroom and Elsa Mathews Chamberlain being the bride.

They were a little rocky on their historical data and it wasn't fair to ask questions, but it was lots of fun and Mrs. W. J. Veale, the drama chairman, was being complimented on all sides for making her department so popular. She did it by making so many members take a personal part in the events and not forever having to play meek and admiring audience.

Little Emily Hardy, an attractive blonde, hopped into a soprano role at the last minute when Karin Hiort was unable to attend, and won fond eulogies.

The luncheon afterward was crowded to the gunwales and Mrs. Cook, the president, presided in a saucy red hat and red necklace. She introduced a new member, Mrs. George Mayer from Maine, now of Beverly Hills, who gave a piquant talk. She told about trying to kiss Ireland's Blarney Stone to aid her in just such circumstances as this . . . but it is quite an athletic proceeding. One young man achieved it by lying on his back and having the husband of the speaker hold one leg while another husky male held the other . . . "And so the best I can brag is that I am the wife of the man who held one leg of a man who kissed the Blarney Stone," she beamed.

This Mrs. Mayer was one of that coterie of federation presidents of 1912, which was such a significant year. Another present at this luncheon was Mrs. Omar Miller of Iowa . . . who opined that club women should not take themselves too seriously.

The matter was evidently arbitrated in private conference . . . but we had been promised a stylish fight at the Friday Morning Club last week. You see, little Miss Vandergrift, a conspicuous D.A.R. member of the club, had threatened to air the matter of smoking, not alone by club women but by theater audiences on the club premises. She had once been peculiarly incensed because it was suggested that the club provided ash trays on the dining tables . . . er, strictly for masculine guests, of course.

Something must have happened to assuage Miss Vandergrift's ire . . . or at leaset to postpone its public expression.

And then there was the tall plump dowager who indignantly declined to sit behind another large, plump dowager "because I shall not be able to see a thing. I know how it is with people who have to sit behind me, thank you."

PASADENANS OFFER IBSEN

These are Ibsen days at Pasadena Community Playhouse, with the current attraction the dramatist's political play, "An Enemy of the People," going into its second week Tuesday, and one of the first of the Ibsen plays, "The Pillars of Society," scheduled for a special matinee performance Thursday, the 13th inst.

The Pasadena Community Playhouse is celebrating one of the most significant periods of its history with these two Ibsen presentations. The productions mark the close of the first year of experiment of the Pasadena School of the Theater, with a group of students being seen for the first time on the main Playhouse stage in "Pillars of Society." The production is frankly of a senior class offering, as is that of the following Wednesday, the 19th inst., when a less familiar classic, Beaumont and Fletcher's "Knight of the Burning Pestle," will be offered by other students.

The grand climax of the season for the young thespians will come with the performance on the regular theater schedule of Roi Cooper Megrue's modern crook comedy, "Under Cover," at a date to be announced later.

ago the public schools were considered only for the poor. Now they are for all children of all people. The public schools are the greatest creator of wealth, they are controlled by all the people, they offer complete education and opportunity for all."—Joseph Marr Gwinn, president of California Teachers' Association.

"Billy does not like to make his bed (note it is Billy, not Betty.) George neglects to comb his hair, Bobby does not always brush his teeth, Annie comes home with torn dress, Mary forgets her lunch pail. Large as these difficulties loom at times to us busy rural mothers they sink into insignficance in the face of the fact that they are healthy youngsters. We are learning through P.-T.A. work each day how to guide them, and their grades are good."—Mrs. Grace E. Crum, associate manager, Bureau of Parental Education, National Congress of P.-T.A.

"If we are to solve the rural-school problem we shall have to avoid dullness and narrowness in the school curriculum and method, isolation from life, isolation of children from one another, emphasis upon the mere absorption of facts by nonco-operating individuals, competitive standards of success and a negative character of school discipline."—Harvey L. Eby, manager of Bureau of Rural Life.

"Very vividly do we realize that no amount of education without character is safe education, and well do we know that character must be the basis of every educational procedure."—Vierling Kersey, State superintendent of schools.

GIVEN BUGGY RIDE

Bessie Love has just had her first buggyride in ten years.

A nag and a hack, appearing in Edgar Selwyn's "Eva, the Fifth," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer definitely sets the time of the piece at 20 B.H. (Before Hoover.)

TOWER SCREENS "DESERT SONG"

"The Desert Song," the first musical play ever transferred to the screen in its entirety, is the attraction, beginning tomorrow, at the Tower Theater.

John Boles, baritone, portrays the singing role of the Red Shadow. The story of "The Desert Song" is based on the love of the Red Shadow for Margot, the French girl.

Carlotta King is seen and heard as Margot. Others in the cast are Louise Fazenda, Myrna Loy, Edward Martindel and Johnny Arthur.

It Can be Done, Actress Insists ---and Does It

"You can't be two places at once," Treva Lawler's mother used to tell her when she was a child.

But in this day, when there are so many mediums of expression, the old sayings do not always hold true.

For Treva Lawler is three places at once. She is playing Roberta, Prof. Lamont's daughter, in Anne Murray's comedy-drama of spiritualism, at Egan Theater. She can be seen in "It Can Be Done," with Glenn Tryon, a Universal picture, and in William K. Howard's production of "The Valiant," the picture which has won such unreserved praise from many who have seen it.

Miss Lawler also can do more than two things at a time. Besides playing in "This World and the Next" she is busy with studio engagements and her music.

Her latest song to be published is "Little Love Fellow."

Miss Lawler has been on the stage for only four years, but in that time has filled leads in many plays, among them "The Girl in the Limousine," "Ghosts," "Why Men Leave Home" and "The Alarm Clock."

Society of Cinemaland

by Myra Nye

Outstanding among the latest of social events in Cinemaland was the shower at which Lois Wilson was the charming hostess yesterday afternoon in honor of May McAvoy.

The recent announcement made by Mrs. Julia A. McAvoy of her daughter's betrothal to Maurice Cleary was the signal for a host of intimate friends to arrange showers in the bride-elect's honor, Miss Wilson, who is Miss McAvoy's closest chum, being the first to issue invitations. Members of Our Club, an organization of feminine stars in which both hostess and honoree long have been prominent, were included among the guests.

The marriage of Miss McAvoy to Mr. Cleary, one of the most important events on the Cinemaland social calendar for the year, will be an event of the 26th inst. in the Church of the Good Shepherd, with Father Mullins officiating.

TWO UNITED IN SONG FOR MANY YEARS

Van and Schenk Appear Here on Eighteenth Year as Singing Team

Hailing themselves as the pennant-winning battery of songland, Gus Van and Joe Schenck, headlining the R-K-O- show at the Hillstreet this week, find a welcome ally in Louise Dresser, who co-stars with June Collyer in the Fox Movietone talking-singing film, "Not Quite Decent."

Van and Schenck have been appearing together on the vaudeville stage for almost eighteen years. During this period they are said to have sung nearly 200,000 songs. In the heyday of their career Miss Dresser was also a vaudeville headliner. She was billed as "The Golden Blond With the Golden Voice," delighting theatergoers the country over with her singing of many popular ballads.

Miss Dresser not only sings, but enacts a dramatic role in which she portrays the character of an entertainer in a speakeasy in "Not Quite Decent."

Prominent also in the cast are Allen Lane, Marjorie Beebe, Jack Kenny, Oscar Apfel and Ben Hewlett. The picture was directed by Irving Cummings from a story by Wallace Smith.

COMMUTING TO HAWAII FAVORED

Dorothy Mackaill Would Dash Back and Forth as Time Permitted

Dorothy Mackaill recently sold her Malibu Beach bungalow because the talkies took up so much of her time she couldn't use it!

Yet she still has ambitions to become a commuter.

In fact, she would like to be the world's champion commuter, and cover some 3000 miles every once in a while.

When Dorothy played in the location scenes for "His Captive Woman," which is now playing at Loew's State, she went to the Hawaiian Islands. Now she is pretty close to being the world's champion Hawaii commuter.

She resolved that she would go back to the islands the first time she had a vacation that would permit. That time has just come. As soon as she returns from Zion Canyon, Utah, where she is on location with "The Great Divide" company, Dorothy is going back to Hawaii with her mother for a pleasure trip.

"I would certainly like to live there," Dorothy declared. "If Honolulu or Hilo were just a little closer to Hollywood Boulevard, I'd like to commute back and forth.

"But with the dialogue pictures, singing and dancing and elocution lessons and such, there is little chance. That's why I gave up my Malibu ranch place. I just couldn't find time to use it."

Miss Mackaill thinks that the people on the islands are the most interesting she has found in her travels.

"Even California might take lessons in hospitality from them," she said. "We had a wonderful time there, even if we did have the usual location troubles to contend with.

"Traveling for miles through the plantations every morning at sunrise certainly gave one a zest for the day's work, when we arrived on location."

Some of the marvelous scenery of the islands formed the backgrounds for "His Captive Woman." The famous black beach, near Hilo, and the jungle-like plantations of several islands provided ideal location spots for the picture, which was directed by George Fitzmaurice.

Milton Sills is co-featured with Miss Mackaill in the story. They spent several weeks on the islands while the picture was in production.

MAY BOLEY RETURNS

May Boley, old-time favorite of the musical-comedy stage, has a featured part in Paramount's talking - singing - dancing production, "Burlesque."

PARAMOUNT RELEASING ANOTHER NEGRO FILM

The fourth of the novel series of all-negro Christie talking plays filmed from the Octavus Roy Cohen Saturday Evening Post stories will be released by Paramount on the 8th inst., its title being "Oft in the Silly Night." This picture and "Dear Vivian," featuring Raymond Hatton and Sam Hardy, make the tenth and eleventh of the Christie talking plays which have been issued by Paramount to date, and both are to be released this month.

"Oft in the Silly Night" introduces some of the social elite of Darktown Birmingham—Miss Mezanine Conner and her pa, Julep; Temus Robinson, the chauffeur of the highly classy Julep limousine; Eli Rubb and Keefe Gaines, the local undertakers.

Special features of interest in this all-dialogue picture are the auto wreck and the meeting of the Over the River Burying Society at a grand and festive strutters' ball in the hall of the Sons and Daughters of I Will Arise.

Lending much contrast is the other new Christie play, "Dear Vivian," from a farcical play by Waldemar Young. A novelty is the opening with two pretty girls singing "A Handful of Gimmie," which characterizes the plot. A musical background is played behind the dialogue, with song numbers which fit the story development.

Hatton and Sam Hardy are supported by Lorraine Eddy, who was seen in "The Carnation Kid," and also Mabel Forrest. One of the hilarious episodes of "Dear Vivian" is Sam Hardy's impersonation of a woman to scare off the blackmailing Vivian.

The New in Stores & Homes

Novelties, Ideas, and Suggestions

By OLIVE GRAY

Oh, let's make it a point to appear at our best for the Shriner company coming from all parts of our country! Let's wear our best clothes, downtown—clothes in keeping with the gaiety of the decorations, clothes which will lead visitors to carry away the idea that Los Angeles has the best-dressed women (and men) in America. Let's impress upon the guests the fact that we appreciate the opportunity offered continuously by our fine stores; that appreciation is the reason we have fine stores and the fine stores the reason for our fine feathers.

Get Them Out

Search the family treasure chests for Grandame's rose-bud corals. They are all the rage, as they were years ago; and of course, Grandame owned some. Heirlooms are the record of fashions in years gone by—if Grandame was the belle we judge her to have been. Possibly the old corals may require modern settings to become the costume, courture, or ensemble jewelry of now.

One Summer Mode

One of summer's faddish modes is that of wearing a top of striking color, with a lower of neutral tint. I mean that the hat and blouse, hand-bag and 'kerchief may be of some high color, the skirt of black, white, or neutral. Of course, in such a case, the hat, belt or flower should replicate the color of the skirt, in order to properly relate the whole.

Odd Touch

Bands play as important a part in summary costumery as bands playing for the dance. One way quite distinctive is that of a band extending from the shoulder, down the front of the waist to the hipline, where it upholds the overskirt in that side fullness which dresses of the season like.

For Vegetables

There is almost as much in keeping vegetables in good condition, after arrival in the home as in proper preseration before. Those ventilated bins, of tin, allow spreading the vegetables so that the air circulates through them, thus keeping them in fine condition until used. Since color has possessed the kitchen and porch, these useful articles may be found in the color plan corresponding with the quarters which house them.

Cool and Comf'y

The vogue of cotton and linen combines in a downtown morning costume consisting of violet linen frock and short coat, each banded in checkered gingham in violet—pockets banded in the check, and dress banded around neck and skirt with check. A clever touch lies in the checkered corner of the handkerchief which peeks out from the breast pocket of the coat. That this 'kerchief is nothing but a corner, subtracts nothing from the chic of the ensemble. The other four corners may be used elsewhere perhaps?

Violet Scarcity

The vogue of violet and its complementary shades, is one which originated in Hollywood and Los Angeles, it seems; and manufacturers in the eastern centers, not anticipating popularity for this particular color, did not make much of it; so to meet the insistent demand here, it has become necessary to dye fabrics to order in the violet tones. Possibly, those easterners may learn, sometime, to consult first our wishes; for it is true that we have arrived as a style center—yes, as dictator of the mode.

Felten Persistence

Whatsoever the material of the summer hat, it is almost certain to possess a touch of felt, either by way of banding, quaint motifing, or gay blossomry. Felt simply will not down, as a millinery ingredient; and no wonder, so pliant is this fabric, so charmingly colorful, so piquant, in short.

Silken Simulance

Printed silks for summer wear, have a way of simulating the quaint calicoes of Grandame's day. The yellows, greens and blues of old-time patch-work appear in finest of silken weaves and are fashioned into dress and coat ensembles.

Half-Capes

Half-capes, appended from between the shoulders in the back of summer frocks, lend a breezy air to such dresses, especially when fabricated from such materials as whole, voile, chiffon or soft weave in crepe or other silk.

Quilt Make-Believe

Quilts—not patched, but printed in simulation of patchery—are machine-quilted and have the effect of actual hand-made bed coverings. Gay and quaint in effect, these are excellent for the summer cabin or seaside cottage, where hand-made quilts would be too precious for rough usage.

Velvet Crowned

New summer hats, brimmed in straw or felt, have crowns of velvet in corresponding or contrasting color, these crowns stitched closely all around. Strange, is it not, how Fashion has a way of bringing into prominence for summer colors and materials usually associated with cold-weather wear?

Awning Gems

What jewelry is to the costume, awnings are to the house. California originated some of the most charming shapes and colors in awnings—real gems they are, attracting the eye and adding charm to the exterior of the home as good furnishings do for the rooms within.

PLAY HELD SUCCESS TO OPEN HERE

"The Bachelor Father" Will Appear Tomorrow With Its Original Cast

After a season's run to capacity audiences in New York, three months in Chicago and its recent stay in San Francisco, David Belasco is sending the original New York cast in "The Bathelor Father," a comedy by Edward Childs Carpenter, to the Belasco Theater, opening tomorrow night.

June Walker, C. Aubrey Smith and Geoffrey Kerr are the featured players, and the play is said to be staged with the customary fineness and understanding of the dean of the American theater.

The theme of "The Bachelor Father" is one that, according to New York critics, has wide appeal from the gallery to the orchestra chairs. The play brings together a group of people who have an unusual relationship to each other. How this changes the course of their lives and eventually brings them unexpected happiness is told in a novel and enjoyable manner, it is declared.

June Walker, who will make her first appearance in Los Angeles, in the last few years has become one of the most popular of the young leading women of the stage. C. Aubrey Smith is a young English actor who has played many engagements here and previously appeared for Mr. Belasco with Mrs. Fiske in "Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary," while Geoffrey Kerr is a popular young actor, as well known in America as in his native London.

The distinctive supporting cast includes Rex O'Malley, David Glassford, Adriana Dori, George Riddell, Howard Bouton, Viola Roache, Harriett Lorraine, Doria Belli, Philippa Bevans and Thomas Reynolds.

Discipline Held Necessary for Later Success

"The surest way to guarantee a career is to teach a child discipline," says Lenore Coffee, scenario writer.

"When a college graduate goes into the world, the first thing he is required to do gracefully is to accept orders. If a child is not taught to obey, he will not be able to do it when this time comes.

"A trained mind is necessary to a writer," says the woman who adapted "Redemption," and is now writing an original for M.-G.-M. "Many times I feel that work is impossible, but my early discipline makes me realize that certain hours for work are necessary, and rules cannot be broken."

Comedy, Pep on Follies Bill

Comedy with more pep than any burlesque show has exhibited at the Follies this season, an elaborate array of costumes, and a good-looking chorus, are reported outstanding features of "Oriental Nights," which opens at the Follies Theater today.

Four feminine stars will head the cast. Evelyn Myers, a burlesque favorite, is numbered among them. The others are Louise Kellar, Melene Ghorka and Mary Walton.

Max Coleman and Bumps Mack are two funmakers. Mixing harmony with dancing the forty dancing girls will again be in evidence.

BELIEF OF ANCIENTS IN GHOSTS BASIS OF PLOT

An exhaustive search at the public library for evidence supporting the superstition of mythical vampires as exemplified in the drama "Dracula" at the Hollywood Music Box, reveals the wide-spread belief of their actual existence among virtually every race of the Old World.

Bram Stoker, a biography discloses, gathered material for his novel from which the drama was adapted by extensive research among weird tales recording these strange beliefs down through the centuries. His basic theme, it is explained, evolved from the very earliest superstition of the "undead"—a belief that certain people in their coffins returned at night-time to obsess victims and make them their creatures.

Records still in print at the library tell that the gladiatorial Romans believed in similar genii named Strigae. The Hebrews left a record, according to the Vulgate, in which the Prophet Isaiah, forecasting the fall of Babylon, said, "She shall become the abode of satyre, lamiae and strigae."

Stoker, it is believed, got his idea for the novel "Dracula," from a volume called "Phantom World," while he was business manager for Henry Irving, the actor.

"Dracula" ends its run Saturday night.

Pauline and Russell Furrill, pianists and teachers of the piano, presented sixteen of their pupils in a public recital at the Y.W.C.A. auditorium in Long Beach on Friday evening.

Sunday-School Lesson

The International Sunday School Lesson for June 9 is a Temperance Lesson, "The Story of The Rechabites."—Jeremiah xxxv, 1-19.

BY WILLIAM T. ELLIS

In Bible lands many Bible customs persist. Those strange people, the Rechabites, whom Jeremiah used as an example, to teach a lesson to his times, have an almost exact counterpart in the Wahabis of Arabia. Because the desert is a remote and silent place, as it has ever been, the world knows little of these fanatical fighters for an austere faith. Yet they are harassing three governments and giving serious concern to more than one European capital. Their leader, King Ibn Saoud, whom I interviewed within sight of the white pillars which set off the sacred territory of Mecca, is one of the greatest personalities that the East has produced; and a religious zealot.

Religion is the explanation of the Wahabis, and especially of their militant missionaries, the Akwan even as it was of the Rechabites of the Old Testament. They are the fundamentalists of Islam. They touch neither strong drink nor tobacco, and they abhor all luxuries. For themselves, they dwell in the black tents of the desert, in a simplicity beyond anything Sparta ever knew. Shrine worship they call idolatry. Theirs is the doctrine of primitive Mohammedanism, in all of its stern and sword-wielding and fatalistic monotheism. That faith they are propagating and reviving, with such fervor and success that the present religious awakening in mid-Arabia must be reckoned as one of the mightiest spiritual revivals of our era.

OLD VOW'S LONG LIFE

Akin to the Wahabi Arabs were the Rechabites, whose famous forebear, Jonadab, son of Rechab, rode with Jehu against the Baalism of King Ahab. Their vow was that they would never worship idols, never drink wine, never live in houses, but always in tents, and never plant crops or vineyards. Theirs was an uncompromising anticivilization creed. They prized freedom more than comfort; for nobody may retain his full liberty who is involved in the meshes of social or commercial or political life.

This Rechabite vow was somewhat like that of the Nazarites, with their unshorn locks and abstemiousness, of whom John the Baptist was the most conspicuous example.

We of this modern world are under the terrible tyranny of contemporaneousness; so it is difficult to understand a pledge that will bind a family or a clan through generations and centuries. With our moderns the fact that the fathers did a thing is almost in itself a good enough reason for not doing it! The mood of the moment is to break with the traditions and practices of the elders, and above all else, to be "up to date." "Emancipated" speakers sneer at "the faith of the fathers;" for today's slogan is "Be yourself"—by which is really meant, "Be like the others of your crowd."

And yet, many observers sigh wistfully for a measure of the Rechabite spirit in our day. It is a great thing to have had a grandfather; and to inherit family traditions and ideals and standards. How else may we preserve the continuity of culture and of civilization? And our irresponsible, live-for-the-moment mood forgets the past and disregards the future, which is rather a poor state of mind for intelligent human beings. On the whole, it is good for us to have a session with the Rechabites, the people who dared to be different and to keep faith with their inheritance.

PARABLE OF PIETY

Fear of Nebuchadrezzar drove the tent-dwelling Rechabites into the city of Jerusalem for refuge; even as today the nomads throng to the cities in time of famine and distress. That is a changeless oriental practice.

Jeremiah the prophet, like the greater Prophet who came after him, loved to convey his messages by means of parables. So he gathered the refugee Rechabites into the temple area, and set them in formal array. Then, to the amazement and amusement of the on-looking multitudes, he offered them wine to drink. Of course his proffer of strong drink was refused, the Rechabites reciting to him, as an adequate reason, their ancient family vow. Not perceiving the prophet's purpose, probably many of the spectators laughed at him for his failure to make the Rechabites drink.

ABSTAINERS AMIDST WINE-BIBBERS

Naturally, this interesting bit of Old Testament history is assigned as a temperance lesson; and a timely one it is. For it calls upon youth to withstand the clamor of the crowd, and the practice of associates, and to remain loyal to the best ideals and teachings of the fathers. Through long and bitter years we have learned that strong drink brings weakness and woe. It hurts body, mind and spirit. Upon society as a whole its effect has been so harmful that laws have been enacted to cast it out altogether, along with other baneful practices. The heart of hearts of the prohibition question is the clear conviction that the welfare of the whole body politic takes precedence of the appetites and desires of the few. The rights of society as a whole are paramount to the privileges of the individual.

Amidst a wine-bibbing world, the Rechabites were total abstainers; and strong, free men. Nobody was ever hurt by doing without strong drink; millions have been wrecked by indulging in it. Shall not every noble and free citizen therefore be big and brave and benevolent enough to sacrifice his personal taste for the sake of his nation as a whole? It is passing strange that otherwise discriminating persons will put a desire for drink above their solicitude for law-observance, for the nation's honor and for the well-being of their fellow men. We are in serious need of an infusion of clean, vigorous Rechabite blood into the veins of our common life today.

SHRINERS TO SEE STYLE REVUE

Fashion Expert Plans Gown Display

Peggy Hamilton Featuring Trousseau

THE Cocoanut Grove at the Ambassador will be a bower of peach and apple blossoms on Tuesday at a luncheon in honor of the visiting women of the Shrine Imperial Council.

Peggy Hamilton, Times fashion expert, is preparing an elaborate fashion revue for this luncheon, featuring the trousseau and wedding display of the June bride, especially created as a compliment to the Shriners by Dot Gregson.

The wedding scene is expected to be of special interest to the visitors and will be photographed by the Pathe News talkies, as well as other news-reel cameramen. Miss Hamilton, as the bride, will wear a wedding gown of off-white moire and will carry a bouquet of bridal lilies tied with a wide, soft, white satin ribbon.

For bridesmaids Miss Hamilton has chosen six of her friends of the screen, the names of whom she is keeping as a surprise. These bridesmaids will be gowned in tulle, small green hats and carry baby roses and lilies of the valley. Ray and Roy Berendzen will act as train bearers, while Ruth and Ruby Kleimer, twins, will be flower girls.

Miss Hamilton also will, as a courtesy to the Shriners, appear in her costume which she wore at the inaugural ball and which created such a sensation in Washington at that time. She also will appear in costumes from other stores participating in the revue.

Beautiful sports costumes and latest of swimming attire, featuring the latest importations from Paris of bathing costumes and accessories, will be shown through the courtesy of B. H. Dyas Company; lingeries, negligees and afternoon frocks from Myer Siegel & Co., while Milnor, Inc., will display a large collection of shawls and mandarin costumes. Some spectacular costumes from the motion-picture studios also will be shown.

Welcome Shriners . . .

. . . and More!

As flags fly, and the city is gay with bunting decorations, throngs, happy smiling faces—let us pause and pay tribute to the Shriners. Not as they would have us see them—as the playground of Masonry, as the happy, carefree funsters—but as the men who have it in their hearts to do for little crippled children. Men who builded these magnificent hospitals, who have done all this marvelous work with such quiet, that the world at large doesn't always know or see.

But what is there of greater heart appeal than the little child, with its afflicted body, being given a chance to straighten and grow, and to face the world with an even chance?

These men who live right and do right are certainly honor guests in Los Angeles. Welcome and congratulations for the good work you are doing, and above all for your heart interest in little children.

QUOTATIONS FROM PROPOSED TARIFF ACT OF 1929— H. R. 2667

H. R. 2667: "The duty under the Act of 1922 is 55 per cent ad valorem. Because of the difficulty of ascertaining the foreign value of oriental rugs, particularly those of the lower grades, the committee proposes to change the form of the duty from a straight ad valorem to a specific duty with a minimum ad valorem rate. The proposed duty is 50 cents per square foot, but not less than 60 per cent ad valorem. The effect of this change will be considerably to increase the duty on competitive rugs, i.e., those valued at not more than 83⅓ cents per square foot, and to increase the duty on those valued at more than 83⅓ cents per square foot, 5 per cent."

ELECTROLUX IS HERE

Commencing operations on Pacific Coast, coming direct from the East, where in the past 3 years we have established over 50 branches in the principal cities, also coming from 47 other countries where we are dominant in our particular field, we have made such tremendous strides that San Francisco, Portland, Oakland, Seattle, Pasadena and Long Beach have now been opened.

We have the entire Pacific Coast territory to open up within the next month and need men of vision and responsibility. The men selected to fill positions open will be given an intensive training in our methods and policies of operations and will receive splendid incomes in commission and bonus during their training and qualifying period.

Inasmuch as we stand alone in our particular field, we cannot get experienced men, but must train men in our own methods.

KILLING ENDS OLD-TIME FEUD

Veteran Green Keeper Charged With Murder

Shooting Takes Place at Club at Coronado

Golf Players Are Witnesses to Tragedy

SAN DIEGO, June 1.—Murder charges were filed today against George Dietrick, 70 years of age, for the shooting of Thomas S. Higgins, 52, a fellow-worker, on the Coronado Country Club golf course late yesterday afternoon, police announced today. The 70-year-old veteran groundkeeper, told Coronado police and Coroner Schuyler C. Kelly that he shot Higgins "because he was going to beat me up."

The killing eliminated a long-standing feud between the pair, police declared. Dietrick obtained permission more than three months ago to carry a gun and it was with this weapon that he ended Higgins's life, authorities said.

When the shot pierced Higgins's body he took several steps forward and slumped to the ground. Passers-by removed the victim to the Coronado Emergency Hospital where an examination showed him to be dead.

W. J. Strickland, Coronado police officer, hurried to the fifteenth green on the golf course where the shooting took place and Dietrick complacently surrendered himself. He handed Strickland the gun with which he had shot Higgins. It contained six cartridges, one of which had been exploded.

Dietrick was taken immediately to the Coronado City Jail where he later was transferred to the County Jail.

Dietrick told Coroner Kelly that Higgins had been "rebellious" all day. Dietrick said that following a spat with the worker, he went to the tool house on the links and procured the weapon which he placed in his hip pocket. He returned to near where Higgins was working, whereupon the latter began calling him names, Dietrick said. When about four feet from him Dietrick said, he pulled out the revolver and shot at him. The bullet pierced the victim's heart. The shooting took place while scores played golf on the course near by. The shooting threw the players and witnesses into a furore of excitement.

John Perry, another workman, was the first to reach the victim. He helped carry Higgins to a car where he was taken to the hospital.

Joe Peters, 145 D avenue, Coronado, was standing approximately 125 yards from where the shooting occurred. Peters said just prior to the shot he heard Higgins raise his voice to a high pitch. Next, he said, he heard a shot bark out and Higgins placed his hands over his chest. He stumbled forward and slumped to the ground, Peters said.

Dietrick has been in the employ of the Coronado Country Club for more than twenty years. He is married and lives at 455 I street, Coronado.

Higgins leaves a widow and a brother and sister. He lived at 3952 Hamilton street, San Diego.

Coroner Kelly will conduct an inquest early next week, at Bonham Brothers.

Hundreds Hear Hindu Philosophy

DISCIPLES AT PHILOSOPHER'S FEET

KRISHNAMURTI AT OJAI

Disciples Listen to Hindu Philosopher Twice Daily at Annual Encampment of Star Camp

BY FLORENCE D. SHREVE

OJAI, June 1.—Tomorrow will see the close of the Star camp which has been in session for the past week at Ojai in Ventura county. There under the spreading live oaks have gathered each day 700 followers of Jeddu Krishnamurti, the Hindu philosopher, at the second annual encampment held in this country. Twice daily the assembly has gathered to listen to, Krishnamurti expound the doctrine of attainment of "Happiness Through Liberation."

Here are people who have come from Java, Burma, from Australia, Great Britain, Canada, India, Holland, and who knows where else. One may meet here one's next-door neighbor or some chance former acquaintance from across the seas. At the evening camp fire or at lunch under the camp pergola you may rub elbows with men and women whose names are known the world over. In one group, a celebrated Irish poet, a German composer of note, and an American comedian. In another some artists, writers and illustrious professional folk. They have laid away the dignity and solemnity of position to which the world exalts them and have foregathered here in the hope of obtaining answers to man's age-old queries of "What am I here for?" "Whitner am I going?" and "By what method shall I arrive?"

There are the questions that man has asked of all times and all religions. All philosophies have attempted to lay down definite rules for the conduct of life. The friends of Krishnamurti encamped here have come to listen to one who lays down no rules, formulates no precepts, claims no authority and desires no following. Asked the other day what his mission was, he answered crisply, "I have no mission. I claim no authority. My purpose is only to awaken in you a desire to acquire knowledge of truth for yourselves. To this end you must break down the barriers that prevent clarity and fullness of thought. You must become disciples of truth, not of persons. You are not disciples of Krishnamurti. You must endeavor to understand the truth. Don't bother about individuals."

Statements such as these refute the accusations that here was the founder of a new cult, a new religion, if you please. Among his hearers were many, disassociated from all church affiliations, who appreciated the courage of the man when he stated one morning, "You cannot seek truth through organization. The moment you begin to organize thought you make of thought a religion, and then it is dead."

There is no pose in Krishnamurti, no playing to the gallery. He does not care whether you and I agree with him or not. In fact he would rather that you did not agree, for then you are at least thinking for yourself, and only as you think out your own problems, says he, can you progress.

Every morning with hundreds seated on the ground around him he has answered questions on the philosophy of life or taken part in discussions. Each evening beside the camp fire he has lectured or read. Though at all times interesting, his morning hours have been his best. Here was seen the intensely human side of the man, his keen appreciation of the frailties of his fellowmen, his earnestness and intensity to drive home the essential truth that each must work out his own salvation, and that to this end there must be eternal vigilance and constant struggle, without ceremonial, without leadership or personal domination. Above all is his infinite patience with the repeated questioning of those who do not grasp his meaning. This patience is epitomized in his exclamation, "I am talking of the sunshine, while you are talking of candles. When will you come up into the sunshine and stop looking for matches to light your candles?"

Some there were who came to scoff; they saw, they heard and they must have been conquered, for they went away in a kindlier humor than that in which they came. Altogether, we found him a genial, cheerful, sensitive, loving soul without personal ambition but with an overwhelming desire to help others understand the lessons he himself has learned.

JEDDU KRISHNAMURTI, HINDU PHILOSOPHER

LOMITA, June 1.—Grant Hoon and James Fletcher were given fifty-day suspended jail sentences in Judge Patterson's court yesterday on charges of violation of the State Pharmacy Act. Hoon was before the court on two counts, that of taking charge of and acting as manager of a drug store where drugs were on display, without being a licensed pharmacist and of failing to place in the store a licensed pharmacist. The charge against Fletcher was acting as manager of a drug store without being a licensed pharmacist. The sentences were suspended upon the promise of Hoon to remove certain drugs which can only be handled by a registered pharmacist.

REDONDO BEACH, June 1.—The alumni association of the local high school has authorized the change of the name of its scholarship fund to the title of Jenkins-Kanouse fund, as a memorial to two graduates of the school, Lionel Jenkins and Simon Kanouse, who lost their lives during the World War. The fund is available to deserving students on the usual points.

Murder Victims Declared Dead

RIVERSIDE, June 1. (AP)—A Coroner's jury officially declared dead today three boys, for whose murder Gordon Stewart Northcott was sentenced to hang, following a belated inquest here. The boys were Walter Collins of Los Angeles, and Lewis and Nelson Winslow of Pomona, Cal.

The jury found the boys came to their deaths on Northcott's Wineville (Cal.) chicken ranch, "murdered by Gordon Stewart Northcott and Sanford Wesley Clark with an ax."

The inquest was conducted by Coroner C. S. Dickson at the request of Mr. and Mrs. A. K. Winslow, parents of two of the boys.

Cyrus G. Northcott, father of the convicted murderer, and Mr. Winslow testified at the inquest. Officers testified nothing but fragments of bones of the boys were found.

Sanford Clark, nephew of Gordon Stewart Northcott, who now is in condemned row at San Quentin penitentiary, is confined in a reformatory in Whittier, Cal. Sarah Louisa Northcott, mother of Gordon Stewart Northcott, is serving a life sentence in San Quentin. She pleaded guilty to assisting her son slay Walter Collins. Clark never was accused of murder. Although he admitted he struck one of the Winslow boys a blow with an ax. He testified for the State and said his uncle threatened him with death if he did not strike the boy.

MARRIAGE LOG IN DUPLICATE

Brides at Double Wedding Mothers on Same Day

HUNTINGTON PARK, June 1.—The maried lives of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. McClung and Mr. and Mrs. Philip E. Reese, well-known young residents of Huntington Park, seem to parallel to some extent, in the announcement that both wedded couples are the parents of newly born babies, which arrived at the Mission Hospital on Wednesday of this week.

Both couples were married in the First Methodist Episcopal Church in this city about four years ago, in a double-marriage ceremony, the young folk having been members of the same class from the local high school.

Their first children, who are both boys, were born within a month of each other and on Wednesday of this week, shortly after 2 o'clock, a seven-pound boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. McClung, and five hours later, a seven-pound girl baby came to the hospital for Mr. and Mrs. Reese.

The two first babies have just passed their second birthday anniversaries.

THREE SISTERS TO GRADUATE

Members of Class in High School in Pasadena

All Prominent in Activities of Campus

Father Finished Same School Thirty-one Years Ago

PASADENA, June 1.—Three is a mystic number in the Weight family, according to Mr. and Mrs. Erle Weight of 323 South El Molino avenue, whose three daughters, all of different ages, will be graduated together from Pasadena High School on the 21st inst.

FRANCES WEIGHT

At an early age the Weight girls, Frances, 18 years of age; Anita, 17, and Sallie, 16, discovered that jealousy brought failure while sympathetic sisterly co-operation cemented them into an unbeatable triple-threat aggregation.

Mr. Weight, son of Martin H. Weight, first Mayor of this city, was graduated from Pasadena High School thirty-one years ago. He was the third white boy born in Pasadena.

"Three is a good number in many respects," asserted the girls' father, today, "but when you multiply graduation dresses, presents and diplomas by three, the mysticism of the number is clouded with practical problems."

ANITA JANE WEIGHT

Besides making excellent records as students in the social science course, all three sisters have been prominent in campus activities. Anita and Sallie formed the high-school tennis doubles team which won every league match, with one exception. The trio is active in music and art societies.

The girls admit that the unique record they will set when they receive their diplomas in the Rose Bowl "will not just happen," but will be the result of a deep-laid plot to remain in the same class in high school and college. In order to receive her diploma with her sisters, Sallie, the youngest, will complete her high-school course in three and one-half years. When Frances, the eldest, had an opportunity to skip a grade in the elementary school, she is asserted to have refused on the ground that she wanted to "stay with Anita."

SALLIE WEIGHT

The girls will enter the University of California, their father's alma mater, and their principal concern at present is what they will do if they are asked to join different sororities.

GEAR-SHIFT CAR CAUSES DAMAGE

POMONA, June 1.—"Have driven a Ford five years and a gear-shift car three weeks. Stepped on the gas instead of the brake." This simple statement in a report of an accident explains a costly accident when Miss Mary Beth Abbott, 42 years of age, Lincoln avenue and Washington street, lost control of her car in attempting to back it away from the curb in front of a sign shop at 222 East Second street today. The car suddenly lurched forward, knocked Mrs. Maude Millikan, 56 years of age, 410 East Fourth street, to the sidewalk and crashed through the plate glass window of the shop, badly damaging both the store front and the automobile. Mrs. Millikin suffered painful but not serious injuries.

FLAG PRESENTERD TO ONTARIO POST

ONTARIO, June 1.—Expressing deep thanks to members of John F. Dillon Camp, United Spanish War Veterans of Ontario, for having adopted her late husband's name to designate their camp, Mrs. Belle K. Dillon, San Francisco, has offered to A. V. Hughes, commander of the camp, the flag with which the casket of Col. Dillon was draped previous to the interment service. Mrs. Dillon in a communication to Commander Hughes declared she wishes to give the flag as a mark of appreciation to the organization. During the Cuban campaign in 1898 Col. Dillon served as chief operator for the United States Signal Corps at Santiago. From 1901 to 1904 he had charge of the Philippine district and during the World War rose to the rank of major in the United States Signal Corps in France. Later he was promoted to the rank of colonel and was radio inspector for the Ninth Corps Area at the time of his death.

FISHING BOAT BEACHED

REDONDO BEACH, June 1.—The Essancee fishing boat was beached near the city pier here early this morning when nets which were being dragged for live bait caught in the propeller. The boat was in charge of Lew Grosse and a crew of four men was on board. Life guards helped two of the men ashore and others remained on the boat until low tide. The boat is not believed to have been damaged.

AIRPORT PLANS ARE ABANDONED

Chamber of Commerce Asks That Proposition be Dropped for the Present

VENTURA, June 1.—A recommendation that Ventura county drop the plan of establishing a county airport at this time was decided upon last night at a meeting of the County Chamber of Commerce airport committee.

Following a dinner at the country club in Saticoy the committee discussed all angles of the question and heard views of representatives from the various sections. Santa Paulans urged a plan of small local fields, to be promoted by the various cities which might wish to have them.

The county chamber's committee will report simply the consensus of opinion that no county port be established, said Herbert Lyttle, its chairman, today. This will be a reversal of its former position.

Acting some months ago on the county chamber's recommendation, the Supervisors included in the current budget an item of $25,000 to apply on the purchase or lease of a county airport site. Steps also were taken looking to the purchase of a 160-acre tract of Montalvo, recommended by the committee as the best available tract for a county airport.

This new action of the committee withdraws its support from the Montalvo location and makes no recommendation as to the disposal of the $25,000. It is said that the Santa Paula group plans to ask that part of that sum be set aside as a subsidy for a field near that city.

San Marino Boy Wins Honors at West Point

SAN MARINO, June 1.—The Pershing saber, awarded annually to the ranking cadet at West Point, will be presented this year to Bruce D. Rindlaub, son of Dr. John H. Rindlaub of this city, it was learned today.

Young Rindlaub will be graduated at the head of his class from the national military college on the 13th inst., and two days later he will be married in the West Point chapel to Miss Vernam Fitzsimmons of Rochester, N. Y.

While a student at Yale University, he was called to his home in Fargo, N. D., by the death of his mother, and completed his college course at North Dakota Agriculture College. During his freshman year at Yale, he rowed on the first-year team, which defeated Harvard.

This year, Rindlaub was named cadet first captain and regimental commander, the highest rank attainable in the corps at West Point.

Dr. Rindlaub's second son, John, will be graduated from Yale University on the 18th inst. A third son, Newall Rindlaub, is completing his first year at the New Haven institution.

Coming to this city about two years ago, Dr. Rindlaub became the first resident of the historic Old Mill after the landmark had been remodeled into a residence by its owner, Mrs. J. H. Bream.

PROTECTIVE LEAGUE TO OPPOSE BOND ISSUE

LAGUNA BEACH, June 1.—A $96,000 civic development bond issue proposal outlined by the City Council to various organizations of the community was definitely disapproved by the members of the Home Protective League at last night's session of the association in the Chamber of Commerce Building. Of the five items included in the plan only two received any favorable vote.

An extension program for city parks planned by the Council at the estimated cost of $12,000 received a tie vote from the league members, while a plan to purchase a private pier here for the general public's usage lost by but one vote.

Other items in the proposed project which received no encouraging vote were the proposal to make a survey of the city at a cost of $25,000, construct a municipal plunge at on aggregate expense of $22,000, and the creation of a civic center for this community at an expense of $30,000.

George L. Bates, City Engineer of Brea and Placentia and speaker of the evening, advised the league members against a city survey or the preparation of topographical maps of any sort.

NEWSPAPER IN NEW BUILDING

Col. Ira C. Copley

SANTA MONICA, June 1.—An old copy of the Santa Monica Outlook, published October 13, 1875, was one of the exhibits today when this veteran newspaper held a housewarming in its new $500,000 publishing plant. Thousands of Santa Monica Bay districs and Los Angeles guests inspected the new building, and refreshments for the reception were on a mammoth scale. A 200-pound fruitcake, baked by Andy Witchell, pioneer baker, and another massive example of the deletable art from the Western Union Telegraph Company, were among the cakes cut. Col. Ira C. Copley, who recently added the Outlook, which is separately incorporated, to his organizations controlling numerous newspapers in the Middle West and Southern California, got the first slice. Robert P. Holliday, publisher; Charles P. Warren, associate editor; Leslie S. Storrs, managing editor; Arthur P. White, business manager; Robert Hutton, city editor and the entire editorial, business, art and mechanical staff served as a reception committee. The event was celebrated by publication of a 160-page special edition from the new press. Mayor Michel, Commissioners Morton and Helton, president Frank E. Bundy of the Santa Monica-Ocean Park Chamber of Commerce, city officials, civic and women's organizations and thousands of citizens inspected the fine modern plant, which newspaper men have pronounced without a peer for equipment and comfort. Visitors witnessed the printing of the big edition, watched reporters grinding out copy under conditions which would make a poet out of a police reporter, and enjoyed a fine entertainment program.

Citrus Culture Near Yucaipa

YUCAIPA, June 1.—George Mumphrey and Winslow Lincoln of Redlands will plant 10,000 orange trees in the Yucaipa Valley. The first 5000 of the trees have arrived and are in the ground and trees will be planted daily for several weeks.

The Redlands men are going ahead with the planting, having convinced themselves by a study of winter temperature records that the winters are warm enough for citrus fruit. The tract that is counted upon to develop the Yucaipa Valley's first citrus crop is located on the south side of the Crafton Hills. The development is the most extensive in recent years in the Redlands district, comparable only to the Green Spot Development financed by the Redlands Orange Growers' Investment Company.

MOUNTAIN FIRE HAD A PURPOSE

UPLAND, June 1.—Residents of Upland who last night thought the mountains north of here were being destroyed by fire, learned their mistake today.

The blaze was set early in the evening for the purpose of burning brush from a new fire break being constructed along the base of the hills, to extend from a point between San Antonio and Cucamonga canyons to the mouth of Cajon Pass, north of San Bernardino.

CITY ENTERS RECORD SUMMER BUILDING ERA

CONSTRUCTION ATTAINS PEAK

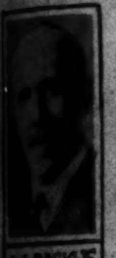
Many Major Projects Will be Started Soon

Los Angeles Official Sees Bright Future

No Recession Expected in Warmer Months

The first day of summer finds Los Angeles facing the greatest June building activity in its history with the prospect that by the end of the year new construction here will exceed last year by approximately [illegible].

J. J. Backus, Los Angeles superintendent of buildings, yesterday declared that no summer in the city's history saw better prospects for construction than the present. He declared that while past years often witnessed a slight slump during the warmer months this year would see steady progress with no diminishing of activity.



J. J. BACKUS

These statements, the building head declared, were based upon projects now under way and new developments which have been brought to his attention but for which permits have not yet been issued.

CONSTRUCTION FIGURES

That 1929 is far ahead of last year in construction is shown by records of the building department released yesterday by Superintendent Backus. Permits for the present year to date total $46,069,-[illegible] compared to $42,812,136 a year ago or a gain of $3,257,278 for the first five months of the year. Numerous major projects which will be started during the summer are expected to make up the surplus [illegible].

"Conditions in Los Angeles are better than other sections of the Coast," Mr. Backus stated. "I have just returned from a survey in the North and with the exception of Seattle and Vancouver, B. C., building activity is not as active as here. Construction here also is well balanced, there being proper portions of office buildings, homes, and industrial units. Conditions never looked better. I anticipate a steady advance but no boom and no letdown. Construction will offer employment to many men here this summer."

MAJOR PROJECTS LISTED

Among major projects costing $1,000,000 or more are these height-limit office buildings: Los Angeles Stock Exchange, Clune Building, Security Building, office structures at Eighth and Olive and at Sixth and Olive streets, Federal Reserve Bank and the Banks-Huntley Building.

Projects under way at the present time which involve expenditures of $1,000,000 or more include the Town House, Garland Building, addition to the May Company Building, Bullock's Wilshire store, and the Professional Building on Wilshire Boulevard. Numerous apartment houses, industrial units, smaller stores and countless numbers of single residences and miscellane-

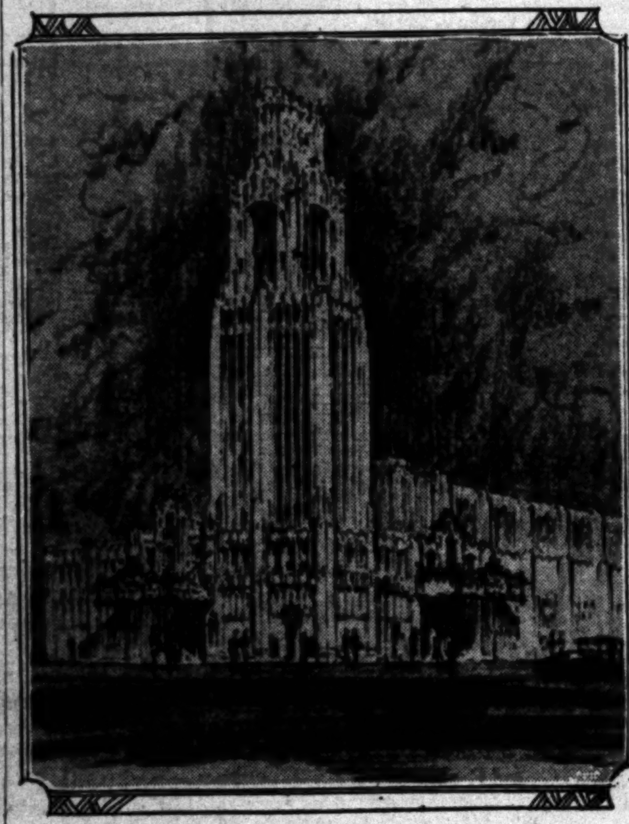
PLAYHOUSE PLANS ANNOUNCED

Beverly Hills Theater to Rise Soon



Structure of Modified Spanish Architecture

Albert E. Chotiner, sponsoring the Wilshire Amusement Corporation, will begin construction within ninety days on a theater and office building at the southeast corner of Wilshire Boulevard and Hamilton Drive, Beverly Hills.

The building, of modified Spanish architecture, will be height-limit. The lot is 100x162, and the theater will seat 1400.

Unusual interior effects are declared to have been created by the architect, S. Charles Lee.

The commercial part of the building will be devoted to four stores, and a tower housing an exclusive office arrangement.

The project is reported to represent an investment of approximately $1,000,000 and is to be built on a sixty-eight-year ground lease recently acquired by the amusement company.

FACT AND COMMENT

Real-estate men should be alert to the possibilities linked with the arrival this week of thousands of Shriners.

East of the Mississipi, Los Angeles is a magic word. Almost every visitor has heard of the fortunes that have been made here in real estate, oil, orchards and motion pictures. Most of these visitors would be glad of the opportunity to live here. The majority of them cannot cut loose from their eastern business connections right now but they can begin to plan for a Southern California home in the not far-distant future.

Real-estate men need not hesitate, from fear of discourtesy, in impressing on the visitors the unequaled investment opportunities, and at the same time, the chance to enjoy life to the fullest.

The visitor is only too willing to be shown. He will count his time here doubly well spent if he can combine with his pleas-

PUBLIC BEACH PLAN DISCLOSED

Santa Monica Breakwater Project Explained

Governor Urged to Approve Recent Legislation

Need of Recreational Unit Told by Official

[In an exclusive interview for The Times today, Arthur A. Weber, chairman of the Santa Monica-Los Angeles Breakwater Association, set forth the aims and ideals of a large group of citizens of the area extending from Hollywood and Beverly Hills to the sea, in urging Gov. Young to sign the Santa Monica Bay Breakwater bill, the enabling act which would permit the voters of the proposed recreational-harbor district to decide for themselves whether or not they desire to undertake the project.]

BY ARTHUR A. WEBER

More than thirty years ago, the Santa Monica Bay region was thrilled with the possibility of obtaining Federal aid for the location of a commercial harbor, and the controversy between San Pedro and Santa Monica on that issue was bitter and long-drawn out. The political giants of the day, Collis P. Huntington, representing the power of the Southern Pacific Company, contended for Santa Monica, and Senator Stephen M. White represented the San Pedro-Wilmington district. That historic struggle resulted in victory for Senator White, and Los Angeles obtained its present magnificent commercial harbor at San Pedro. Santa Monica Bay residents were greatly disappointed and felt that their real chance for great development had been lost.

It is strangely true that individuals and communities often do not know wherein their good fortune lies. In the years that have passed since Santa Monica Bay definitely lost its chance to become an industrial and commercial center, it has steadily gone ahead and developed as an unspoiled, fine residential district of metropolitan Los Angeles. Famed for the beauty of its situation on the Palisades above the Pacific, Santa Monica and the district northerly, now included within the boundaries of Los Angeles city, has obtained a place in the minds of the public throughout the nation as one of the most favored recreational and residential districts of the State.

PUBLIC EXCLUDED

There has been, however, an unfortunate condition along the beach front, due to private owners asserting their right to exclude the public from the beach by fencing their properties in such a manner as to restrict the public; and so in Santa Monica proper, as well as in other cities along the ocean front, the public, which for years was accustomed to resort in great numbers to the beach for recreation, now finds it very difficult to be accommodated. The present owners of this beach frontage have paid a large price for it and feel that it is exclusively theirs. Speaking from our experience in Santa Monica, we know that it is improbable, if not quite impossible, that we can acquire any additional public-owned beach frontage in Santa Monica proper at the prices now obtaining.

The Santa Monica-Ocean Park Chamber of Commerce, taking a large view of the situation and the conditions, felt that it was not impossible to obtain a sufficient length of public-owned recreational beach frontage, as there existed, and still exists, northerly of Santa Monica city limits, three miles of ocean frontage which is almost wholly unimproved at this time, the ownership of which is in a few individuals or corporations who have tentatively evidenced a willingness to co-operate. It is significant that this frontage is served by a system of boulevards leading to it from the center of Los Angeles, commencing with Beverly Boulevard and including the Santa Monica Canyon Road, as well as the approaches through Santa Monica city proper. The area is traversed by the State Coast Highway, which is soon to be opened through from Oxnard to Santa Monica and will complete the State coast route from San Francisco to Santa Monica and points south.

Coupled with the problem of taking care of the public recreational needs of metropolitan Los Angeles and Santa Monica by acquiring a considerable stretch of beach frontage, unobstructed and free, there is the further problem of providing additional boulevard width for this coast highway.

BREAKWATER NECESSARY

In order to widen the highway and build up additional beach for the public, it will be necessary to protect that portion of the coast from storms and tides. The only method by which this can be accomplished is to build a breakwater opposite the beach lands to be acquired by the public; and, according to competent engineers, the building of such a breakwater would permit the creation and maintenance of public bathing strand and would also protect the coast highway.

A proper survey of conditions as they are going to obtain in the future indicates beyond doubt that unless we immediately proceed to acquire this unimproved stretch of sand just northerly of Santa Monica, there will be lost to the people their only opportunity to obtain, close to metropolitan Los Angeles, any sufficiently extensive public bathing beach. The very same facts now making it impossible to purchase beach frontage opposite the shores of Santa Monica city proper will, in a very short time, also

LARGE SOAP PLANT TO BE BUILT

Procter & Gamble to Erect Factory in Los Angeles to Cost $5,000,000

Negotiations looking toward the establishment in Los Angeles of a $5,000,000 plant by the Procter & Gamble Company are progressing swiftly and satisfactorily, according to J. J. Moran, representative of the company, investigating possible sites in this city.

Economic advantages offered by Los Angeles are highly pleasing and the entire deal now hinges upon selection of a satisfactory site, Mr. Moran said. Several sites are under consideration and, while Mr. Moran did not say so, indications are that a decision is imminent—a decision that will assure the plant for Los Angeles.

"I am authorized to say that the Pacific Coast plant will cost $5,000,-000," said Mr. Moran. "It probably will be of the full-unit type, including a cotton mill for extraction of cottonseed oil and a copra-reduction plant. The plant will employ more than 500 persons and will handle a tonnage, in and out of the plant, of not less than 2000 carloads a year.

"The company, as is well known, manufactures soaps and food products which require large imports of raw materials. It is, I believe, the largest single importer of fish oils in the United States. Location of the Pacific Coast plant in Los Angeles probably would mean that much of the company's imports would come through this port.

"Products manufactured at the plant will be distributed throughout the eleven Pacific Slope States."

State's Gain in Population Told by Riley

California had a population of 5,466,104 at the end of January, 1928, an increase of 67,647 over the previous year, Ray L. Riley, State Controller, discloses in an article to be published in the current State growth and progress number of the California Real Estate Magazine.

According to the Controller's report, the figures represent an increase of 2,039,243 since the 1920 census, when the State's population was 3,426,861. That approximately 19 per cent of the population is rural is indicated by the fact that estimates for the cities total 4,399,-569.

Estimates by the Controller for cities over 20,000 follow:

Los Angeles, 1,343,923; San Francisco, 698,963; Oakland, 312,442; Long Beach, 139,467; San Diego, 125,194; Sacramento, 101,376; Pasadena, 85,467; Berkeley, 82,469; Fresno, 72,616; Stockton, 49,635; San Jose, 56,377; Alameda, 38,344; Vallejo, 22,382; Santa Barbara, 32,368; Riverside, 31,484; San Bernardino, 41,237; Bakersfield, 29,552; Richmond, 21,145; Santa Ana, 34,692, and Santa Monica, 53,604; Pomona, 20,833.

"TIMES" CONTEST STILL OPEN

Many Aspirants Entering National Better Homes Competition Insure Attractive Designs

There is still time left for competitors to enter the 1929 National Better Homes $29,000 prize competition, it was announced yesterday by the local directors of the competition, which is being handled through The Times in the district comprising California and Nevada.

An unexpectedly large number of entrants have been made in this section, probably insuring some of the outstanding talent to represent the district in the national competition. There will be three prizes of $500 each to be awarded in the district for the three best designs for moderate-priced homes. The three winning designs will then be sent to the national headquarters in New York along with the winners from twelve other districts over the country to compete for three grand prizes of $5000, for first; $3000 for second and $1500 for third place.

ENTRANCE ELIGIBLES

The competition is open to architects, draughtsmen and architectural students. The competition closes for this district at midnight the 30th inst. Full information on the contest, how to enter, and what is to be done can be obtained by addressing an inquiry to the Better Homes Editor, The Times. There are no entry fees or any other charges.

Scores of architects in this district have obtained the program announcement setting forth the specifications in general and the types of houses to be designed, and are already at work on their preliminary sketches and drawings. In addition to the program announcement there is a reference package containing additional information as to the materials to be specified as standard by the architect in designing his house. These materials are not absolutely necessary, but are set forth as standard and desirable. The materials specified should be the equal of those described in the material in the reference package.

The reference packages are being sent out to competitors who have sent in their entry card or their personal letter announcing their entry into the contest. The reference package will not be sent to those who have not first secured the program announcement, read it over and announced their intention to enter.

JURY OF AWARDS

A local jury of awards is being selected, the personnel of which is to be announced later. The jury will consist of from five to seven persons, the majority of whom will be licensed architects, one probably a real-estate broker and the other a builder, the object being to have men familiar with all aspects of the home-building industry to look over the designs submitted. The contest is one to bring out practicability and attractiveness in design for moderate-priced homes. For this reason the purely theoretical and the merely beautiful to look at will not have a chance. One or more of the winners are going to be called upon to furnish working drawings for the designs so that the house may be built and shown to the public. All these facts and additional information are set forth in the program announcement, which may be obtained by request.

Architect Will Visit East for Ideas on Store

Claud Beelman, architect, left last week for the East to make a study of department stores so that he may incorporate advanced ideas in a height-limit structure he is planning for the corner of Ninth and Broadway. The building will be built by Adolph Sieroty, president of Eastern Outfitting Company, and house this concern and also the Columbia Outfitting Company. The cost of the structure has been set at $1,250,000.

Mr. Beelman will visit stores in New York, Boston, Detroit, Philadelphia, Cleveland and Chicago before returning to complete his plans.

Residence for College Head to be Erected

CLAREMONT, June 1. (Exclusive)—Property owned by Miss Alma Campbell of this city, including a lot and a cottage and another lot adjoining, has been purchased by Claremont Colleges. The site is proposed for the erection of a residence for the president of the colleges.

The lot is 140 by 150 feet and the cottage will be sold and moved off. Plans for the proposed residence are being drafted by Mr. Marston of the Marston and Mayberry firm of architects in Pasadena.

TAX RECEIPTS TO TELL STORY OF ASSESSMENTS

See if there is any notice of overdue special assessments attached to or stamped to your tax receipts!

In the future that is all that will be necessary to protect property owners from excessive penalties for delinquent payment of special assessments, or from losing their property for nonpayment, according to Frank H. Brooks, past president of the Los Angeles Realty Board and chairman of its legislative committee, in a statement issued yesterday.

"The solution of the problem of how to protect property owners from loss of property when, through faulty notification, they have failed to pay special levies, being totally ignorant of their existence, will be found when Senate Bill 359, which passed the Legislature, and only waits the signature of the Governor, becomes a law," Brooks stated.

"Briefly, the bill which is an amendment to the Improvement Act of 1911 provides that before property can be sold for nonpayment of special assessments, personal notice be served on the owner to the effect that suit will be brought thirty days after the serving of said notice, and if said personal notice is not delivered and the property owner is absent from the city or cannot be located, then the delinquent notice is to appear on the next tax bill.

A small penalty, 5 per cent for allowing the amount to become delinquent, and 1 per cent per month until paid, is charged. But this is very different from the penalties of from 400 to 500 per cent that have been paid in the past.

Flood of Money Surpasses May Mortgage Maturity Demands

LIENS DISCLOSE GREAT PAYOFF

Large Excess Reported in May Loan Payments

Defaults Show Reduction But Amount Gains

Surplus of Funds Indicated for Future Needs

With one day's payoff to be added, the record of realty lien discharge for May, stood within $843,203 of the $2,000,000 excess predicted for the month, according to the weekly analysis prepared by the Pacific States Savings and Loan Company, based upon data prepared exclusively for The Times by the Mortgage Maturity Company.

"The payoff up to and including the 29th inst.," commented the Pacific States Savings and Loan Company, "totaled $11,930,988. The maturities for the month totaled $10,764,691. It is quite possible May 31 will record an increase in the excess which will sustain the prediction of an excess payment of $2,000,000 over the maturities of the month.

"At the close of business the 29th inst. the total number of instruments discharged over the number maturing was 394, the actual number discharged being 2414 as against 2020 maturing.

"Aside from the payoff of the month, an interesting development is the persistent decline of the number of instruments noticed for default, marked by an advance in the total value of the paper involved.

"The defaults at the close of the record on May 29 totaled ninety-five instruments, the lowest volume of the year. Yet, the value of the paper advanced to $1,041,249. Compared with the defaults noticed for the preceding months it would seem the notices were published in connection with larger liens than any month of the year so far. The record shows 114 defaults for January, valued at $580,246; for February, it shows 118 instruments, involving $842,368; March, 105 liens worth $714,490; April, 104 loans of $624,884.

The total defaults for the year to May 29 number 536 instruments for a total of $3,801,237. This figure would alone seem colossal, until it is compared with the payoff for the same period, which shows, up to May 29 a total of 12,064 instruments discharged in repayment, or refinancing of $66,959,980.

Work is being rushed on the expansion program of the Firestone Company, and the addition to the factory on Firestone Boulevard is to be ready for business about the first of the coming year. When the enlarged plant is completed it will have a productive capacity of 12,000 tires and 14,000 tubes daily, against the present production of 5000 tires and 7500 tubes. LEASE SETS HIGH MARK IN RENTALS

San Bernardino Structure Acquired for Long Term at Figure of $5,000,000

SAN BERNARDINO, June 1. (Exclusive)—Consummating the largest real estate transaction in San Bernardino Valley, the Patch Realty Company of San Bernardino and Redlands has just announced the signing of a ninety-nine-year lease on the Platt Building, southeast corner of Fifth and E streets in San Bernardino, for a gross rental totaling almost $5,000,000.

Owners and lessors of the property are Frank C. and Ida Grace Platt of Los Angeles; Lawrence T. and Carolyn Platt, and Joseph R. Rensch, of San Bernardino, all being officials of the Frank C. Platt Realty Company of San Bernardino. The lease was taken by Richard E. Roberts, vice-president of the San Bernardino National Bank; B. Dade Davis, San Bernardino business man, and W. M. Patch of Redlands, president of the Patch Realty Company. Each of the lessees has one-third interest in the lease.

After deducting the taxes and insurance on the Fifth and E corner, the owners will receive a net rental of $3,600,000 from the lease, which is a return of 6 per cent net on a property valuation of $600,000, it was stated by Mr. Patch.

The building ranks among the most beautiful, architecturally, of business structures in California. It houses the 1600-seat Fox E street Theater, eleven attractive stores and eighty finished offices in its four stories and basement. The property has a frontage of 140 feet on E street and 169 feet on Fifth street.

Valley Market Almost Ready

Completion early this month of the largest drive-in market in the San Fernando Valley was announced today by Ivor McCray of Heffron-McCray-St. John, owners and developers of Toluca Lake Park and Toluca Triangle, the latter being the site of this new $85,000 development.

The market, which is being built by the Southern California Finance Company, represents the first unit in the development of Toluca Triangle as one of the centralized business and shopping districts of San Fernando Valley, according to McCray, who declared this site was chosen because of its strategical location at the gateway of the valley, where all automobile traffic to and from Los Angeles and San Fernando Valley must pass.

Firm Reports Four Leases of Buildings

The office of Coldwell, Cornwall & Banker, 415 Pacific Mutual Building, have announced the completion of four long-term chain store leases on the west side of South Broadway between Vernon avenue and Forty-seventh street.

The firm has just closed a fifteen-year lease with The Owl Drug Company, who will occupy the southwest corner of Broadway and Vernon upon expiration of the present lease. This property is owned by the Industrial Properties Corporation.

Two twenty-five year leases covering buildings to be erected on the property at 4511-4517 South Broadway by the Urban Properties Company have been closed. The two tenants are F. & W. Grand 5-10-25 Cent Stores, Inc., and Clark's Dollar Stores.

These leases commence at the expiration of the present leases on the property.

Another major deal, which also involved a sale of the property made by the same firm is a twenty-year lease of a new building to be erected at 4615-4617 South Broadway for Merrill's Dollar Store. Incidental to this lease the property involved was sold for H. E. Trumbo to Urban Properties Company by Coldwell, Cornwall & Banker.

All negotiations of these four leases and the sale were handled by A. C. Hastings, Charles Detoy and S. A. Cort.

The four leases above described will carry a total aggregate rental of approximately $750,000.

Cafe Owners Acquire Site for Builing

Rollins Jones, Vine street real estate broker, announces the consummation of a ten-year lease on the southwest corner of Los Feliz Boulevard and Hillhurst avenue, 115x200, to Willards cafe. This property is one of Ralph B. Lloyd's holdings and will net a total income of over $50,000 during the term of the lease.

Willards will immediately erect a building similar to the one they now operate on Pico Boulevard, but with a much larger seating capacity as well as providing rooms for special parties and banquets.

Industrial Unit Announces Two New Buildings

HARBOR CITY, June 1. (Exclusive)—The Harbor City plant of the Western Sulphur Industries, Inc has entered upon a $50,000 expansion program, part of which will include the erection of two buildings near the present mill and warehouse at President and Two Hundred and Fifty-ninth streets. APARTMENT BUILDING IN CITY GROWS

More Than $25,000,000 to be Expended During Year, Survey Discloses

New apartment-house construction in Los Angeles this year will involve an expenditure of more than $25,000,000 for 900 or more buildings, it was forecast yesterday, following a study of projects now being mapped out, announced plans and permits issued during the first four months of 1929.

Surveys of work in process in the offices of builders, architects and others show that at least $8,000,000 of new apartment structures, as yet unannounced, are planned for construction this year, according to a study by Louis M. Halper, president of the Pacific States Realty Improvement Company, Ltd. More than $10,000,000 is represented in plans already announced for new apartments to be erected during the remaining months of the year, he said yesterday.

During the first four months of this year the Department of Building and Safety issued 295 permits, valued at $7,687,210, for new apartment-houses, according to figures obtained by Mr. Halper. In the corresponding period of 1928, 294 permits were issued with a valuation of $9,156,954, for this class of building.

The current year will at least equal the record established in 1928, when a total of 898 permits valued at $28,268,917, were issued, according to the executive. From the data already available, it is shown that this year is closely following the pace set in 1928.

Travel Opened Over Colfax Avenue Paving

Paving of Colfax avenue from Lankershim Boulevard to Ventura Boulevard was finished this week and portions of the new highway lying north of Chandler Boulevard in the Hollywood Green area are open to travel, John P. Harding of the district engineering office has announced.

The Colfax avenue-Chandler Boulevard improvement includes more than five miles of paving and forms a connecting link between Lankershim Boulevard and Ventura Boulevard over Colfax avenue.

It is one of the largest street-improvement projects of the year in San Fernando Valley, according to the engineering office.

NINETY-NINE-YEAR LEASE CONSUMMATED

The first ninety-nine-year lease ever made for Ventura Boulevard property was recorded this week when Arthur W. Lynch and Raymond Starr, Los Angeles realty operators, took over the northeast corner of the boulevard and Woodman street, from San Fernando Valley interests. The consideration was not made known, but Mr. Starr said it was for "more than $250,000." The corner is to be built up immediately, Mr. Starr announced.

City Spends Enormous Amount on Height Limit Construction

TALL BUILDINGS COST MILLIONS

Nine-Year Program Shows Great Expenditure

Wave of Remodeling Works Many Changes

Building-Loan Associations Large Factor

Backing up Los Angeles' height-limit construction campaign which got under way in 1920, the huge sum of $139,065,885 has been expended in remodeling old buildings and constructing additions to them during the last nine years. Immediately after the skyscraper program became operative, the remodeling development, involving millions of dollars, was inaugurated, with an annual average cost of $15,453,987.

The enormous remodeling movement has converted Los Angeles' older buildings into modern structures, marking the passing of the landmarks of pueblo days, according to a survey made by Gilbert H. Beesemyer of the Guaranty Building and Loan Association.

During the last five years $83,693,-[illegible] has been expended in alterations and additions to buildings and for demolition of old structures. This is the greatest amount ever spent for these purposes in any five-year period in the history of Los Angeles, the Guaranty survey shows.

The Guaranty survey indicates that since 1920 a total of 52,927 buildings have been remodeled at a cost of $49,987,986, while additions to buildings involved an expenditure of $89,083,215 for 70,041 operations. For remodeling 1924 holds high mark with a cost of $7,457,080, with 1925 leading in the construction of additions to buildings with $12,347,973.

Permits for remodeling, alterations, demolitions and foundations issued during the nine-year period reached a total of 126,598. The number of buildings affected by alterations and additions and the valuation of the improvements follow:

Year.	Number.	Value.
1920	8,318	$ 9,210,274
1921	11,477	10,697,391
1922	14,806	14,610,998
1923	17,364	20,563,807
1924	16,621	18,569,300
1925	14,842	19,268,244
1926	13,666	16,539,372
1927	15,781	18,126,035
1928	14,331	11,270,774
Totals	126,598	$139,065,885

With resources of $109,461,161 the building-loan associations of Los Angeles have been major factors in financing the huge remodeling development in addition to furnishing funds for the building of thousands of new homes in Los Angeles, the Guaranty survey states.

One-Story Playhouse Will Seat 1800 Patrons

GROUND will be broken within thirty days on a $400,000 theater and store building at the corner of Beverly Boulevard and Fairfax avenue, according to an announcement made last week.

The theater, seating 1800, has been leased and will be operated by the Fairfax Theater Company Inc., of which Harry Srere, Gus A. Metzger, and Charles A. Nichthauser are the owners. The same policy adopted at the Forum Theater, which they also operate, will prevail.

The theater is a one-floor house with no balconies. Spacious foyer and private lounges have been provided. The projection room will house the latest in talking and movie equipment. The theater will be heated, cooled and ventilated by a modern refrigerating, heating, and ventilating plant.

The Fairfax Theater has been designed by W. C. Pennell, Vermont-avenue architect, and will be constructed under his supervision. J. C. Chapman will represent the owner. The egotiation for both leasee and leaser were handled by William I. Zidell, real estate broker.

PAVING FOR BOULEVARD CONTRACTED

Work to Begin at Once on Ventura Thoroughfare Development

Contracts for the huge Ventura Boulevard improvement, calling for expenditure of $678,563.73, the largest street-development contracts let by the Board of Public Works during the present year, have been awarded to A. W. Peck and work will start immediately, vice-chairman A. W. L. Dunn announced yesterday.

Two improvement districts were created for the development, one extending from Lankershim Boulevard to Studio City and the other west of the film community to Sepulveda Boulevard. Bonds were voted to defray the cost. The bid on the Lankershim-Studio City stretch was $238,827.05 and on the Studio City-Sepulveda Boulevard section, $439,736.68.

Under the improvement Ventura Boulevard will be converted into a seventy-foot paved highway from Hollywood to Sepulveda Boulevard. From Lankershim Boulevard through Studio City Ventura Boulevard will be 100 feet wide with 70 feet of paving.

Plans call for the installation of ornamental lights similar to those on Wilshire Boulevard. The city already is acquiring right of way for an east road through Cahuenga Pass, providing two broad highways from Highland avenue through the pass. Increased traffic created by the rapid growth of the new film center has caused the board to rush both the Ventura Boulevard widening and the east road through the pass.

CONSTRUCTION PEAK FOR JUNE

ous structures swell present activities.

Among the larger industrial plants under construction are the Samson tire factory, $8,000,000; the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company addition, $7,000,000, and the Willys-Knight-Overland Company addition, $1,000,000. Countless numbers of industrial units costing less than $1,000,000 are being built throughout factory areas of the city.

NEW PERMITS ISSUED

During the month just passed permits were issued for the Bartlett Syndicate Building Corporation theater at 6225 Hollywood Boulevard, costing $840,000; addition to the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Building, $100,000; administrative and social center building for the Los Angeles Orthopedic Hospital, $247,000; Raul Pereira Apartment-House, $200,000; H. S. Robbin Apartment-House, $100,000; Greek Theater of the City Park Department, $185,000; foundation for May Company addition, $100,000, and the Jacob Braustin Apartment-House costing $175,000. Permits for the month totaled $8,535,229.

Other classifications include three airports, $82,000; six churches, $173,000; three clubs, $55,285,647; private garages of various sizes, $200,230; seven public garages, $41,050; forty-eight mercantile buildings, $407,311; and two theater buildings, $1,025,000.

Permit Sought for Industrial Near Torrance

TORRANCE, June 1. (Exclusive) Applications for permits for the Paramount Portland Cement Company's $5,000,000 plant at the southern boundary of this city were made by Manager G. S. Moore this week. The permits call for the erection at the present time of three buildings, which are to include a machine shop, two stories in height and 187x60 feet in dimension, a silo and an office building.

Plans for the development of the plant, according to Mr. Moore, include the installation of a dust collecting system costing $225,000 with specially constructed electric motors. Other buildings to follow are a 200,000-barrel storage room, a clinker storage for cement before it is ground and two kilns which are to be the largest of their kind in existence.

The plant, which will employ 250 men is situated in the industrial tract adjoining Lomita and Palos Verdes Hills.

PLANE MAN COMPLETING TRACT DEAL

Aircraft Distributor Plans Purchase of Properties in Tulare County

WOODLAKE, June 1. (Exclusive) J. T. Hurst, head of the Mutual Aircraft Corporation, distributor for the Ryan airplane, with headquarters in Los Angeles, is said to be completing deals for two outstanding Tulare county properties comprising 7330 acres of valley and foothill land near Woodlake, known as the Fred H. Ward ranch, and the Hayden Heights ranch northeast of Dinuba.

The Fred H. Ward place consists of 7000 acres in the valley and stretching for a long distance up the Kaweah River and Dry Creek. It is ideally situated for a combination stock and guest ranch. It has a large area of level land for farming and building purposes, and has thousands of acres of foothill land suitable for ranging and recreational purposes. It is understood that Hurst plans improving it as a guest and cattle ranch, a landing field for accommodation of airplanes to be a feature.

Hayden Heights ranch lies two miles northeast of Dinuba. It consists of 330 acres of vineyards, and is known for its scenic drive, the entire Dinuba and Alta districts being spread in panorama beneath.

Realty Board Obtains Quota

BELL, June 1. (Exclusive)—The Bell Realty Board has succeeded in obtaining its quota of new members and has a 100 per cent rating from the California Real Estate Association.

The club is sponsoring a plan to establish a community park for the southeast district, and has mentioned the site at Florence and Salt Lake avenues, known as the Griffith property. It is receiving suggestions as to this location from many of the organizations in the district, questionnaires having been sent out by the board.

SAVINGS TO INVESTORS DISCLOSED

Realty Commissioner for State Tells Benefits of Legislation

Stephen Barnson, State real estate commissioner, declared that many millions had been saved California investors by enforcement of the Real Estate Act during the past eighteen months and that a much larger amount will be saved investors by the new act which has been practically rewritten, in his address on recent legislative enactments delivered before the members of the Los Angeles Realty Board, Southwest Branch, at the last regular meeting.

Barnson told of attempts being made to sell worthless lands in California by Boulder Dam propaganda and of the State department preventing the sale of 168,000 acres in the past eighteen months. He also told of preventing the sale here of similar land located in Arizona and he said that hereafter all farm land subdividers would be required under the new act to submit their plans and set-up to the State Real Estate Department before offering such lands for sale to the public.

The majority of complaints reaching his office he said were traced to careless salesmen. To correct that the new act provides that all salesmen in California must take an examination to be given in all large cities of the State on August 16, he said.

The examination would embrace twenty-five questions designed, he said, to reveal the salesman's knowledge of real estate and his ideas of ethical practice. The passing mark will be 75 per cent.

But 51 per cent of the brokers taking the broker's examination, he said, received a passing mark. He believed, he said, that the salesman's examination would result in weeding out of the real estate business thousands of persons that used their licenses merely as a makeshift.

Pipe Company to Construct Factory Unit

Mason, Cole & Co. real estate brokers, announce the sale of five and one-half acres at Clearwater to the Collins Concrete Pipe Company of Portland, Or. It is announced that construction work has started on a building for the manufacture of the Collins Concrete Pipe. An initial order involving a $200,000 contract has been awarded to the Collins Concrete Pipe Company by the township of Hollydale, officials report.

The cost of the land and improvements will approximate $75,000. C. R. Wyman of the offices of Mason, Cole & Co. handled the transaction for the owners. The property is served by the Pacific Electric Railroad.

A. L. Layden of Mason, Cole & Co. made a five-year lease this week at 2460 Enterprise street to the Wayne D. Crook Company, distributors of the Rome Graders and Ransom concrete machinery equipment. Due to the expansion of their line of grading and concrete machinery the Wayne D. Crook Company acquired 5600 square feet at this address.

GARAGE VALUES HERE COMPILED

New Construction Since 1920 Worth $41,171,125

Survey Discloses Number to Exceed 98,000

One Automobile Here for Every Three Persons

Los Angeles has spent $41,171,125 in the construction of 98,955 public and private garages since 1920, keeping pace steadily with increases in dwelling construction, in population and in automobile registration, according to a survey made by Gilbert H. Beesemyer, of the Guaranty Building and Loan Association.

During the nine-year period since the last census was taken, the average annual expenditure for garage construction was $4,574,000, or 11,000 garages yearly.

CONSTRUCTION TABLE

Garage construction since 1920 was as follows:

	Number.	Value.
1920	6,854	$3,100,688
1921	8,671	3,352,241
1922	11,614	4,329,610
1923	16,550	6,834,113
1924	13,782	6,352,974
1925	12,298	5,071,900
1926	10,540	4,407,436
1927	10,171	4,630,132
1928	8,475	3,092,031
Totals	98,955	$41,171,125

Some interesting side lights on Los Angeles stability of growth are reflected by the Guaranty survey.

It shows that a garage has been built for every eight new citizens represented by the increase in population of 850,807 since 1920.

There are 383,107 dwellings and 474,853 registered automobiles in Los Angeles or one and one-fifth automobiles to every home.

Since 1920 a residence has been built for every sixth person in the population increase.

The 1920 registration shows that every third (2.8) person in the city owns an automobile.

There is a dwelling in Los Angeles for every three and one-half persons.

FIGURES CHECKED

Residential construction since the last census was taken included 134,405 buildings providing for 216,683 new families, which multiplied by the fixed ratio of three and one-half gives 758,350 persons, practically checking with the estimated increase in population of 790,216.

That 1929 will be a banner year in garage construction is indicated by building for the first four months, as follows:

	Number.	Value.
January	643	$221,216
February	663	184,734
March	790	303,765
April	734	244,949

Backed by combined resources of more than $100,000,000 the Los Angeles building and loan associations have become a major factor in the financing of home construction, the Guaranty survey declares.

FACT AND COMMENT

ure jaunt the business of making a life-time dream come true.

State Building Site

Taxpayers opposed to the corner of First and Hill streets as the site for the State office building should not take undue alarm in the action of the Board of Supervisors last Monday in denying all protests against the purchase of the property.

There are several legal hurdles which must yet be negotiated. The first of these is an injunction suit filed last week. There is also the complication of the First-street widening. The legality of municipal condemnation of land owned by the county is yet to be determined. The final and what may become the most formidable obstacle, is that Gov. Young and Alexander Heron, Director of Finance, may refuse to accept the First and Hill-street site. Both officials are said to look with disfavor upon the selection.

Modernizing Homes

New suburbs and subdivisions, as they build up, naturally develop the most modern in home planning, home architecture and home construction. Through this development comes convenience and utility of house arrangement, modernity, architectural harmony, in a word—livability.

At the same time as these areas are building up, other parts of the city are growing old, becoming run-down, decrepit and dilapidated. For many years it was felt that nothing could be done to alleviate this condition. That the only thing to do was to allow nature and the elements to take their course, to permit even the finest residential neighborhoods to fall into decay and disrepute.

But fortunately for the values of real estate, a "modernizing" wave is beginning to sweep the country and it promises to save some of these delightful old homes. Many of these houses are stanchly built, possessed of timbers that today are as strong as the day they were put to use. Old majestic trees, towering above a house, can never become obsolete. Lawns and flower beds that have received the care of generations will always be beautiful.

What one of these down-at-the-heels needs, to again be a beautiful and up-to-date home, is primarily the service of an architect with an elastic imagination. He will plan the necessary changes and the contractor or the decorator can do the rest.

The expense of modernizing a house is small compared with the benefits derived from the work. The neighborhood in which the house is located takes on a new lease of life, property values rise and the home itself becomes immediately more cheery, attractive and desirable. Modernizing should receive the encouragement and support of everyone connected with real estate and the building industry.

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

TREES FEATURE OF SUBDIVISION

Walnut, Peach, Apricot and Plums Predominate

Conservation Practiced in Laying Out Streets

Growth Declared Asset in Home Building

Walnut trees rising to a height of thirty and forty feet, apricot, plum, and peach trees that have been part of one of the most famous peach orchards in the county, all go to make up the profusion of trees that cover lots in Toluca Lake Center, according to officials of the Becker-Arbuckle-Wright Corporation, owners and developers of part of the property at the intersection of Cahuenga Boulevard and Riverside Drive in the North Hollywood area which was formally opened to the public two weeks ago.

FRUIT TREES PREDOMINATE

Every lot in Toluca Lake Center carries its quota of fruit trees or walnut trees, according to Senator Frank A. Arbuckle, secretary and general manager of the company.

"In my experience in developing residential and business properties in the Wilshire District and North Hollywood area of Los Angeles, I have never before handled a property so profuse in tree-studded lots as are found in Toluca Lake Center," said Senator Arbuckle.

"In planning our streets we delayed inauguration of this work in an effort to save trees from destruction. Not one tree on the entire property will be needlessly removed or destroyed.

BEAUTY ENHANCED

"As homes are built at Toluca Lake Center and full advantage is taken of the beautiful trees, I believe we shall have some of the handsomest residential streets to be found anywhere in Los Angeles."

Officials of the Becker-Arbuckle-Wright Corporation report street work getting into full swing at Toluca Lake Center. Graders have been at work during the past week on Moorepark Way, the business street running diagonally from Moorepark to Riverside Drive, and which together with Riverside is Toluca Lake Center's two major streets.

SAND DUNE REMOVED IN FEW HOURS

Creation of Centuries Laid Level in Half Day by Use of Machinery

A great sand dune, created by centuries of wind and tide on the east end of Emerald Bay, fell before the assault of modern excavators during the past week. The slow, gradual work of nature was eliminated in less than a working day by steam shovels and grading machinery in transforming this south coast property into a residential seashore park.

Thousands of cubic yards of sand were moved to make way for streets and the board walk which will be one of the features of the Charles H. Jones development. Leveling the sand hill was the first step in the improvement program, Charles W. Casey, exclusive agent for the bay, stated yesterday. It was followed by grading work for the streets of the first unit.

Street grading will be finished and underground utilities in before the opening takes place. Work of paving will be rushed to complete this phase of the development in time for erection of homes, several of which will be occupied before the end of the summer season. Improvements at Emerald Bay include water, gas, electricity and telephone, now on the ground, ornamental lights and sewers.

Only a few of the many beautiful eucalyptus trees on the property were removed in construction of streets.

Valley's Sewer System Costly

San Fernando Valley's system of main sanitary sewer lines will cost approximately $1,200,000 and is designed to serve the needs of six times the present population, according to a report prepared by the health and sanitary committee of the valley branch of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

An appropriation of $376,000 has been obtained from the city of Los Angeles by the committee. The valley outfall sewer which connects with the Los Angeles outfall line has been completed as far as Studio City and is being built westward.

OWNERS TO MAKE HOME LIKE MODEL

Hillside Dwelling Attracts Attention in Architecture and Furnishings

After inspecting the model home now on exhibition in Los Feliz Hills, nine owners of lots in that subdivision have prepared to build residences containing many of its features, it was learned yesterday from Ralph O. Williams of Laack & Williams, affiliated with Edwards & Wildey Company in the ownership of that tract.

In the construction of three of the nine new residences the plans will be exactly the same as those of the model home, it was stated, while the remaining six houses will each involve many of the model's best features.

This was pointed out by Mr. Williams as evidence of the influence a properly constructed model home has on the public. The Los Feliz Hills model house was constructed by the Durex Homes Company and it has been elaborately furnished throughout by one of the largest department stores in the city.

Three things have combined to create popularity for the Los Feliz Hills model home, Mr. Williams declared. These are its attractive type of architecture, furnishings and the scenic site on which it stands.

BUILDING IN VALLEY HAS INCREASED

Structures Valued at More Than $275,000 Going on in Toluca District

One of the most active periods of building in the history of North Hollywood and San Fernando Valley is now in progress in the Toluca Lake Park district, according to Ivor McCray of Heffron-McCray-St. John, who yesterday announced that residential and business developments now under construction in this district total more than $275,000.

A portion of the building activity in this section is represented in residential developments. Homes now under construction or just completed include C. C. Schellmire, $35,000; Park French, $30,000; Donald Hultin, $15,000; Charles Swedburg, $20,000; Dr. Donald E Smith, $17,500; George J. Rank, $20,000; R. A. Spooner, $15,000, and Joseph Van Meter, an official of the Charles Chaplin studios, will start construction on his residence in Toluca Lake Park next week. With the completion of these residential developments the number of completed homes in Toluca Lake Park will total 177, according to Mr. McCray, who predicts a continued upward trend in both residential and business building throughout the entire North Hollywood and San Fernando Valley district during the remainder of this year.

Harbor Growth Amazes Many Realty Seekers

A combination of factors creating attractive real estate values is turning the eyes of investors to Los Angeles Harbor, according to A. W. Zickert, of the firm of F. P. Newport Company.

"The plan to construct a $10,000,000 Pacific Coast plant for the manufacture of Ford products at Los Angeles Harbor has focused public attention upon this era," Zckert said yesterday.

"The amazing growth of Los Angeles Harbor is due in part to its lively foreign trade conditions as well as to several major developments in the western part of the United States in recent years. And the prediction of a phenomenal increase in foreign trade through this harbor is made by those who have observed the trend of "big business" to the harbor area. More than $20,000,000 will be expended there this year by six indusrial concerns that have already laid out their construction programs. And many more are planning to begin activities in the immediate future.

INTEREST IN BAY EVENT GROWS KEEN

Forerunner of Series of Annual Regattas to Be Held at Santa Monica

The intense interest taken in the Santa Monica Bay regatta this week-end is attracting yachtsmen and sportsmen from all over the Pacific Coast. The Santa Monica Land and Water Company has provided an advantageous outlook on their property in Huntington Palisades from which visitors may view the entire race, according to P. W. Rairden, vice-president of the company.

"This regatta, we believe, is the forerunner of a series of annual yachting events in Santa Monica Bay," says Mr. Rairden. "Our company in order to create further interest has donated a beautiful cup known as the Huntington Palisades Trophy, which is to be sailed for by boats in the forty-five-foot class and which is to become the permanent possession of the boat owner winning it three times.

"There are many yachtsmen in Los Angeles but an interest in this sport has been held in check by a lack of adequate harbor facilities for yachts."

MANY NEW HOMES TO RISE SOON

Westwood Village Section Expects Influx of Renters in Few Months

Construction to the value of $1,075,000 is under way in Westwood Village, according to Janss Investment Corporation.

Included in this total is the Village Administration Building, the Holmby store and office structure and Masonic clubhouse, and a number of fraternity homes, as well as dormitories and rental structures. The first apartment-house in the area was put under construction last week.

All of this construction is expected to be completed by the first of September and in readiness for the opening of the University of California campus, scheduled for the middle of that month.

In addition to present construction, all of which has been started in the ninety days since the Village area was opened, plans for additional store buildings, as well as apartment and other types of rental structures, are being completed.

The most pressing at present, according to Janss officials, is that of providing sufficient housing facilities for the students. The initial campus enrollment is now estimated at 6000 men and women. Of this total, it is expected that from 40 per cent to 45 per cent will be renters.

Bids Asked on Clubhouse at San Clemente

SAN CLEMENTE, June 1. (Exclusive)—Bids have been asked on the proposed $25,000 golf clubhouse designed by Virgil Westbrook, architect, who, at the request of Ole Hanson, founder and builder of San Clemente, has distributed plans for the structure to six contractors.

The clubhouse will be situated in the center of the course just off the State highway. It will be of Spanish architecture with a patio. It is planned to spend $5000 for shrubbery and trees around the building, and $10,000 will be spent for furnishings. Locker rooms will be available for men and women. The club will have a main room ninety feet long, at one end of which will be the dining-room.

HIGH SCHOOL BOY BUILDS GLIDER

Lindsay Youths Constructing Craft With Wing Spread of Thirty-two Feet

LINDSAY, June 1. (Exclusive)—A glider with a thirty-two-foot wing spread is being constructed at the auto-mechanics shop of Lindsay High School and is expected to be ready to take the air early this month. The glider is of the training type and not capable of sustained flights.

It can be navigated to a height of about fifty feet if given a start with a rubber rope catapult or can be flown a considerable distance by taking off from a steep slope.

Exercises to be Conducted at New Home

The newly completed faculty building on the campus of Loyola in University City will be the scene of this term's commencement exercises. This will no doubt attract more than a thousand visitors to University City, according to the announcement of Rev. Father Joseph A. Sullivan, S. J., president of Loyola University.

"While this year's commencement exercises are the second to be held in Universal City, the change between last year's scene and this year's scene is little short of amazing, says Charles E. Lindblade of Harry H. Culver & Co.

"When Loyola's graduation program took place in June, 1928, the wild, barley-grown campus was not only without buildings, but almost without roads. Now, after twelve months, the exercises are to be held in a completed building, with another almost finished building near by. Grading and curbing have replaced temporary roads. Public utilities have been installed ready for use. Landscaping and planting of shade trees has gone forward rapidly.

In September Loyola University will move from its old quarters in Los Angeles into its permanent home in University City, the 1929-30 term to mark the school's first year on this high mesa overlooking the Pacific.

Knickerbocker Apartments to Be Open Soon

Detailed plans for the Hollywood Knickerbocker Apartments, the film capital's largest and most pretentious apartment-hotel, rising eleven stories on Ivar avenue, just north of Hollywood Boulevard, have been revealed by A. C. Berghoff, the managing director.

For several months a small army of structural engineers, decorative artisans and furnishing experts have been engaged in transforming the structure into what is declared to be the most modern and completely equipped de luxe hotel in the West.

Owners of the Knickerbocker, including Frank R. Strong, president; Walter R. Wheat, Elwood Riggs and M. H. Lewis & Co., have spared neither time nor expenses in making the new hostelry an apartment home providing every conceivable modern luxury.

Tentative plans have been completed for a series of preview functions to precede the formal opening early in July.

BACH TO MAKE MORE PLANES

Company Will Have Increased Production Space

Another Unit of Factory Now Ready

Ten Ships a Month to Be Turned Out

Completion of construction of the third unit of Bach Aircraft Corporation's huge plant was announced yesterday by President George J. Bary.

With workshop, assembly, mill, dock, paint, sheet metal and engineering buildings in operation, the Bach factory is ready to start on a capacity output of five ten-place, trimotored transports monthly. An annual pay roll of $400,000, and a [illegible] yearly production are features of the Bach program. Sixty thousand square feet of space are provided by the new buildings.

Aviation industrial experts pronounced the Bach plant to be the model aircraft factory of the west coast. As the business grows the construction layout is such that further units increasing the output to ten ships a month may be quickly added. The main workshop is of brick and steel construction with a sawtooth roof, furnishing a maximum of light, which is an advanced feature of aircraft factory construction. The layout of the buildings is such as to concentrate all working units within a minimum space, saving time and reducing production cost. All buildings have been constructed with a view to permanency and expansion.

Bach Aircraft has set a new record for increases in Los Angeles industrial pay rolls. On April 1, 1928, nineteen men were employed in the factory, advancing to 119 on April 1, 1929, and to 179 on May 15. This shows a pay-roll increase of 842 per cent in one year.

Eleven ten-place three-motored transports already have been completed by Bach Aircraft, and are in the regular passenger service of West Coast Airlines on its San Francisco-Seattle run, and on the Pickwick and Santa Maria airways.

Thirteen new transports are now under construction at the Bach plant, which is swinging into its capacity output. Two ships were delivered last week, one to Pickwick Airways and the other to West Coast Airlines.

Bach Aircraft is preparing to invade the eastern industrial field by sending a huge ten-place demonstrator to the Detroit, Chicago and New York airways, where it will be based permanently. This ship will be exhibited on all eastern airlines in competition with eastern-made transports.

The Bach plant is equipped with a complete baseball park for its army of workmen.

Caster Firm Reports Gain in Production Due to Need of Studios

Since the recent removal of the Forbes Brothers Company to its new Santa Fe-avenue headquarters, the business volume has more than doubled, seventeen more men have been employed, and sales expansion has been extended to the Pacific Coast States, S. E. Forbes, vice-president in charge of sales, told R. D. Sangster, manager of the industrial department of the Chamber of Commerce.

This company has been established in Los Angeles since 1918. It was formerly located on Los Angeles street. Although its products are specialized and confined to the manufacture and sale of casters for industrial purposes, a new market has been opened by the inception of the talkies. All of the scenery, cameras, flood lights, and other equipment used in the taking of talkies are put on wheels, Forbes stated.

"This scenery and equipment are put on heavy-duty casters with vulcanized rubber tires to eliminate noise when the cameras and scenery are shifted," Forbes added. "In addition to sales of casters the company supplies hospitals, department stores and warehouses with trucks and rolling display tables."

YUCAIPA TO BUILD PACKING HOUSE

YUCAIPA, June 1.—George W. Cairns has announced that the Continental Produce Company has obtained a building site on the Ocean-to-Ocean Highway in West Yucaipa and will at once begin the erection of a packing-house. GROWTH OF FACTORY CITED

Manufacturers of Oil and Mining Machinery Report Wide Distribution of Products

New growth of the Southwestern Engineering Corporation, manufacturers of oil and mining machinery, at its plant on Santa Fe avenue, is announced through R. D. Sangster, manager of the industrial department of the Chamber of Commerce.

The company now occupies 82,000 square feet of space, and recently added $180,000 worth of equipment, buildings and machinery.

Wide distribution for both domestic and foreign markets where machinery for the handling of oil and ore is needed is also made known in the announcement. Recently the company completed construction of a flotation unit having 400 tons capacity for the Christmas Copper Company of Arizona, at a cost of more than $100,000.

Research laboratories of the company, handled by trained engineers, are working on industrial problems of the oil and mine operators, it is stated. This service, in conjunction with the national and foreign sales organization under the direction of E. J. Atchison, vice-president, has been the cause of the expansion, according to L. C. Penhoel, president of the company.

The firm maintains branch offices in New York City, Tulsa, Okla., Dallas, Tex., and Montreal, Que.

Construction of a large oil refinery has just been completed in Detroit, Mich. Most of the machinery for the plant was manufactured in Los Angeles. According to the president, Los Angeles provides ideal manufacturing conditions with an ample supply of skilled labor, proximity of raw materials, and excellent harbor and rail facilities.

Furniture Firm Acquires Plant at Inglewood

INGLEWOOD, June 1. (Exclusive)—Lloyd's Products, Inc., with a $200,000 capitalization, is the most recent addition to Inglewood's industrial section, it is announced today by James H. Dalton, secretary of the Inglewood Chamber of Commerce. This concern has taken over a plant at 308 West Redondo Boulevard where it will engage in the manufacture of children's furniture, baby carriages and cribs.

Fifty persons will be employed now and with the anticipated growth of the business, it is expected that many more will be added in the near future, according to Frank C. Lloyd, president of the company.

Lloyd has been secretary and factory manager of the Lloyd Manufacturing Company of Michigan, which was merged with the Heywood-Wakefield Company, makers of reed furniture. George S. Silsbee, of Boston, Mass., will be associated with Mr. Lloyd in an executive capacity.

Plane Makers Buy Engine Castings Here

Development of a special aluminum casting process that permits of great rigidity has been accomplished in the foundries of Axelson Machine Company of Los Angeles. Aluminum is said to be one of the most difficult metals to cast and the Axelson engineers have refined a process where the castings of airplane engines can be successfully produced in commercial quantities at economical cost.

The manufacturing facilities of the machine company are being tooled up so that production of the seven-cylinder radial airplane engine can be immediately increased.

Orders for the local concern's airplane engine are booked many months ahead. Among the airplane companies that have placed standing orders with the concern include Travel-Aire, Cessna, Swallow, Spartan, Parkes, Lincoln-Paige, American Eagle, Boeing and Commandaire.

ADDITION PLANNED FOR CITRUS-PACKING HOUSE

LINDSAY, June 1. (Exclusive)—An addition to the Andrews packing house in the Southern Pacific industrial areas in the southern city limits, under construction, will be used for orange packing. TELEPHONE COMPANY TO EXTEND SERVICE

PORTERVILLE, June 1. (Exclusive)—Work of extending the telephone service into the district northwest of Porterville is under way, the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company planning to spend about $9300 in this work. About twenty-five miles of wire, or 13,300 feet of aerial cable, will be strung. G. C. Gross is local manager for the company.

Gain in Output Made by File Manufacturers

Since the completion of new factory buildings recently, the Diamond Metal Products Company, 635-639 Antonia street, is manufacturing steel filing cabinets of new design at the rate of thirty per day, according to reports from R. D. Sangster, manager of the industrial department of the Chamber of Commerce.

The new concern, which is incorporated for $50,000, is headed by E. C. Mitchell. Messrs. A. H. and E. G. Voigt, both veteran furniture men of this city, and Mr. Mitchell are the sole stockholders in the corporation.

Two types of files are manufactured. One is the commercial suspension type, using only one track and the other employs an intermediate track that affords the drawer to slide all the way out. These are manufactured in the three and four-drawer type in letter and legal sizes. These sizes may be interchanged with card files, two of which fit in the place of one of the drawers.

OIL WELLS MAY OBTAIN LIFE LEASE

Petroleum Industry Hopes to Gain Benefits from Recent Survey

Southern California's petroleum industry is expected to derive far-reaching benefits as the result of a survey on petroleum conservation through use of natural gas, just completed by engineers of the Bureau of Mines in co-operation with the American Petroleum Institute.

Santa Fe Springs field already has adopted methods for using natural gas pressure as a means of conserving petroleum and regulating its production, according to a report issued by the Ward Heater Company, gas floor furnace manufacturers. Other fields in the southern counties will follow suit as soon as data bearing on their own peculiar situations are available, it was said.

Since production control is a major problem of the industry, it was pointed out, the importance of natural gas pressure as perhaps the primary agent in a program of conservation can hardly be overestimated.

Gas provides the principal energy which moves oil to the wells, the report explains, and exhaustion of oil from oil-bearing formations is due more to depletion of the gas than to actual exhaustion of the oil.

Local fields are now conducting tests along lines indicated by the Bureau of Mines recommendations, with the possibility that gas injection into wells in the early stages of development will be made to insure correct reservoir pressure and consequent continued production of oil.

NEW PLANT INSTALLED

DINUBA, June 1. (Exclusive)—A precooling plant is being installed by the Stewart Fruit Company in their packing-house in Dinuba for use in preparation of fresh figs and grapes for shipment. Figs are expected to be ready for packing and shipping about the first of June.

New Schedule for Inspection of Plant Told

Announcement was made yesterday of the new, completely revised schedule for the special Union Pacific train that will carry members, officers, shareholders and friends of the Monolith Portland Cement Company and the Monolith Portland Midwest Company to Laramie, Wyo., for the formal opening on June 22 of the Midwest company's new $2,000,000 plant.

It is expected that more than 100 from the Pacific Coast will make the trip, those in the north and northwest to join the excursion at Salt Lake City, while those to the south will leave from Los Angeles. Following is the revised schedule: Leave Los Angeles, June 20, 9:40 a.m.; arrive Salt Lake City, June 21, 12:20 p.m.; leave 5:55 p.m.; arrive Laramie, June 22, 6:25 a.m.; leave June 23, 2:15 a.m.; arrive Denver, 7:30 a.m.; leave, 4 p.m.; arrive Cheyenne, 7:30 p.m.; leave June 24, 1:25 a.m.; arrive Los Angeles, June 26, 5:30 p.m.

Officers of the two companies are identical and they will serve as hosts on the tour.

Fruit Exchange Plant Opened at Porterville

PORTERVILLE, June 1. (Exclusive)—Formal opening of the packing plant of the Rosecrest Fruit Exchange, in the Santa Fe industrial section in the southeastern part of the city, was celebrated with a dinner, program and dance recently. Grower-members and their families were guests.

D. Bennett and F. Reed of Sacramento, officials of the California Fruit Exchange, marketing agency of the Rosecrest Exchange. Manager W. D. Ambrose was toastmaster.

ADDED USE FOR COPPER AIDS MINING

Revival of Industry Hailed by Manufacturers Here as Boon to Business

A general revival of mining activities in Arizona and the Southwest generally is hailed by industrial leaders here as the beginning of an unprecedented period of prosperity in the marketing of Los Angeles-made equipment in the reopened mining fields.

The recent rise in value of copper, it was pointed out, has proved a stimulus to activity. A number of reasons have been advanced to explain the higher market for the metal, but figures given out by many of the largest consumers of copper in the United States show that its use is increasing rapidly.

To obtain their share of the increasing business of the surrounding territory, Los Angeles manufacturers are reaching out aggressively for mining industry business, reports here disclose. As an example of this, Consolidated Steel Corporation announces the opening of its first branch office outside of California at Phoenix, Ariz.

From these new sources several orders for heavy pieces of mining machinery already have been placed with Consolidated Steel, it was declared, indicating the ready waiting market for local equipment. Among such machinery are ball mills, jaw crushers and other pieces of this type.

Included in the southwestern mining companies that are feeling the impetus of the revival are United Verde Copper Company, Chino Copper Mines unit of Ray Consolidated Copper Company, Nevada Consolidated Copper Company, and the Phelps-Dodge interests in Arizona, reports here revealed.

CONSTRUCTION PLANS QUESTIONS ANSWERED

SCARCITY SEEN IN GOOD PLANS

Small Dwelling Declared Hard to Design

Mistakes More Apparent in Little House

Homes Held Indication of City's Character

BY THEODORE A. KOETZLI

The planning of homes of large or even moderate size presents no community problem. The home builder able to flanance the construction of such a home now usually appreciates the importance to his investment of good design and from the architect's standpoint, the fees accruing for such designing are usually sufficient to assure a fair return for the work.

But the small inexpensive house is a step-child. Its designing presents in some respects a more difficult problem than does the larger home. For an error in judgement in a large house may pass unnoticed; in a small house it is apt to be glaringly evident. To achieve success in plan and elevations an equal expenditure of time and thought is necessary, but usually no adequate financial return is securable.

GOOD DESIGNS SCARCE

It is, therefore, not remarkable that small houses of outstandingly good design are scarce. From every angle, this is regrettable. For the small house, as to numbers, falls in the category of the common people, whom Lincoln said the Lord must love because he made so many of them. By their overwhelming preponderance the small houses establish the character and quality of the community which impress themselves upon the visitor; and equally important they leave the impress of their qualities, good or bad, upon the people who live in them.

The little house illustrated today represents an effort in the direction of a solution to this problem. It is designed to meet the requirements of the family or individual who must economize in space, service and expenditure, but wishes the little to be good.

It has but one formal bedroom, but offers the efficiency of two, if necessary. The principal interest of course centers in the living room, which is planned to articulate closely with the garden development. It is of unusual size, 18x28, and is so related to the kitchen that meals may be served in the living room on occasion without lost motion or inconvenience. The little hallway, serving the kitchen, bedroom and bath, however, affords the necessary privacy.

LANDSCAPE POSSIBILITIES

The garage is included as part of the design and is happily placed. It increases the size of the house to marked advantage, an expensive driveway is eliminated and a clever arrangement establishes convenient access from both the living room and kitchen.

Externally the house presents a charming picture, with big possibilities for effective landscaping without, as well as attractive furnishing within. It is designed for a lot of 50 feet frontage. Excluding the garage, there are about 1100 square feet of floor area, and the building cost can probably be kept within $3500.

The design is by the Allied Architects' Association.

Brokers Will Travel East in Special Train

For the sixth successive time the California Real Estate Association has sponsored a special, by railroad, to a national convention. In charge of Regional Vice-President G. D. Robertson assisted by National Director Culver California-Pacific Western special will leave Los Angeles via Union Pacific at 6:05 p.m., Thursday, the 20th inst. and running via Union Pacific to Omaha, thence via the Chicago and Northwestern and New York Central, is due at Boston, Monday, at 11 a.m., the 24th inst.

The Arizona delegation carrying the 1930 invitation of Phoenix for the national midwinter is to join the special at Omaha or Chicago. The San Francisco Bay delegation will leave also on June 20 via Southern Pacific and join the special at Ogden. The Pacific Northwest delegation in charge of States Councillor Henry J. C. Quin of Portland will join the special at Salt Lake City or Green River. The Kansas City delegation will join the westerners at Chicago. There will be no stopovers en route.

Real Estate Primer

BY IVAN A. THORSON

Director, Finance Division, W. Ross Campbell Company

Instructor, Extension Division, University of California

[Copyrighted, 1929, by Ivan A. Thorson.]

(This is the third of a series of articles in a study course designed for those taking the examination for a real estate broker's license.)

A contract is an agreement to do or not to do a certain thing, and if valid may be enforced by law.

In practically every real estate deal a contract is a necessary preliminary to the execution of a deal, in order to clear up the many contingencies and conditions which are involved in even very small transactions. When the deal is completed the contract has fulfilled its purpose. It is therefore important that all parties to a deal should understand the essential elements of a contract, which are: (a) Parties capable of contracting, (b) their consent, (c) a lawful object, (d) a sufficient cause or consideration, and in some cases (e) must be in writing.

All persons are capable of contracting, except minors, persons of unsound mind, and persons deprived of civil rights. It is essential to the validity of a contract, not only that the parties should exist, but that it should be possible to identify them.

CONSENT CONDITIONS

The consent of the parties to a contract must be (a) free, (b) mutual, and (c) communicated by each to the other. An apparent consent is not real or free when obtained through (a) duress, (b) menace, (c) fraud, (d) undue influence, or (e) mistake. Consent is deemed to have been obtained through one of the five causes mentioned above only when it would not have been given had such cause not existed. Duress consists of unlawful or fraudulently obtained, confinement of the party to contract or of a member of his family, or the unlawful detention of the property of such persons. Menace consists in a threat of such duress as specified above or of injury to person, character or property of such persons as are named in the above. Fraud is the making of untrue statements, or statements not warranted by information, suppressing known facts, making promises with no intention of performing—all with intent to deceive other party to contract. Undue influence consists in taking advantage of the confidence reposed in one, or of authority one may have, or of the other party's weakness or distress to such other party's disadvantage.

Consent is not mutual unless the parties all agree upon the same thing in the same sense. Consent is deemed to be fully communicated between the parties as soon as the party accepting a proposal has put his acceptance in the course of transmission to the proposer, in manner required for acceptance. Performance of the conditions of a proposal, or the acceptance of the consideration offered with a proposal, is an acceptance of the proposal. Acceptance must be absolute and unqualified. A proposal may be revoked at any time before its acceptance is communicated to the proposer, but not afterward. A voluntary acceptance of the benefits of a transaction is equivalent to a consent to all the obligations arising from it so far as known to the party accepting in this way.

COUNTER PROPOSITION

One who submits a counter proposition instead of accepting an offer can not abandon the substitute and accept the original offer without the other party's consent. A proposal to accept an offer on terms varying from those proposed is a rejection of the offer and puts an end to the proposal.

Good and valuable consideration. Love and affection of father to his son would be a good consideration. Such consideration is not measured in terms of money, while a valuable consideration is founded on money or something convertible into money. Consideration must be lawful in order to be enforcible through courts. When amount of consideration is not determined in contract, the consideration is deemed to be money, to the reasonable value of the object.

CONTRACT LAW

Any contract may be oral, except such as are specially required by statute to be in writing. The California law which provides for certain written contracts is called the Statutes of Frauds (Sec. 1624, Civil Code.) We quote from this section of the code: "The following contracts are invalid, unless the same, or some note or memorandum thereof is in writing and subscribed by the party to be charged, or by his agent." Paragraphs 5 and 6 of this statute read as follows: (5.) An agreement for the leasing for a longer period than one year, or for the sale of real property, or of an interest therein; and such agreement, if made by an agent of the party sought to be charged, is invalid, unless the authority of the agent is in writing, subscribed by the party sought to be charged; (6.) An agreement authorizing or employing an agent or broker to purchase or sell real estate for compensation or a commission." The following must also be in writing according to the same statute: An agreement for the sale of goods amounting to $200 or more (with certain exceptions,) any agreement not to be performed within a year from date of making same, or not until after death of promisor. A written instrument is presumptive evidence of a consideration. The burden of showing a want of consideration sufficient to support such an instrument lies with the party seeking to invalidate or avoid it. A contract in writing may be altered by a contract in writing, or by an executed oral agreement, and not otherwise. A contract in writing takes effect upon its delivery to the party in whose favor it is made, or to his agent.

QUESTIONS

(1.) Name four essential elements of a contract and define each. (2.) What is meant by duress, menace, fraud, undue influence? (3.) Which contracts relating to real estate must be in writing? Which need not be? (4.) How may a written contract be altered? (5.) When does a written contract take effect?

Classes Finish Realty Studies

Thirty-four real estate classes throughout the State which have been conducted by local real estate boards in co-operation with the California Real Estate Association, and the University of Southern California have completed their courses and are now preparing for commencement exercises, according to George W. Zent, State association educational council chairman.

These classes have been studying courses in general real estate and appraisals which have been prepared by the university. More than ten realty boards are now organizing classes for salesmen who wish to prepare for the educational test which is now required by the California Real Estate License Act.

J. C. Bannister has contracted to erect two factory buildings at Two Hundred and Fifty-eighth and President avenue, Harbor City, for the Western Compost Company at a cost of about $50,000.

METAL LATH FAVORED IN PLASTERING

Product Declared Help in Continuous Reinforcement of Room Walls

Expanded metal lath is scientifically formed to act as a continuous reinforcement throughout the body of plaster. When the scratch coat is applied to this lath, the lath is completely embedded. As the brown and finish coats are applied, the face of the plaster is thereby built out. This done there is approximately one-half inch of plaster on the back of the lath and three-quarters of an inch on the face of the lath.

This continuous reinforcement tends to prevent cracking of the plaster. Minor movements of the structure will not produce disfiguring cracks.

Cracks are sometimes caused by the use of inferior sand or other faulty materials, or by improper mixture and treatment of the plaster itself. These cracks will occur no matter what plaster base is used. It is also true that if structural movement, such as settlement of the building or warping of lumber, becomes pronounced enough it cannot be resisted by plaster even when reinforced with metal lath.

It is essential that the materials used and the workmanship in the frame of the structure should be right. It is necessary to properly brace the studding and joists throughout the construction to prevent movement. It is also necessary to select a plastering contractor who understands the value of the best materials and knows how to properly handle these materials to produce a satisfactory job.

Some slight movement in frame construction is usual. If materials are properly selected, this movement is minimized. If studs and joists are properly braced this further precaution will eliminate most chances of any serious movement in the structure.

When these precautions have been taken, the tensile strength added to the plaster by using metal lath will resist any slight movement which might occur in a frame building, thereby eliminating cracking.

Pennsylvania Real Estate Law in Force

The Pennsylvania real estate brokers' license law, which will hereafter make license compulsory for those acting as real estate brokers in that State, has just been signed by Gov. Fisher and now goes into effect. The Pennsylvania Real Estate Association, local Pennsylvania boards and the National Association of Real Estate Boards have co-operated in their efforts to bring about passage of the bill. Real estate license laws are now in operation in twenty-five States in this country, according to the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

PLAN PRESENTS MANY FEATURES

Attractiveness Disclosed in House Design

Economy of Space Declared of Importance

Home May be Constructed on Average Lot

An unusually attractive home design has been submitted to the Small Home Plan Bureau of the Los Angeles Architectural Club by Architect Mary Cameron. The design is featured by the attractiveness of the home and its economy both of space in construction and cost.

The dwelling is of the Spanish type, suitable for most any comparatively level California location and will accommodate the average small family. It has two bedrooms, living and dining-rooms, kitchen and bath, and ample closet space.

PLEASING EXTERIOR

The exterior is declared exceptionally pleasing in appearance, the barred windows giving the home the touch of early Spanish setting.

The front entrance leads to a living-room 15 by 20 feet, which has three exposures with a fireplace at the closed end. Entrance to the dining-room adjoins the living-room and a long hall from the living-room gives access to two large clothes closets and to the bedrooms.

The kitchen adjoins the dining-room and opens on to a spacious screen porch. A broom closet and laundry equipment are planned on the porch.

PLANS MAY BE SEEN

The bathroom is at the corner of the dwelling directly accessible from both bedrooms. The home may be built on a fifty-foot lot and at a cost of approximately $4500.

Plans for the home may be inspected at the Los Angeles Architectural Club, ground floor of the Architects' Building, Fifth and Figueroa streets.

Architectural One-Man Show Now Under Way

The sixth of the series of one-man exhibitions held by Southern California architects is now in progress in the exhibition rooms of the Architects Building, with Robert H. Orr as the exhibitor.

Mr. Orr is well known for his school and church work. His exhibition will include a model of the Wilshire Boulevard Christian Church and a replica of sculptural panel of the men's lounge in the California Christian College.

Unlike previous exhibits, he will show most of his work in water color perspectives which will include Wilshire Boulevard Church, Magnolia Avenue Church, Bethel Congregational Church, Calvary Baptist Church, Fillmore Presbyterian Church, First Christian Church, Women's Club, Azusa, Women's Club, Glendora, residence for Bruce E. Brown of South Pasadena, E. R. Yundt of Chevy Chase and O. O. Eaton of Watsonville.

The exhibition will last until the 15th inst., and will be open to the public every Thursday evening and Saturday afternoon.

MANY POLICIES CARRIED

For the benefit of its employees, the Security Title Insurance and Guarantee Company now carries group insurance in the amount of $629,250. The company has at the present time a total of 471 policies in force, these policies covering employees to that number in the company's eighteen offices in Central and Southern California.

MORTGAGES MANY SIDED

Courts Make Ruling Different from Popular Concept of Rights of Both Parties

BY N. B. NELSON

Member of the Los Angeles Bar

Whenever it becomes necessary for a mortgagee to take over the title to the property upon which his mortgage is a lien an interesting legal problem is presented as to whether or not this has the legal effect of extinguishing the mortgage debt. It is the ordinary rule of law that where one person has a lien upon property and thereafter acquires the title to the same that such lien is merged in the title and extinguished. The courts have adopted a somewhat different view as to mortgages.

If the title is transferred to the mortgagee by the mortgagor in consideration of the satisfaction of the mortgage debt, such mortgage lien is as fully discharged as if the same had been foreclosed. Where the mortgagee is compelled, or deems it advisable, to accept a deed of the mortgaged premises from the mortgagee, the courts then hold it is a matter of intention. Where the mortgagee becomes the owner of the legal title to the property covered by his mortgage, and no reason exists for the contrary, the mortgage becomes merged in the greater title. In such case there is no reason to keep the two interests separate, and the merger eliminates the confusion and complications which would otherwise result. But if there be junior mortgages or other liens on the land, it will be necessary to keep them separate so as to protect the mortgagee from such inferior liens. As between the mortgagor and the mortgagee a merger would be proper, but not as between the holders of the different mortgage liens.

Instances might be multiplied where the merger would be unobjectionable to some persons and injurious to others. It is generally held that whether or not a merger results when a mortgagee acquires title to the real estate upon which he holds the mortgage depends upon the intention of the mortgagee, actual or presumed. If no intention appears, it will be presumed to be merged or not, as will conserve his interests. If it appears wholly indifferent, a merger will be assumed. This intention need not be manifest or exercised at any particular time.

The time when the merger takes place, if at all, is unimportant, unless it affects some intervening right injuriously. The intent of the party interested need not be declared when the titles become united, but may be formed or declared when it best suits the interest of the owner thereof, if no injury result to others. The test as to whether a merger has taken place seems to depend upon whether or not such merger would work an injustice to the mortgagee, or be injurious to his interests by depriving him of his rights under his mortgage, which would be preserved if the two interests be kept separate.

Where the mortgage lien is to be merged in the greater title acquired by the mortgagee, the mortgage should be released on the record. This is accomplished by the recording of a satisfaction of mortgage, or by a marginal release by the mortgagee upon the page of the books wherein such mortgage is recorded. If it is the intention of the mortgagee not to have the mortgage lien merge in this after-acquired title he should then not record any satisfaction of the mortgage or enter any marginal satisfaction. . . .

Home Builders' Primer

By REX AVON

Question: We have decided to have our new home lined with insulating material, but wish to install an inexpensive air-cooling system. Is any data available on the subject?

Answer: An illustrated folder describes in minute detail a simple and low-priced appliance of this nature which is distributed locally. It not only cools the temperature of the home but affords a circulation of clean, washed air, which is healthful and invigorating. They are noiseless in operation and guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction.

Q.: Do you favor Douglas fir heartwood for the sash and frames of a thirty-unit apartment-house?

A.: When we consider that the foremost architects choose this superior wood for the largest hotels and office buildings, it seems safe to say that it meets exacting requirements where permanence and durability are deciding factors. Building wreckers often salvage and sell Douglas fir sash and frames which have seen long service in buildings which have become obsolete in other respects.

Q.: A fellow club member insists that we should have the acoustics of our lobby corrected before warm weather. Has heat any effect on sound?

A.: Reverberation, one of the causes of difficult hearing in an audience room, is the persistence of sound after it has ceased at its source. Sound is energy and travels about 1129 feet per second at a temperature of 68 deg. F. Its velocity increases about 1.1 foot per second for every degree rise of temperature. Finally sound through friction turns to heat.

Q.: Is a movement on foot to prohibit the use of expanded metal lath as a base for exterior plastering?

A.: The thought of such a measure is idle and should be dismissed. Metal lath in addition to insuring crack-proof walls of permanent beauty and economy, eliminates fire hazard, which is a factor of home construction no one can disregard. The walls, interior and exterior, comprise 85 per cent of the visible portion of a building, and when we consider the low cost of metal lath for their base over a long period of years, it is surprising that so much wood lath, paper and wire construction is used.

Q.: Where can I make some direct comparisons between various types of construction, such as common brick, concrete masonry, stucco, etc.?

A.: A building-material exhibit affords an opportunity to examine at close range many phases of home building which are often inaccessible and covered up in a completed dwelling. Like the chassis displayed in an automobile showroom, the foundation, reinforcing insulation, sheathing, plaster bases, etc., are exposed for careful inspection. A courtesy card and list of exhibitors will be forwarded to anyone planning to build or modernize.

Q.: Do you consider slip-covers proper for living room furniture?

A.: For summer use, yes, and all the year around for the more informal rooms. Heavy furniture, usually upholstered in dark fabrics, may be made to look cool and inviting with covers of light, clean looking and colorful materials. They also preserve the permanent coverings. To look well slip covers must be measured for, and made with good care and workmanship. Seams are usually left standing while dark braids are used for accent.

Q.: What are the main characteristics of Hepplewhite period furniture? What rooms are best for this style?

A.: The Hepplewhite influence is shown in lightened proportions and delicacy of outline, in lowered chair backs, serpentine swells, curved outlines to both chair arms and backs with shield and wheel back predominating. Ornamentation is restrained while delicate carving and inlay are used, sometimes with gilding and painting. Living rooms and dining rooms are best for this period.

BLAST WILL SPEED WORK AT DAM SITE

Twenty Tons of Powder to Loosen Hillside in Canyon Near Azusa

AZUSA, June 1. (Exclusive)—Preparatory to the construction of the eastern abutment of the San Gabriel Dam, twenty tons of powder will be exploded in a series of blasts next week, according to announcement made by E. C. Eaton, chief engineer of Los Angeles county flood control.

As preliminary work before the blasting, tracks have been laid for cars to transport the dirt loosened from the hillside, farther down the canyon where it will be used to fill in along the road.

Excavation for the western abutment revealed an excellent stratum of bedrock in which the west side of the dam will be imbedded.

Preliminary activities are moving rapidly and are 10 per cent ahead of a preoutlined program, officials state. Thus far approximately 250,000 cubic yards of earth have been excavated, which is about one-fourth of the entire amount to be removed.

Concerning the temporary opening of the canyon road to the public, Engineer Eaton stated that so far it has proven satisfactory, and it is the intention of the county to keep the road open until traffic congestion interferes with transportation of materials and supplies to the dam.

Strong opposition to the closing of the road was voiced by the Chamber of Commerce of Azusa and civic bodies of surrounding communities, who contended that it was not possible for workers to have their families at the dam site, and providing the road was kept open, workmen could drive to and from work.

When the actual construction of the dam gets under way there will be a small army of men at work there and a large part of them will live in Azusa, according to S. E. Skidmore, Chamber of Commerce secretary.

RIVERSIDE'S LIGHT UNITS COMBINED

Power Company Completing Center to House Various Departments

RIVERSIDE, June 1. (Exclusive) The Southern Sierras Power Company's $200,000 industrial center on North Market street is nearing completion. This substantial addition to Riverside's north side commercial district will house the mechanical headquarters for the Riverside-San Bernardino area.

Departments that previously have been scattered over the city are to be brought together in the new location. They include the meter, construction and transformer departments. In addition there will be a garage, a warehouse and a pole yard.

The general warehouse is the largest structure of the group. It is 182x102 feet with a double arched roof and skylights so designed as to provide unusually ample light.

The structures given over to the construction department will cover a ground area of 12,552 square feet. All is under roof and ample loading space for trucks is provided.

Offices, locker rooms, baths, a lounge room and lavatories occupy the remainder of the space.

The entire group of buildings is of reinforced concrete construction and covers more than six acres.

The central offices of the Southern Sierras Power Company are located in Riverside. With its associated companies it serves a territory that includes the mining districts of Nevada, the eastern slope of the Sierras from a point as far north as San Francisco south to the border and into Mexico, and a large portion of San Bernardino, Riverside and Imperial counties.

De Camp-Hudson Company have contracted to build a seven-story Class A apartment building at Second and Gramercy Place for $150,000.

CITY'S GROWTH ANALYSIS GIVEN

Rapid Population Increases Made Since 1890

Los Angeles Seen in Fourth Position Soon

With 1,000,000 population considered the goal which places a city in the metropolitan class, Los Angeles attained that distinction in less time than any municipality in the United States and probably in the world, according to a report on various phases of this community's development just released by the Eberle Economic Service, statisticians, engineers and economists.

It is disclosed in census data that Philadelphia took eighty-one years to grow from a population of 100,000 to 1,000,000, the report continues, while on the same basis it took New York fifty-four years, Detroit thirty-two, Chicago twenty-nine and Los Angeles twenty-six.

"United States Bureau of Census records reveal that in 1890 Los Angeles ranked fifty-seventh in population, thirtieth in 1900, seventeen in 1910, tenth in 1920, while conservative estimates concede that it now ranks fifth."

An analysis of the census records proves conclusively that this city's development has not been in the nature of a sudden boom that usually ends in disaster, but has been consistent, although rapid, over a long period of years.

"The rapid growth of Los Angeles up to the present time should be extended into the future, especially if the countries bordering on the Pacific Ocean modernize as rapidly as is expected," the report states. "The background of metropolitan Los Angeles in manufacturing and commerce is just beginning to develop. The more rapid development recently of transportation, communication and manufacturing has imparted a great momentum to urbanization and, consequently, it is not surprising that this city developed into a metropolitan center so quickly."

On July 1, 1928, Los Angeles ranked fifth in size, being outranked only, in the order given, by New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and Detroit, according to Eberle, who adds that "considering the rapid growth of this city, the difference in population between Detroit and Los Angeles is not important, since it is reasonably certain that Detroit will not be able to cling to its present position any great length of time."

Los Angeles's standing with reference to other developments and when compared with other metropolitan centers is given in the Eberle report as follows, the latest available figures being used: Building permits, fifth; check transactions, seventh; harbor tonnage, third, being outranked by New York and Philadelphia only; harbor tonnage value, sixth; postal receipts, eighth; total income, fifth; shares traded on stock exchange, third, being outranked only by the New York stock and curb exchanges; value of manufactured products, twelfth, which figures are for 1925, and it is highly probable that it will be in ninth place when the next report is made, which will be for 1927.

Orange Coast Line Values Gain Yearly

Soaring prices for desirable ocean-front property will be the natural sequence to the phenomenal pyramiding of values, predicated upon a 1000 per cent increase of assessed valuations, during the past ten years on Orange county's coast line and an unprecedented program of development, it was said today by James E. Appleby, vice-president of Walles-Smith Co., managers of rapidly growing Capistrano Beach.

Orange county's assessed valuation in 1918, it was told by Donald Dodge to members of the Orange County Coast Association at a recent meeting, was $74,000,000. In 1927-28 it was $176,000,000. The value of the coast line ten years ago was $4,500,000. In 1927-28 it totaled $46,280,000, which means an increase of 100 per cent each year for the past ten years.

Recognizing the significance of this phenomenal increase and carrying out their plan of keeping abreast of the development, the three public utilities corporations, the Southern Counties Gas Company, Southern California Edison Company, and Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, are spending this year more than $1,500,000 in Orange county for improvements and extensions. A great portion of this will be used for installation on the coast line.

Glendale Lets Contracts for School Units

GLENDALE, June 1. (Exclusive) Contracts for the erection of additions to the John Muir school and the Horace Mann school, awarded by the Board of Education, call for the expenditure of $85,270 and $51,526 respectively for buildings and equipment.

The contract on the Muir school represents a saving of $18,000 under the original estimates of the Board of Education, and a saving of $1113 has also been effected on the Mann contract through the omission of some minor alterations that were originally planned, it is announced by John T. Cate, business manager of the schools.

The contract for the John Muir school was awarded to George Mittrey, Glendale, that for the Horace Mann school was given to Benjamin F. Farley, Burbank. Money for the school additions was made available through a recent bond issue approved by the taxpayers of Glendale, and work is to be started immediately.

Pearson & Dickerson have been awarded a contract to improve Aurora Drive in Riverside at a cost of $5304.

BEACH PROJECT DISCLOSED

Breakwater Program at Santa Monica Declared to be of Great Public Benefit to Community

prevent the acquisition of that frontage.

The Santa Monica-Ocean Park Chamber of Commerce, cognizant of that fact and with the sole desire to serve all of the people, called a meeting of representatives of the Chamber of Commerce of Hollywood, West Hollywood, Beverly Hills, Westwood Branch of Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and Santa Monica Canyon Chamber of Commerce, and these bodies, acting in concert, appointed an executive committee consisting of members from each chamber of commerce, to devise ways and means by which the whole community represented might procure the construction of a breakwater as proposed above, and to acquire the necessary lands back of it for the use of the public.

RESPONSE ENTHUSIASTIC

The first consideration of that joint executive committee was to procure an expression from the public and the response was immediate and enthusiastic.

The next consideration was to determine what laws were available under which the cities of Los Angeles, Beverly Hills and Santa Monica might jointly proceed to accomplish their purpose. Such examination disclosed the fact that the 1927 harbor district act was not adequate, mainly for the reason that all of the property within the harbor district to be formed would be equally charged with the cost of the project. The committee members felt that it would be unfair to charge some sections of the proposed harbor district as much ad valorem as others, and that a fairly equalized district, wherein zones were fixed, bearing their fair proportion of the cost according to the benefits derived, should be provided.

Another defect of the 1927 act, so far as our needs were concerned, was the fact that there were no means thereunder to restrict the commercial use of any harbor created under it. It should be borne in mind that the 1927 Harbor District Act provides for the creation of harbor districts by majority vote of the electors residing therein, and also that bonds wherewith to defray the expenses of improvements in the district might be voted by such majority of the persons voting at the election.

We had anticipated the possibility of using that act to meet the peculiar problems confronting us in Santa Monica Bay, but upon a study of the legislation we found the following defects:

That particular zones within the harbor district would be especially benefited by the development but not charged any greater amount for the improvement than other sections; that the harbor when created might be used for commercial and industrial purposes, which use would frustrate our intention of making the harbor a strictly recreational one.

DEFECTS CORRECTED

It became necessary, therefore, to devise a bill correcting these defects, and a study of Senate bill No. 797, which unanimously passed both the Senate and the Assembly, will reveal that we have not changed the spirit or intent of the 1927 Harbor District Act, excepting in the interests of the whole people.

The City of Los Angeles was at first opposed to the bill on the ground that as originally drawn the board of governors of the harbor district consisted of but three members, and, furthermore, because under the bill the board of governors might lease tide lands or submerged lands contrary to the wishes of the cities comprising the harbor district. The city of Los Angeles sent their Mr. George Hjelte, superintendent of playgrounds, to Sacramento, and I had the opportunity to meet him there and discuss with him the objections which the city of Los Angeles was urging.

Mr. Hjelte proposed certain amendments to the bill which I gratefully received and incorporated in the bill, namely the increasing of the board of governors to five and providing at least one member of the board should be appointed by the legislative body of each city comprising the district; and further providing that the board of governors should not lease or in any manner dispose of any lands or works belonging to the harbor district or under its control without first securing the consent of the legislative bodies of each of the cities and counties comprising the district. The bill as drawn is the greatest safeguard for the future of our project—to lawfully maintain thereunder a strictly recreational facility in Santa Monica Bay for all of the people for all time.

HARBOR DEFINED

The definition contained in the bill of what recreational harbors are is interesting in that it makes it forever impossible for the harbor facilities to be used for other than strictly recreational purposes. We do not by this bill interfere with the operation of any existing harbors and it is specifically stated that this bill shall not alter any existing harbor or tideland laws, but that it simply provides an additional means by which communities and counties may act in concert to procure the recreational use of the Pacific Ocean and its bays.

The bill was discussed in committee and by the individual members of the Senate and the Assembly and no fault was found with its provisions in its final form. The fact that it was passed by both houses unanimously should speak in its favor, and there is no objection from an economic or political viewpoint which may properly be urged against its approval by the Governor.

There are some who base their objections to the bill upon the fact that bonds under it may be voted by a majority of the electors within the harbor district. However, it must be borne in mind that in that regard the bill does not provide any departure from established law in view of the fact that the 1927 harbor district act, now a law, makes similar provision.

Another objection urged was that the charge for the improvements within the district will be on an ad valorem basis, according to zones to be fixed by the Board of Supervisors, and these zones will be described so as to charge certain portions of the harbor district with the fair proportion which they should pay according to benefits derived, but the charge is upon the land alone and does not include improvements.

Our reason for making the charge upon the land alone was because we anticipated an increase in land values in the harbor district, and that it would be unfair to charge improvements upon the land already made, thus permitting the owners of unimproved lands to get all of the benefits of the improvement without paying their fair share of the cost of the work.

The work on this bill has proceeded from a community demand that something be done to save the beaches for the use of the public. As it applies particularly to the Los Angeles metropolitan area, the fact is that unless we promptly acquire under this act additional beach frontage, now available immediately northerly of Santa Monica, our opportunity will be lost. It is for the interests of the people of the whole State to provide the means under this bill to create recreational harbor districts for the future use of the people, and unless it is approved by the Governor, the present opportunity to so act will be lost.

I am confident that if Gov. Young does not sign this enabling act it will be because he does not know one problem in Los Angeles county with reference to beach lands. But I am equally sure that Gov. Young is impelled in all his acts only by a high sense of his responsibility as the Chief Executive of the State. Disastrous as his veto of the bill would be to the whole county I cannot do otherwise than say if he does veto it it will be because he thinks he should do so in the proper exercise of his official duty.

PETITIONS URGED

It is, therefore, vitally necessary that Gov. Young be apprised of the wide public demand in Southern California for his approval of Senate Bill No. 797. He cannot know your wishes unless you make them known to him.

This legislation provides a sure means of doing a really constructive work.

Los Angeles city does not control the beach frontage northerly of the city limits of Santa Monica. That control still remains with the State, and the State may make any legal disposition regarding those tidelands which it is advised, even though such use might not be a use which the city of Los Angeles could approve.

The recreational harbor bill provides the means by which that beach frontage may forever be exclusively used for recreational purposes and solves the difficulties incident to the present unsatisfactory situation described above.

The Los Angeles playground department is endeavoring to procure beach frontage located in such manner as to permit the public of the Los Angeles metropolitan area the widest use. It is one of the necessary incidents for any location of public beaches that circulation to and from it by way of sufficient traffic arteries be provided. The three miles of ocean frontage proposed to be taken if and when Gov. Young signs the recreational harbor bill is served by all of the boulevards leading into the Santa Monica Bay area, starting with Beverly Boulevard at the north.

EASY ACCESS PROVIDED

The beach frontage would be traversed by the Coast highway connecting up these boulevard lengths providing the means by which the people may quickly get to the beach and return to Los Angeles from it.

One of the most significant features of the plan is to take this present beach frontage of about three miles in length, and by protecting it with a breakwater so that the sands will not be subject to the destructive action of storm and tide, dredge sand from the harbor bottom up on the coast and the engineers have reported that in this manner we can widen the beach hundreds of feet. This will permit making a very wide boulevard along the front and provide an esplanade on the east side of the road for pedestrian use of the public.

The sand will be kept clear of all detrimental structures excepting that it is proposed that two or three properly planned and conducted public bath-houses be constructed so as to provide bath-house facilities for the public, and also ways will be provided so that from the esplanade owners of small boats with outboard motors may use the harbor and house their boats at the mere expense of upkeep of boat houses which would be constructed on or near the esplanade.

If this bill is not signed at this time, the present owners of the lands necessary to be acquired will undoubtedly make some disposition of them, which would be perfectly natural. If the bill is not signed now, it would indicate that there is no popular demand to acquire this frontage.

The history of Santa Monica and other beaches has been that the beach lands have been lost to the public largely because of the failure of the public to act when it was possible for them to do so. We have no reason to think history will not be repeated in this case, and that if we do not act now, we will not be able to save for the people these three miles of beach frontage.

The Los Angeles Playgrounds Commission is alive to the situation, as are also those chambers of commerce serving the particular community which would be charged with the improvement.

SACRIFICE BUSINESS BLOCK

Due to owner's business headquarters being transferred to New York, he will sacrifice a corner business block with three (3) stores all rented, on a wide business street in a built-up neighborhood, with excellent present and future possibilities in Los Angeles. Building is comparatively new, of brick construction and in excellent condition. Owner must have $5000 cash, but terms can be had on balance or trade might be accepted for remainder due. Investment will carry itself and pay interest, plus the inevitable yearly increase in valuation. This is the biggest steal on today's real estate market, requiring only $5000 cash to handle, for owner needs this amount immediately. Private parties and brokers communicate. Address P, box 489, Times Branch.

THOROUGHFARE PLANS ADVANCE

Venice Boulevard Projects Take Shape

Property Owners on Route File Petitions

Condemnation Suit to Be Heard Shortly

With two projects advanced past the filing of the interlocutory decree, plans for the opening of Venice Boulevard, as a through artery from the downtown district to the ocean, are now well along, according to information from the City Engineer's office and the Board of Public Works.

At present there are four opening and widening proceedings being carried along in connection with this traffic artery. Property owners along the route have petitioned for the improvement, realizing that the opening up of Venice Boulevard as a through artery, in accordance with the major traffic street plan, will greatly increase the value of benefited real estate.

OPPORTUNITIES MANY

David R. Faries, executive vice-chairman of the major highways committee of the Traffic Commission, said there are but few streets in the city with the potential opportunities of Venice Boulevard.

Between Alameda street and Figueroa street, the thoroughfare will be widened to eighty feet and jogs eliminated. The condemnation suit is scheduled to be set for trial within a few weeks. All but two of the defendants have been served. The estimated cost will be $1,792,000.

Between Sixth avenue and Highland avenue, the connecting link, the street will be opened to a width of from sixty to seventy-nine feet. The assessments for this project are scheduled to be filed within two or three weeks, it was stated.

Between La Cienega Boulevard and Overland avenue, where the southeasterly roadway will be opened to a width of fifty feet, the proceedings have reached the point where the assessment bureau will be able to file assessments within two months.

WORKING ON PLANS

Following the filing of petitions, the City Engineer's office is working on plans to widen the roadway between Overland avenue and Walgrove avenue.

These proceedings will complete Venice Boulevard except for a short distance east of La Cienega Boulevard, on the north side of the Pacific Electric right of way. Agreements are now being made to obtain deeds from private owners for the necessary land needed to open this section.

A point of interest is that the contractors are just completing the paving of the north side of Venice Boulevard for a number of blocks west of La Brea avenue.

Kings County Community Experiencing Expansion in Construction

CORCORAN, June 1. (Exclusive) The city of Corcoran is experiencing expansion in business, industrial and residental development as the result of general prosperity of its back country, and in anticipation of an increased crop of cotton this season on some 25,000 acres tributary to the gins and warehouses here.

The L. D. The investment in the improvement will represent approximately $18,000 and will be completed in time to handle this season's crop.

Penney Company and for the Skaggs Safeway Stores, two new enterprises to engage in business here. Residence construction is active and some twenty new houses are in course of erection to meet the demand for homes.

CITY PLANS TO CONDEMN PROPERTIES

Nine Separate Projects in Program of Improvements on Thoroughfares

Showing the trend of policy of City Council which is to pay out of public funds larger proportions of the cost of public improvements, the city engineering department reported yesterday that nine separate projects are now under way, under eminent domain proceedings.

The payment of these costs from public funds was made possible through the passage of the major traffic bond fund and the 9-cent permanent improvement fund, both sponsored by the major highways committee of the traffic commission.

Through the use of these funds imperative public improvements are being pushed without direct cost to property owners in assessments, it was pointed out by David R. Faries, executive vice-chairman of the committee.

The total amount of money included in the eminent domain proceedings is more than $3,000,000. In addition the city is paying part of the cost of other condemnation proceedings, with the allocations for all totaling $15,655,406.

The list of the nine projects, with their estimated costs is as follows:

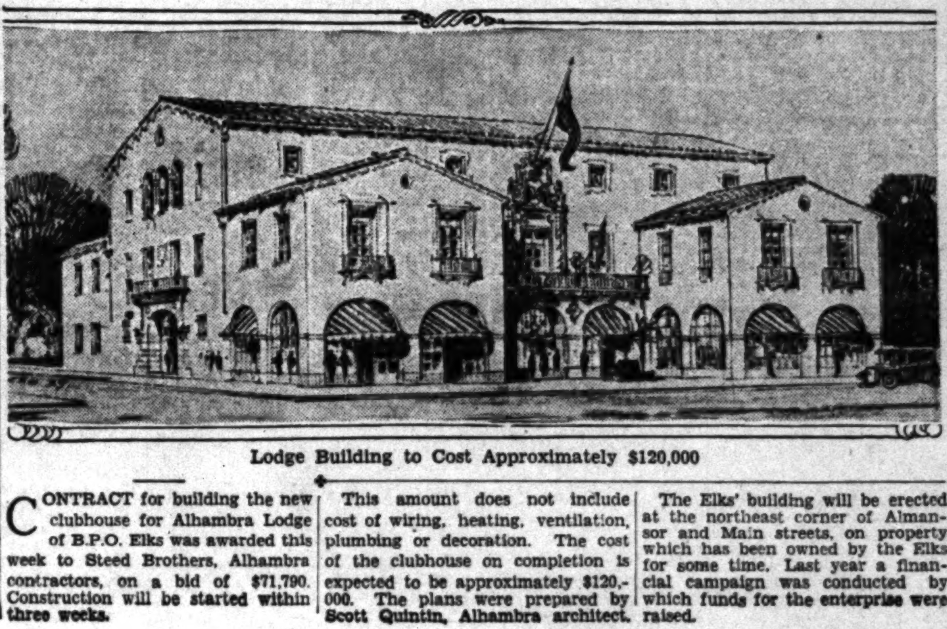
Santa Barbara avenue, Third avenue to Fourth avenue, $6568; Santa Barbara avenue, Moneta avenue to Grand avenue, $285,000; Santa Barbara avenue, McKinley to Griffith avenue, $94,940; Glendale Boulevard, Glenhurst avenue to Greensward Road, $23,130; Spring street, Temple street to Sunset Boulevard, $1,044,000; Maple avenue, Vernon avenue to Main street at Forty-sixth street, $248,000; Hoover street, Thirty-second street to Exposition Boulevard, $956,410; Washington street, Soto street to west bank of Los Angeles River, $350,000; Third Place, Indiana street to Velasco street at Fourth street, $92,765.

Addition to be Constructed to High School

TORRANCE, June 1. (Exclusive) George Mittry, 816 West Fifth street, Los Angeles, has been awarded the general contract for the construction of the $90,000 wing and alterations of the auditorium building of the Torrance High School. The building will conform in style to the present group, connecting by an arcade, and will provide science hall room and laboratory.

ELKS' CLUBHOUSE CONTRACT AWARDED

Construction of Alhambra Edifice to Start Soon



Lodge Building to Cost Approximately $120,000

CONTRACT for building the new clubhouse for Alhambra Lodge of B.P.O. Elks was awarded this week to Steed Brothers, Alhambra contractors, on a bid of $71,790. Construction will be started within three weeks.

This amount does not include cost of wiring, heating, ventilation, plumbing or decoration. The cost of the clubhouse on completion is expected to be approximately $120,000. The plans were prepared by Scott Quintin, Alhambra architect.

The Elks' building will be erected at the northeast corner of Almansor and Main streets, on property which has been owned by the Elks for some time. Last year a financial campaign was conducted by which funds for the enterprise were raised.

INDIANA RACE DRAWS LEADERS

Harry Miller Announces Plan to Make Air Motors

Front Drive as Cheaply Made as Older Style

General Motors Aviation Work in Indianapolis

BY E. Y. WATSON

(Written exclusively for The Times and the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

INDIANAPOLIS, June 1. (Exclusive)—The seventeenth annual 500-mile automobile race brought to Indianapolis this week a group of transportation leaders whose activities, both on land and in the air, are being watched by the nation.

Among them were Harry Miller, noted designer of engines for racing cars, airplanes and motorboats, and Capt. E. V. Rickenbacker, president of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway Company, chairman of the American Automobile Association contest board, sales chief of a division of the Cadillac Motor Car Company and envoy for General Motors Corporation in acquiring a foothold in aviation.

Mr. Miller, while here, announced the formation of a $5,000,000 company which will be a large factor in the production of aircraft power plants.

CELEBRATED ANGELENOS

Mr. Miller designs and builds high-speed gasoline engines in Los Angeles. His shop is celebrated. From it have come in the last few years no fewer than seventy-five power plants of various kinds, but most of them for racing cars. Each has been an individual creation, built to either Mr. Miller's own or some other person's specifications, and embodying new mechanical ideas. Most of all, Mr. Miller is responsible for the development of the front-drive car as they now have it on the speedways, from which it soon may be transferred to the highways.

FRONT DRIVE AS CHEAP

Mr. Miller was the developer of certain front-drive patents which he has disposed of to the Indiana builder whose front-drive models are now on the road and soon will be marketed. He says that, contrary to prevailing opinion, front-drive cars will cost hardly any more than rear-drive to produce.

"At first," he said, "I thought they were going to cost at least $50 more, but that is wrong.

BODIES HANG LOW

"They are good cars to put bodies on because they can be hung low. There are no universal joints to interfere or drive shafts to allow for in building frames.

"And front-drive cars certainly can climb over curbs and sweep around corners and curves, because the energy is pulling right that way. The steering is so easy that it can be done with the pressure of two fingers. Anyone who has ever tried a front-drive car marvels at its ease of operation."

Mr. Miller does not favor the return to the two-man type of racing

SAN FRANCISCO CONVEYS LAND

Government Receives Tract in Yosemite

WASHINGTON, June 1. (Exclusive)—With the acceptance by the Secretary of the Interior of a deed from the city and county of San Francisco conveying to the United States 1960.34 acres of land in Yosemite National Park, another forward step has been made in settling the Hetch-Hechy problem which has been before the department for a number of years.

The Raker Act of December, 1913, which gave to the city and county of San Francisco certain reservoir rights in the Yosemite Park, provided that upon completion of the project the city would deed to the United States all lands in the park which it owned at the time the act was passed, with the exception of such as were actually required in connection with the maintenance and operation of the plants and works of the projects. It is in accordance with this provision that the deed for the 1960.34 acres was tendered to the department, covering all of the lands except such as are flooded by the Lake Eleanor and Hechy-Hetchy reservoirs.

This complies with the provisions of the Raker Act affecting conveyance of land to the Federal government.

ANGELES MESA DRIVE BLOCKED BY REPAIRS

Angeles Mesa Drive is now closed for a distance of one-fourth of a mile between Homeland Drive and Rogers Airport, necessitating a rather chucky detour. The remainder of that portion between Vernon and Exposition boulevards is subject to widening operations which causes congestion at the peak hours, reports the touring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Machine Guns Dropped by Plane Pilots

SAN ANTONIO, June 1. (AP)—Machine guns and their crews now may be dropped to the battlefield from airplanes and get quickly into action.

A machine-gun parachute pack, invented and perfected by Sergt. E. H. Nichols of Brooks Field, makes it possible for guns to be set up and fired in less than a minute after they have touched ground.

Successful experiments by army parachute jumpers, who are not expert machine gunners, reveal that a gun may be stripped for action fifty seconds from the time it hits earth. Sergt. Nichols declares skilled gunners could perform the operation in fifteen seconds.

The possibility of dropping several gunners and machine guns at strategic points, army officials say, would be a significant asset to the air service in time of war.

A kapock cushioned pack is used to house the machine gun during its groundward flight, with a cushion between the gun and its tripod. Rounds of ammunition and a container of water also are placed in the pack which, when equipped, has a total weight of 125 pounds. Additional supplies up to 250 pounds may be included.

By pulling a cable the pilot may release the bag, whose weight pulls the parachute's rip cord. In tests at Brooks Field bombing planes have dropped guns from low altitudes, ordinarily about 150 feet, to place them with only negligible drift.

Gunners first descend from other planes, from regulation altitudes, so as to reach earth in time to rip open the gun's parachute as rapidly as possible.

HIGH SIERRA LAKES OPENED TO TOURISTS

Although the high Sierra country has been covered with an abnormal amount of snow this past winter, the majority of the lakes may now be reached. The Mammoth Lakes and Virginia Lakes have just recently been available to travel, so that now practically all the various lakes and resorts are within reach of the motorist, reports the touring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

HEMET TO IDYLLWILD NOW OPEN TO PUBLIC

The new high-gear road from Hemet to Idyllwild is now open to the public. This road is in excellent condition, according to reports received by the touring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

BOULEVARD PLAN OUTLINED

Eagle Rock Developments Declared Traffic Aid to Residents of San Fernando Valley Region

The development of Colorado Boulevard has followed the inauguration of a program of improvements by the Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce. This boulevard is the second highway south of the mountains to the east and west and is declared the natural outlet to the east for the southern part of San Fernando Valley.

The improvements of Colorado Boulevard consist of widening, possible opening of the road west of the Southern Pacific tracks in Glendale into an industrial district, opening through the Baldwin estate in Arcadia, rebuilding the bridge over Eagle Rock Park and the opening of El Modena avenue in Eagle Rock, from Annandale Boulevard to Patricia street intersection of Colorado Boulevard, near the Pasadena boundary line.

The widening in Eagle Rock is half-completed and the contractor expects to have the concrete pavement in within a short time.

Ornamental lights were recently installed, from Vincent avenue to Maywood avenue. They connect at each end of this system, with other ornamental lights.

Under promise of support from the county, efforts are put forth to widen the bridge over Eagle Rock Park, near the "Rock," to a standard width. The driveway is now twenty feet. This bridge is of old construction and plans call for its replacement by an edifice costing from $150,000 to $175,000. A petition for the consideration of this by the Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce is now in the hands of the Bridges, Tunnels and Aqueduct Committee of the Los Angeles City Council.

Smoki Indians Plan Rituals for Saturday

Smoki Indians will conduct their annual mystical dances and rituals on their reservation at Prescott in Yavapai county, Arizona, on Saturday, the 8th inst., according to reports to the touring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California. The dramatic and weird rites perpetuating the ceremonies of a vanished race will commence at 2 a.m. and the dying rays of the Arizona sunset will find the Smokis chanting the completion of their symbolic tasks for this year.

Travelers from all parts of the world annually visit Prescott during the spectacular Indian rites, and generally include in their tour the cliff dwellings of Montezuma Castle and Montezuma Well, declared the best preserved on the American continent. This land of the Smoki people in Yavapai county holds many examples of mysterious hieroglyphics or picture writings reputedly made by ancient and unknown Southwest Indians.

June Crop of Cherries Ripe

Beaumont district this year has a large crop of cherries of fine quality. Southern California motorists will have the opportunity of visiting the cherry orchards during the week-ends of June and possibly on the first week-end in July. At these times they will find the cherries at their best. The first to ripen will be the Tartarians, followed in sequence by the Royal Anns, the Bings and the Lamberts, according to advices to the touring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

YOSEMITE PARK ROADS NOW CLEARED OF SNOW

The roads in the higher elevations of Yosemite National Park are gradually shedding their winter mantle of snow. Just recently the Glacier Point road has been opened to the traveling public. The only main route now closed to travel is the Tioga Pass road, reports the touring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Flyer Dub as Bullfighter

Paul Montgomery is going to repair his two airplanes and quit playing toreador with healthy Hereford bulls. He wasn't very good at it, anyway.

Montgomery, after an air circus here, parked the ships in a pasture. He looked back to see one of them, painted scarlet, under attack by the bull. The aviator rushed back and attempted to distract the animal, working in what he thought excellent Spanish style.

The bull's reply was an angry bellow and an assault on the other plane, painted an unoffending color.

AERO TOUR WILL START OCTOBER 5

More Than 4000 Miles to Be Covered by Planes in Trip of 1929

NEW YORK, June 1. (Exclusive) The Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce today announced the grant of a sanction for the fifth annual national air tour, sponsored by Edsel B. Ford.

The tentative route for the tour, scheduled to start October 5, next, at the Ford Airport, Detroit, and terminate there October 21, next, includes twenty-eight cities in twenty States and two Canadian provinces.

Capt. Ray Collins, Detroit, will be manager of the 1929 tour with Capt. Frank M. Hawks, holder of west-to-east nonstop transcontinental airplane record, as referee. Capt. Hawks competed in two of the reliability tours and last year placed second as pilot of a trimotored plane.

The Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce granted a sanction for the 1929 tour through its show committee at the request of William B. Mayo, chief engineer of the Ford Motor Company, who is chairman of the tour.

The 1929 tour will cover approximately 4400 miles, according to Capt. Collins's present plans, with stops in the following cities: Windsor, Toronto; Ottawa, Mont.; Portland, Me.; Boston, New York City, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Richmond, Charlotte, Greenville, S. C.; Savannah, Jacksonville, Macon, Atlanta, Nashville, Louisville, St. Louis, Kansas City, Des Moines, St. Paul, Wausau, Wis.; Milwaukee, Moline, Ill.; Chicago, Kalamazoo and Detroit.

Capt. Collins says that entries in this year's tour will be limited to bona fide aircraft manufacturers to the exclusion of companies seeking to advertise their products with "flying billboards." An official observer of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce will accompany the flyers on the tour.

Tail Lights Should Burn

Keep the tail light burning when the old bus is parked on a dark street or is standing on an unlighted roadway, is the advice of the public safety department of the Automobile Club of Southern California. Absence of a rear warning light on dark thoroughfares has been the cause of many serious collisions, it is pointed out.

This moral is brought out clearly in a bulletin just issued by the California Committee on Public Safety which is making a State-wide effort to bring about a reduction in accidents.

Yellowstone Opens June 20

The official opening date of Yellowstone National Park this year is the 20th inst. Travel, however, will be permitted to enter by the north and west entrances after today. The south and east entrances will not be open for travel before the 15th inst. at least. Limited accommodations may be obtained at Old Faithful Geyser and at Yellowstone Lake for those motorists who enter the park prior to the official opening date, according to the touring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

ROUTE OF VIKINGS TO BE FLOWN HERE

STOCKHOLM, June 1. (AP)—Capt. Albin Ahrenberg, the Swedish flyer who is preparing for a flight from Stockholm to New York early this month intends to follow the trail of the ancient Vikings by way of Iceland, Greenland and Labrador.

Capt. Ahrenberg will be accompanied by Lieut. Axel Floden, reserve pilot, and Robert Ljunglund, radio operator. He is known here as "Sweden's Own Lindbergh." He made a "'round Sweden" tour in 1927, covering 25,786 miles, and flew another last year, covering 37,215 miles.

SHRINERS OFFERED MANY ALLURING SCENIC TRIPS

Orange Groves, Beaches, Highways, Boulevards, Oil Fields, Harbors to Attract City's Guests

Automobile trips filled with rare delights are in store for the thousands of Shriners who are in Los Angeles from all parts of the country for the Shrine convention this week.

Many of the trips available to those at the convention are of such length that they not only can be made with little fatigue but can be sandwiched in between the hours of the official events of the convention, giving the visiting Nobles opportunity to gain acquaintance with Southern California outside the Los Angeles downtown district.

Particularly easy of access are the beaches where visitors from inland can enjoy the thrill of a plunge in the frothy surf and the circus-like delights of the concessions. Santa Monica, Ocean Park and Venice beaches may be reached by wide-paved through boulevards. They are Santa Monica, Wilshire, and Beverly. Washington and Pico lead out of the downtown district through Culver City to Venice.

Redondo beach is reached via Inglewood then on the Riverside-Redondo highway.

Laguna, which is reached via the south coast route, is famed for its artist colony. Balboa and Newport, which can be visited on the same trip, offer the pleasures of yachting.

A trip that will be especially interesting to those who would understand the secret of Los Angeles' miracle-like growth is the alluring jaunt to Wilmington, where the visitor can see how the city's great harbor was built. Wilmington can be reached either by the Harbor Boulevard, Main Street or Truck Boulevard.

Adjoining Wilmington is Long Beach. In addition to the sights of the ocean and harbor, Long Beach also offers the attraction of the famous Signal Hill oil field with its nest of dericks.

An outstanding motor trip, especially at this season, is a journey through the orange belt where the new crop of Valencias is being packed. The southern part of the belt can be reached at Anaheim and surrounding cities and the northern part at Riverside or San Bernardino. A short way beyond Riverside the Banning cherry orchards are in bloom.

The renowned Foothills trip will lure many of the visitors. Starting at Pasadena, it offers glimpses of the beautiful Pasadena residence sections, then leads east over the new wide Foothill Boulevard through a part of the orange belt and to many of the mountain resorts.

To those who would enjoy a restful short trip along the ocean, Montecito and Santa Barbara will be attractive. The easiest route is out Ventura Boulevard to Ventura and thence along the coast to Montecito, exclusive millionaires' home colony, and Santa Barbara. Enroute the oil field near Ventura can be viewed, as well as the unusual ocean oil field at Carpenteria where black gold is pumped by rigs in the surf.

In addition to these comparatively

NEW ROADS NOW ENTER PARK AREA

Many Tourists Expected to Visit Mt. Lassen in Coming Vacation Days

For the first season during the thirteen years of its existence as a national park there promises this year to be good facilities for automobiles to enter Lassen Volcanic National Park and explore it somewhat. The park department has under construction nine miles of loop highway, from the western boundary to the foot of Mt. Lassen to Cinder Cone and through the region more or less devastated by the various eruptions. This entrance and road connect with Viola, which lies a few miles west of the park and is the gateway from that side.

Viola is reached from both Redding and Red Bluff. The road from Redding to Alturas is a State highway. A few miles east of Redding a country road, a good one, runs to Viola. Likewise a State highway runs east from Red Bluff to Susanville and at Mineral a county road runs north to Viola. It is three miles from Viola to the border of the Lassen National Forest and six miles from there to the western border of the park. This six miles has been designated as a forest highway and will be put in first-class shape by the department. That will make a fine road clear to the foot of the mountain.

There is also an eastern entrance to the park, leaving the Red Bluff-Susanville highway at Drakesbad, but at present one can not enter from Drakesbad by automobile. There is a good horseback trail leading to the Boiling Lake and Devil's Kitchen, a very interesting region of fumeroles, boiling springs, etc. The very large lake has boiling water in it and the steam rises and spreads for a considerable distance. It is well worth the trouble required to visit it.

WORK BEGUN ON NEW SEQUOIA PARK TRAIL

SEQUOIA NATIONAL PARK, June 1. (Exclusive)—Work was recently started on the new trial which will run from Oriole Lake to Hospital Rock in Sequoia National Park. Snow is melting so rapidly that it has been possible to start work on the trails earlier than expected in the high mountains, and it is hoped that much work will be accomplished this year. Stock is being shod and equipment prepared for sending out trail crews as fast as possible.

MARQUETTE MAKES DEBUT

Companion to Buick Has Six-Cylinder L-Head Motor; Priced in $1000 Class

The new Marquette, the motor car in which such great interest has centered since the first announcement that the Buick Motor Company was to produce an entirely new automobile for a lower-priced field, is here. The new companion to Buick was introduced to this city yesterday at the Howard Automobile Company of Los Angeles to the largest crowds that ever thronged the South Figueroa-street showroom.

Los Angeles' enthusiastic reception was duplicated throughout the Buick showrooms of Southern California, according to word received by Howard officials.

The Marquette is offered in six models — a two-door sedan, four-door sedan, business coupe, sport coupe, roadster and touring car, all on a wheel base of 114 inches.

The new car enters the medium cost field with a price range of $965 to $1035, according to Harold W. Tuttle, assistant general manager of the Howard company. All bodies are Fisher-built and finished in Duco color combinations that exemplify the modern trend of color fashion.

ADVANCED FEATURES

Features incorporated in the Marquette include a nonglare, sloping windshield, a newly created type of waterproof mohair upholstery, a complete frame and radiator metal covering, stocky spoked wheels using large section tires; four-wheel, twelve-inch, internal expanding brakes and a carburetion system that is claimed to give economy of operation.

The six-cylinder L-head motor has a bore and stroke of 3 1-8 by 4 5-8 and develops a maximum brake horsepower of 67.5. Light cast iron pistons are used. The crank case and cylinder block are cast integral. A tapered chassis frame, thermostatically controlled water cooling system, forced lubrication to main, connecting rod, camshaft bearings and to the timing chain are some of the engineering features. The engine is set on rubber mounting and thoroughly insulated from the frame.

The camshaft is a one-piece drop forging with wide cams shaped to work quietly and smoothly with the mushroom type valve lifters.

A full pressure lubricating system is used in the Marquette, operated by a gear type pump which is located deep in the oil sump to insure self-priming and constant oil flow direct to main bearings, connecting rods, cylinder walls, camshaft bearings and the timing chain. An oil filter is included in the lubricating system.

The camshaft is driven by a silent chain, lubricated directly from the regular lubricating system.

Full crank case ventilation prevents oil dilution. The ventilating outlet pipe is located on the right side of the motor and extends below the oil pan, expelling the air without offense to the driver or passengers.

The cooling system is thermostatically controlled. The water pump is located at the forward end of the cylinder block and is of sufficient capacity to give a plentiful circulation of water at all speeds.

EASY STARTING DESIGNED

Carburetion has been designed for easy starting, economy and performance. It is governed with an automatic heat control. Fuel is fed into the carburetor by a gas pump. An air cleaner further insures the efficiency of the carburetion system.

The transmission has a generous factor of safety in gears, bearings and shaft, and shifts easily and quietly. A speedometer drive, mounted at the rear and automatically lubricated from the transmission, completes the unit.

The nine-inch single-plate clutch has shock-absorbing springs between the rear hub and the facings. These springs absorb any slight vibration between the engine and the transmission, eliminating transmission rattle throughout the speed range. The clutch plate is waved to give a smooth and positive pick-up. Necessary adjustments to the clutch are easily made.

Long semi-elliptic springs are used on both front and rear together with the standard equipment of Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers.

The overslung front springs are thirty-five inches long, rear springs fifty-four and one-half inches. The bronze eye bushings are lubricated through the hollow pins which carry a large amount of lubrication and require little attention. Adjustable type spring shackles are used.

In tests at the General Motors proving grounds its hill-climbing ability was determined with a four-door sedan, carrying a total load of 450 pounds. The hill chosen for the test presented a climb of 1400 feet over an 11.6 per cent grade. The car approached the foot of the hill at a rate of five miles per hour, then, with the climb started, the engine was accelerated and the car passed over the summit at twenty-five miles per hour.

SUCCESSFUL TESTS

A five-passenger, four-door sedan, carrying a total load of 450 pounds, was also used in a series of acceleration tests with the following results: The car accelerated from five miles per hour to twenty-five in 8.8 seconds; from ten miles per hour to twenty-five in 6.3 seconds, from ten miles per hour to forty in 13.4 seconds, from ten miles per hour to sixty in thirty-one seconds. These tests were conducted with a stock car with a 4.54-to-1 axle ratio, which is standard on the Marquette, together with a 28 by 5.25 balloon tire, which gives 728 wheel revolutions per mile. The medium-speed engine operates at 3310 revolutions at sixty miles an hour and reaches its approximate maximum of 4140 revolutions at about seventy-five miles per hour. At the average road driving speed of forty miles per hour the engine turns over at 2200 revolutions per minute.

The crankshaft is of special heat-treated steel and is counterweighted to make a smooth and vibrationless engine. The shaft has four main bearings stepped in size, giving it a tapered effect with rigidity with a minimum of weight. Crankshafts are placed in static and dynamic balance.

To stand abuse from high-speed driving the four steel-backed main bearings have been designed with a generous factor of safety. The connecting rods are made of one-piece drop forged steel with an I-beam cross section. The babbitted bearings are bound directly to the connecting rod forging.

The intake valves are of nickel chromium and have a diameter of 1.643 inches, permitting a full flow of gas to the combustion chambers. The exhaust valves with a diameter of 1.528 inches are of silchrome steel.

The frame side channels are five and one-half inches deep with extra flanges five-thirty-seconds of an inch thick and have four large cross-members. It tapers from twenty-eight inches in width at the front to forty-four and three-eighths inches at the rear.

The steering gear is of the worm and nut type, fully adjustable for wear. The worm is made from hardened steel and the half-nuts are bronze. The size of the steering gear is such that the car steers very easily under slow driving conditions and handles well over all kinds of roads at any speed.

ALLOY STEEL USED

The rear axle is of the semi-floating type with a pressed-steel housing. The differential and gears are mounted in a one-piece malleable carrier supported on ball bearings. Adjustments are provided for both pinion and differential gears. Axle shafts are made from alloy steel, specially heat treated.

The front axle is a steel drop forging with an I-beam section between springs and an oval section from springs to wheels, making a very strong construction.

Four-wheel, twelve-inch, internal expanding brakes are used. These operate with light pedal pressure and are protected against mud, water and dirt.

A distinctive treatment of both line and color is evident in the Fisher bodies. All exterior hardware is fully chromium plated and of a special design. The long, low lines of the car are accentuated by a stream-line molding running the length of the car.

A major improvement is found in the new type of tilted, nonglare windshield which will prove a new factor in safety driving. While retaining all the advantages of comfort and ventilation of the older type, this new windshield provides absolute freedom from glare, either from the front or rear.

The Marquette also brings out for the first time a recent and very valuable improvement in upholstery cloth. This cloth, a soft but exceedingly durable plush mohair, is impregnated under a new process with a rubber solution. This treatment protects the cloth from any damage by rain or moisture and makes it, by actual test, ten times more durable.

Front seats in all closed models are adjustable.

All models are equipped with vacuum windshield wipers, combination tail and stop light, co-incidental switch and car lock and a standard instrument board holding two direct lights, speedometer, ammeter, oil gauge, temperature gauge, spark and choke controls, gasoline gauge, dash light switch and windshield wiper button.

How to Save $200 per year in Operating Your Car

EXPERTS estimate that faulty lubrication causes unnecessary losses, such as premature repairs and increased fuel consumption, averaging about $200.00 per year for each car now in use.

The chief purpose of McBryde's 12,000 mile lubricating service is to prevent this waste. Not only do we agree to lubricate your car properly every 500 miles, but we also subject it periodically to rigid inspection. All loose nuts and screws are tightened and reported to the owner in writing.

If your car has been left to the mercies of "hit-and-miss" grease shooters, you can save money and get a lot more fun out of your car by signing up with McBryde.

Modern Car Built Safer

Pointing out that the number of motor fatalities per 100,000 registration in the United States has declined materially in the last ten years, Harry R. Cobleigh of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce advanced the view that the modern motor car is built with maximum safety, speaking before the traffic safety instruction course of the Newark Safety Council recently, it is pointed out by L. H. Clawson of Motor Tires, Inc., Goodyear tire distributors.

While competence of the driver is always an essential, the speaker noted four-wheel brakes, more responsive motors, and balloon tires as among the features of modern automobile construction which make for safety.

car, because he contends that operation of a racing car with two persons in it is more dangerous at high speeds than when only the pilot is riding. Modern power plants, he points out, require only slight mechanical adjustments even in long-distance operation and, therefore, the necessity for mechanics to ride with drivers is lessened. Years ago mechanics who occupied the second seats in racing cars were there largely because the contests of that day were road races involving repairs and replacements of parts at times, and also tire changing.

Capt. Rickenbacker took time out from his position as sales manager of the La Salle division of the Cadillac Motor Car Company for the duties that go with his dual position of president of the speedway company and chairman of the A.A.A. contest board. Recently he has borne a part in negotiations which have given General Motors a slice of the Fokker company and its airplane production, as well as of the Allison Manufacturing Company of Indianapolis, which G.M.C. has acquired for the Diesel and other research carried on by that organization.

As a side issue from the 500-mile race there was an aircraft show in Indianapolis during the week and Capt. Rickenbacker was the speaker of the evening at a banquet preceding it. He referred to the General Motors Corporation as having picked Indianapolis as the scene of its concentrated aviation interests of the future.

short trips, old Mexico can be made the objective of a two-day trip. Tia Juana and Agua Caliente, which can be reached via San Diego, are only five hours away, with a ribbon-like paved highway all the way.

Complete details on all these trips, as well as many others, can be obtained from the Automobile Club of Southern California or by calling The Times Information Bureau.

Road Parking Cause of Many Fatal Crashes

Many avoidable accidents could be averted if motorists changing a tire or making mechanical repairs kept entirely off the highway, it is declared in a bulletin issued by the public safety department of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

The California Vehicle Act prohibits parking on the main traveled portion of any public highway when it is practicable to park or have the vehicle standing off the paved or improved or main traveled portion of the road. A vehicle may never be legally left standing or parked whether attended or unattended upon any public highway unless a clear and unobstructed width of not less than fifteen feet upon the main traveled portion of the highway opposite the car shall be available for other vehicular traffic.

"The safety of himself as well as others should alone be sufficient guide to every motorist to pull entirely off the highway when making adjustments to the car," declares the Auto Club safety department. While the law calls for this action, it is stated, an autoist should be courteous and careful enough to get out of the way of other fast-moving traffic without need for a warning or a request to move from traffic officers or others.

Dealer Offers Battery Data

When buying an automobile storage battery the car owner should make sure that he selects one with capacity great enough to properly furnish his car and its electrical accessories with ample and dependable electricity, advises Hal R. Baker, general manager of the Western Auto Supply Company.

"A storage battery should have sufficient capacity to furnish power to all of the electrical units of the car," says Mr. Baker. "When it becomes necessary to replace the old battery it is advisable to install a new one of the same size and capacity that is recommended by the car manufacturer rather than one that does not have sufficient capacity to supply all of the needs of the car and its equipment. Undercapacity batteries soon lose usefulness and break down under additional strain.

"All batteries look alike from the outside. The contents of the case is really the part that counts. In addition to the current needed for lights, batteries must operate the extra driving lights, cigar lighters, electric windshield cleaners and other electrical devices."

Five Days on Trip Taken by New York Man

H. B. Spinner, retired banker of Buffalo, N. Y., rolled into the Don Lee Building the other day in his Cadillac with a record of having made the trip to Los Angeles in five days of driving time, covering approximately 3100 miles. It was his initial trip to the Pacific Coast and the good time was made in spite of the fact that he had nothing but a road map to guide him, says J. E. Brown, Southern California manager for Don Lee, California distributor for Cadillac and La Salle motor cars.

"Spinner drove by way of Chicago, Cedar Rapids, Colorado Springs, Albuquerque, Santa Fe and up through California. The first day Spinner drove from Buffalo to East Chicago, a distance of 565 miles, in nine and a half hours in his Cadillac. He was in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, at 11:30 a.m. the next day and continued steady traveling from then on.

Spinner was not out to break a record, but there was a good reason for his making good time. Mrs. Spinner was in Los Angeles visiting relatives. Mr. Spinner got the Los Angeles fever and decided to come ahead. He did not advise her he was coming until he got to Colorado Springs, when he sent the following wire. "Believe it or not, in Colorado Springs and coming like ball of fire. Tell Buddy I'll see him soon." When Mrs. Spinner got the wire she almost collapsed with surprise for she had just heard from her husband a day or so before.

Incorporation of No-Backing Unit Stressed

One of the leading refinements in the new Peerless straight eight introduced last week is its no-back feature. This is particularly valuable in California driving, since it prevents the car from rolling backward on a hill unless the gear lever is placed in reverse.

Few drivers have not at some time experienced the annoyance of feeling their car stall during a shift or for some other reason while ascending a grade, and then start to roll backward before the brakes can be applied. This is only one of the many instances where the no-back performs its valuable function.

The most frequent use of the no-back is in simple starts upgrade. No longer is it necessary to release the clutch and brake pedals simultaneously while controlling the gas awkwardly with the hand throttle. The right foot is free to control the accelerator, and the left one to control the clutch, just as if the start was being made on the level.

LUBRICATION SECRET OF LONG CAR LIFE

"In an automobile life depends on lubrication," said D. R. McBryde of the McBryde Lubricating Service. "And when I say life, I mean not only the life of the automobile itself, but also the life of every person who rides in it.

"A man doesn't have to be an expert mechanic to know that his car would not run very far with no lubrication at all. From this it follows that the efficiency of an automobile varies directly with the quality and correctness of the lubrication it receives. If it is always kept lubricated exactly as the maker intended it to be there is no reason why it shouldn't travel for at least 100,000 miles without repair. I personally know of a number of cars which have hung up records of more than that mileage without even having the valves ground. This was made possible by following a regular system of lubrication every 500 miles."

MOUNTAIN SNOW MELTING

The high passes of the Rocky Mountains in Colorado are gradually being released from the grip of winter. At the present time Berthoud, Le Veta, Raton, Cumbres, Poncha, Tennessee and Cochetopa passes are open and passable for motorists, according to the touring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Radio System Will Link All Plane Fields

Installation plans for a $1,000,000 radio system to provide instantaneous communication between all aerdromes and aircraft operating on the 7500 miles of operating airways through the West Indies, Mexico and Central and South America, have been revealed today by J. T. Trippe, president and general manager of Pan American Airways, Inc. A total of seventy-two stations, ten of which are already in operation and eight more are in course of construction, are to be located in practically every country of Latin America, forming the largest private radio network in the world.

A triple communication system has been perfected by radio engineers of Pan American Airways, Inc., with the co-operation of the Radio Corporation of America. Under this system every plane operating on the Pan-American routes will be in constant touch with at least two ground stations. Every air liner will be a completely equipped station in itself, capable of sending and receiving messages either in the air or on the ground.

MACON AIRPORT LIGHTED

MACON (Ga.) June 1. (AP)—Miller Field, Macon airport, soon will be completely lighted for night flying. A contract has been awarded for a large floodlight and twenty-three border lights in addition to the beacon light already installed.

YOUNGSTERS TO STRIVE FOR FEWER ACCIDEN

Vacation without accidents is the goal of thousands of junior high school students in Southern California, it was announced at the fourth annual luncheon for school safety committeemen held at the headquarters of the Automobile Club of Southern California this week.

At these annual meetings the junior high school safety committees are represented from the population centers of the thirteen southern counties. The work of the year was reviewed and future plans discussed. At the recent meeting it developed that a special effort will be made by the youth of this section to reduce the casualty toll during the long vacation.

Eric Emory, safety committeeman from the John Marshall Junior High School at Pasadena, told of the plans of the school safety committees for promoting safe vacations. Roominess Declared Demand in Present-Day Autos

Viking Car Has V-Type Engine

Recent changes in design in the Viking car shown above were adopted for the purpose of providing more room for driver and passengers, according to Lane G. Dodge, local dealer.

Deflated Tires Cause Trouble

To get the most service from your tires inflate them every week to the minimum pressure recommended for your tire size and make certain that the pressure does not drop more than three pounds below that minimum before reinflation, is the advice of N. Giulii, general manager of Guasti-Giulii, Inc., Los Angeles tire distributors.

"If tires are allowed to drop more than three pounds below the minimum, even for a comparatively short time, rapid tread wear and fabric breaks are sure to result, steering will be more difficult and 'shimmy' is more likely to occur," he says. "When an under-inflated tire strikes a hole in a pavement, the tire is too soft to absorb the force of the blow and the tire is damaged by being crushed between the steel rim and the pavement. An under-inflated tire may be bruised against the curb while parking or turning around. Bruises or breaks caused in this manner are common."

According to Mr. Giulii these bruises are not always evident on the outside of the casing, however, even though several of the inside plies of fabric may be broken. Excessive flexing of the sidewall of a casing caused by under-inflation, very often results in a crack or a break in the fabric on the inside of the casing. Underinflation is the cause, also, of unnatural, spotty or rapid tread wear. This is especially true of balloon casings because of the additional area of contact and the constant "wiping" action of the underinflated tire against the road.

JAPANESE TRAFFIC CHIEF STUDIES HERE

With the object of studying at first hand how America is handling motor traffic in her larger cities, Mr. N. Fugioka, head of the traffic division of the Metropolitan Police Board, Tokio, is in New York. The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce is assisting Mr. Fugioka in his studies of conditions here. About a year ago Walton Schmidt, field representative of the chamber, visited Tokio and lectured before the traffic police of that city, using motion pictures to illustrate American methods of traffic control and accident prevention. Mr. Fugioka presided at that meeting, and his present visit, which will include most of the larger American cities, will enable him to take back to Japan a comprehensive plan for meeting traffic congestion, which is already a serious factor there.

Sales Manager of Zone Named for Chevrolet

D.C. STIMSON

Announcement was made last week by W. M. Packer, zone sales manager for Chevrolet, of the appointment of D. C. Stimson as assistant zone sales manager, replacing O. C. Schultz, who has been transferred to the El Paso Chevrolet zone.

The new assistant zone manager comes to Los Angeles from Flint, Mich., where he was connected with the Chevrolet zone office there. His total experience in the automobile industry covers some nine years in all, for he entered it shortly after graduating from Michigan State University.

Stimson has had four and one-half years' experience with the Chevrolet organization, for he joined the Chicago regional office in January, 1925. After more than a year and a half there, he went to the central office at Detroit, and thence to Flint. His experience with Chevrolet has been unusually varied, covering regional, central and zone office work, all of which gives him an excellent background of training for his new work here in the Los Angeles office.

Director Given Vote of Thanks

Bernard J. Wall, director of the California Real Estate Association, was recently tendered a vote of thanks by the Hollywood branch, Los Angeles Realty Board, for his work in fostering an amendment to the Real Estate Act which makes it unlawful to pay a commission to anyone but a licensed real-estate broker.

According to Wall, this amendment will prevent persons not holding a real-estate license from receiving commissions, and also prevent sales people from receiving commissions from brokers other than those by whom they are employed.

NEW AUTO TRUCK MAKES DEBUT

Car Designed for Light, Speedy Work

Delivery Unit Added to Line

J. J. Canavan, left, manager, and J. H. Cassidy of the Thompson De Jarnette truck division are looking over a new arrival in the Dodge truck family. It is a half-ton panel delivery job recently announced.

ADDING to their large truck line, Dodge Brothers have announced a half-ton panel delivery job designed especially for dry cleaners, florists, and other concerns whose products do not weigh heavily and whose principal need in a vehicle of this kind is speedy service.

J. J. Canavan, manager of the truck department of Thompson De Jarnette Company, has received samples of the new unit and has them on display at the truck branch at 707 East Seventh street.

"The new unit has a lower chassis price f.o.b. Detroit than any other Dodge truck built," says Canavan, "and it is destined to be a popular model here because its body dimensions are exactly suited to the uses for which it is intended. It is high enough so that freshly pressed suits, hanging on hangers, will clear the floor, and the tallest of potted plants will ride without 'bumping their heads.'

"The over-all length is 173½ inches and there are eighty-nine inches of semi-elliptic springs which make for easy riding. Bodies are to be in attractive colors, as the Dodge factory is convinced that fine appearance is a definite business asset for the truck owner.

"Outstanding performance in economy, speed and acceleration is available in the L-head type of engine, with a bore of 3 5-8 inches and a stroke of 4 1-4 inches, having a total displacement of 175.4 cubic inches," Canavan pointed out. "Controlling this speed and power are weatherproof four-wheel internal expanding hydraulic brakes, operating in eleven-inch drums. Combustion chambers are machined to insure equal compression and smoother performance. The high-compression cylinder head provides maximum speed and power. The engine is insulated from the frame by rubber mountings to eliminate strain and vibrations. Engine accessories include oil filter, air cleaner and crankcase ventilator. Lubrication is by pump and force feed."

Auto Ascends Famous Grade in Bakersfield

Tice Hill in Bakersfield has been climbed by a stock car. According to reports by Greer-Robbins Company and Thompson De Jarnette Company, who handle the line in Los Angeles, a Plymouth coupe was driven to the top of the hill.

Some 5000 spectators were gathered to watch various cars and motorcycles try their luck at climbing the steep, rough trail, when the Plymouth was driven to the top.

Tice Hill has an average gradient of 54 per cent and at its steepest pitch it is 76 per cent. This 76 per cent pitch was so steep that in order to get traction for the rear wheels and keep the car from sliding backward, it was necessary to station a man at that point and have him climb on the rear bumper to put added weight on the drive-wheels.

John Ross was the driver of the car. He is sales manager for the Plymouth dealer at Bakersfield. His account of the climb was brief but picturesque. "At one point on the climb," he said, "some one had put water on the track to settle the dust and the car skidded until its rear end was almost on the brink of a precipice about 1000 feet down. There was nothing to do but go on over the top, or slide all the way to the bottom. We went over the top."

Certifying the car to be a stock car were J. D. Morris, service manager of the Studebaker agency at Bakersfield; Fred J. Mulroy of Mulroy's Repair Shop in that city, and J. B. Best, manager of the Bakersfield office of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Company Gives Prize Awards

In order to encourage operators of their service stations, Van Fleet-Durkee, Inc., have instituted a prize contest based on general appearance of the station, operators, rest rooms and display of accessories. As there are 220 stations in Southern California, the contest is declared to have created genuine rivalry. The first prize is $50 and in a recent contest A. L. Andrell, Pico and Ardmore streets, was declared winner. Three stations tied for second place and $25 each was awarded to Charles Jensen, Center and Pacific Boulevard; D. H. Kruger, Pasadena avenue and Avenue 52 and T. C. Flory, 300 South Pomona, in Brea.

According to W. C. Van Fleet, the plan of the contest was decided upon as a means of stimulating interest among station operators to display unusual initiative. "We know that by getting our operators aroused along this line, the appearance of their stations will be reflected in the direct appeal to their customers and the consequent purchase of Shell oils and gasoline and the other merchandise handled," Mr. Van Fleet declared. "The attendants have entered into the spirit of the enterprise in a way that assures success. Although we intended to award only one prize for second place in the last contest, the judges were unable to discriminate so we paid all three who qualified. The contest prizes are awarded monthly."

LINCOLN INCREASES OUTPUT OVER 1928

Production of Lincoln motor cars for the last three months averaged forty a day, which is a maximum schedule for the Lincoln Motor Company and an increase of over seven cars a day over the same period during 1928. Shipments of cars from the factory have shown a steady increase since the 1st of the year. The high demand for Lincoln cars is attributed to the popularity of many new body types introduced since the first of the year and to the outstanding performance and smoothness of the Lincoln engine, which is now fully mounted in specially designed rubber mountings. Production of these improved Lincolns for the year 1929 promises to considerably exceed 1928 figures.

CONTRACT GRANTED FOR SALE OF MOTORS

Negotiations have been completed between the Le Blonde Aircraft Engine Corporation of Cincinnati and the Aero Corporation of California, Inc., with headquarters in Los Angeles, whereby the latter company has been granted authorized sales and service on Le Blonde motors with an exclusive distributorship on parts.

The territory granted includes Southern California and the entire States of Arizona, New Mexico and Texas.

According to officials, the Aero Corporation will stock a complete list of Le Blonde parts and through its twenty-four-hour shop will be able to offer day or night service on Le Blonde engines.

El Monte-Los Angeles Route Project Perfected

Valley Boulevard Traffic Relief Seen

City and County Combine in Improvement

Definite steps to create a new high-speed highway from El Monte to the heart of the downtown district have been taken at the City Hall, with the approval of the opening and widening committee of the Romona Boulevard project.

WIDE HIGHWAY

Plans have been prepared which when carried out will enable motorists to drive at sustained speeds from Boyle avenue and First street to El Monte, passing under bridges in the East Side, and paralleling the San Bernardino right of way of the Pacific Electric to El Monte. As a ninety-foot highway is planned, the roadway will be sufficiently wide to allow a legal amount of traffic to move without congestion.

A connection will be made to Mission Road by way of Marengo street, thus allowing motorists to choose between any of the bridges over the Los Angeles River from Macy street to Ninth street.

The construction of this new highway, it was stated, will greatly relieve congestion on the now heavily used Valley Boulevard.

The initial proceeding within the icty limits will be the connection between Soto street and Harrison street along Harrison street to Enchendia street at Prospect Park. The county will carry along the project within county territory.

COST TOTALS $213,000

Cost of the proceeding will be met from the major traffic fund, sponsored by the major highways committee of the traffic commission. The estimated cost is $213,000.

David R. Faries, executive vice-chairman of the major highways committee, stated that groups of property owners tributary to the proposed improvement are highly elated over the prospects of obtaining the improvement, as it will greatly decrease the running time of automobiles to the center of Los Angeles.

TULARE CITRUS BELT TO GET HIGHWAY

LINDSAY, June 1. (Exclusive)—People of the Tulare county citrus belt are pleased over prospects of creation of the new highway, connecting Ducor and Bakersfield and continuing on through the Orange Belt route to the corner of the Tulare Road northwest of Lindsay, where it will go straight through Exeter.

Highlights and Sidelights of Aviation's March of Progress Throughout Wor

PLANES FOLLOW AUTO LESSONS

Standardized in Manufacturing Evidences Trend

Night Lighting Problem Faces Airplane Makers

Economies Effected by Joint Attack of Problems

Many of the ways and works of the automobile industry are naturally being followed by aviation, the infant among the transportation developments. One that is generally lost to sight, but which is of the utmost significance is that the pathway of standardization is being followed by an ever larger number of units within the field.

No commentator on the phenomenal progress of the automobile industry ever has failed to pay his respects to standardization as a prime factor in that progress. Nor, it is pointed out, has any observer ever failed to recognize that while the motor car industry is the greatest practitioner of standard designs, materials and practices, it makes the most impressive showing in respect to initiative and style—the two qualities to which standardization often is regarded as inimical.

Aviation, according to its leaders generally, must do likewise. It cannot accept the rather superficial view that standardization is synonymous with stagnation, they say.

Looking ahead to the day when private plane buying will be practiced on a vastly larger scale, Coker F. Clarkson, general manager of the Society of Automotive Engineers, comments on some of the aspects of true standardization as follows:

"It must not interfere with, but always be subordinate to progress in design. It assists greatly in progress in design. It must always meet the exigencies of style change. Style dominates in all today save bare necessities. Nonessentials must be standardized for economy and for the needs of service. In the production of distinctive designs, the savings made possible by the use of standards are essential. For low cost of production the number of aircraft parts cannot be reduced greatly. This means standardization."

Those who can look back to the early days of the automobile and recall that the simplest bolt for the simplest part cost from 15 to 20 cents and the nut for it an equal sum are in an ideal position to see the virtues of later-day practices. That price, which is about seven or eight times the present price of the same articles, was based upon the fact that the original manufacturer was the only one producing them in the proper dimensions and of the right materials.

That, of course, is shown to be only one small aspect of standardization, but it is an aspect that is of vital importance to today's motor car buyer who is tomorrow's airplane buyer, to a certain extent, at least.

Another thing about which the plane buyer will want to be absolutely soundly informed is that his craft is made of materials sufficiently strong to bear all the stresses and strains imposed upon them. He will want to know also that these materials are cast in a form and fitted together in a manner that eliminates the last doubt as to their sturdiness and safety.

Furthermore, he will desire complete assurance that should he have occasion to need a replacement part around the plane he flies he will not have to wait with folded hands until the nearest factory representative can send it to him.

These are some of the meanings of standardization as applied to airplanes. Furthermore, the practice of uniformity with regard to materials, designs, dimensions and fabrication processes is catching the industry young, a significance that is pointed out by many observers.

There has been a disposition on the part of some to look upon standardization as retarding initiative. Still others see it as making available the advantages of their individual research to competitors in the field. Yet, in answer to this, those who see the advantages of co-operative endeavor point to one present standardization activity as one that everyone in the industry must indorse, even if he does not believe in the larger principle involved.

That activity is in connection with the development of a proper illumination system for airplanes for night flying—an imperative need long before private flying reaches its potential proportions.

This problem is a complex one, as everyone in aviation knows. Various efforts have been made to solve it, but all seem to have points of difference and all have their shortcomings. As night flying becomes more and more the practice and the necessity, it is recognized widely that the quicker the problem is solved the more rapid will be the development of the airplane.

Here is the way the program shapes up in the co-operative effort to find a solution:

A committee of engineers representing various branches of the industry is first seeking to determine the amount of illumination required for various types of planes. This involves determination of the needed candlepower, the type of beam, the location of the lamps, and the development of suitable equipment, such as batteries, lamps, sockets, wiring, generators, and the like.

One unit of the industry, tackling this problem alone, might find the cost prohibitive and the genius lacking. Under a program of standardization, finances and intelligence are pooled in the quest for an answer.

If the question of illumination for motor cars had been approached in a similar way earlier in the history of the industry, many believe it would not remain to vex the millions of automobile owners today. As everyone knows, the headlight problem is one of the most tenacious in the motor car field and one which is more provocative of ideas, some good, some bad, than almost any other part of the car.

An implication of what standardization will mean to the plane buyer of the future with regard to doing his own mechanical work or having others do it quickly and at small cost was given to the writer by "Doc" Kinkade, whose preparation of motors used on the famous flights of Lindbergh, Byrd, and others, is widely known.

"One of the greatest things that standardization could do would be the development of a universal engine mount. The way some engines are mounted, their most vital parts are almost completely inaccessible. Sometimes, it seems that the only way to reach certain engine units is to take the engine out of its mounting."

The average man may not see his connection with standard practices in the aviation industry at the present moment, but, in the words of one of its foremost figures, "he most certainly will."

CLEVELAND CONVENTION DISCUSSES AIRPORTS

CLEVELAND, June 1. (Exclusive)—Numerous plans which would add to the air passenger's ease and comfort were suggested at the first annual convention of the airport section of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce.

The convention, attended by more than 250 airport managers, engineers and architects, was the largest ever held in the United States to consider a technical phase of aviation development, and in many ways is considered the most important in its far reaching effects.

The fact that it is estimated $300,000,000 was spent in the United States last year for airport development, and that a fund of $500,000,000 will be spent this year, emphasizes the importance of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce's work in directing the development of the national airport network along sound lines.

The delegates agreed that the airport and its hangars must be taken out of the class of the tin garage which sheltered the family automobile a decade ago, and permanent structures with architectural beauty substituted.

Municipalities and private companies working on airport projects were advised to build slowly if funds do not permit speedy development, but to build with an aim toward an ultimate development which will be adequate and free from temporary structures.

Airport managers in cities of more than 100,000 estimated conservatively that they must build their ports to care for a traffic of at least 100 planes a day, the present traffic volume at the Chicago airport, if they are to meet the demands of aviation's expansion in the next five years.

The airport managers and their technical advisers frowned upon the arrangement now in general use which permits student flying and instruction at the same airport from which transport planes, carrying mail and passengers, must operate. They suggested that the student training fields should be located from five to seven miles from the central airport, far enough away to prohibit interference with regular transport operations and yet close enough to make possible administration of all activities on the two fields.

The delegates also agreed that airplane repair shops should be considered in the same category which railroads place their roundhouses, and should not have a place at the airport near general passenger stations and administration buildings. It was suggested that the repair shops be located at a distant end of the field.

An inclosed approach to passenger planes, drawn up to the terminal station for loading, was suggested to remove the possibility of passengers getting within dangerous proximity to whirling propellers. Some delegates suggested a gang plank to the plane leading from an inclosed area for passengers, while others felt that a telescopic canopy or passageway leading to the plane might solve the problem.

Expansion of the membership in the airport section of the chamber was effected at the convention when more than seventy new members, representing airport development in every part of the country, were added to the trade association's rolls.

PILOT EXAMINATIONS SET

Forty-six Scheduled to be Held in This Section by Government Inspectors This Month

With forty-six scheduled examinations for Department of Commerce pilots' and mechanics' licenses, and a new policy of grading all airports in effect the local bureau of the organization has increased its staff from four to seven men under the direction of Capt. Walter F. Parkin. All three come direct from Washington (D. C.) government headquarters and include Frank Knight, George W. Vawter and C. D. Doak.

With their appointment Parkin has assigned special duties to the other men, with himself responsible for all final decisions. R. I. Hazen is now in charge of the licensing of all schools of the territory which consists of all States between the boundaries of Canada and Mexico west of Denver. Hazen assumes this assignment directly upon his return from Washington, D. C., within ten days. L. J. Holonbek has been detailed to inspection of all engineering problems, whether of plane or motor submitted by local factories.

B. V. Quick, recently of this post, was transferred recently to Mineola, Long Island, for special engineering duty.

Schedules of examinations offered through this territory by the Department of Commerce for pilots' and mechanics' licenses during the month of June, follow:

Aeronautical inspectors will be located at the following airports on the dates specified, between the hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. for the purpose of giving required examinations for pilots and mechanics, and the inspection of aircraft.

IN THE AIR AT LOCAL AIRPORTS

The new service established by Western Air Express to Lake Arrowhead recently gives every indication of being extremely popular. The planes leave Vail Field each Saturday and Sunday afternoon at 1 p.m., making the trip in forty-five minutes. Amphibians are used.

Western Air, according to officials, expects to receive word any day now that a new Boeing flying boat will be completed at the Seattle factory. It will be stationed at Catalina Island for short flights.

A 15-month-old baby was a passenger with his mother over the Standard Airlines recently. He slept. But his mother, Mrs. C. C. Hartzler, missionary on her way to Africa, expressed her pleasure in her first plane ride, when she landed here from Phoenix, Ariz. Mr. and Mrs. Hartzler and the youthful traveler begin their 16,000-mile trip for "home," the Belgian Congo, next week, after visiting Mrs. Hartzler's brother, H. L. Padrick, a mechanic for the Aero Corporation of California.

A cross-runway at the Grand Central Terminal is in process of construction, measuring more than 4000 feet running diagonally across the field. To be used as a landing area, the runway is rolled, and now being treated to oil preparations, which will render it smooth and dependable at all times. Maddux and Pickwick stage planes set down at this field for their daily passenger service into Los Angeles from all over California.

A 25 per cent reduction in regular passenger fares became effective over the Standard Airlines' route between Los Angeles and El Paso, Tex., beginning the 25th inst. and will be in effect during the thirty days ending June 30. The new summer excursion rates brings the passenger fare down to a basis of 7½ cents per mile, which is believed to be the lowest air transportation passenger fare in the country today.

Negotiations have been completed between the Le Blonde Aircraft Engine Corporation of Cincinnati and the Aero Corporation of California, Inc., with headquarters in Los Angeles whereby the latter company has been granted authorized sales and service on Le Blonde motors with an exclusive distributorship on parts. The territory granted includes Southern California and the entire States of Arizona, New Mexico and Texas.

FINANCING OF PLANES DISCUSSED

Expanding Sale of Ships Makes Co-ordinated Code Necessary

NEW YORK, June 1. (Exclusive) Realizing that proper financing is necessary to the growth of the aircraft industry, a committee of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce is drawing up uniform legislation applying to time-payment financing of airplanes.

The projected production of from 6000 to 10,000 planes in the United States this year presents problems of marketing which the aircraft industry and financing companies hope to solve through sound methods of financing.

The action of the legal and legislative committee is a direct outgrowth of the conference in Washington between representatives of finance companies and William P. MacCracken, assistant Secretary of Commerce, on the new licensing system to be placed into effect soon by the Department of Commerce.

Under the regulations being drawn up the finance companies will be recorded as the owner of a plane bought on the time-payment plan, but will not be held subject to fines imposed by the Department of Commerce for stunting or other violations of air regulations.

The name of the finance company will become a portion of the Department of Commerce records to prevent the influx of private capital through dummy companies set up for gaining control by other than domestic concerns. The records will distinguish clearly between the owner for financial purposes and the actual purchaser.

Second-Hand Engine Wins

One of the most amazing features of the record-breaking flight of P. L. Robbins and James Kelly of 172 hours and 32 minutes at Fort Worth, was the fact that they used a second-hand Wright Whirlwind engine, declares W. E. (Tommy) Thomas, general manager of the Pacific Aeromotive Corporation, distributor of Wright Whirlwind products.

"The engine these fliers used was a Model J—5 that had been used for many hours by another well-known flier who had discarded it," said Mr. Thomas. "The first owner had some minor trouble with it. He was making a long flight and decided to install a new engine. Robbins and Kelly bought it for a fraction of its value and gave it a thorough overhauling."

SNOW BLOCKS ROAD

The road from Badger to Big Meadow in Tulare county is now open to a point one mile beyond Quail Flats but impassable beyond due to snow, reports the touring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Summer Plane Rates Reduced

A 25 per cent reduction in regular passenger fares became effective over the Standard Airlines' route between Los Angeles and El Paso, Tex., beginning May 25 and will be in effect during the thirty days ending the 30th inst., according to an announcement by J. T. Whitlaw, traffic manager for the Standard Airlines.

The new summer excursion rates bring the passenger fare down to a basis of 7½ cents per mile which is believed to be the lowest air transportation passenger fare in the country today.

According to J. T. Whitlaw, the new rates are in effect during this period in order to allow students attending educational institutions at points along the Standard Airlines' route to fly home for their vacation.

PAN AMERICAN BUYS FIVE MORE PLANES

The largest fleet of multimortored passenger transport planes operated by any transport company has been completed by Pan American Airways, Inc., with the purchase of five additional Sikorsky twin motored amphibians for use on South American air routes. The addition of these planes to the twenty-two multimotored transport already operating on the Pan American Airways routes to Mexico, West Indies, and Central and South America, together with equipment previously ordered, brings the number of aircraft in the Pan American fleet to fifty-eight, representing an investment of more than $4,000,000 in passenger transport equipment.

STREET WORK COMPLETED

The construction work which has been in effect on United States Route No. 101 in the city of Paso Robles is now completed and all detours have been eliminated, it is reported to the touring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Western Air Kansas City Route Opened

Another new air-passenger service out of Los Angeles got away to a "flying start" yesterday. This is the dawn-to-dusk flight from here to Kansas City to be made daily hereafter by Western Air Express planes. Trimotor, twelve-passenger Fokker cabin planes, such as are used on the San Francisco, Salt Lake City and Tia Juana lines, are being operated. The flying time is about thirteen hours.

Airvia Plans Many Routes

NEW YORK, June 1. (Exclusive) A seaplane transportation line from New York to Boston on two-hour schedule, and ten-hour seaplane service during the winter months between New York City and the southern resorts are items on the immediate program of the Airvia Transportation Company. This company has ordered three Savoia-Marchetti double-hulled, fourteen-seater cabin flying boats, one of them for immediate delivery, from American Aeronautical Corporation, American licensees for these planes.

The organizers of the Airvia Transportation Company are making extensive plans for coastwise transportation to link up with transportation along the inland waterways from the New Brunswick border along the Atlantic and the Gulf coasts, and throughout the Central American countries. They believe that the flying boat will very effectively serve to supplement and speed up transportation along all our coast lines.

They plan to inaugurate their New York-Boston line in July, and are working out final details for this line, including arrangements for take-offs and landings on the Hudson River and in the near vicinity of South Station, Boston.

GUATEMALA HOP FROM SAN ANTONIO

Kinner Plane Expected to Leave Texas Today on Trip Through Mexico

Ready to set out today on the long trek over precarious Mexico, word received here yesterday indicated that the Kinner plane, the Argonaut, that left Culver City Airport last Wednesday en route to Guatemala City, had arrived safely at San Antonio, Tex.

The ship was purchased by the Guatemala Air Service for carrying mail and freight in the Central American republic. Ten craft have been purchased in Southern California for service in that country, six having been shipped and three others to be flown to their destination.

One of the planes to be flown is the Albatross, which will leave here on the 16th inst., on a proposed nonstop flight to Guatemala City. It will carry a crew of four, six passengers and a total load of 9000 pounds. The Texas Company serviced the Argonaut for its long trip last week at Culver City Airport, and Texaco gasoline also will be used by the Albatross. Jimmie Angel, president of the Albatross Aircraft Company, will be the chief pilot for the Albatross.

Pilots who are guiding the Argonaut on its southward journey are Theodore T. Brown and Art Canobbio. S. W. Neighbors, executive vice-president of the Guatemala Air Service, and star quarterback for the University of Southern California football team in 1910, was on hand to wish the young pilots luck when they departed last week. Neighbors is a licensed pilot also, and although he weighs 307 pounds, he took the Argonaut into the air for a test flight before the ship was nosed toward Guatemala City. Victor Gordon, president of the Guatemala Air Service, was slightly injured in an automobile accident ten days ago and was unable to see the plane take off.

Time Flights Scheduled by Two Aviators

Undaunted by their failure to make contact with their refueling plane on their last attempt to break the endurance record established by the Fort Worth, Gene Shank and Owen Haugland of Wichita will make another attempt next week, according to a telegram received yesterday by officials of the Axelson Machine Company, Los Angeles manufacturers of the engines that are being used in the endurance monoplane and the refueling ship, both single-motored Cessnas.

Axelson officials state that simultaneously with this flight another flight by local aviators is scheduled to start next week, Jimmie Warner, piloting a California-built Sierra plane, Axelson powered, will attempt to break the world's endurance record, adding the novelty of solo flying with the relief pilot being sent down from the refueling plane every time contact is made, and the other pilot parachuting to the ground for a rest period and in his turn going up with the refueling plane and climbing down a ladder to take the controls from

Air Lines Open Ticket Office

CHICAGO, June 1. (Exclusive)—Passenger air lines flying a daily total of 150,000 miles, or six times around the world, and including 85 per cent of all the air lines in America, have signed contracts and leases to operate the largest consolidated air-passenger ticket office and passenger depot in America. These lines, all of them members of the Chicago Air Traffic Association, also completed arrangements to centralize their operating headquarters in office spaces adjoining and in the air-passenger depot, a move which definitely gives Chicago the greatest centralization of air-travel executives in the world.

The depot will be in the Monroe-street arcade of the Palmer House and will occupy in part the space now in use by the air lines and opened last year as the first passenger bureau for air travelers on the American continents. Six new air lines will be augmented in the depot following their admission as members of the Chicago Air Traffic Association. The air lines concentrated in the Palmer House will include Northwest Airways, Interstate Air Lines, Inc., Embry-Riddle, Boeing Air Transport, Inc., Stout Air Service, Curtiss Flying Service, Grey Goose Air Lines, Capitol Airways, Inc., Transcontinental Air Transport, Universal Aviation Corporation, National Air Transport and Southwest Air Fast Express.

Two Air Lines Buy New Ships

Two ten-place, three-motored Bach transports were delivered yesterday by Bach Aircraft Corporation, one ship to West Coast Air-lines and the other to Pickwick Airways.

With these two planes in operation eleven Bach air yachts are now in regular passenger service on the San Francisco-Seattle and Los Angeles-San Francisco runs and on the Santa Maria airways. These are the first ten-place, three-motored ships built on the Pacific Coast.

Thirteen standard Bach transports are under construction and the Bach demonstrator, which will be permanently stationed on eastern airways, is nearing completion. Reports coming from eastern aviation centers indicate that negotiations are under way by which Bach Aircraft will receive a record order for transports from a national airway concern. The plant is now ready for capacity production, it was announced.

"STUNT CAR" DEFINED

What is a "stunt" car?

The question is one that has been under general discussion in automotive circles in Los Angeles recently. According to Clint Du Bois, territorial representative for the Durant Company of California, a controversy has arisen that is predicated upon the series of performances by Durant automobiles recently.

"Stunting" was very popular among automobile enthusiasts a number of years ago. Cars were judged largely by their ability to do the unusual and a great deal of time and effort was devoted to devising extraordinary performances in order to attract public

Long Air Trip Starts Tuesday

A long overland flight will start from the Los Angeles Metropolitan Airport Tuesday when Roland Archibald and his pilot, Vernon Dorrell, take off for a three-hop trip to Sidney, Nova Scotia, in his clipped-wing Buhl Airsedan.

The "Bluenose," as the plane is called, christened after Nova Scotia, will carry a letter of greeting and good will from Mayor Cryer of Los Angeles to Mayor James MacConnell of Sidney.

The flight in the Buhl which Archibald purchased through Ed L. Erickson at the Los Angeles Metropolitan Airport, will include stops at Fort Worth, Tex., the first day; Windsor, Ont., the second and Baldwin Field, Sidney, the third, covering a total of approximately 4300 miles.

THE Marquette IS HERE

Marquette

BUILT BY BUICK

A great new achievement in the automotive world—Marquette, built by Buick! Never before has there been such a car at moderate price—never before such extra value, such complete quality! Everything about this exceptional new six is thoroughly better. None but the best materials, the most expert design, the finest workmanship have been good enough. Buick wouldn't build a car any other way.

In outward appearance the Marquette is the smartest of the smart. Low-swung, rakish, hug-the-road lines. Beautiful color harmonies in exterior and interior finish. Tailored and fitted to perfection.

And what a performer this remarkable car is! Imagine flashing from 10 to 60 miles an hour in 31 seconds! Think of accelerating from 5 to 25 miles an hour in high gear up a long 11.6% grade! (The average road grade is 7%). Think of riding at 68 to 70 honest miles an hour with complete safety and comfort. That's the kind of pick-up and power and speed you need in a car nowadays—and that's what you get in the Marquette.

WIDE FOOTHILL HIGHWAY SEEN

Boulevard Improvements Now Under Way

Road Declared Longest in State for Width

Plan Includes Elimination of Grade Crossings

"California's Longest Wide Highway," will soon be another title for scenic Foothill Boulevard, which is already variously known as the United States Highway No. 66, State Route No. 9, and the Gateway Road, because it leads into the mountains and to transcontinental routes over which motor tourists enter Southern California.

This already famous route will become even more celebrated when it is an exceptionally wide invitation to motorists over its entire length. Foothill Boulevard, as its name implies, skirts the San Gabriel Mountains past the entrance to San Bernardino and is world renowned for the beauty of its surroundings. It leads the autoist through pretty towns bordered by miles of orange groves, always colorful and exceptionally fragrant with a wealth of blossoms in the spring, by rows of huge eucalyptus trees, all varieties of palms, by rose bushes in bloom many months of the year, and many other varieties of trees and flowers.

GRADES ELIMINATED

Much of the widening work has already been completed, and all of the remainder of the projected work is under contract or budgeted with funds provided. The undertaking will bring about the elimination of several hazardous railway grade crossings, the widening of a number of bridges and general improvement over the entire route, according to a survey study recently completed by the highway engineering department of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

According to this survey, the plans in general for the development of this route are as follows:

Huntington Drive is now a new wide thoroughfare presenting direct access to the Foothill Boulevard from Los Angeles. On the Foothill Road, north of this, Pasadena has completed improvements east to Lamanda Park.

The stretch from Lamanda Park to a point near Monrovia is a $200,000 project on the budget of proposed expenditures for the period from July 1, 1927, to June 30, 1929.

This same budget which implies that the work is completed or under way provided for an expenditure of $150,000 for the widening from Monrovia to a point beyond Azusa, which has recently been completed, except for a bridge widening over the San Gabriel River. For this work, however, $170,000 has been budgeted.

About $150,000 has been budgeted for elimination of the railroad grade crossings and the widening of the road at points near Azusa and San Dimas. This provision is made in the budget of proposed expenditures by the State for the period from July 1, 1929 to June 30, 1931.

BRIDGES WIDENED

Other projects recorded on this budget for future work, which will bring about final completion of the entire widening undertaking, are a $75,000 grade separation on Foothill Boulevard at Fontana and a $65,000 job of widening the Lytle Creek Bridge near San Bernardino.

Except for a stretch of completed road widening on the approaches to and across San Dimas Wash, the balance of the road from a point east of Glendora to Fontana is now under construction. From Glendora to Claremont, this construction work is requiring some $300,000, according to the budget, while from the point near Claremont to San Bernardino, approximately $425,000 will be spent. The new wide highway is completed and now in use from a point near Fontana to San Bernardino except for the narrow bridge of Lytle Creek.

One of the grade-crossing separations being improved is that where the Foothill Boulevard passes under the Pacific Electric Railway tracks near Red Hill Country Club between Claremont and Cucamonga. Here the subway will be widened and the road realigned.

It is evident from this report of the various State projects serving to complete the widening of Foothill Boulevard that motorists will have an exceptionally fine roadway, which will be sufficiently wide to care for traffic for many years to come. When this work is completed, Foothill Boulevard will be California's longest wide highway, according to the engineering department of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

The NEW AUTO LAW

[This is the first of a series dealing with the more important changes in the new State Vehicle Act enacted by the last Legislature and becoming effective August 15. An article will appear each week until the effective date.—Ed.]

BY IVAN KELSO,
Chief Counsel, Automobile Club of Southern California

Greater security is afforded the traveling public by a series of bills adopted at the recent session of the Legislature and lately signed by the Governor.

This result is accomplished by several devices, chief of which is the provision that careless motorists must pay for the damage they do or cease operating a motor vehicle.

OWNER NOW LIABLE

The first and most important of all the measures to be discussed is one which broadens the civil liability of the owner of a motor vehicle. Heretofore in order to hold an owner liable for any damage done by his motor vehicle it was necessary to prove, in addition to negligence, that either the owner himself or some one acting in his stead as an employee or agent, was the operator of the offending machine was merely a friend, or a relathe operator of the offending machine was merely afried, or a relative, or even a wife or husband, but out on no business of the owner, he thus escaped legal responsibility for any negligence in the handling of his vehicle.

A new section numbered 1714 1-4 has been added to the civil code, the provisions of which change this situation. This section will become effective August 15, next. By its terms an owner will be liable for any damage carelessly done by the operator of his machine, regardless of the relationship existing between the owner and such operator, so long as the operator has permission from the owner to use the latter's machine. It will no longer be necessary to prove that the owner was the driver of the offending machine; or that the operator, if not the owner, was an agent or servant of the owner, and upon the business of the owner at the time the negligent act was committed.

INSURANCE URGED

This change broadens the liability of the owner of a motor vehicle to a considerable degree, and, together with provisions of other statutes which I will explain in later articles, makes it extremely advisable for an owner to obtain public liability and property damage insurance at once. In fact, the real motive behind many of the bills to be discussed was a determination to persuade all motor vehicle owners to obatin such insurance without actually forcing them to do so.

Some States require motor vehicle owners to carry such insurance. California avoids the compulsory feature, in fact, but places such responsibility upon the motor vehicle owner that he cannot afford to take the chance of owning a motor vehicle that is not covered by liability and property damage insurance.

(The next article will explain how the responsibility of parents for the negligent acts of minor children in operating motor vehicles has been increased.)

Unique Golf Game Played on Dry Lake

Out on Muroc Dry Lake, on the edge of the Mojave Desert, two otherwise sane Southern California golfers, recently engaged in what will probably stand for all time as the goofiest idea in all golf history—fifty miles of golf in a single afternoon—merely to demonstrate another of those things which can be done in Southern California.

An automobile was in it. In this instance it was a new Dodge six, specially outfitted for the goofy golf game by Thompson De Jarnette Company. It had a pair of steps attached to the front bumper so that the golfers did not ride in the car, but on it.

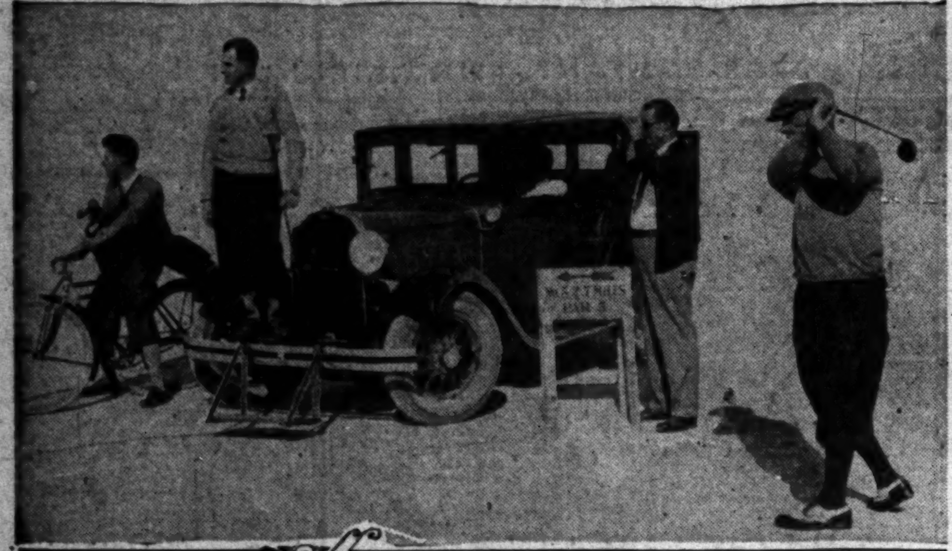
Muroc Dry Lake is a level, hard-surfaced area approximately five by three miles, and as smooth as a billiard table. Ralph L. Stephens, youthful president of a bank in Lynwood; Jack Malley, professional at the Annandale Golf Club, and A. H. Painter, secretary of the Southern California Golf Association, arranged the game.

Stephens and Malley played a twosome while Painter kept score, and, believe it or not,, it was found that even on Dry Lake, where there is no such things as "rough," it is possible to lose a golf ball. Such great distances are obtained on the drive that even the caddy's field glasses were unable to keep track of the ball and it was finally found necessary to use red ones, such as are used when playing in snow.

Painter, with the aid of a speedometer, laid out the course. Instead of yards, distances were measured in tenths of a mile. Fifty miles of golf by this method can be played in just a trifle longer than it takes to play eighteen holes over a regulation course, it was found.

Wooden tees were useless, for they cannot dent the surface, and it was much easier on the club to top the ball a trifle rather than attempt to take a divot.

Fifty Miles of Golf Played in One Afternoon



Caddy Rode a Bicycle
Here we have the fifth tee in a goofy golf game played on Muroc Dry Lake. The players used the steps on the fender to travel about the course. The ball was kept in sight through field glasses.

Auto Owners Demand Ease

As people extend the range of their automobile riding, they add to the problems of the automobile engineer. Motorists demand comfort and the farther they ride the more comfort they must have, points out Franklin H. Clark, De Soto six dealer and Fargo commercial car distributor.

"To have comfort an automobile must be roomy," explained Mr. Clark. "There must be space enough for passengers and driver to change their positions and stretch out if they are making long trips. The seats must be soft and built at an angle that will permit relaxation. Springs must be adequate with rebound properly controlled and bodies must be so balanced that they will not sway.'

Reductions in Truck Prices Made Public

The Moreland Motor Truck Company has announced a reduction in the prices of the various truck models.

On some of the larger units, the reduction is as much as $600. No change is made in specifications.

The company is now in its eighteenth year of building motor trucks for western users. During recent weeks the plant has operated at almost capacity.

ROAD TO CAVES OPEN

The road from the Redwood Highway to the Oregon Caves is now open and passable at all times, although construction work is still under way at points necessitating careful driving, according to the touring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

RICHFIELD MEN PROMOTED

Several veteran officials of the Richfield Oil Company have just been advanced to positions of higher responsibility in the interests of "more effective service," according to an announcement made yesterday by C. M. Fuller, president and general manager of the Richfield Oil Company.

I. N. RANDALL

The promotions, it was stated in a communication given out at the Richfield's headquarters here, are in line with increased official efficiency to meet the company's new policy of huge expansion.

Jack French, who has for many years been assistant manager of the lubrication department, and I. N. Randall, manager of the San Francisco Richfield branch since its inception, have been raised to positions as assistants to C. M. Fuller, president and general manager.

JACK FRENCH

In connection with this came also an announcement that W. H. Cotrel has been advanced from manager of service stations to that of assistant manager of the refined oils division, and that J. T. Armitage will occupy a similar position in the same division.

Later, it is stated, Mr. Cotrel will have charge of Northern California activities, while Mr. Armitage, formerly general sales manager for Pan American Petroleum, will have charge of Southern California work.

Others affected in the official announcement are C. G. Harding, made branch superintendent, who will be assisted by L. A. Robertson and F. M. Rhodes in the capacity of branch supervisors.

All these changes will be effective at once.

New Speedster Arrives Here for Display

A new Packard model, the straight-eight speedster, has arrived in Los Angeles and is being shown in the salesrooms of Earle C. Anthony, Inc.

The car is not an entirely new creation, but has been changed from the eight-cylinder stock car in the motor and chassis. Only two body types are offered in the speedster, the runabout and the phaeton.

The main feature of this model is its speed, the top range being from ninety-five to 108 miles per hour. This speed has dictated certain aspects of the body design, incorporated to eliminate all head resistance planes, eliminating all special equipment, such as extra lamps and wind wings.

The power plant contains a special high-lift camshaft and many high-compression features, and is built to develop 120 horsepower at 3000 revolutions per minute.

The car is custom built and postsale notice of from thirty to sixty days is required for delivery.

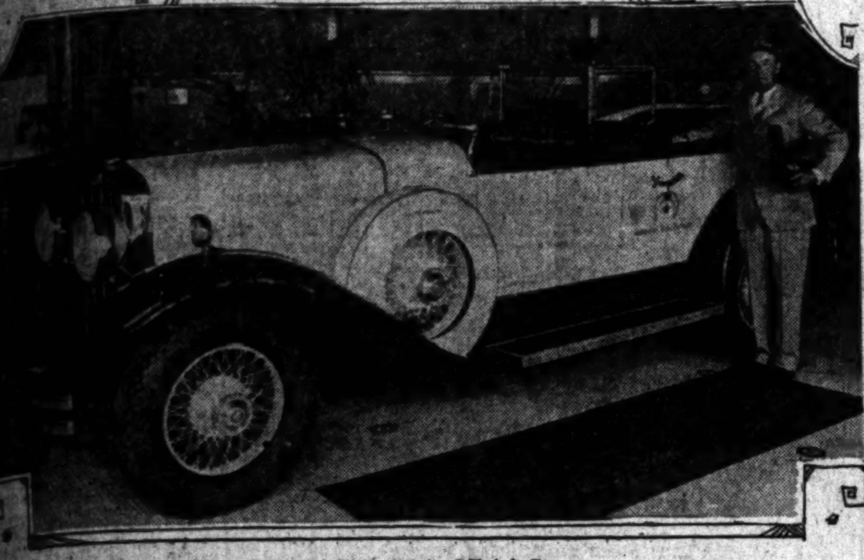
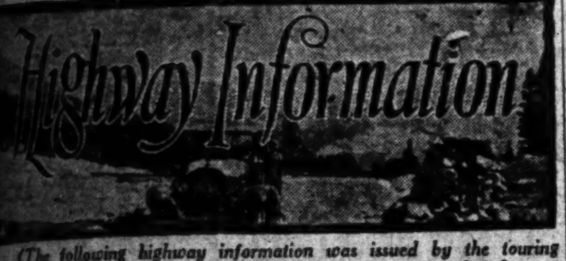
Trip Across Hot Sands to be Made in Style



Imperial Potentate's Official Car

No ruler ever drove a more elegant automobile than the specially decorated Franklin air-cooled, seven-passenger machine which will be used by the head of the Shriners during their convention here this week.



(The following highway information was issued by the touring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California under date of May 28. Motorists desiring any further information may obtain it by communicating directly with the club.)

SEEING ENSENADA. To the average motorist who has toured throughout California and is looking for new fields to conquer, the tang of novelty and the spice of adventure is supplied by travel in a foreign land. This goal may be attained with ease and safety by a trip to Lower (or Baja) California.

The delightful drive to San Diego is made over paved highways past the many beaches and jutting headlands along the coast.

From San Diego one may drive straight south by way of National City and Chula Vista or secure variety and scenery by ferrying to Coronado, then driving by way of the Silver Strand and Imperial Beach.

The average tourist approaches the international border with a feeling of misgiving and an expectation of considerable "red tape." This, however, is entirely unfounded as the customs officials are courteous and "red tape" conspicuous by its absence. For anyone going south to Ensenada, the Ensenada Chamber of Commerce has a representative, Mr. J. A. Hernandez, at the line who is glad to make arrangements for all permits.

One's advent to Tia Juana is usually accompanied by a feeling of bewilderment, for instead of the expected sleepy Mexican town one sees a gay community which appears to be the recreation center of all nations.

Here the sport of kings furnishes many a thrilling neck-and-neck race for the edification of visitors. The thrilling whippet race is a newer development which is attracting a large following. Before leaving Tia Juana most motorists desire to visit the magnificent resort, Agua Caliente, three and one-half miles easterly.

Situated seventy miles south of Tia Juana is the truly Mexican town of Ensenada. Reached over fair dirt and natural gravel road which passes many shining beaches and climbs over rugged mountains, Ensenada is the antithesis of Tia Juana.

Here one finds the easy-going native in surroundings that have changed but little during the last century. Although good accommodations may be obtained, evidences of the invasion of the modern are distinctly lacking and therein lies its charm.

The seeker of rest and recreation may here find both at his leisure, for Ensenada is so situated between the mountains and the gleaming sands of Todos Santos Bay that there is ample opportunity to indulge in favorite sports of hunting, fishing, swimming or riding. Licenses for guns are required of the hunter.

Sudden Stops Cause Heat

When a car is moving at seventy-five miles an hour and is brought to a quick stop by applying the brakes, a temperature of approximately 2000 degrees of heat is momentarily generated at the brake drums, according to Hallock E. Hoffman of the local Pierce-Arrow company.

Translated into its equivalent of power as measured in foot pounds, the heat is equivalent to between 3,000,000 and 5,000,000 foot pounds.

Naturally, such high temperatures must be dissipated rapidly. The reason for the big, wide brake drums on high powered cars of today is to give ample area of brake drum and brake lining surface to rapidly radiate the heat generated.

BANNING HEIGHTS TRIP LURES

Wild Flowers Bloom in High Areas

Motor Dealer Outlines Tour

A TRIP well worth while, and yet one which few motorists make, is that to the Banning Heights country, believes Reeve Gartzmann, head of Reeve Gartzmann, Inc., Oakland-Pontiac dealers here.

"One of the most interesting features found in the region, he states, is the extensive stand of wild flowers. The matter of elevation has a great deal to do with the flowers, which leads one to believe that it is not merely a matter of calendar in Southern California.

"Some time after the wild flowers are gone and the grasses brown and dry in the lower valleys near the seacoast, it is still possible to find the grass green and the flowers in full bloom in the mountain valleys where the high elevation and cooler weather delays the season," Gartzmann declares. "Last week a party of tourists in an Oakland All-American six sedan discovered a poppy field still in full bloom on the mesa north of Banning. Here under the shadow of San Gorgonio peak, at an elevation of almost 5000 feet, the wild flowers that have long since faded at the lower levels have just come into full bloom. Poppies, mariposa lilies, lupines, brodiea and many other familiar wild flowers make their final stand of the season on these mile-high slopes."

A trip to the region also rewards the tourist with a new and impressive view of San Jacinto peak, as well as a splendid survey of the entire San Gorgonio Pass region. To reach the locality, Gartzmann explains, the motorist must turn north on the main street of Banning and follow the road clear to the foot of the mountains. The road is of dirt, and slightly dusty in spots, but opens up a territory of interest for the motorist who likes to take occasional jaunts off the beaten path.

Shrine Head Gets Special Car for Stay

Frank C. Jones, Imperial Potentate of the Shriners, will ride in state during the convention here this week. He will have for his official car a specially decorated Franklin air-cooled seven-passenger sport touring car, announces Ralph Hamlin, president of Franklin Motors, Inc., Franklin distributor.

Mr. Hamlin is furnishing the automobile, which he had specially finished for convention week, and when placed on display at the Franklin showrooms a few days ago attracted much attention.

"The Imperial Potentate's car has the body finished in pure white, with black molding around the top of the body, black fenders and white wire wheels," explained Mr. Hamlin. "The spare tires are mounted in front-fender wells and encased in white covers with edges in black. The Shrine emblem is seen on each rear door, done in gold with 'Imperial Potentate' just above it.

"The windshield is chromium and the car is fitted with a tonneau shield, also in chromium with skirts of black leather. The top is folded down into a boot, finished in pure white. This car is luxuriously upholstered in fine mottled brown leather.

"At any hour, day or night, during the convention and prior to its opening, the official Franklin will be at the call of the Imperial Potentate. He will have a chauffeur and during the pageants he will have an escort of motorcycle officers who are members of the Shrine. It will lead the parades.

"It is fitting that the air-cooled Franklin should carry the Shrine camel for both of them go a long time between drinks."

Auto Sales in Year Expected to Set Record

TOLEDO (O.) June 1. (Exclusive) With sales of Willys-Knights and Whippets for the first five months of the current year establishing the greatest record ever made by Willys-Overland, indications are that 1929 business will by a substantial margin exceed any previous year in the company's history.

Sales for the first five months of 1929 with a conservative estimate of May business are expected to total 171,000 cars, an increase of 11,000 units over corresponding months of the record-breaking 1928 period.

Since the sales of the company's six-cylinder models, both in the Willys-Knight and Whippet lines, have shown a marked increase as compared with the lower-priced four-cylinder line prospects for greater earnings in the second quarter are good. Sales of this company's six-cylinder models now total approximately 50 per cent as compared with less than 25 per cent in the first quarter.

A factor which the company expects to contribute materially to earnings in this quarter is its new one and one-half-ton Whippet six commercial line just announced. Orders already placed for this new chassis indicate an unusual sales volume not alone in the domestic field, but in the foreign markets as well, officials declare.

Auto Braking Tests Lauded

In this day of greater speed and heavy traffic, it is imperative that the braking efficiency of every car or truck be maintained in perfect condition at all times if accidents are to be avoided, declares Bar Wynns, vice-president and general manager of the Wynns Tire and Rubber Company. Dynamic brake testers can be used to detect eccentric brake drums, uneven brakes, greasy lining and other causes of poor brakes.

"It is significant," says Wynns, "that the thousands of motorists who make it a point to have their brakes tested regularly at least once a month are notably free from accidents. I may add that these motorists also enjoy the maximum mileage from their tires, because there is no other single thing, with the possible exception of misalignment of wheels, that causes more wastage of rubber than improperly adjusted brakes.

"Keeping the wheels braking even distributes the strain evenly over the four tires, eliminating injurious side slip and spotty tread wear, adding miles of service to the tires."

MOTOR TAXES USED FOR SWEDEN'S ROADS

Sweden is increasingly adopting the principle that motor vehicle taxes should be used exclusively for road maintenance and construction purposes. It was proposed by that government at the start of this year to devote 30 per cent of the motor fees to road purposes, and legislative bodies raised this proposal to 40 per cent.

PRETTY GIRLS CAUSE SMASHES

Admiration for Pulchritude Results Fatally

Automobile Club Committee Makes Discovery

Nine Other Reasons Why Accidents Occur

A driver who will allow himself to become so entranced by the sight of a pretty girl on the sidewalk that he crashes into another car or a lamp post has no right to operate an automobile, in the opinion of an eastern traffic authority.

This failing is a form of self-hypnotism, the executive declares in a communication reaching the public-safety department of the Automobile Club of Southern California. This hypnotic spell is responsible for 3 per cent of the country's traffic accidents, he says, and the only remedy for it is declared to be the withdrawal of the driver's license.

Besides this cause, the official finds that there are seven other fundamental causes for traffic crashes. His causes, and his suggested remedies for them are as follows:

Absentmindedness. This, in drivers of all classes, causes 24 per cent of all motor accidents. Remedy—use of signals directly in line of vision.

Ignorance. This includes those who have no knowledge of traffic conditions, made up for the most part of children, and causes 23 per cent of all accidents. Remedy—education.

General obstructions, such as bad paving, narrow streets, ditches, bad corners. These cause 16 per cent of accidents. Remedy—correct engineering.

Reckless driving. Causes 14 per cent of the accidents. Remedy—heavy fines and penalties.

Oil Men Meet in Bay City

C. J. KAY

Department managers and regional officials of the Tide Water Oil Sales Corporation from all parts of the western territory were called together in San Francisco for a two-day meeting by W. C. Pettingell, western regional manager, last week.

Pettingell called the meeting in preparation for his departure next week to attend a meeting of Tide Water regional managers in New York, to whom he will carry tidings from the western division of the extensive organization which refines and markets Veedol motor oils and greases.

Among the prominent officials who attended the meeting were A. H. Harris, western regional engineer; Frank L. Wagar, western regional advertising manager; Bob Phelps, San Francisco department manager; Cy H. Pruner of Portland, Pacific Northwest department manager; C. J. Kay, Los Angeles department manager, and George F. Herrman of Seattle, sales supervisor.

Insurance Has New Protection

R.C. TUCKER

The importance of the motorist providing himself with complete insurance coverage, especially with liability and property damage, is now even more emphatic than ever before with the drastic changes that have been made by the last Legislature in the Motor Vehicle Act of the State, points out F. M. Ludwick, vice-president of the West American Commercial Insurance Company.

The recently enacted amendment to the Motor Vehicle Act provides a definite procedure whereby the courts are required to certify to the Motor Vehicle Department the conviction of a negligent driver, or the failure of an automobile operator to satisfy within fifteen days any final judgment for damages to persons or property arising from the negligent operation of a motor vehicle. The department is then required to suspend forthwith the operator's license and thereafter he will be unable to secure a new operator's license, or to register any motor vehicle in his name until he shall have secured public liability coverage to the extent of $5000 to $10,000 limits, and property damage with $1000 limits if convicted in a criminal action. In the event a judgment has been entered against a motorist in a civil action the judgment up to the amount of $5000 for injury to one person or $10,000 for injury to more than one person must be satisfied and future liability and property coverage secured before his operator's license can be reinstated.

IMPROVEMENT SPEEDS TRAFFIC AT ALHAMBRA

Southern California is now provided with another new super highway which will facilitate traffic from the Alhambra territory to Whittier Boulevard. This is the extension of Atlantic avenue from Whittier Boulevard north to a connection with Wilson avenue at Garvey avenue, reports the touring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Widening of Boulevard at Duarte Begins

MONROVIA, June 1. (Exclusive) Preliminary surveys and plans for the improvement and widening of Duarte Road, were started this week by O. A. Gierlich, Monrovia civil engineer, who has been awarded the contract for engineering work on the project.

Deeds have been secured for rights of way the entire length of the street, which culminated months of work last week when a clear deed to the Colby property was obtained. Although preparation of plans has started, the type of pavement for the improvement has not been definitely settled on. At present, the official specification recognized by the City Council is that calling for macadam pavement.

Under terms of the contract, Gierlich will receive 8 per cent of the total contract price if it is less than $100,000, and 7½ per cent of the contract providing it is more than $100,000.

The widening and improvement of Duarte Road, which runs parallel with Huntington Drive, through the southern part of Monrovia, will open one of the most important arteries through the city.

Tabloid tennis is popular in Europe.

London is to have a new $2,500,000 theater.

Mexico will spend nearly $5,000,000 on public works this year.

AUTOMOBILE HISTORY REVIEWED

BY DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT, June 1. (AP)—Another study in contrasts of the automobile industry is the present-day average motorist and the driver of the models of a quarter-century ago.

Today's average driver can talk on differentials, cam shafts, clutch plates, timing gears and the like, but as a general proposition when those important elements of his car need repairs he must take it to the skilled and professional mechanic.

Not so twenty-five years ago. Mr. Average Driver in those days generally was a skilled mechanic himself—or at least handy enough with the primitive tools of the day to effect any necessary roadside repairs.

Twenty-five years ago the average car had a "make-and-break" ignition system that usually did not "stay put" for twenty miles without a stop for adjustment. Inlet valves also gave a lot of trouble because they were automatic. Instead of opening up by action of the cam shaft they operated by the suction of the engine.

Sticky valves were a frequent cause of difficulty that required roadside repairing. Intake pipes were made of brazed copper tubing and, due to their great length and the weight of the carburetor, quite often they would break during a trip outside the city limits.

The tool box of the car of a quarter-century ago was almost a shop in a box. It included all the necessary equipment for brazing, soldering, etc., and a large amount of wire.

Royalty and the nobility took to the automobile in its early days, but almost always accompanied by an engineer from the factory producing the car or one of the factory's best mechanical men to make the frequent repairs and adjustments.

The "speed demons" of twenty-five years ago were equipped with twelve-horsepower engines, capable of a maximum speed of slightly more than thirty miles an hour.

According to most authorities the frequent breakdown of the early-day automobile may be attributed not so much to defective material or principles of engineering construction as to the complex design of the motor car as a whole.

While the village blacksmith occasionally got a job on a stalled motor car, his assistance usually consisted of lending his tools or shed for "horseless carriages" and horseshoes had very little in common.

SEQUOIA PARK ROAD IN GOOD CONDITION

The Generals Highway, which connects Visalia and Giant Forest in Sequoia National Park, is now in good condition, as is also the road from Giant Forest to Lodge Pole camp ground. The various roads in the park are now being oiled, which will insure a dustless vacation for persons visiting the playground this summer, according to the touring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Dealer Offers Tire Care Data

Proper inflation of a tire is of prime importance. Keep tires inflated according to the table given by the dealer from whom they are bought. Have them checked over once a week with a correct gauge. This is the advice of Frank T. Price of Nelson & Price, Inc., India dealers.

It should be ascertained that wheel alignment is correct, as improper alignment accounts for a great deal of unnecessary wear. The assistance of a dealer's service department should be taken advantage of in remedying misalignment.

Spare tires should be kept well covered at all times. A tire exposed to the sun is sure to deteriorate much faster than a covered one.

Tires should never be left to stand in pools of oil in the garage as this will cause rapid retrogradation.

Driving in car tracks, over pointed stones and rough surfaces are other things to be avoided.

JORDAN FAMILY WINNERS

Edward S. Jordan, president of the Jordan Motor Car Company, who has won fame for his artistry and ingenuity in automobile design, has two rivals in his own home, according to Harry A. Lord, president of the Lord Motor Car Company, Jordan distributor. He has just learned that Mrs. Charlotte Jordan won first prize for sculpture at the Cleveland Museum of Art in the May show and their daughter Joan, 15 years of age, won first prize in the class of relief cuts.

RESORT AND HOTEL NOTES

LLOYD B. AUSTIN of Tamarack Lodge on the Mammoth Lakes in Mono county has just returned from a trip to the Owens Valley. He reports that the road is now open all the way to Tamarack Lodge on the Twin Lakes and that numbers of reservations for the opening of the trout season, the 30th inst., have already been received.

IT IS reported by Capt. Jack Dugan splendid sculpin fishing has been had in the evenings from his ship. Several days ago, the first run of barracuda for this season started at Santa Monica and hundreds of the "slim fish" were landed from the Billings.

A new ship went into commission at the Bay City it is reported by Capt. Max Watt. The boat is the ship Kikuma, an all-day boat. On its first trip, a forty-two-pound halibut was caught.

Capt. Cliff Morris reports that halibut are running better, many being caught from the ships Palisades and Ameco also many barracuda have been caught.

THURSDAY, May 23, was a memorable day for Idyllwild and the San Jacinto Mountains. On that day the new all-high-gear auto highway was opened. This road has been under construction for over three years. It marks a new era for one of the finest recreation centers in Southern California. When fully completed and the new bridges are constructed the total cost will be in the neighborhood of $750,000. Sometime in July, date to be announced later, a big celebration is planned to commemorate this notable achievement.

THE ever-interesting wonder of springtime is apparent upon the slopes and in the canyons back of Mt. Wilson and San Gabriel Peak. The long slope, opposite Opid's Camp, is dotted with hundreds of yuccas. Along the firebreaks and beside the trails the scarlet buglers and the purple penstamin are in bloom. Along the canyon by the sparkling brook the baby-blue-eyes are plentiful.

Those who love the songs of birds have a real treat in store in this section of the mountains. There are many deer to watch in their natural haunts, and plenty of gray tree squirrels. The vicinity in and about Opid's Camp offers beauty in both still and animate life.

Trout fishing is good in the West Fork this year.

GUESTS at the Arrowhead Springs resort continue to see various motion-picture stars at play, since many of the most prominent stars visit this mountain watering-place frequently.

Just last week Shirley Mason and Renee Adoree were among the guests at Arrowhead Springs relaxing from the strain of studio work.

John Gilbert, Katheryn McGuire, Ned Sparks, Montague Love, Norman Kerry, Gilbert Roland, the Talmadge sisters, and many other picture players spend considerable time at the Springs. One of the most attractive features of this popular resort is the complete stable of saddle horses maintained by the hotel. In addition to riding and other sports the natural di-sodium steam caves and mud baths come in for their share of attention from guests, many easterners coming to Arrowhead for the treatments afforded at this hot springs.

A list of socially prominent people who have stopped at the Santa Maria Inn during the past week include Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Eckhart, Mr. and Mrs. H. Eckhart, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Williams, Miss A. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Heartwell, Mrs. W. C. Page, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Hazeltine, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Bigelow, Mrs. D. M. Skeel, Mrs. E. G. Durbin, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Taylor, Mr. H. B. Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Armstrong, all of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. N. K. Moody of Independence, Kan.; Mrs. Fulton Lane of Palos Verdes Estates, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Neill of Torrance and Mr. C. C. Massie of Minneapolis, Minn.

OAKGLEN LODGE is expecting a large number of visitors during the cherry season, in which hundreds attend the festival in Beaumont.

Oakglen is most favorably situated, about midway between the two places, via the mountain route. This location has always been recognized as a stopping-place for those en route to or from Palm Springs, at this time of year seeking cherries which are now in evidence through these sections.

SETTING a record in construction and heralding the initiating of the largest ranch of its kind in the West, June Lodge Dude Ranch, three miles south of Big Pines, last Saturday night opened officially to the public with a dinner and dance in the new building.

On the May 5, the former ranch house burned to the ground. Within a week workmen and material were on the ranch ground and the new dining hall, lounge and kitchen were under way. In thirteen days the structure had been completed with the exception of the decorating.

More than 100 guests from up and down Owens Valley were present at dinner and others arrived later for the dancing.

The new main building at the Dude Ranch promises to be one of the show places of the West. The decorations will be unique in design and the buildings will be lighted at night with great flood lights.

Construction of private cabins will begin within a few days and these will be equipped with hot and cold running water and shower baths. In addition there will be another building consisting of twenty modern rooms with tub and shower bath.

Chicken, duck and rabbit dinners will be featured by the Dude Ranch. A modern coffee shop is open night and day as is the service station.

Edward J. Seymour is owner and operator of June Lodge Dude Ranch and of June Lodge in the High sierras.

THE Douglas Camps are busier than ever preparing for the summer activities. Two barbecue pits have been added to the equipment designed to care for over 100 steaks at once. The tables are made in the shape of a horseshoe, and sea sand has been spread all around the pits so that no dirt may get near any food.

The ribbons and cups for the Gymkhana were contested for with great enthusiasm. Miss Jean Hobbs of Marion, Mass., won the highest honors. The judges from the Praesidio were astonished at the skill in horsemanship shown and the true sportsmanship of the pupils. Dick Collins, the instructor, was most proud of his youngest pupils. Boice Richardson won the red ribbon.

THE attractive new resort guide for the 1929 season, published yearly by the Peck-Judah Company is just off the press and can be had free of charge by calling at their office. This publication covers in detail the mountain and beach resorts in the Pacific Coast including many of the "out-of-the-way" places which only lately have been brought to the attention of the vacationist.

ANNOUNCEMENT has been received that Coronado Tent and Cottage City, located at Coronado Beach near San Diego will be officially opened the 29th inst. The resort, which has been greatly improved in the past two years by the replacement of many of its tent houses with more attractive and permanent types of beach cottages will be under the direct supervision of Mel S. Wright who is also manager of the fashionable Hotel del Coronado.

The coming summer will be the twentieth-ninth annual season of Coronado Tent and Cottage City. The resort has during this period grown from a few scattered tents and amusements for guests to a miniature city.

DETOUR DECIDES CONTRACT

ONTARIO, June 1. (Exclusive)—If he is willing to provide for a detour at all times around the job A. W. Gardner, Redlands contractor, will be awarded the contract for paving East A street, a link of Valley Boulevard, from the east city limits a mile and one-half toward Guasti.

Tire Company Plans Aiding Dealer Sales

Frank K. Espenhain, executive vice-president of the Fisk Rubber Company of New York, was a visitor in Los Angeles last week for several days, conferring with Fisk tire dealers and distributors in the Southern California district. He was also studying conditions, business and otherwise, as they affect the tire industry, and advising dealers of the company's attitude toward them, he stated.

"The Fisk Rubber Company's policy is to market its products through distributors and dealers and not through direct factory branches," explained Mr. Espenhain. "The company believes the representative, progressive dealer has a place in the business today and the factory is standing squarely behind him.

"Factory officials are giving the dealer every help. They operate a dealer school at the factory to teach the principles of sound merchandising and help them make their places of business attractive. Constructive methods are used throughout and the dealers are given to understand that their future in business is assured and will not be encroached upon by the opening of direct factory branches.

"Dealers are instructed how to market products to the best advantage by stressing their real merits and the Fisk methods of manufacture.

"Investigation has shown that Californians obtain better mileage from their tire equipment than any other section of the United States. This is perhaps because of climatic conditions being most favorable to the life of rubber, your wonderful system of highways, the fact that automobiles can run long distances without the necessity of stopping or starting and perhaps because cars are used every day in the year out here."

LeMans Race Will See Four American Cars

There will be three or more privately wned, strictly stock model Stutz eight motor cars in the famous annual twenty-four-hour road race at LeMans, France, this year. Information to this effect was brought to America by E. H. Brisson, wealthy Argentine sportsman, who took second place in the race last year with a stock Stutz Black Hawk car, according to a letter received from the factory by F. W. Clampett of Marshall & Clampett, Stutz and Black Hawk distributor.

"The South American millionaire visited the Stutz factory and bought a new Stutz for the 1929 LeMans race," explained Mr. Clampett. "He was accompanied by Louis Chiron, his alternate driver in the French sporting event. Chiron came to America to pilot a Delage car in the Indianaplis race Memorial Day.

"This year, Mr. Brisson stated, his new car will be entered, another Stutz owned by a friend also will compete, and Warwick Wright, Stutz distributor in London, will have a third one in the hard grind. All are four-passenger type sport speedster bodies.

"The LeMans course is declared the most difficult in the world. A trifle over ten miles long, it has three miles of narrow, winding, hilly road that must be taken in second gear, and a steep hill that requires low gear. There are two sharp turns that necessitate almost a full stop. Making speed over this course not only tests the speed, power and handling ease of a car, but it tests the brakes, as well."

Hardest Road Test of Auto Ends in City

A "road test to destruction" run of 7200 miles from Indianapolis, Ind., to Los Angeles required travel in floods, desert sand and mountain grades by a Marmon 68 straight-eight sedan.

This statement is made by George S. Pelton, president of the Pelton Motor Company, Marmon and Roosevelt distributor, following a report to him by a group of Marmon factory engineers who made the test trip.

The car was taken off the production line and pitted against two larger and more costly cars to test, in direct competition, its stamina, road stability and speed. The Marmon engineers were headed by Thomas J. Little, Jr., chief engineer. The car carried four passengers and their baggage.

"'Road testing to destruction' is a term used by Marmon engineers in describing their method of subjecting cars to exhaustive actual driving tests until their parts either stand the strain or fail. The tests are more severe than the cars ever will encounter in the hands of actual owners."

Drivers Warned of Tire Abuse at High Speed

With vacation season at hand, with long trips on fine highways just ahead, with the temptation to speed with high-powered cars greater than ever before, officials of the Samson Tire and Rubber Corporation warn drivers that yielding to this temptation is one of the costliest things they can do, at least so far as their tires are concerned.

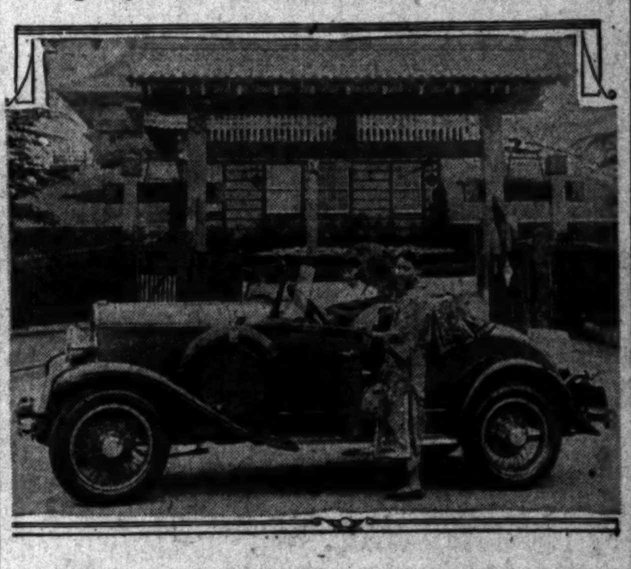
Speed, especially in hot weather, will take more miles of wear out of a tire than almost any other abuse. Speed generates heat, and heat is probably the most destructive element to which a tire can be subjected.

Many drivers are not aware of the fact that every time they increase their car speed five miles per hour they are increasing the amount of heat generated in the tires from road contact. And anytime a driver pushes his car above twenty-five miles an hour—especially in hot weather—it is costing him in tire wear out of all proportion to anything he ordinarily gains from that speed.

AUTO TIRE OUTPUT GROWTH DISCLOSED

Automobile tire statistics just issued by the Rubber Manufacturers' Association, show that total production of pneumatic casings in the United States increased from 6,600,000 in 1913 to more than 77,900,000 in 1928. This represents an annual rate of growth of 17.9 per cent, compounded.

Display Draws Gaze of Thousands



They Make an Alluring Picture

Attired in bright-hued native costumes, two pretty Chinese maidens are attracting the gaze of thousands as they drive a De Soto six roadster about Los Angeles. Miss Ming Low, who does most of the driving, is well known in motion-picture circles as an actress and dancer. Her companion is Miss Kathryn Wong, sister of Anna May Wong, screen star. Both girls are American citizens and high school graduates.

A Lockheed monoplane was ordered by the Marland Oil Company through the Earl C. Halliburton company, distributors of Lockheed planes for Oklahoma and Texas, recently. The plane is to be delivered to Los Angeles officials of the Marland Company within ten days, according to Lockheed factory officials.

Spain will subsidize its aviation.

3. PLATES extra thick and long lived. Best materials—high-grade oxide—grids and lead plates contain correct amount of antimony for greatest durability.
4. SEPARATORS of high-grade white cedar thoroughly treated to insure greater capacity, allow current to flow freely and give complete insulation.
5. TERMINAL POST LOWER SECTION, to which plates are securely anchored, is proper size to insure easy current flow.
6. TERMINAL POST UPPER SECTION—correct size for cable connection. Heavy rubber washer, just under terminal post nut, prevents acid leaks.
7. CELL CONNECTORS solidly fastened to carry current with least resistance.
8. VENT PLUGS of hard rubber, have heavy corrugations for easy handling.
